THE CORNER-STONE LAID

IN FOUNDATION OF ODD FELLOWS TEMPLE AT SALEM.

The Town Turned Out to Witness the Ceremonies Attending the Event-Schools Closed.

SALEM, June 11 .- All Salem and half the country around turned out this after-noon to witness the laying of the corner-sions for the new Odd Fellows Temple, at the corner of High and Court streets. In this city. A larger crowd than will ever gather on this site was assembled to-day, for the opera-bouse in the temple will not hold half the crowd that covered the open floor and the grounds adjoining. The exercises passed off very pleasantly and successfully. The day was warm, but during the ceremonies clouds obscured the sun and a cool breeze sprang up.

The stone laid is a granite block 34x34x 14 feet. On the two outer faces is logend: "Chemeketa Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., 183-1800." The stone has a cavity in the top large enough to hold such souvenirs and relics as the members of the order saw fit to place therein. The stone

The peremonies were conducted by Past

Grand Master George H. Burnett, wh called the assemblage to order and said: "My brethren, we have assembled on this occasion to perform an interesting and important ceremony, one which we trust will have its proper industrie upon our hearts and minds. The spot upon which we stand has been selected upon which to erect a temple to be consecrated to the great principles of our order; and we are here today to inaugurate the en-terprise by jaying the first foundation or corner-stand in the structure, with the soi-ema corresponder bofitting such an occa-sion. The work so auspleiously begun can be consummated only by persevering effort and patient industry, and we should enter upon it with a determination to carry it forward to completion, until its cap-stone shall be brought with rejoleings, and the edifice shall present beauty, symmetry and proportion every way adapted to the and purposes for which it is de-

After prayer, offered by A. O. Condit. acting grand chaptain, the list of articles to be phased in the commer-stone, was read by Issue Miller, acting grand secretary, and the various articles having been put on an iron box, it was pieced in the cav-try in the stone and the lid adjusted. The master of coremonies then sprinkled the stone successively with water, flowers and wheat, denoting friendship, love and truth, repeating as he did so the ritualistic work of the order. He then gave three blows upon the stone with a gavel, and

'In benevolence and charity I lay this first-sione, carnestly praying that as it firmly fixed in this solid foundation, so may those cardinal virtues immutably reint practice of our order

The architect then handed the master of ceremones a trowel, with mortar, and the latter spread the mortar upon the corner stone, fixing thereon the first brick of the wall. As he did this be said:

"As this cement bluds together the parts of the wall, so may the esment of brotherly affection bind us together during all the days of our lives here below, and so may the cement of Divine love, in our Father's own good time, unite us as living stones in the temple above, the house not made with hands, eternal in the heav-

The deputy grand master then declared the corner-stone duly laid, and the char

The audience then assembled in front of the speakers' stand erected on the temporary floor and listened to an oration by Past Grand Master and Present Grand Representative J. K. Weatherford of Albany, who said: "We have gathered together for the purpose of laying the corner-stone of a new temple for Chemeketa Lodge, No. 1, L.O. O. P. The O. N. G. Encampment. Adjutant-General Gantenbein said to night that arrangements have been per-fected so far that he can announce defi-nitely that the National Guard Encamp-ment will be held at Salem. General Gantenbein and the State Fair Board have been working most of the day over the question of holding the encampment at the state fair grounds. The board has leased the fields desired for the encampment, and no satisfactory arrangement could be made with the leases, but other suitable grounds have been found. It is not definitely known where the encampment will be, but it will be near the fair

GOATS SOLD AT AUCTION.

Brought Good Price at Monroe-Band of Young Sneakthieves.

MONROE, Or., June 13.-Yesterday, at the Lone Pine stock farm, just south of this place, an auction sale of Angora goats was held. Over 750 of these fine animals went under the hammer at prices ranging from $2 to $5 per head. Buyers were present from all parts of the state, and the bidding was lively, all the pens being sold out in two hours. These auction sales are a feature at this farm, and will be continued each year.

It now develops that Frank Prior, the youthful burglar, who was caught here last Friday night, in an attempt to rob the store of A. Wilhelm & Sons, was a member of an oragnized band of amateur sneakthleves, which has been operating in this section of late. Articles found on his person when he was arrested belonged to parties who had but recently lost them.

June 12.—One of the leading loggers on the lower river states that about 2,000,000 feet of logs are being placed in the Columbia every day. These, at the ruling price, represent a cash value of about $12,000. As the mills are using only about $12,000 feet per day the surplus is accumulating quite rapidly. Of course the season in many of the camps will last but a few months and then the surplus will be cut down. The price now for both fir and spruce is $6 per thousand feet, and one of the main objects of the Columbia River Loggers' Association is to keep the price at that figure or at least proportionate to the lumber markets. Another alm of the association is to compel the adoption of the Spaulding scale in the measurement of logs so that the scaling at all mills and camps will be uniform. OREGON CITY, June 13.—Numerous farmers, who have been in the city for the past two days, agree that the late varm weather has materially improved the appearance of Fall wheat in many locali-ties, although there are limited sections where the early sown wheat will be short in yield. Still, it is believed there will in yield. Still, it is believed there will be a good general crop of all kinds of grain. Hay is yielding enormously, and many farmers are cutting clover. During the past week a number of Molalia farmers sold their yearling calves for an average price of $15 per head, to Eastern pur-chasers. The way farmers are buying new buggies and farm machinery indicates prosperous conditions.

END OF TOTEM POLE CASE.

Indictments Against Senttle Citizens

Dismissed.

Late Alaska papers contain accounts of the dismissal of the totem pole indict-ments against eight Scattle citizens. Last August, while on an excursion to Alaska, a totem pole was taken by the excursion-lets at Cape Fox, and it was transport-

Nothing was done about the matter u til last week at Skagway, when District

Attorney Friedrichs moved that the m-dictments be dismissed. He had investigated the matter, and was satisfied the no wrong whatever had been intended by the excursionists, although the affai smacked of vandalism. They had landed at what appeared to be an abandone village, the Indians being then gone, and had taken what they supposed was a for gotten and abandoned relic. When object tion was afterwards raised they set about to make reparation. The District Attor-ney read a lotter from Father Duncan, the missionary, at Metickahtla, stating that the matter of settlement had been placed in his bands, and the Indiana had unanimously agreed to take 1500. This was given them, and they expressed them-selves as perfectly satisfied.
