ONLY FIVE DAYS LEFT. Citizens Should Assist the Enumer

Exactly five days remain in which to fin-ish the census of the City of Portland, Un-der the rules of the census office all cities having 8000 population or more must be enumerated by June 15. In Portland generally there has been shown a disposition to aid the enumerators, but in many cases where blanks have been left at residences to be filled out with information by the head of the family when he came in, the enumerators have been compelled to call two or three times and sometimes still not get what was desired. In the case of lodging-houses it has been very difficult for the snumerators to secure the information demanded by the census department. On account of the negligence—there seems to be nobody to blame as it usually is a case of I'il-doto blame as it usually is a case of I'll-do-that-tomorrow—the enumerators have had to go over their territory often, which is very discouraging. It is these little omis-sions here and there, the neglect of rela-tives and friends of absenters to report such cases, an apathy all over the city in spots, that tend to prevent enumerators from getting a full and accurate return. All persons to be enumerated yet are especially urged to have all the necessary information ready at hand when ap-proached within the next five days. It is rather remarkable that few ladies of the house can tell the birthplace of their husband's father or mother. In the case of naturalized citizens there is not one chance in a hundred that the lady of the house knows what year her husband was naturalized. While this information may not seem vital, the census department requires it to be gathered and enumerators must do their duty. If householders will leave at their homes answers to the two questions just mentioned so that enumerators may get them immediately, much time will be saved, as the housewife is generally able to give all the other inforyear, as builders will begin to hurry con-tracts to a finish, in order to get ahead of the Fall rains, and if the demand for help does not exceed the supply in August there will be no trouble about scarcity of men during the remainder of the year.

The eight-hour system is the rule with bricklayers, plasterers and painters, without exception, but many of the carpenters ontinue to put in mine, as the pay is oy he hour. For eight hours the usual rage is $2 55; for the nine-hour day, $2 50, though some carpenters are doing better than this. Painters are paid $2.50 a day for eight hours' work. Bricklayers' wages run about 625 cents an hour, or $5 a day of eight hours; plasterers get $4 a day of eight hours, or $5 cents an hour.

Two important contracts will be brought to an end this month in the con of the new Multnomah Clubbouse of the new Multhomanh Clubbouse and the Corbett four-story brick. The members of the club hope to move into their new quariers by July 1, but the interior of the Corbett building will not be ready for its occupants until about July 15, as each story has to be hard finished and the wall well dried before the structure is fit to receive its story.

west corner of Seventh and Washington, and no time will be lest in building the superstructure, as the control of the control superstructure, as the owners desire to have it roofed in by early Fall. Excavation is proceeding steadily on the Falling quarter block, southeast corner of Third and Washington, and the plans will probably be ready to submit to contractors by next week. This four-story and becement structure will be an or mament to that quarter of the city. Its front will be of pressed brick and terracotta, with steel girders. All that modern architecture can do to make its interior roomy, light and convenient is being done in getting up the elaborate plane.

At the King quarter block, adjoining the Hotel Perkins on the north, excavation is well-nigh finished, and preparations for laying the solid foundation for a three-story brick are being made. of Third and Washington, and the plane

G. W. Bates has started to build two modern double fasts on the sightly lot, couthwest corner of Eleventh and Burnside. The old Ferrera dwelling, occupying the lot, is being torn away, and excavation for full basements will be begun this week. The fasts will be of the most annoved architecture, and the plumbler, lighting and heating are to be strictly up to date. The site is one of the most desirable in the city, and the locality is an excellent one as resards pleasant eurroundings and convenience to the business occurre. The cost of these flats is estithree-story brick are being made roundings and convenience to the business center. The cost of these flats is estimated at $2000. The modern flat is rather an innovation in Portland, but within the past two years it has become quite popular here, and every one thus far built has succeeded in obtaining and retaining descrable tenants. Thus the building of one series of flats lends to be followed by the construction of others.

Among the more prominent residences being constructed on the West Side are the Wolfe residence, on King, near Washington street, and the Durkhelmer dwelling, corner of Lovejoy and Twenty-fifth. Each of these stately edifices is being hurried to completion, as the owners desire to occupy them the ensuing Winter.

East Side Improvements. East Side Improvements.

The first 19 days of the month of June shows no abatement in building improvements, and the past week the Hawthorne estate let one contract for the erection of five cottages on East Twenty-eighth street that will cost $1000. Already the work of excavating for the founda-tions of these cottages have been commenced, and shortly the frames will be up land, and yet the building permits being These cottages will all be good houses, issued by the City Engineer show that and cost about $1300 each. They are near the end is by no means in eight. A large are but the first of the 20 to be erected in that vicinity at once. North of Sul-livan's Gulch, C. H. Prescott will put up five dwellings, the cost of each being about $3000. These houses will be put on one block. A number of other similar to use the street opposite their premises for storing building material.

Although the leading contractors are very busy, they do not report a scarcity of mechanics, as was expected in the Spring. A number of tradesmen who Wintered in Portland because work went on all last season, have left for interior points and Alaska, but their places have been taken by newcomers from the East.

The state of the similar dwellings also will be put up by Mr. Prescott in Irvington, and all will be high-class houses. Altogether about 17 houses are to be erected north of Suilivan's Guich, which, with the 20 proposed south of the guich, will make a big showing, and come taken by newcomers from the East.

It will be provided with tenment-rooms on the second floor. There is talk of the erection of a 40-room hotel on the Sandy road to provide ac-commodations for operatives when the furniture factory shall have started up. C. H. Spencer, of the Southern Pacific, has let the contract for a $3000 dwelling in Irvington. H. A. Smith, Representative-elect, is maying a fine residence erected at Highland at a cost of about $4000. John Duthie has the foundation for a new dwell-ing on Belmont and East Seventh street all ready, the building to cost $2000. His first new house on the same ground, cost-ing $1600, is nearing completion. He has raised up his old dwelling on this ground, and will give it a thorough overhauling. COMING ATTRACTIONS. Nat Goodwin Tomorrow Night.

The engagement of N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott tomorrow and Wednesday everings at the Marquam Grand will prove without question the most fash-ionable event in recent years. At no time has great interest been so manifest as is evidenced by the desire already expressed to enjoy these celebrated arists in thir latest success, "When We Were Twenty-one." It is a story original in the extreme. Over every episode there is an atmosphere of life and naturalizes that possibly does more than any other quality to make it a novable conother quality to make it a notable con tract to the customary play of the day. Mr. Esmond, the author, arrives at his effects by original means. The literary coulity of the dialogue is far above the average; it is humor appropriate and un-restrained, and his study of character re-freehingly unconventional.
