Fun in a Nutshell.

Do you want to asionish your scientific friends? Here is a way in which you can do so, as pointed out by the Philadelphia Inquirer. You have discovered a remarkable electric property in an English wainut, so you tell them. Rub it with a flannel cloth, and, holding it between your thumb and fingers, it will cling to the forefinger so that some little force is re-quired to pull it away. The fact is that electricity has nothing to do with the trick. After rubbing the nut to generate the supposed electric force, you really press upon the nut in such a way with the thumb and fingers that it opens a fate of the Embassies was sealed and that the violent and unreasoning anti-foreign policy had temporarily triumphed. The murder of the German Minister was regarded as an unerring sign that the Emperor would insist upon receiving a province as compensation, since he had rated the injuries of two missionaries at so high a price. Baron von Ketteler reach Shanghal. The report of the Express says that Prince Tuan, who is the dictator at the capital. tried by means of a trap to induce the Ministers to leave the legations, so that they might be massacred by fanatics thus evading governmental responsibility ity for their death. The American, British, French and Russian Ministere sus-pected a plot and refused to leave the legations. Baron von Ketteler, however, accepted the invitation and left the legation with a small escort of German marines. Opposite the Foreign Office he was assailed by the Chinese soldiery and shot four times. The Foreign Office was burned by the marines in their endeavor four times. to defend Baron von Ketteler, whose body was hideously mutilated. Another account has it that all the Ministers were invited to a conference with the Tsung It Yamun, and that Baron von Ketteler started out first and was mur-dered. The other Ministers then refused to venture on the street. A British offi-cer and some soldiers were wounded while trying to defend Baron von Ketteler. German sailors, this account says, set fire to the Tsung Il Yamun building.

Emissaries of Prince Tuan are circulating through the Southern Provinces, and as the Southern Viceroys assert through public proclamation that they will not obey Prince Tuan's decree, a civil war is considered probable. The Boxer move-ment appears to be spreading rapidly southward.

Some Mortified Church-Goers. Millinery Trade Review.

An eccentric clergyman in Cornwall had been much annoyed by the way the mem-bers of the congregation had of looking round to see late comers. After enduring it for some time he said, on enter-ing the reading desk one day: "Brethren, I regret to see that your attention is called away from your religious duties by your very natural desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each. person who may come late.

He then began: "Dearly beloved," but paused half way to interpointe, "Mr. -, with his wife and daughter."

Mr. 8— looked rather surprised, but the minister, with perfect gravity, re-sumed. Presently, he again paused; "Mr. C-- and William D--."

British Mind.

LONDON, July 3 .- The fact that a relef column has been unable to leave Tien Tsin in response to the pathetic prayer of that the Viceroy will undertake to mainthe beleaguered Legations at Pekin is generally regarded in London as destroy-ing almost the last vestige of hope from the unfortunate foreigners pent up in the Chinese, Capital. The worst is feared, and the massacre of Cawapoor is in every man's mind. It is beginning to be felt here that the plausible fiction that no state of war exists is no longer tenable, and a fully quipped army belonging to a single na-lonality is necessary to deal with the situation instead of assorted expeditions of a half dozen nationalities. Hence arises the demand that Japan shall be given a mandate to complete the work left un-done in 1994, with proper security that she shall not be again squeezed out when the costly task is over.

While the general British comment se-verely criticizes America's nonparticipation in the bombardment of the Taku forts, several of the London papers are beginning to find out that Admiral Kempff had better foresight than was possessed by the allied chancellories of Europe when protested against an attack on the Taku forts on the ground that it would throw the Chinese Government into the arms of the Boxers and make all the other nations technically at war with China. And the inadvisability of attacking Taku when the international forces were manifestly insufficient, even to guard the legations and the Europeans in the interior from retailation, is now generally acknowledged. From the far East there is practically no additional news. Rumors are current in Paris that the British Embassy has re-ceived notification of the massacre of the French and German Ministers at Pekin, but there is no confirmation of the report. Shanghal reports that the international Shanghai reports that the international forces at Tien Tsin are suffering from lack of good drinking water, owing to the Pei Ho River having been choked with the corpses of Chinese and other victims of the bombardment. Among the sensational batch of telegrams from the far East, the most important is a statement that a body of international troops has forced its way into Pekin after beating a combination of Imperial troops and Boxers. Though this emanates from Shanghai and remains uncorroborated, the optimists find in it some measure of support for the telegram. Some circumstantiality appears to attach to the report from the statement that the international troops found the Chinese field artillery vastly superior to their own, but badly balloan
