Women to Help the Elks.—All women of Portland disposed to aid the Elks in their great undertaking to have astreet carnival here this Pail are requested to meet at 2 P. M. this afternoon in Elks' Hall, Marquam building. Considerable progress is being made with the preparatory work daily. As the echeme dawns upon the citizens of Portland more fully, the more alacrity is shown in its support. There will be something unique in its character, and a more ambitious effort to aid the city and entertain the thousands in royal manner was never conceived in Portland. Women particularly are taking hold, as the liberal opportunities offered them by the order are also unusual. This will be a time when the women can demonstrate in several of the context in the several of the context in the context of the a time when the women can demonstrate in substantial manner their strength and in substantial manner their strength and feel that in whatever is done they have a free and full part. Every woman desiring to contribute her efforts should make the fact known this afternoon, when the meeting to organize this branch of the work will be held. The street-car idea will probably be discussed. It is hoped that every woman interested will be on hand by the hour fixed for the meeting. SMALL HOUSE BURNED .- A house on BMALL HOUSE BURNED.—A nouse of Hawthorne avenue, near the summit of the grade, occupied by an Italian gar-dener and his family, was destroyed by fire Friday evening. A row of chestnut trees and a number of fruit trees have lately been cut down in front of the house and for some distance beyond, and a lot of brush was piled up and set fire to to or brush was piled up and set life to to get it out of the way. In some way the fire from this brush pile was communi-cated to the house, and although the Sun-nyaide Fire Company was promptly on hand and did good work, the roof of the house and enough of the walls were destroyed to render it uninhabitable. Ca travel on the avenue was stopped for some time by a hose laid across the avenue. BURGLARS IN ALBINA.—Burglars en-tered the dweiling of A. Gavin, on Borth-wick street, Albina, Friday night and stole a pair of trousers and a vest, which they took out to the back yard and searched. They secured a gold watch and chain and $16 in money, besides an Elke' charm and other minor articles. The charm and other minor articles. The family were asleep in the bouse at the time and were not disturbed in the least, though the third walked right into Mr. Gavin's bedroom and took the garments it is easy to understand why the owners off the bureau. FOUNDED BY WM. G. ELIOT

Washington University, St. Louis, Which Lately Received $3,000,000.

The princely endowment of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., by Samuel Cupples and Robert S. Brookings recalls the fact that Dr. William G. Eliot, father In on denot to meet incoming trains. Yesterday T. Nalessaw and K. Mizoguchi, agents of rival houses, while shains the

Eliot, of Portland, was one of the prominent founders of this Steam and lodged in the city jail, charged work, Dr. Ellot suggested that as the matter was being discussed on February Plent of Water for Mines.—Henry 22 the new school, Ellot Seminary, matter was being discussed on February 22 the new school, Eliot Seminary, be called Washington Institute. This name was later changed to Washington University as the general scope of work entarged and assumed the usual proportions of a university.

It was in 1854 that the institution was founded, through the aid of Wayman Crow, who was then a member of the State Senate. As soon as he had the Legislature provide for the charter, the board of directors held a meeting to organize. This was on February 22, 1854. and Dr. Eliot was elected the first presi-dent. In later years others succeeded the worthy founder in this position. The university grew apace, and has been generously remembered on several occasions since, not the least of which was an endowment of $500,000 last year, to which Mr. Brookings then contributed $100,000. May 25, 1900, he and Mr. Cupples deeded to the university an entire business block, in which most of the freight of St. Louis is handled, conservatively valued at $1,000,-990. The revenue from this endowment, pro-vided the business is conducted as it has been in the past, will approximate $600,000 net, annually. St. Louis is jubliant over the prospects of their university, which now ranks with other great schools of the

Upon a correct and full enumeration of Oregon's inhabitants this month may depend the question whether the state shall have two Congressmen for the next 10 years, or three. The apportionment of Congressmen is made upon the decennial census. The enumeration of 1800 gave Oregon a second Congressman, and the census of 1900 may add a third. No resident of the state should be omitted from the enumeration. Except in two cities the work extends through the entire month of June. Hundreds of conveyances yesterday norning carried merry parties into the suburbs, where they spent the day. From 5 till 9 o'clock there was a constant stream of people driving along the country roads castward. There were big furniture wagons, carrying 20 young people, light rigs and heavy rigs, and there were bloycle parties, all intent on reaching the picturesque woodland places that are so picturesque woodland places that are so numerous a few miles to the eastward. In the big conveyances were baskets packed to overflowing with the substantials. Mount Scott, points along the Sandy, the Clackamas and many other places were the Mecca of the pienickers, and they all had fine times. They went early, reaching their destinations early, and escaped the heat of the day. At the close of the day's outing, in the cool of the evening the return trip was made. It is safe to say that fully 2000 Portland people went into the country eastward yesterday.

Death of A. G. Stoldt.

By the death of A. G. Stoldt, of Lower Albina, hist week, one of the old residents of that part of the city passed away. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. O. Forbes, and many of the old-timers were present. Mr. Stoldt was nearly 60 years old, and left a wife and two grown children. For 20 years he had been a resident of Portland, and kept a hotel on Loring street, now ranks with other great country. A unique feature of the situation is that the university will be the actual proprietor of the business block, and will conduct the terminal business heretofore done by the company making the assignment.

Lower Albina, ever since the establishment of the terminal shops. Where his building stands was then the center of activity in Albina. Mr. Stoldt was City Treasurer during the greater portion of the time that the old Albina city government existed, and was in that office when ment existed, and was in that office when consolidation west into effect. He was also administrator of the Brendle estate, that attracted so much attention in the souris. Mr. Stoldt was a man of integ rity, and was highly respected by all who came in contact with him.

New Dominion" Brilliantly Rendered at Cordray's.

A very strong play, well presented by a competent company, is the verdict rendered by the crowded house at Cordray's Theater last night, when the curtain fell upon the last act of "The New Dominion." The combination of Clay Clement and L. Stockwell to a hearty one, and will R. Stockwell is a happy one, and will be a very attractive card during their en-gagement here. If hearty applause and triple curtain calls be any criterion of the success of a company, then the Cis-ment-Stockwell people made a pronounced hit.

Mr. Clement, always popular with Port-land's theater-goese, acided another laurel in his finished characterization of the German baron, Von Hohenstauffer. Al-ways the stately gentleman, precision it-self as to detail in make-up and dialect, he looked and acted the part to perfection. he bosted and acted the part to perfection. His comedy work was quaint, particularly in the scene when he is teaching his pretty little sweetheart (Miss Pomphret) the German language. His dramatic fire was well shown in his resentment of the insult in the second act.

Florence Pomphret, as Flora Randolph, the sweet little Virginian, was excellent in her love scenes with the scientific baron. Mrs. Clay Clement was superb and winsome as the coquettish widow, Mrs. Josephine Delancy. The part of Mrs. Randolph, the dignified lady of the old school, was well portrayed by the tall and graceful Alice Lonnon. Nevada Heffron had a weeping part, as the much-abused Martha, but made the most of a difficult role. L. R. Stockwell appeared in black face. His portrayal of the old family servant, Napoleon, was at all times true to life, and his fun-making was alwaye good. Charles King, as Mr. Randolph, the poor, but proud, Virginia gentleman, was excellent in his role. The part of Marshal Boner, the villain of the play, was strongly acted by L. Griffith. H. G. Lonsdale did good work in the character of Charles McVeigh, the young lawyer.

"The New Dominion" will be the attraction until Friday evening, when there will be a change of bill. "A Southern Gentleman" being put on by the company. poleon, was at all times true to life, and

Twenty Carloads of Steers Going to

A train of 20 cars, containing 1000 head of young cattle, left the Portland stock-yards last evening for Conrad, Mont. The animals were purchased along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, between Portland and Roseburg, by N. L. Cornellus, for the Florre Cattle Company, of Helena, Mont, and they comprise the sixth trainload which Mr. Cornelius has shipped from Oregon this Summer. The stock was mostly yearlings and two-yearolds, and they will be pastured on the rich grass lands along Marias River in North-ern Montana, for the next two years, when they will be fattened and sold to Chicago butchers. Mr. Cornelius says there is a large area of free Government pasture yet available along the line of the Great Northern, in Montana, while hay can be cut along the river bottoms for Winter use. Eilers Piano House, in Their New Store, at 351 Washington, Is Opened With the Very Finest Display of Chickering and Weber and Kimball Pianos Ever Seen in Portland.

Excepting a few finishing touches here and there our new store is ready for business, and we herewith extend to our many friends and the public generally a cordial invitation to visit the most attractive and best appointed store devoted to the sale of planos and organs in the entire West.

We propose to make this store the recognized headquarters of Portland's musical interests. Perfect satisfaction in every instance' has been the watchword that has built up the phenomenal trade enjoyed by Ellers Piano House in the past, and this principle will be rigidly adhered to in every transaction, great or small, by Ellers Piano House in the new store.

We are better equipped than ever before to furnish the very linear planos and organs to retail buyers at lowest possible prices, and on most favorable terms of payment. This we propose to demonstrate in a most substantial manner in our special exhibition sale of fine planos, which commences this morning. This sale includes the very choicest creations of the three leading American plano-makers, and you will find here now the very finest and costilest planos ever offered for sale in the West.

We wish to call special attention to the new styles made by Weber. The elder you will find here now the very finest and costilest planos ever offered for sale in the West.

We wish to call special attention to the new styles made by Weber. The elder Weber was a genius in the realm of tone production, and it has often been said that the tone quality which Stradivarius bestowed upon the violin Weber imparted to his plano-forte, and this wonderful tone quality and the marvelous durability for which the Weber plano has so long been distinguished have never been excelled or even approached by other plano-makers. New and chaste designs in all the varieties of beautiful and expensive woods are now shown in our wareroom-not simply one or two planos, but dozens of them—we ship them in carload jots, and, hand-ling them in large quantities, we are able to quote prices considerably below the regular-established Weber retail figures, 100. $75 and 4500.

And a few words about the Chickering that has stood the supreme test of more than three-quarters of a century, during which time it has been the recipient of unequaled and unqualified honors for superlative excellence from all parts of the cultured world-incidents that acclaim the marvelous value of the Chickering plano—the oldest in America, the best in the world.

We have here now the most exquisite productions of this time-honored factory—the new small Chickering upright, such sweetness and power, such exquisite tone coloring and shading is found only in Chickering planos. You have here 30-odd of these costly instruments to choose from.

And in Kimball pianos we are showing the finest assortment ever displayed in

A Display That Would Create a Furore in the Largest Music Centers, Chickering planes. You have here 26-odd of these costly instruments to choose from.

And in Kimball pianos we are showing the finest assortment ever displayed in the West. The new Kimball styles are simply superb, in every detail of construction and tone quality. The famous world's fair exhibition styles in cases of fancy oak and beautiful dark rosewood deserve special mention. Another design is an exact reproduction of the Kimball as exhibited at the Omaha exposition last year, where it carried off the gold medal in competition with many leading makes. These we show in cases of beautifully dappled English wainut and fancy San Domingo mahogany—they are beauties.

In addition to these we have the wonderful Crown plano, the instrument with the many tones, which infistes a dozen different instruments perfectly, and the Angelus Orchestral, a beautiful little instrument, that can be rolled in front of any plano and which automatically plays the choicest music with the most perfect expression, and absolutely correct, as to tempo, playing as well-yes, even better, than the most accomplished pianist could. Don't fail to see and hear it. Ellers Plano House, Portland's high-grade plano store, in our new Music Building, 321 Washington street.
