MARQUAM GRAND-John Drew. CORDRAY'S THEATER (Washington street)

MANY NEW HOUSES.- Now that the election is over and Pretoria captured, house building has been resumed in this city with a rush. Building permits were issued by the City Engineer yesterday for the erection of elx two-story houses, one to cost $5000, one $2500, three to cost $2000 each and one $1500. Permits for the erec-tion of some $000 houses in the city bars. tion of some 400 houses in the city have been issued since the beginning of the year. By far the greater number of them are two-story houses, costing $3000 to $2500 each, but they range from the cotaron each, but they range from the cot-tage, costing $25,000. up to the palatial resi-dence, costing $25,000. This does not in-clude the brick business blocks, of which there are a considerable number in course of construction, mostly 190x100 feet, and ranging from two to five stories in height. Work on some of these has been much de-layed, on account of the scarcity of brick. On this account. On this account many foundations, even for cottages, have been constructed of concrete, the cast of which is about the same as for brick. Brickmakers do not seem to be able to rise to the occasion, and it is probable that there will be more engaged in this business before long. QUICK DELIVERY OF MAILS.—The citizens of Portland are receiving the benefit of lightning dispatch in the matter of distributing mails arriving from San Fran-cisco and the East. These mails are all sorted on the trains, and the mail for each carrier is put up in a separate package. As the San Francisco Express crosses Morrison street on the Base Side the sacks are thrown from the mail car and are at are thrown from the mail car and are at once thrown into a screened wagon, which is waiting for them, and driven rapidly to the Postoffice, where the letters are run through machines and "back stamped," and are being delivered by the carriers about as soon as the train is at the Central station. On the arrival of O. R. & N. Imms the mails all according to trai station. On the arrival of O. R. & N. trains, the mails, all properly distributed for the carriers, are thrown on a truck standing ready on the platform, at once transferred to the mail wagon, whirled away to the Postoffice, backstamped and are being delivered by the carriers before the passengers arriving by the train have reached their botels. It is difficult to imagine how any further improvement can be made in the ther improvement can be made in this

MEETING OF INDIAN WAR VETERANS.—
Indian War Veterans, their wives and widows, will meet in Portland June 14. Elaborate preparations are being made by the ladies to furnish them a splendid dinner on that occasion. Their business and social meeting will be enlivened by vecal and instrumental music. It is due these old ploneer veterans that the papers on this coast give notice of this annual re-union, so that all veterans will be notified of the date of meeting. The citizens of Portland extend to these worthy old citizens a cordial invitation to be present at the grand encampment of veterans on the 18th and the ploneers' meeting on the 18th. This annual reunion of veterans and builders of this Western empire is the brightest spot in all the year to MEETING OF INDIAN WAR VETERANS .is the brightest epot in all the year to them, as they greet comrades and old friends of half a century ago. Council Meers Today.—The Councilmen have had so many things to attend to during the past week or two that it is probable that there will be but little business of importance to come before the Council at their meeting today. The Mayor's veto of the ordinance author'z-ing the committee on accounts and current expenses to employ an expert to examine the books and accounts of the City Treas-urer and Auditor will probably be acted upon. As the Mayor eigned the ordinance providing for an appropriation for paying an expert for this purpose, he will doubt-less direct the expert appointed by him some time ago to make the examination when the proper time arrives.

BANKBUPT SALE.—Scaled bids for bicycles and supplies, electrical goods, machine shop, tools, etc., of the Columbia Electrical & Repair Company, bankrupt, Astoria, Or., will be received by the un-dersigned trustee at Astoria up to 2 o'clock P. M. June 9, 1800. Further particulars, inspection of inventory and property may be had on application. Bids must be ac-companied by 10 per cent of the amount thereof in cash or certified check. Sale subject to approval of Bankruptcy Court. C. R. Thomson, trustee, Astoria, Or. Bauer & Greene, attorneys, Chamber of e. Portland.

GRAND EXALTED RULER COMING.-Ralph announcing that Judge B. M. Allen, grand exalted ruler of the Order of Eika, had arrived at Spokane, and would be in Seattle this afternoon. He is on an official visit to this coast, and will arrive here tomorrow. A reception committee has been appointed to meet him and take charge of him and see that he is properly entertained during his stay here. The Elks spare no pains or expense to make things interesting for any of the grand exalled members of their fraternity who

It was reported at the meeting that Mayor Storey had dismissed W. A. Hart from the office of superintendent of the street-cleaning and syrinkling department. This is within the power of the Mayor, but it will not be within his power to prevent Mr. Hart's reappointment a month hence. The reason given for the dismissal is that Mr. Here are the street of the dismissal is that Mr. Hart worked against the re-election

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI.-At a meeting of the Alumni Association of the Portland High School Monday evering, the follow-ing officers were elected: President, Otto J. Kraemer: vice-president, J. Upion: secretary, Miss Zaidee McConaughy: treuswere, Ferdinand Damaser, executive com-mittee, Fred McCarver, Miss Mary Law-ler. After discussing plans for a recep-tion in honor of the graduating class, it was decided to leave the arrangements to a committee of seven, to be appointed by the prosident, H. V. Adix.

BRILLIANT COMEDY.

splendid Production of "The Tyranny of Tears."

John Drew and the excellent company surrounding him in the comedy-drama. "The Tyrunny of Tears" entertained last night at the Marquam Grand Opera-House and longes were all filled with theater parties. The appreciation expressed was such as the play itself demanded, not the demonstrative, but the subdued sort, at the same time spontaneous and hearty. The story of the comedy is well expressed in the title. "The Tyranny of Tears" A young and loving wife, finding the power of tears in petty matters in gaining her ends with her loyal and indulgent husband, gradually increases this use of her power until the husband assects his ascertion being a temporary separation and subsequent reconciliation. A matter-of-fact bachelor friend of the husband and a lady secretary of the husband become innocently mixed up in the family difference, the outcome being a love story without any tears being cleverly inlerance and brought out the comedy clement in a most finished manner. The receipts at the Custom-House of the Port of Portland for the nth of May, 1900, amounted to $51,923 40. The receipts for the corresponding month of 1899 amounted to $40,982 21, showing an increase for the month of $10,941 (6.

"pleasant" breakfast in the garden with his bachelor friend, equally cranky, after trying to drown their feelings the night before, upon which evening the tearful trying to drown their feelings the night before, upon which evening the tearful wife had returned to her father's home. Isabel Irving's charming personality lapeculiarly fitted for the role of Mrs. Parbury. Her facial expression is a study, and her winning voice, choked with sols, would subdue a more obdurate min than Mr. Parbury. Miss Irving's comedy work was particularly pleasing in the first and second acts. Ida Conquest was Miss Woodward, the amenueniss and secretary of Mr. Parbury, who had secured the position of secretary through Mrs. Parbury because Mr. Parbury was such a man's man, even her husband's old bachelor chum being the wife's great bugbear. Her portrayal of the part was decidedly naive and sweet. Arch innocence was depicted in every scene, her love scene with the erstwhile indifferent bachelor hering particularly good.

The part of George Gunning, the chum

of Mr. Parbury in his bachelor days, was well taken by Arthur Byron. His sang frold and rollicking good humor of the first act was in marked contrast with his crustness of the third act, when he end Mr. Drew have a bad morning of it. His indifference breaks down in the last act, when the potent charme of the prefix sec, when the potent charme of the prefix sec.

the gay old father of Mrs. Parbury, did a good piece of character work. Frank E. Lamb, as Evans, the butler, and Georgie Mendum, as Caroline, the maid, characterized their parts cleverly. The support of Mr. Drew is happily selected. The play is a charming comedy, sufficiently heavy that perhaps in less skillful hands it might in places become commonplace, but in the hands of the present company there is not a slow moment.

Tonight will be the last performance of the present engagement of Mr. Frohman's company in "The Tyranny of Tears."

CREAMERY INDUSTRIES.

Steadily Increasing in the Valley No Danger of Overproduction.

Dairying interests are rapidly advancing in the Willamette Valley. A new interest has been infused in this industry this season, by reason of a series of educational institute meetings to be conducted throughout the state, under the auspices of the State Agricultural College,

The Southern Pacific industrial depart-ment, through the untiring efforts of C. ment, through the untiring efforts of C. H. Markham, the general freight and passenger agent, has largely fostered all creamery enterprises along its line. These institute meetings will alike prove a bene-fit to those who have already established creameries, those who contemplate doing so, and the farmers.

The Agricultural College has made experiments along practical lines, and will give out results at these meetings. Two main points are to be considered—the production of first-class creamery but-ter and a market for the product. The latter is a sequence of the former. Mr. Markham says that the farmers are fast awakening to the importance of breeding good stock. His company has already brought in several herds of fine cattle, and will ship in more. He states that in one instance eight Jerseys netted their owner $75 per head in one year. Common cows, during the same period, netted their owners only $40 each, and consumed twice as much feed as the Jerseys. Mr. Markham does not think there is the least danger of commondation.

is the least danger of overproduction.
At the present time Linn County probably leads in this Valley as to the amount of butter and cheese produced. As to the quantity of milk handled and butter manufactured, the Albany creamery is probably ahead of its competitors.

Haisey now has a creamery and a cheese factory. There is also a cheese factory at Lebanon, and Scio now has a creamery. There has been one in operation at Brownsville for several years, and a new cheese factory is to be put in at Foster.

During the past three months the in-crease in dairy products in Linn and Marion Counties has been notably large.

DONE IN THE COURTS.

Decision of Judge France in Case Against City.

Judge Prazer yesterday denied the mo-ion to file a supplemental writ of review in the case of Mary H. Couch, Clementine F. Lewis et al. vs. the City of Portland. The plaintiffs resist the sole of their property for delinquent assessments for the extension of Fifteenth street from Terminal Street to North Front street.

The point on which the court based its decision was that the members of the Common Council, who are in actual con-

There are several similar cases against the city, the most important one being that of the Willamette Steam Mills. Manufacturing & Lumbering Company, and in this a decision of the same kind was also not long ago rendered. The court having decided that there can be no amended writ of review, if the equity cases do not stick the assessments will have to be paid.

LARGE WAREHOUSE BURNED

The fire is probably of incendiary origin, as there is no other conceivable way of its starting. About a week ago the fire de-partment was called out to extinguish a blaze in the same pince, also of mysterious origin. The foreman of the mill yes terday explained that several men were discharged a short time ago for incom-petence, who seemd to bear a grudge against the company. His theory is that these men are seeking revenge in this rapid flow of water through the mains in their vicinity, and their sudden clos-ing causes a "water hammer," which stirs up the sand which was deposited in the mains when the city's supply of water was pumped from the turbid Willamette. The men in charge of the sprinkler have been instructed to open and close these gates slowly, but as the sprinkler is op-erated while the cars are running, they when the potent charms of the pretty sec-retary win from him a declaration of h's love, but even here his matter-of-fact, brusque air never leaves him.

Harry Harwood, as Colonel Armitage, the gay old father of Mrs. Parbury, did man is anxious for the sprinkler to pro-ceed out of the way, the men in charge are likely to close the gate too rapidly, and thus the sediment in the pipes is stirred up.

There seems no way of avoiding this streets should be sprinkled, but it is hoped that the matter will remedy itself in a few days at farthest, and the public will try to get along the best it can until this comes about. The water is not near-ly so much discolored as water pumped from the Willametie would be, but tha people of this city have become so ac-customed to water of crystal purity that they notice the slightest discoloration of their supply.

Mr. Clement has made a world-wide repu-tation in his interpretation of the char-acter of Hohenstauffer, in "The New Do-minion," and his work in "A Southern Gentleman" is no less noteworthy. The company is one of great strength, and, judging from the many inquiries concern-ing it which come to the box office, it will be received with great enthusiasm.

"Quo Vadis?" Well Patronized at Cordray's.

Another large audience witnessed the performance of "Quo Vadis?" at Cordray's last night, and were loud in their praises of the fine manner in which the play is presented and the work of the company in its interpretation. The scenery is unusually sine, and the presence of the den of lons in the last act greatly adds to the effect of the drama.

SLIGHT DISCOLORATION.

Reason for Sediment in City Water Supply.

A number of inquiries have been made as to the cause of the discoloration of the water from the city mains for the past day or two.
