CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

SHOUTS FOR HIS OWN STATE.—J. Eppinger, of the firm of Eppinger & Co., grain exporters of San Francisco and Portland, has been spending a few days in the city looking after the firm's Portland interests. Mr. Eppinger is very enthusiastic over the prospect of a big crop in the Pacific Northwest, and states that his firm expects to do a larger business than ever during the coming season. While very much impressed with Oregon, Mr. Eppinger, like all of the dyed-in-the-wool Californians, never overlooks an opportunity to do a little shouting on the side for California. He reports splendid crop prospects, and says that California is entering on the most prosperous year of her existence. The oil business is the big card with Californians at present, and they are so jubilant over the bounteous supply of fuel and light that they forget all about the drought, the Belgian hare and other inflictions which they have suffered in the past. "Talk about oil," said Mr. Eppinger, "why, we can put oil all over Pennsylvania and have enough left to set the world afire." Mr. Eppinger returned to San Francisco last evening, but expects to make a longer visit to Portland before the new grain season gets under way.

TAX COLLECTIONS.—Tax collections on the 1899 roll amount to about $225,000. A large number of persons have paid, and recently the daily number of callers has shown a marked increase. As in past years, the small and middle-class taxpayers have been the first to liquidate, and while a great many people have been waited upon, the total sum received is not large. The big taxpayers will soon begin to put in an appearance, when a better showing will be made. The total amount of the state tax is $199,456. The statute provides that it shall be turned over to the State Treasurer from the first moneys received. It becomes delinquent June 10, and bears interest from that date. For several years past Multnomah County has had to pay the state considerable interest money, but the last Legislature extended the time of delinquency, and, as money enough has already been taken in to pay the state tax, the payment of interest this year will doubtless be avoided. The County Commissioners have extended the time for the payment of bicycle taxes until June 10. There will be no further extension, and after that time the penalty will be enforced.

DOWN THE COLUMBIA AWHEEL.—Professor Bristow, who was formerly principal of the preparatory department of the State Agricultural College, was at the Perkins yesterday on his return from Athena to Corvallis. He rode most of the way from Eastern Oregon on his wheel, and found the roads in Umatilla County very good. Broad-tired farm wagons are gradually coming into style, he says, and these make smooth paths for wheelmen, the 30-mile stretch down Wild Horse Creek from Athena to Pendleton being one fine coasting track. Down the Columbia River he followed the O. R. & N. Railroad track, which he found very good for wheeling, the grade having been ballasted recently and the ties covered with a smooth dressing of fine gravel. Occasional gaps would occur, but the professor found a walk over these while leading his wheel more of a diversion than a task. Professor Bristow has been principal of the public school at Athena the past term, which ended last week for the Summer vacation.

NOT A DOCILE PRISONER.—A young man from Portland who is sojourning at Hood River for the benefit of his health gives an account of a desperate struggle between the city authorities there and a bad cowboy, who had been let out of jail to get some fresh air. When he was requested to return to jail he refused to do so. He was an old bald-headed fellow, with a lame leg, and could not run, but when it was attempted to take hold of him he kept backing away and whirling a blacksnake whip around his head. The Jailer summoned the Constable, and they, with the help of a blacksmith, attempted to round up the "prisoner." He kept backing away till he fell over a rock, when the three men jumped him. He fought like a wildcat, and two more men had to hold his legs while he was handcuffed, and then all sat on him till a piece of rope could be procured to tie his legs, when he was carted off to jail. He is not likely to be let out to get the air again till his term expires.

MUCH-NEEDED CHANNEL CUT.—Captain Harts, United States Engineers, has received a report from Tillamook informing him that a channel has been dredged through Dry Stocking Bar, so long a bugbear to steamboatmen there, and the people of Tillamook City are happy. A channel has been cut across the bar, a distance of 1100 feet, having a width of 60 feet, and giving a depth of 12 feet or more at high tide. Over 5000 cubic yards of material were removed, and it is expected that hereafter the current will keep the channel open. The dredge gotten up by Captain Harts for this work has proved a grand success, and she is now employed on other improvements.

LAST OF OLD RAILROAD ROW.—The building on Third street, near Washington, occupied for five years past as the city ticket office of the Great Northern, was pulled down yesterday by Contractor Cook. This is the last of the old landmarks that formerly constituted a large portion of railroad row to go. The contractor has worked rapidly to demolish the old buildings, and will soon have the ground cleared of the debris. The $150,000 brick building to be erected by the Henry Failing estate on this site it is intended shall be completed and ready for occupancy in about six months.

LECTURE ON LABOR.—Tonight, at A. O. U. W. Hall, Second and Taylor streets, A. M. Dewey, special agent United States Department of Labor, will lecture on "The Root of All Evil." Mr. Dewey, in his capacity of labor inspector, has made an exhaustive study of the subject. A large audience will undoubtedly greet the speaker, as all the labor unions with their friends and every one interested in the subject are cordially asked to be present. A discussion of the question will follow the address. Admission free.

STRINGING RAILS.—Another shipment of rails for the extension of the car line on First street has arrived, and trucks were employed yesterday in delivering the rails along the street. As soon as the rails are strung along from Madison street to the bridge across Marquam's Gulch, the work of building the line over that section will be commenced.

DIVIDEND OF 2 PER CENT.—Frank Hacheney, receiver of the defunct Union Banking Company, has been directed by the court to pay a 2 per cent dividend to the creditors of the concern to wind up its affairs. He will send out notices as soon as they are ready, probably on Friday, and expects to begin paying the dividend next Monday.

VOLUNTEERS TO ATTEND CHURCH.—Rev. W. S. Gilbert, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Eleventh and Clay streets, in his capacity of Chaplain of the Spanish and Filipino War Veterans, has invited all the Volunteers to attend services in his church next Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The invitation also extends to all the members of the auxiliary organizations working with the camps of Veterans. Seats will be reserved so that all may be seated in a body. As this is the first Sunday preceding Memorial day, the evening services there will be Memorial religious services for the soldier dead. Since the return of the Volunteers there has been no Memorial service before, and especial interest attaches to the first. General Summers especially urges all the Volunteers to attend Sunday evening, and wants them to assemble before the services begin at the hall in Allsky building, so that all the soldiers may march to the church in a body. The members of the auxiliary organizations will not march to the church. General Summers also calls the attention of all Volunteers to the fact that they are expected to participate in the Memorial day exercises next Wednesday. They will assemble that day at 1 P. M. at the same hall.

ROBBED A CANDIDATE.—J. C. Bayer was somewhat astonished on dressing yesterday morning to find that his clothing which he had doffed on retiring had disappeared. Investigation showed that burglars had paid him a visit, having found entrance to the house by a side door. Notwithstanding that he is a candidate on the Republican Legislative ticket, he slept so soundly that he did not hear the burglars. His clothes were found downstairs, where the burglars had examined them thoroughly and appropriated everything of value excepting a lot of his election cards. This proves that the burglars were not boys. They secured Mrs. Bayer's purse, containing about $15, and some of her jewelry, which lay on a bureau. Fortunately, they did not find Mr. Bayer's gold watch, which was in a holder on the wall near the head of the bed. Mr. Bayer's house was robbed in the daytime some six years ago, so he is somewhat accustomed to this sort of thing, but does not thoroughly enjoy it.

GLAD TO BE ABLE TO RETIRE.—City Treasurer Hacheney, who will retire from office July 1, says he will be glad to be relieved of the responsibility of looking after the city's funds. His health has not been good of late, and as soon as he is out of office he is going away for a long rest and to try and recuperate. When he returns he intends going into business. When told that a report is being circulated to the effect that if Ed Werlein is elected City Treasurer he will remain in the office he said there was no truth in it. He has had enough of politics, and does not wish nor intend to be any longer connected with the office of City Treasurer.

WANT CAR LINE CHANGED.—The citizens of Montavilla are desirous of having the East Ankeny street-car line of the City & Suburban Company deflected from its present course so as to run through their town, instead of running half a mile to the north of it and ending in a field where no one lives or goes. Application has been made to the County Commissioners for permission for the road to be laid on Hibbert street, through Montavilla to the Base Line road. This will be quite an improvement, and be an accommodation to a large number of people.

SMALL FIRE.—Fire caught in the cupola of a two-story dwelling on the southeast corner of Twenty-fourth and Johnson streets at 5:30 o'clock last evening. An alarm was turned in from box 67, and the department responded in time to prevent the flames gaining much headway. The cupola was nearly destroyed, and the furniture of a bedroom considerably damaged by smoke and water. The house is occupied by R. J. Holmes. A high wind at the time is supposed to have carried a spark to the cupola from a neighboring chimney.

FELL OFF THE BANISTERS.—A 4-year-old daughter of M. Smith, traveler for the Goodyear Rubber Company, while amusing herself by sliding down the banisters yesterday, fell off and broke her arm. Her misfortune will have but little effect on deterring other children from sliding down banisters, for children have been prone to this amusement since ever stairways were invented.

OREGON CITY BICYCLE PATH.—Work was commenced on the cycle path yesterday near Milwaukie at the Multnomah line and will continue south. W. C. Powell, of Oregon City, has charge of the work. Three teams and 10 men are employed. C. H. Dye will superintend all of the Clackamas path work from now on, Mr. Clark having resigned.

OUT TWELVE MILES.—The bicycle paths which the County Commissioners are having constructed on both sides of the Base Line road are completed nearly to the 12-mile house. They will probably be continued to the gravel pit, two miles further east, and will be completed in a few days.

INCORPORATION.—Articles of incorporation of the Helena Mining Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. The incorporators are P. J. Jennings, R. J. Jennings and Charles Bruneau; capital stock, $1,000,000.

DON'T go to Cape Nome without natural stone water filter. See them at Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s, Fourth and Washington streets.

TRINITY CHURCH.—This being Ascension day, the holy communion will be celebrated at 10:30 A. M.

PLENTY of boxwood at Standard Box Factory. 'Phone, Oregon East 4; Columbia 5004.

REMOVED.—Great Northern ticket office, to 268 Morrison street.

THEY COME IN CARRIAGES.

Grant Chesterfield Has a Klondike of His Own.

All day long yesterday carriages were stopping in front of 207 Sixth street. It seemed as though everybody was restless to have their palms read. Chesterfield was talking like a steam engine, and one after another the long string passed through the consultation room, the majority emerging with broad smiles on their faces. Many were turned away, unable to see the noted palmist. There is nothing of the gypsy about Chesterfield's remarkable readings. His fee is 50c for a life reading, and the truths he tells you are so startling and they come in such quick rotation that one certainly gets his money's worth from this standpoint alone. Then again he diagnoses your disease and oftentimes restores to you your lost health, even when others have failed. As a diagnostician he is truly remarkable. He also tells you what you are best fitted for in life, whether or not you will be successful; if you should make business changes; if you will travel; if you will be successful in love affairs; if absent friends will return; so from a financial standpoint one gets his money's worth and Chesterfield gets the money. His parlors close promptly evenings at 8 o'clock. His parlors will remain open (Sunday) between 10 A. M. and 4 P. M.

PATRIOTISM RAN RIOT

CLAN MACLEAY'S BENEFIT FOR THE MONUMENT FUND.

Patriotic British Citizens Celebrate Queen's Birthday and Aid a Worthy Cause.

Patriotism ran riot last night at the Armory, at the concert given by the Clan Macleay for the benefit of the monument fund. The concert was known as the Queen Victoria birthday concert, partaking of the nature of a celebration by the British residents. The music and addresses were all of the intensely patriotic order, the symbol of which was the intertwining of the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack at the head of the hall. The addresses were punctuated by hearty cheers, and the rousing British songs met a very warm welcome.

The young clansmen were somewhat overanxious to please, and as a result several good numbers were omitted on account of the length of the programme.

Alex Gavin, the chief of the Clan Macleay, opened the proceedings by a well-timed address. Miss Anna W. Stuart sang a soprano solo, "Agnes McDonald," in a very expressive, sweet voice, and as an encore sang "Annie Laurie." G. S. Shepherd followed with an address setting forth the objects of the celebration, and during the course of his remarks paid high tribute to the brave Oregon soldiers. Lauren Pease sang the beautiful English ballad, "Bellehandon." Mr. Pease has never appeared to better advantage than in the rendering of the sympathetic sentiments of this song. C. M. Idleman's address was a rousing tribute to the bravery of the soldier lads at the front, not only of the Americans, but of their British cousins now fighting in South Africa. The keen patriotism of the audience was thoroughly aroused. Professor James Moore gave a Scottish bagpipe selection, "Cock o' the North," for which he received a hearty recall.

J. Adrian Epping sang the baritone solo in Kipling's famous "Recessional," the music for which was set by De Koven. Mr. Epping's clear, resonant voice was appreciated very kindly. Trinity Church choir, composed of boys and men, sang the chorus of the "Recessional." The full tones and majestic precision of this devotional music was well brought out by the choir. The gems of the evening were Mrs. Walter Reed's rousing English songs. Her selections were most happy, and her rendition entered into with a spirit befitting the occasion.

Mrs. Reed's first song, "Her Majesty," a rollicking Jubilee song, was responded to by an encore, "The Land o' the Leal," in both of which songs Mrs. Reed's pure, organ-like contralto tones more firmly placed her as a prime favorite. J. F. Logan recited Kipling's "Absent-Minded Beggar" very acceptably. The robust singing quality of A. M. Wright's baritone voice was well shown in the song, "The Old Brigade." The high, clear, brilliant quality of Miss Susie Gambell's soprano voice was well displayed in her selection, "My Native Land." To a spontaneous recall she sang very sweetly the song, "Mary of Argyle." Miss Rose d'Almeida sang in good voice the favorite British soldier song, "Tommy Atkins," for which she received an encore. The closing address of William D. Fenton was also of the intensely patriotic order.

Miss Jennie George and Mr. Ralph W. Hoyt were the accompanists of the evening, which duties they performed artistically.

The concert closed by the audience rising and singing the National airs, "God Save the Queen" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

WELL KNOWN BROKER.

C. L. Parker Will Manage Portland Mining Stock Exchange.

Cortlandt L. Parker, recently of Colorado Springs, and formerly of New York, has been secured as manager of the Portland Mining Stock Exchange. Mr. Parker has had a wide and varied experience in connection with the management of mining stock exchanges in New York and other cities. He was born in Ohio, and, going to New York in youth, entered the Corn Exchange Bank as a junior clerk. At the end of 10 years he was the general bookkeeper. He then resigned and entered the stock brokerage firm of Merriam & Bell as its cashier, forming subsequently the firm of Harnot, Parker & Co., and becoming quite prominent as a broker. He was at one time tendered the nomination of chairman of the exchange, which he refused, but his friends nominated him as an independent candidate and he came within 10 votes of election. He afterward went into the firm of Jay Cooper & Co., which was then engaged in the scheme for building the Northern Pacific, but soon afterward sold his membership in the exchange and went into the leather business.

In 1878 he returned to the street, believing that the resumption of specie payments would produce active speculation. He organized the board of brokers in 30 days, with a membership of 400, and put $7500 in the treasury. Mr. Parker afterward joined the mining exchange, and was one of the original members of the present Consolidated Board.

He was soon elected president of the Industrial Exchange, a position which he resigned to engage in business in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Parker has the indorsement of the following well-known men:

William V. Carolin, secretary of the Colorado Springs Board of Brokers' Association; R. J. Bolles, president of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association; William C. Doonin, late president of the Industrial Exchange of New York City; W. P. Kinney, secretary and manager of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association, and M. J. Greevy, president of the Lemon Gold Mining Company of British Columbia.

The Daily Mining Record, of Colorado Springs, of May 19, contains the following in reference to Mr. Parker:

"C. L. Parker, president of the Board of Trade of this city, will leave for Portland, Or., in a few days to become the secretary of the newly organized mining exchange of that city. He will assume his new duties immediately upon his arrival. The Portland exchange is backed by the leading bankers and moneyed men of Portland, and starts on its career under most auspicious circumstances.

"The announcement that Mr. Parker is to leave this city will be received by his friends with genuine regret, as he has during his residence here made for himself a host of friends both in business circles and in a social way. In all relations of life he was courteous and affable, and his severing his relations as president of the new Board of Trade will be followed only with regrets on the part of all who knew him. Mr. Parker was, prior to coming to this city, a member of the New York exchange, of which he was a member for years. Later he was president of the New York Mining Stock Exchange, and managed its affairs during its most palmy days, and only relinquished his duties as its presiding officer to come to this city and engage in the mining business. The Portland exhange in getting Mr. Parker as its secretary is acquiring the services of a man thoroughly capable, and one who will lend great strength to the new mining exhange on account of years of ripe experience and wide knowledge."

TO LAY CORNER-STONE.

Many Will Attend Good Samaritan Exercises This Afternoon.

A great crowd will attend the ceremonies of laying the corner-stone of Good Samaritan Hospital this afternoon at 2 o'clock. General appreciation of the valuable work done in the community will be shown by attending the inauguration of a new era in the hospital's history. The greatest demonstration is expected by fraternal and benevolent orders, as they will largely act in bodies, but everybody is cordially invited. A large number of Knights Templar in full uniform will act as escort to the officers of the grand lodge of Masons, besides whom the members of other Masonic bodies will join in the procession and attend during the ceremonies. Other orders to be present in regalia are the Knights of Pythias, Elks, United Artisans, Eastern Star and Red Men. Of the orders that will attend, but not in regalia, are the A. O. U. W., Odd Fellows, Woodmen of the World, Foresters and others. All the fraternal and benevolent orders have been invited to be present, as their co-operation and moral support at least is earnestly desired.

Bishop Scott Academy and St. Helen's Hall will have a full representation of teachers and scholars, as both these institutions always maintain the highest interest in the work of the hospital. All the clergy of the Episcopal Church in Portland and adjacent districts will participate in the exercises. A large choir of men and boys, numbering from 50 to 60 in all, under the direction of T. M. Lighter, organist and musical director of Trinity Church, will also participate, singing the "Processional," with which the programme opens.

Seats will be provided on the floor of the Lewis memorial wing for the officers of the grand lodge of Masons and the Knights Templar, acting as escort or body-guard, for all the clergy and the choir, the officers of Good Samaritan Hospital, for the Mayor and Common Council and for the members of the Ladies' Aid Committee of the hospital. An invitation has been extended to every clergyman in the city, especially inviting him and the members of his congregation. This applies to all, and the management hope a generous response will be made. The same courtesy applies to the invitation to the benevolent orders, as their presence, in bodies, if possible, is earnestly desired.

The fraternal orders will, as a rule, meet at their respective halls and proceed together to the grounds. In giving notices the hour has been variously fixed from 12:30 to 1 P. M. If all are on hand promptly at that time they will be enabled to reach the hospital in due time for the ceremony. The heads of the different lodges urge upon all their members to turn out as strongly as possible, as this manner of manifesting interest in a great work appeals to all. The order of exercises will be as follows:

"Processional," led by choir.

Invocation by Rev. John E. Simpson, chaplain of the hospital.

Laying corner-stone by M. W. John Milton Hodson, grand master of Masons of Oregon, assisted by officers and brethren of the grand lodge, A. F. & A. M. and brethren of the Ancient Fraternity.

Historical sketch by Right Rev. B. Wistar Morris.

Address by Rev. J. P. D. Llwyd, of Seattle.

Benediction by Right Rev. B. Wistar Morris.

WILL PUSH THE WORK.

Danish Evangelical Church to Secure More Immigrants for Oregon.

The United Danish Evangelical Church of America has not become over-elated with the success of their colonization scheme in Oregon, but will continue with even greater energy than ever before. Rev. P. L. C. Hansen, since his return from Eugene, has received instructions from President Christensen, of Omaha, to look over the field of California, as the church will draw colonists from there to Oregon, as well as from the Eastern States also. This trip is for the purpose of inquiring into the existing conditions on the Pacific Coast in regard to colonization, and he is ordered to report the acquired information to the conference in Blaine, Neb., on June 7.

On Dr. Hansen's recent trip to Eugene in company with the parties from the East, an additional 500 acres was secured in small tracts for the settlement by the Danish people. The movement has been much greater toward the Pacific Coast than even Rev. Mr. Hansen had anticipated, and if the success continues a larger number of acres than the 12,000 already contracted for will have to be secured.

YOU OWE HER THIS

AND WE CAN HELP YOU PAY THE DEBT. THINK IT OVER.

Don't neglect your duty. That little 7-year-old tot of yours needs a piano. If she is 8 years old, she needs it more, and if she is 9 years old she needs it badly. You can never place two, three, or even four hundred dollars to better advantage for her in this world, than to give her a piano at the age of 7. The little daughter, through accomplishments, must win her way; the boy can hoe his. "Procrastination is the thief of time." Don't keep putting it off from day to day, next month, next Fall, or next Christmas, but get a piano now.

Now is the time—right now, this week—not next week but this, that you can get it at our closing out and removal sale without paying a dollar of profit to any man this side of the factory that built the pianos.

We want to sell out every piano or organ in this stock at 107 First street, in order to commence in our new building at the corner of Park and Washington streets with a brand new assortment of the very latest styles of the celebrated Chickering, and the Weber, and the Kimball pianos. The extremely low prices prevailing just now will enable you to secure a fine piano for very little money. Nor does it take much of an effort to get an instrument just now. $25 down and $10 a month looks easy, and it is easy.

The pianos we handle here are the best in the world. See them today or this evening at 107 First street. Eilers Piano House.
