THE MORNING OREGONIAN, TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1900.

Hobo Brigade Fails to Come, Thanks to Registration Law-No Arrests Made.

Election day passed off in Portland yesterday almost as quietly as a Quaker meeting. There were no arrests made at any of the polls during the day. In fact, none was made in the city by the police force between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening. The saloons were all closed, and voters did little but vote while the candidates and their friends "rustled" all day long.

The hole delegation failed to arrive in town this time. This contingent has not been absent at an election in Portland before since the town was large enough to attract attention outside its own county. Heretofore the freight-train tourist has come to Portland feeling sure of receiv-ing enough money for his vote to keep him in luxury for a week, with beer thrown in. This time they came not, and the candi-dates who counted on riding into office on this vote, if there were such here, are today among the defeated. The new registration law has brought all of this about. No hobo had the time or the inclination to reside in Portland long enough to become a legal voter.

Few Were Challenged.

Few Were Challenged. Only a few challenges were reported from the various preciners. In most cases where a voter was challenged it was be-cause he had moved his residence since registering. Most of these were able to swear themelves in. A few appeared at the North End voting-places, who had not registered anywhere, but these were scat-tering, and went away without complaint. Amone the very few entitled to vote Among the very few entitled to vote Among the very lew entitled to vote who failed to get in a ballot was ex-Sen-stor John M. Mitchell. He lives at the Perkins Hotel, which would make his voting place at the 10th precinct. When he walked in there and offered to cast his a faithful search failed to discover his name on the registration book for that precinct. He declared that he had regis-tered, and insisted on voting, but, according to the election law, no man not on the books could put in a ticket at this election The ex-Senator was given a blank and told that he might be able to swear his vote in. He took the blank and went away. When the polls closed at 6 o'clock he had not returned to the 10th. The Mayor, no doubt, put up the hardest fight of his life. It is said that he paid for more beer last Sunday night than all of the other candidates in town combined. At one point his bill for beer is said to have been $40 that night. That was only one of a dozen or more places where he caused liquid refreshments to flow until the crowd was satisfied. If these stories be true, it s satisfied. If these stories he true, it certain that the beer brigade was for him Monday morning. The vote shows how well they remembered how the Mayor quenched their thirst the night before.

Democrats Hedge on Storey.

For a week or two past, leading Demerats have declared that it would be either Wells or Storey. Before non gesterday many of these had begun to assign the present Mayor to third place in the race. This led some of the Storey men to think that these Democrats had simply been whistling to help keep up Storey's age in the hope of pulling Dr.

Leaders Make Predictions

"At 4 o'clock Donald Mackay, of the County and City Central Committee, made the prediction bolo,y that the Republican ticket would go through in Mult-nomah without the cose of a man. This he said was based on reports received up to that hour from the various precincis. On the other hand, Democrata high in the camps, said they would cross the river from the East Side with 100 ma-jority. These same men said they would more than hold their own on this side, They based their claims on reports from the precincts, and said in addition they were counting on the new registration aiding their side most.

Waiting for a Price.

At some of the precincts along the water ont scores of voters held back until late in the afternoon. This, it was said, was in the hope of securing financial persuasion. If such inducements were of-fered, no one can be found to swear to

Most of these walters were still walting when the polls closed. Some of them now charge that the word of financial aid was passed around to cause the hungry horde to hold back until it was too late to

BUSY DAY WITH VOTERS MOST ORDERLY ELECTION EVER HELD IN PORTLAND. MOST ORDERLY ELECTION EVER HELD IN PORTLAND.

Opinions expressed by the Republican workers at the different poiling-places, gained from observation throughout the day, is that as many Democrats as Re-hay, is that as many Democrats as Re-publicans failed to vote. At precinct No. 14, at Third and Yam-hill streets, there were quite a number of native-born Chinese voters, under the leadership of Seid Back, Jr. They were dressed some of them American fashion, and the others wore the regulation Chi-nese garb, queue and all.

Voted for His Friend.

Aside from a few challenges, there was not a particle of excitement in the Fifth Ward. One of the judges remarked that it was the quietest election at which he had ever officiated, and he is a veteran

In that line. One incident that was somewhat out of the usual order of things in a law-abiding community occurred in this precinct. An Italian, giving his name as G. Melanesi, appeared. There was such a name regi appeared. Inere was such a name rest-tered, and he was permitted to put in his ballot. Then he disappeared. Shortly af-terwards another man-the real G. Mel-anesi, by the way-showed up. Inasmuch as a ballot had found its way into the as a ballot had found its way into the box purporting to have come from the real G. Melanesi, the judges could not allow the vote. The voter retired discom-fited.

The fist precinct was very qui and orderly. In this precinct there is a total registration of 250. Of this number, 135 had voted at 4:40, with a prospect of the remaining 65 getting in their votes by the remaining 65 getting in their votes by the time the polis closed. Very little happened to disturb the Bab-bath-like stillness that prevalled in the 20d precinct. One man, who had flooded his lower levels with a suff-clent amount of stimulants to make him feel an undue amount of patriotism, varied the monotony somewhat. He was not disorderly. He had a little difficulty in making his brain cells work property, and had some trouble in checking off the names of candidates on his ballot. Another peculiar thing occurred. A man

Another peculiar thing occurred. A man procured a blank ballot from which a slerk detached the stub. The voter retired to a booth and carefully checked off his favorite candidates. Folding up his bal-lot, he placed it carefully in his pocket and departed. The judges were not a lit-tle nonplussed at so unusual a proceeding. At last accounts they still held the stub, but they may all but that was all.

Jonathan Bourne, Jr., ran across a snag. He claimed that he had observed the legal formality of registering, but for some unaccountable reason his name did not ap-pear on the lista. He set the enginery of the law in motion, and, by the sid of County Clerk Hoimes, succeeded in get-ting his ballot planted in the box.

Negro Ruled Out.

At the various polling-places of the Sixth Ward quiet reigned throughout the day, and conditions at one voting point ticket will be elected by good major were merely a sample of the other No. 25, 405 Third street, 192 votes cast by 4 P. Mitchell had registered as Frank, but on being asked to write his name, signed himself F. E." He was well known as a rest dent for five years of the precinct, but the board refused his vote, and considera-ble feeling resulted among Mitchell's friends on the outside. He lives only two blocks from the polls. At procinct No. 26, 260 votes had been cast by 4 P. M. At. No. 28 215 ballots had been deposited by 4:15 F. M. At No. 28, 179 votes were cast by 4:29

In the Seventh Ward, which includes a large portion of South Portland and Ful-ton in its area, the same orderly proced-ure prevailed throughout the day. votes, owing to apparent discrepancies be-tween their statements and the taily books of the register, but this was all the vari-ety the board and spectators were treated to during the entire day. At No. 32, Perrera's Hall, in Pulton, 19 ballots were cast by 5:15 P. M., and the board thought the entire vote would fall short of the registry nearly one-third.

Wasco County.

THE DALLES, Or., June 4.-The count in Wasco County is very slow, and will not be complete before morning. Indica-dons are that Moody's majority is about that of two years ago. The Legislative ticket is close. The county ticket is also in doubt, but Republicans claim a majority for all. On the amendments a light majority will be against woman suffrage. The total vote in The Dalles was 901, the total registration, 1070.

THE DALLES, Or., June 4 .- Partial returns from six precincts and full returns from two make it impossible to give esti-mates at present. Moody is running be-hind the vote of two years ago, but will carry both Crook and Wasco. So far it is almost certain that the Republican state Cats' and Dogs' Esthetic Perceptions London Spectator.

With regard to color, both cats and dogs appear to have little esthetic perception. We have heard of a dog appearing to prefer scarlet to blue, but it is difficult to eliminate the effect of association in deal-ing with a single instance. Cats, however, seem to show a definite esthetic percep-tion of texture-esthetic, for it is not ortion of texture—sethetic, for it is not or-dinary bodily comfort which rules. They may like to skeep on veivet, but they revel, walking, in the feeling of crackling paper or texture of stiff silks, and there is a well-authenticated story of a cat which goes into the garden to lick the under sides of forgiove leaves, and cannot be kept from trying with his tongue the tex-ture of farmelets. But the knews at ture of flannelette. But the keenest es-thetic pleasure for a cat lies in the region of smell. The dog uses smell merely as a medium of information, but the cat revels in it. She will linger near a tree trunk. the pure plensure of it, not like a dog, to trace friend, foe or prey. If the window of a close room is opened, the cat leans out, smelling the air; new dresses are smelled, partly, perhaps, for future recognition, but also apparently for pleasure. A strong smell, above all a spirit-uous smell, is not only disagreeable, but absolutely painful. Lavender water may please a tiger, but it will put a cat to flight.

At the Polling Places.

The day passed quietly in the First ward. The candidacy of Mayor Storey was responsible for bringing out a vote which closely approximated the total reg-lstration. A half-holiday for the millmen caused large gatherings around the two polling places, but there was no excite-ment, and comparatively little interest was manifested in other contests than that of the Mayor, whose shouters claimed the Ward two to one.

There were no election disputes, and few registrations by affidavit, and no ne-gro nor Chinese voters to worry the elec-tion officials.

Quiet in the Third. Aside from one noisy citizen at Precinct No. 10, the Third ward was as orderly as a graveyard. As 5 o'clock drew near the rush increased, and all inside the polling places were slad when the closing hour arrived. On the East Side the election in the four wards went forward without stir-ring incident. There was none of the disgraceful scenes of a few years ago. Still, there was a determined contest, carried on for the regular tickets, and backs were flying about as on former occasions. It was noticed, however, that not so many onveyances were in service as on format occasions

Just across the Oregon City Rallway the Methodist people had put up a couple of tents, in which refreshments were served to all who got hungry. Here J. E. Rein-kie, with Peiffer, Adama, Austin and other stalwart Republicans, battled for every Republican candidate, determined to do their whole duty and let results take to do their whole duty and let results take care of themselves.

In the other four polling-places the election proceeded quietly. Mr. Dakin came up from Astoria to take a hand for the whole Republican ticket. Graner's Hall was a scene of some in-terest. Gus Logus, with Frank Melvin, W. W. Terry, Ed Daves and many others, Sherman County.

MORO, June 4 -- Nearly 500 votes were cast in Sherman County at today's elec-tion. At midnight half that number were counted, and Moody was in the lead about 70.

Marion County. BALEM, Or., June 4 -- Incomplete returns from nearly all precincts indicate that the Republican ticket is elected by large majorities, with the single exception of Sheriff, which is very close between the present Democratic incumbent, Durbin, and Murphy, Republican, indications be-ing in favor of the former. All interest centers in these candidates, and little attention is given the remainder of the ticket. The count in several precincts will not be completed before noon tomorrow. Incomplete returns indicate that Wolverton's majority in Marion County will WOODBURN, June 4 .- Of 308 votes cas here, 122 were counted at midnight. Tongue and Daly had 54 each. The Republican candidates for the Legislature run away abaad. These unwelcome visitors usually appear in the spring or summer, when the blood is making an extra effort itself from the many impurities that have accumulated during the winter months.

Carbuncles, which are more painful and dangerous, come most frequently on the back of the neck, eating great holes in the flesh, exhaust the strength and often prove fatal. Boils are regarded by some people as blessings, and they patiently and uncomplainingly endure the pain and inconvenience under the mistaken idea that their health is being benefitted, that their blood is too thick anyway, and this is Nature's plan of thinning it. The blood is not too rich or too thick, but is diseased—is full of poison—and unless relieved the entire system will suffer. The boil or carbuncle gives warning of serious internal troubles, which are only waiting for a favorable opportunity to develop. Many an old sore, running ulcer, troubles, which are only waiting for a favorable opportunity to develop, even cancer, is the result of a neglected boil.
