CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

No DEMAND FOR MUSSILS.-A farmer from the Tusiniin brought to the city yesterday a sack of fresh-water clams, or, rather, mussels, for sale. The mus-sels were fine, plump fellows, and looked rather tempting, but he found no do-mand for them. He acknowledged that he had never eaten any of them nor known any one else to sat them, but thought that cut no figure in the case, as city people ate many things he had never enten or had any desire to eat, as frogs' legs, terrapin, shrimps, crawfish, crabs, etc. He said the "clams" were plentiful in the Tualatin and looked fat and nice, and he thought there might be a sale for them in this market. There is plenty of these mussels down in Copienty. lumbia Slough, or almost any of the sluggish bayous along the Columbia, and are sometimes enten by Indians and often by raccoons, but white men have not yet acquired a taste for them. They lave the unpleasant taste of stagnant water, and are not likely to come into use as a substitute for clams or system. Pearls are often found in these mussels and their shells are manufactured into buttons. The streams all over the East and the Mississippi Valley have been swept about clean of these mussels by pearl hunters and shell gatherers, and now the Oregon mussels will come inte play.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DUMARS .- The funer William Dumars, who died of Mrs. al of Mrs. William Dumars, who died in this city Sunday, will take place at 2 o'cicock P, M. today, from the family residence, at 22 North Sixteenth street. Dr. H. W. Kellogg, pastor of Taylor-Street M. E. Church, will officiate, and in-terment will be in Greenwood cemetery. The death of Mrs. Dumars is very great-ly regretized by a large number of friends in this city and in Salem-her former borns. She is the daughter of A. S. No REDUCTION ORDERED.-The news telegraphed from Astoria Saturday in re-gard to the crew of the lighthouse tender Manuanita leaving her on account of a reduction of their wages caused some sur-prise in the office of the Lighthouse Inhome. She is the daughter of A. S. Marr, a ploneer of Gregon, who died a year ago, and was born in Benton County, this state, 42 years ago. The fam-ily moved to Tulare County, California, when she was a young girl. She was married 21 years ago, and, with her hus-hand, took up her residence at Salem. and resume their duties again. They lived in that city about 15 years, until 1884, when Mr. Dumars came to Portland to assume the position of man-ager of the Western Union Telegraph afternoon Detective Barry arrested Isa-dore Wise, of 280 First street, on a Company here. She was a member of Taylor-Street M. E. Church. Mrs. Du mars leaves one daughter. Miss Clarita Dumars, who is well known in musical circles. The mother and sister of the dethe value of $90, from Honeyman, Dereased arrived last night from California whence they were summoned by news of the serious nature of the last illness.

Hen derson for the past week has been making a systematic canvass of the leading drug stores of the city, and obtaining small amounts of money by representing himself to be the brother of Mr. Stuart, of the firm of Stuart & Holmes, of Seattle. He told a hard-luck story, and was usually successful in securing a couple of dollars to tide over his wants, 'until his brother arrived next day." He diso represented himself as the son of Dr. Kohler, a Portland dentist. Among to walt the drug stores he approached are Nau's Berni's, Pfunder's, and Skidmore's. A A Nicoll's tailoring establishment he introduced himself as "Henderson, of the Northern Pacific Express Company." The first clew to his scheme was obtained from Berni's drug store, where a former employe of the Seattle druggists was able to controvert his claim.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' CONVENTION POST-CATE PONED .- The state convention of photog-raphers, called to meet in Portland today to perfect a state organization, has been stponed, and the gathering will not ke place until October 25, 25 and 27. The Il for the convention was issued by the Photographers' Association of Portland, and that body also decided upon the postponement. It was found that if the meeting was held later in the year ex-hibits of leading manufacturers and deal-ers in photographic materials could be secured, as well as the displays of photo-graphs winning prizes in the competitions of Eastern associations. SADLY IN NEED OF REPAIRS .- The di-Impldated condition of the planking on Front-street bridge, across Marquam Gulch, has caused City Engineer Chase to call the attention of the Common Council again to the necessity for a new deck being placed on that structure. There are some bad holes in the planking, and cars are obliged to run very slowly over it, and if it is not soon improved there will be liable to arise suits for damages. The cost of a new deck is esti-mated at $1560, and the City & Suburban Railway Company some time ago offered to stand half of this expense if the city would pay the other half.
