Roberts Preparing to Bag the Free Staters' Forces.

BULLER ARRIVES AT STANDERTON

Baden-Powell and His Little Band Complete the Trip From Mafeking to Pretoria.

LONDON, June 23, 2:39 A. M.—General Steyn's forces in the Orange River Col-ony are for the time drawing most of the attention of Lord Roberts, rather to the neglect of Commandant-General Louis Botha and President Kruger. The sever-ance between the Transvasi and the Or-ange River Colony was completed yester-day, as Lord Roberts said it would be, by the arrival of General Buller's army at Standerton. The wide net around the 6000 or 8000 men under General Steyn will now contract. Adroit maneuvering and brisk fighting are likely to take place, because until all resistance south of the Vaal is at an end, the British line of communications will not be sufe.

President Kruger's wons, who surren-lered to General Baden-Powell, are back on their farms and working peacefully. General Baden-Powell rode with only 300 en from Mafeking, and he made the last ction of his ride to Pretoria with only Lord Roberts met him in the outskirts of town and escorted him to the Presi

He Will Gradually Surround and Disarm the Two Boer Armies.

NEW YORK, June 22 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: General Buller's advance to Sand Spruit is almost the only fresh point in the mil-itary situation in South Africa. His march is in the direction of Standerton which commends the road northware of operations already and the occupation of Heidelberg by forces from Johannes-burg may confidently be expected within 48 hours. The remnants of Presidents Kruger and Steyn's armies will then be separated and gradually hemmed in and

The process ought not to require much time, as the Dutch forces in the two sec tions cannot now number more than 10,000 men. Military men are not surprised by the delay on the British side. They assert that the business of feeding over 200,000 soldlers in a country where food is scarce is a most serious undertaking. Rumors have been revived that Generals Boths, and Dewet will surrender their forces if they can gain any points by negotiation, but these appear to be premature. Dewet has not yet been thoroughly beaten and Botha came near surrounding French's troops during the last buttle.

The story that the bridge on the Delagoa

Bending over her was Miss Jessie Morrison, who also had a gash in her throat and was cut in several other places. A razor was lying on the floor. Mrs. Casile wrote a dying statement saying that Miss Morrison came to her home, accused her of writing a certain letter, attacked her with a razor and then cut her own throat. BADEN-POWELL'S NOTES.

Colonel's Correspondence With Boe General-Amused the Boys.

London Illustrated Bits. of Baden-Powell's most One of Baden-Powell's most regular correspondents was General Snyman, the party who made a regular job of trying to rush Mafeking every Tuesday and Friday, and passing the rest of the week in recovering from the effects of his

The correspondence would start in The correspondence would start in a curt sort of way. Snyman would drop a line to say that he was about to shell the hospitals and the women's laager, as he didn't seem to be making any impression anywhere else. Then Baden-Powell would acknowledge the receipt of his kind letter, and offer to place every facility in the way of the Boers for committing the brutality that they evidently regarded as one of the sweet pleasures of life. Bnyman's reply to that would be in the shape of splinters of scrap iron, and after an hour or two's scrap iron, and after an hour or two's steady shooting he would send in another letter telling Baden-Powell that there would be half an hour's rest for the funeral of the victims. Baden-Powell would reply in a genial sort of way that so far there were no victims to deal with and he trusted Mr. Snyman would go on shooting as long as his health and fancy permitted.

Sometimes Baden-Powell would write in a less conciliatory vein. It seems that on one occasion, after shelling Mafeking for three hours and a helf, the Boers smashed up a two-pound box of cigars in Baden-Powell's tent, which he had omitted to remove when the shooting began. Baden-Powell was naturally a good deal upset at this, and he wrote rather sharply to Snyman, saying that while he could take a joke with anybody, he thought it was going a little too far to thought it was going a moking mixture jack up the garrison's smoking mixture. In reply, Suyman shelled the town again in reply, Suyman shelled the Raden for another two hours: and then Baden-Powell wrote rather sharply to Say-man, saying that they would really have to charge him for housing his waste scrap iron. He said they had a collection of busted shells in a corner of the city that weighed several tons, and they really hadn't the room to spare for useless bric-a-brac.

If there was no shooting in the afternoon, Baden-Powell would organize some athletic sports and an occasional church

the show was on he would wander around teilling the leading citizens stories of his childhood to make them laugh and keep them cheerful. Sometimes, when things were going along all right, he would go up to his studio and do a little Snyman sent a message calling on the garrison to surrender at once. BadenPowell would reply with a little note saying he would be obliged if Mr. Snyman would pleace go away into the next

In the evening Baden-Powell turned In the evening Baden-Powell turned himself into a public entertainer for the time being. He would have a plano on the platform in the big concert hall, and he would announce that he was about to give a little Corney Grain entertainment for the benefit of the stranded Boers. Now and again there would be an interruption. Just as he had got on to the rollicking chorus of a song imitating Kruger having a night out the call box. Kruger having a night out, the call boy would come on with an urgent note. Baden-Powell would read the note and then say: "Excuse me ladies and gentlemen. I have got to go out in rather a hurry to push the Boers back a little. I will return in about half an hour, and will then have the honor to present my unique imitation of Dr. Leyds trying to speak the truth without the aid of the commandant Steyn and two actively hoestle field cornets had been captured during his absence.

"Lord Edward Cecil, the administrator of the Rustenberg division, has to date the curtain without the aid of mechanical apparatus of any kind."

Then Baden-Fowell would go out and, having returned once just to take his call before the curtain, would hurry away to the buck and draw up a plan away to the back and draw up a plan for dusting the Boers off the outskirts of the city. After a few minutes' steady shelling, and a couple of bayonet rushes of so, he would get a letter from Sny-mun charging him with harshness and br'ality toward the poor Boers who were trying to sneak into Mafeking under cover of the night. Then Baden-Powell would smile quietly to himself and cali-his men back and tell them to go and his men back and tell them to go and get drinks, after which he would return to the concert-room and give his imitation as promised, together with a couple of encore verses that he had thought up of encore verses that he had thought up during the little scuffle.

At night when the citizens were in bed Baden-Powell would go down into the larder and experiment. It appears that he has invented a recipe for horse sausage that knocks the saveloy of com-merce clean off the field.

DISTRIBUTIVE TRADE IS ON A RE STRICTED SCALE.

larked Upward Movement in Prices Agricultural Products-The Weekly Trade Reviews.

NEW YORK, June 12.-Bradstreet's to OFFOW WILL SAY:

Midsummer duliness Midsummer duliness in distributive trade and industry, and further reduction of prices in manufactured goods, particularly iron and steel and raw textiles, but a marked upward movement in nearly all agricultural products, are the leading features of the business situation this work. Wheat has advanced 14 cents per bushel since June 1, and 20 cents from the low point reached in November, a gain over the latter period of 21 per cent in price. Corn-crop advices are still in a high degree encouraging, but that cereal has sympathized with wheat, as has also oats, and hog products in turn felt the in distributive has sympathized with wheat, as has also oats, and hog products in turn felt the quickening influence of higher prices for corn. Improved demand for dairy prod-ucts is reflected in slight advances this week. Crop damage has been a moving cause for the advance in the price of cot-ton. Some weakness has been noted in cotton goods, without, however, favor-ably affecting distribution. Trade in dry goods has been helped by warmer weath-er. Wool is lower, and the woolen-goods market is rather quiet, awaiting the next London wool sale and the opening of the Spring-weight season.

Spring-weight season.

Weakness of prices is still the leading feature of the iron trade, and lower quotations are noted for pig-iron. Structural material also has verified predictions in a decline of from $7 to $9 per ton. Domestic orders for iron are perhaps slightly more numerous, but are for small quantities. Talk of a systematic shutdown of iron furnaces' production for the open market comes chiefly from the South, but while this subject is under consideration, the disease is finding a partial cure tion, the disease is finding a partial cure in the going out of blast of a number of in the going out of blast of a number of less economical furnaces, and the Sum-mer shut-down of many mills. Export demand is good, but, as for some time past, waits upon the question of freight room. The other metals are steady, and practi-cally unchanged in price, with the ex-ception of tin, which is slightly slower. A heavy business is doing in refined sugar, and the manufacturers are oversold. A good margin of profit exists in this trade. Reports from the boot and shoe industry are of rather unsatisfac-tory trade prospects, and leather and hides are rather weak at the Bast, but strong at Chicago, where heavy purchases for Philippine Army purposes have strengthened the situation. Building de mand for lumber is not active, but white pine is relatively firm. Southern pine is in oversupply in a number of markets. Anthracite coal is in seasonable distribution, while the demand for bituminous ontinues active. Wheat (including flour) shipments for the week aggregate 4,645,180 bushels, against 4,678,020 bushels last week, 3,746,712 bushels in the corresponding week of 1895, 2,789,470 bushels in 1898, 2,156,246 bushels in 1897, and 2,847,831 bushels in 1896. Since July 1 this season the exports of wheat aggregate 196,470,162 bushels, against 221,-769,610 bushels last year, and 239,072,288

Failures in the United States for week number 167, compared with 180 last week, 180 in this week a year ago, 220 in 1828, 215 in 1897, and 218 in 1895. Failures in the Dominion of Canada for the week number 25, against 25 last week, 22 in this week a year ago, 19 in 1896 and 1896, and 17 in 1897.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Crop Damage Reports the Overshad owing Factor. NEW YORK, June 22.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weskly review of trade tomorrow will say: The damage to the wheat crop of the Northwest is the event of chief import-ance. How extensive the loss may prove, in view of the widely conflicting accounts, three years it would have been rease that any material advance in prices we neutralize the foreign condition, wh had caused exports of about 190,000,000 bushels of wheat, flour included, in the losing year after 222,000,000 bushels in the previous year and 217,000,000 bushels in the year 1898, besides exports of 212, 000,000 bushels of corn in the closing year against 177,000,000 last year and 212,000,000 in the previous year.

But the fact seems to indicate a more extensive and lasting increase of foreign extensive and lasting increase of foreign demand than has been considered prob-able. Other sources of heavy export have been found disappointing. The United States continues to show enor-mous power of increase, if supported by prices, which, until recent years, would hardly have been regarded remarkably high. If the coming crop falls much be-low expectations the demand for it may prove surprising, even though prices av-erage more than have been expected. In iron and steel structural producers a week ago reduced the prices of beams to $1 90 and angles to $1 80 at Pittsburg, leaving only rails and tin plates, which leaving only rails and tin plates, which have not been reduced from the highes point. The railworks are crowded far ahead, and the question in plates depends largely upon wages. Western bar is reduced to $1$ 55 and steel bars to $1$ 50 at Pittsburg, with a general shutting down of works expected July 1. Hoops are quoted lower at $2$ 55, and No. 27 black sheets at $2$ cents, buyers asking only for small lots. There is a wide range of quotations for merchant steel, and the lower prices named for pipe has only started the demand a little, as buyers expect yet lower quotations. Minor metals also quiet, with small transactions. The railworks are crowded far

The shipments of boots and sho 235,745 cases, in three weeks of June are over 20 per cent smaller than in 1899 or 1896, and smaller by 10 per cent or more in other years. The jobbers still or more in other years. The jobbers still appear inclined to wait, and some manufacturers decline quotations recently named, and have closed or reduced forces. Of necessity the best economy in production cannot be reached under such conditions. Hides at Chicago are not changed for the week, as reported gains and losses balance.

Lower prices are again reported for several grades of cotton goods, and are expected for others, and buying is thereretarded. Heavy brown goods and drills and denims are dull, and without doubt the uncertainty of the material market had some influence. The price of raw cottons has again advanced a quarter during the past week, but with-out clear indications of increased demand for the supply remaining or insufficiency of that supply. of that supply.

In woolen goods the manufacturers also find that the demand falls to answer expectations or to support prices asked at the opening, and some large works are now reported running part time or closing.

At the three chief markets wool has been extremely dull with sales of only 2,720,500 pounds. Even where considerable blocks are found at low figures the conditions of the goods market is by no means encouraging to buyers. Fallures for the week have been 177 in the United States against 178 last year and 25 in Canada against 18 last year.

The Financial Situation.

YORK, June 22.-Bradstreet financial review tomorrow will say:
Easy money and the absence of any

The market had a reactionary appear ance, but the selling of stocks has been largely, if not mainly, by bear traders, although some long stock was forced out, especially in the Grangers, Berlin, too. contributed toward the concessions, sell-ing through London considerable amounts of its holding of American stocks, and the financial and speculative complica-tions at Berlin have been regarded with attention here as an argument in favor In view of the widely conflicting accounts, can only be judged from the speculative markets. It is information gathered at the West that has caused a remark-able advance at Chicago, is cents in 16 days, and the price here has advanced it cents per bushel, though for the September option only 5 cents. The belief is that a large part of the Spring wheat has been killed so as to reduce a yield expected to be close to the largest on record as to be considerably less than the world has required during the cropyear now ending. Until within the past three years it would have been reasoned. out it having any effect on rates for money at New York, is a notable fact, and a decided demonstration of the strength of our financial position. In fact, it is thought that the recent gold move-ments have been due largely to loans made in New York for Berlin interests. and it is also pointed out that the steady increase in the average bank loans at New York indicates that considerable money is again being invested in foreign bills, which is equivalent to discounting European time obligations with American capital.

W. Oliver's coit, All Gold, may start. If so, he will carry 122 pounds and be ridden by Caywood. Yellow Tail, it is said, will not start, but there are those who think he will go to the poet. Sidney Lucas, 122, is also carded as a starter, and he has many followers, yet it is given out on good authority tonight that he will not go to the post. Reminder and Knight Bannert are also carded to start, but there is hardly a chance that they will do so.

The track is certain to be quite heavy. The track is certain to be quite heavy. It was cloudy today, and as the rhin last night was heavy, it seems certain the go-ing will be deep. The condition of the track makes C. H. Smith's colt, Lieutentrack makes C. H. Smith's colt, Lieutenant Gibson, more than ever a favorite. Tonight even money was the prevailing odds at the sporting resorts, although good bots at a better figure were obtainable. It is thought seven to five will be offered in the ring tomorrow. Sam Phillips will be second choice and Advance Guard probably will be third choice. G. B. The local public does not know much about James, and Silver Garter, the Eastern entry, and most of the betting will be on Lieutenant Gibson and Sam Philips with a little play upon Barrack, a Chicago horse, because of his ability to run in the mud. Norford will also have following, because he is the property of "Lucky" Baldwin. The betting will be conducted in the same way as in 1898. No boards will be
