

FOREIGN TRADE FIGURES

BULK OF OUR BUSINESS IS WITH BRITISH LANDS.

But the Most Promising Field for Trade Exploitation is the Far East.

If the foreign trade of the United States for a term of years be analyzed by countries the first fact that strikes the eye is the enormous preponderance of our exports to the United Kingdom...

A steady decrease in our importation from England and the enormous volume of, but slow increase in, our exports...

The last table covers the Dutch East Indies and British Africa. Our exports to the Dutch East Indies have declined one-third, and our exports to British Africa, which probably included goods shipped through Cape Town...

With Russia our imports are increasing and our exports generally decreasing, but still, and for the 20 years, largely in excess of the imports. We are constantly increasing our exports to Sweden and Norway...

HOW MURDER WAS DONE

MOSS TOLD THE WHOLE STORY TO A BICYCLE DEALER.

Mr. Mason, whose name has been connected with that of the murdered woman, says that he has not posed as a friend of hers, being such in fact. He says he estimated her because he believed her to be unfortunate and would have done as much for any woman in her situation.

Date of the Moss Marriage. In some of the reports concerning the murder of Mrs. Naomi Moss it has been stated that it was not known whether she had been married to Moss or not. Yesterday, Mrs. E. A. Everhart and Mrs. Ruth M. Nisongar called at the Oregonian office and stated that they were present at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Moss, which took place in the parsonage of Grace M. E. Church in September, 1898. They signed the certificate as witnesses, and Mrs. Everhart saw it filed with the proper officer. She was also present when Moss procured the marriage license, and saw him pay for it. Both the women in question were friends of the unfortunate girl, and called to make this statement in order that the question as to her having been married to Moss may be definitely settled.

"QUO VADIS?"

Brilliant Spectacular Performance. Pleases a Crowd at Corvair.

"Quo Vadis" with all its spectacular trappings, opened before a large audience last night at Corvair's Theatre, and judging from the many remarks of approval, this dramatic adaptation of a very strong Christian novel, will prove the right kind of a play to please the numerous patrons.

The scenic effects are beautiful and thrilling throughout the play. In the first act the action of the play is rather slow, merely foreshadowing the story, but this lack of action is more than made up for by the elaborate costuming and stage settings that are so judiciously correct. In the fourth act the dramatic and realistic still is in the tabern in the last act showing the triumph of Christianity, the amphitheatre, with its gladiators, and the three real lions, consisting in expectancy for the intended victims.

L. J. Plummer depicted the vice-soldier Nero in a masterful manner, while Richard Scott was a strong character in the part of Petronius, who, the double-faced Greek, received his share of the applause. Louise Carter, as Lydia, and Miss Josephine as Eunice, were beautiful in the changing Roman garb, and made the most of the parts entrusted to them.

The remainder of the company, including the Roman soldiers, in clanking burnished armor, well sustained the interest throughout. "Quo Vadis" will be a popular attraction for the week, including Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

IMPROVED SERVICE TO THE KOOTENAI MINES

Effective Sunday, June 3, the Spokane Falls & Northern Railway will change time, and will establish double daily train service between Spokane and Roseland, a close connection being made for all Kootenai territory.

Day train will leave Spokane 10:35 A. M., arrive Roseland 5:30 P. M., arrive Nelson 8 P. M. Night train will leave Spokane 9:45 P. M., arrive Roseland 6:30 A. M., carrying a balance sleeper to Nelson.

Passengers arriving at Spokane on O. R. & N. No. 4, at 9 A. M., make close connection with the S. F. & N. day train, and arriving at Spokane on O. R. & N. No. 3, at 6 P. M., make good connection with the S. F. & N. night train.

A VERY LOW RATE.

On the occasion of the Republican National Convention, to be held at Philadelphia, June 19, the O. R. & N. will put in effect a special low rate of $8.50 for the round trip. Tickets sold June 12 and 13, and good until August 31.

The choice of many routes to the East offered by the O. R. & N. Co. makes that road an especially desirable one to patronize. Ticket office, 30 Third street, corner of Oak.

THE VERDICT.

I. E. Isaacs testified at the inquest in regard to the identification. The jury then returned a verdict that "Riley Moss came to his death from a gunshot wound, self-inflicted, on the evening of June 2, at the Silver State Lodging-House, on Seventh and Washington streets."

CAUTION FROM MR. BINGHAM

Count of Ballots Designed to Be Seen by Candidates.

PORTLAND, June 3.—(To the Editor.)—Dutch E. Indies, Brit. Africa, Imp. Exp. Imp. Exp. 1890-4 1895-9 1898-9

My attention has been called to section 11 of the Australian ballot act, where it says: "The judges of election shall, if requested in writing, permit the respective candidates or their agents to examine the ballots or by several candidates, or by a political party, to be present in the room, but outside the guard rail, where the said judges are sitting the time of receiving and counting the ballots."

And I was informed that at the last election Senator Haseltine, who was the chairman of the judges in one of the polling places in the city, insisted that the guard rail (which had been erected to regulate proceedings during the receiving of the ballots), while the judges and clerks counted the ballots and counted the votes, be removed inside of the guard rail, so that the candidates and tallying the results, being carried on so far removed inside of the rail as to be effectively to wholly prevent any supervision by such agents and clerks, in that they were effectively prevented from seeing that the chairman correctly read off the number and name of each candidate for which the ballot should count, and from seeing that the clerks tallied accordingly.

I confidently say that such a construction of the law was and is erroneous. If the judges and clerks preserve the guard rail in the position it was in during the receiving of the ballots, they should sit with their back immediately against the guard rail, so that these agents and other persons authorized to be present in the room, should not see the ballots correctly read off and tallied accordingly.

If the judges see fit to place themselves and the clerks at too great a distance from where the ballots are received, they are violating the law, then they should reconstruct and reering the guard rail so that the candidates and agents of the respective parties or agents of the candidates will be able to see the ballots and tallies.

Any other construction of this provision of the law, or such a construction of it as it has been said ex-Senator Haseltine put upon it, is too much like sticking to the letter and ignoring the spirit and intention and object of the law, to be tolerated.

I was associated with Judge L. L. McArthur (now deceased), Judge John Conlin and others in drafting that bill, and I am sure the construction I put upon it is the one we all intended.

Our intention was by means of a "guard rail" to keep the officials from interference or jostling by other persons who had a right to supervise the proceeding, and be satisfied that all the candidates were having "a fair ballot and an honest count."

The law should be construed and carried out so as to protect the judges and clerks from intermeddling, and at the same time so as to enable the authorized bystanders to know the results of the election, and looking the business, that the judges and clerks are doing their work correctly.

The law clearly recognizes a right in each candidate, and each "party," to thus supervise the election, not only in receiving the ballots, but in the counting of them.

Public interest in every respect requires this construction. If the counting of the ballots and the receiving of the ballots, and the candidates and their agents to supervise the count as to satisfy them that it was fairly and correctly conducted, subsequent "contests" and expensive "recounts" will be kept to a minimum, and the most harmful to a dominant political party, it seems to me, than to create a suspicion of unfairness in their management, or in their influence in the management, of the polls, and in the receiving of the ballots, or in the counting of them. And nothing could be farther from the intent of the law.

I trust that the foregoing will appear so reasonable and in accordance with such general approval, as to control the course of the judges in the next election. ED. W. BINGHAM.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

John Drew in "The Tyranny of Tears."

John Drew's polish, ease, versatility and distinguished grace as a comedian never found more opportune times than as the gay, good natured, and merry "Tyranny of Tears" which will be presented at the Marquam Grand tomorrow and Wednesday evenings. It is a dainty, even exquisite comedy, delightful in its literature, admirable in its story, interesting in its theme, and so well constructed that there is an ascending scale of excellence through the progress of its four acts, each being better than the preceding one, until the act is best of all. That, at all events, is according to the consensus of critical opinion. The play ran a season in London, for several months in New York, and has been everywhere with marked favor everywhere else it has been presented. Isabel Irving, Mr. Drew's leading lady, has a splendid role. Ida Conquest has the opportunity of showing Arthur Byron has a part that has pleased him many a time in his profession, and Frank Harwood shows once more his good schooling as a character actor, and Frank E. Lamb, stage manager and good actor, paints a perfect portrait of perfect butler. Artistic generosity will be found evidenced in the stage settings. The curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock each evening.

THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

Passengers going East over the O. R. & N. and its connections are entitled to, and receive, all the benefits arising from first-class equipment, perfect tracks and varied and interesting scenery. The wonderful scenery. The new cars which have been placed in service, are receiving favorable comment from the traveling public. The library-composite and the dining cars especially are attracting considerable attention.

Full information regarding these trains, as well as rates to all points, may be had by applying to V. A. Schilling, 30 Third street, corner Oak.

ANONYMOUS PAMPHLET

MAKING FALSE CHARGES AGAINST RUSSELL E. SEWALL.

What Some Lawyers Say Concerning the Unwarranted Use of Their Names—Desperate Methods.

PORTLAND, May 31, 1900.—My attention has been called to the fact that my name is attached to a statement in a pamphlet attacking the official conduct of Mr. Russell E. Sewall, District Attorney. I have not signed any such statement or authorized the use of my name for that purpose, and know nothing about the correctness or incorrectness of such statement.

GEORGE H. WILLIAMS, Esq., the undersigned, whose name are published in a certain pamphlet attacking the District Attorney, Russell E. Sewall, states that he was not consulted as to having our names attached to the same, and that our names are not to be considered as endorsing the statements made in the pamphlet.

W. M. Gregory, J. C. Yearle, S. C. Spencer, C. C. Moser, J. N. P. Frank, Frank Motter, G. G. Gammans, Ed. T. Taggart, Henry St. Rayner, John Ditchburn, Peter Ward, G. W. Stapleton, E. E. Covert, George W. Caldwell, William T. Murr, Sol Bloom, A. A. Moore, Joseph O'Connor, Claude Strahan, F. W. Miller, J. H. Johnson, R. Williams, S. H. Gruber, W. Y. Masters, John K. Kollock, Chester V. Dolph, C. A. Moore, F. E. Froese, R. Williams, W. W. Mulkey, Guy G. Willis, A. Walter Wolfe, R. W. Wilbur, Joseph A. Boyce, C. W. Miller, J. H. Johnson, G. W. Stapleton, Gustav Anderson.

What purports to be my testimony in the garbled document published anonymously and attacking the District Attorney, Russell E. Sewall, is falsely reported, and has an opposite effect to my words. I said nothing reflecting on Mr. Sewall or the District Attorney's office. I believe Mr. Sewall to be an honest, honorable and efficient official. GUY G. WILLIS, Esq., District Attorney.

BOWLING.

The two-men team tournament at the Multnomah Club on the 24th and 25th resulted in a tie on games won between Sydney and McGinn and Weis and Holmes. The scores of one set of games got lost during the progress of the contest, and it is therefore impossible to tell which team is the winner on pins, consequently it will probably become necessary to bowl off the tie. The contest has been an attractive one and will probably be duplicated during the coming season. Brigham, Kreaman, Bentley and Churchman were easy winners of the team medal at Multnomah on Wednesday night. Excepting the work of the members of the winning team, the bowling was all around decidedly poor.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide. Frederick Manuell, Maryland Book Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, 1900, and began to use it. He writes, "I believe it says, he had hair all over his head, and on July 2 he writes, 'and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish.' Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and starts the new growth in a week."
