

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight. ALBERT'S WINTER GARDEN (Third and Morrison streets)—Concert tonight.

BLOCK PAVEMENT FOR ARMYORY FLOOR.—Suspension of drills for the summer affords opportunity for some needed repairs at the Armyory, which are being made. Colonel Everett has recommended several changes that will be of importance if carried out. The asphalt floor of the big drill hall was worn down until holes were quite common early last week. Into these cement patches were put as an expedient to prevent further injury to the men drilling. One soldier reported his ankle quite seriously in one of the holes before the repairs commenced. It has been learned from experience that there are better floors for drilling than asphalt. Asphalt is far better than wooden planks, especially such as become slick from such use as on a floor. But Colonel Everett believes a Nicholson block pavement would be the ideal floor for drills. The blocks should be thoroughly treated before laying, and would then endure indefinitely. As has been demonstrated on the streets, the wooden block pavement does not wear much, even under heavy traffic, until the cement sets in. If it is always perfectly dry, they would endure for an age, as the light wear of soldiers marching would not be appreciable. It is not known yet whether the County Commissioners will adopt this suggestion, or even whether permanent repairs will be made this year.

FISHERMEN RECOVERING PAY.—A large number of fishermen from the setting grounds on the lower river were in the city yesterday drawing their pay for the season's work. Many of them had quite a snug sum coming out of the firm. The fishermen generally had not so much money coming to them as usual, but a number of them received $300 to $500 each, and some of them more. The men say all fishing has been suspended, with the exception of a few places, where some salmon are being caught for salting for winter use. The run was about over when the season ended, and the men were very glad to quit, and the horses were also glad. Hauling a seine and doing above in the water all day long, day after day, is very hard work for man or beast, and the poor horses, who have no gum boots and do not even wear shoes, get the most of it. The fishing season has turned out better for all concerned than was expected, even the wheels at the cascades taking their share.

FOR CONSTRUCTION AN OFFICER.—P. Grant, and Steve Drummond, a barkeeper employed in Grant's sailor boarding-house, were up for examination before United States Commissioner E. N. Leedy yesterday on a charge of defrauding an officer in the service of a warrant. Deputy United States Marshal S. L. Moore went to Grant's place several days ago to arrest four sailors who had deserted from the British ship Cadmus. The men, it is said, were eating their breakfasts in the place at the time. Grant demanded to see the warrant for their arrest, and Drummond, the men's pointer to skip, Grant and Drummond waived examination before Commissioner Leedy, and were held to appear before the United States grand jury in the sum of $200 each. The sailors all returned finally and are now in jail to be turned over to the captain of the Cadmus when he is ready to sail.

CONCERNED TEACHERS.—County School Superintendent R. Robinson is making arrangements for a county institute to be held at the High School building in this city September 10, 11 and 12. The date has been definitely fixed, in order that teachers away on their vacations may know when it will be necessary for them to return. Other arrangements have not yet been completed, but Dr. Stroup, of the State University, will deliver an address to the teachers September 10, and there will be addresses by Professor Higler, City School Superintendent, Professor Ackerman, State Superintendent, and other prominent educators will speak on educational topics and give special instruction to teachers. Further announcements will be made as soon as plans are perfected.

WRITE YOUR COMPLAINTS.—There will be a meeting of the license committee at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the committee will receive any complaints or objections or give any desired information or explanations in regard to the blanket license ordinance. It is desired if possible that all complaints be submitted in writing and be filed with the committee in this form they can be given full consideration. If people submit complaints orally there will be no such said that the committee cannot remember all of it. This is a case where in a multitude of talkers there is not likely to be wisdom. Put your complaints in writing and state what is complained of, and omit all irrelevant matter, and the committee will try to do what is right.

MONTHLY ARREST OF GAMBLERS.—Warrants were issued yesterday for the proprietors of the leading gambling-houses of the city—August Eckstein, Tom Williams, Ed Blasser, Fred Frits, Scott Morrill, Frank J. Helten. These were all arrested last month for violating the city gambling ordinance, released on cash bail, which they voluntarily forfeited to the Municipal Court, netting the city over $300 in revenue. This same process will be followed each month. The slot-machine owners and the Chinese fan-gamblers and lottery-men will receive the attention of the authorities in the regular routine of business.

WILL ASK REARREST.—In the Schmeerer-Holbrook contest over the Chinese fan-gambling ordinance, Attorney Schmeerer, who presented a motion for a rehearing before Judge Frazer tomorrow morning on the ground of newly discovered evidence. The counsel desire to have the case set aside and pass upon the 15 ballots put aside by J. A. Wesco, an expert, on Thursday last. Wesco examined the ballots through a magnifying glass, finding the marks on those he laid to one side vary slightly from crosses on the same ballots made for other candidates. These 15 ballots in question are all Holbrook votes.

ARCHBISHOP CHRISTIE NOTES GREATEST NEED OF COAST COUNTIES.—Archbishop Christie, who returned recently from quite an extended trip through Tillamook and Coos Counties, was surprised at the immense resources of those regions in the way of lumber, dairy and fruit. "And what," he said yesterday, "that magnificent country is all tributary to San Francisco, although only a few miles from Portland. The same with which a railroad could be built to connect the coast region with this city is apparent to any person visiting that region from this side. There are several billion acres of pine timber in Coos County, and a railroad is now being operated for a short distance toward Roseburg. This might be completed to a junction with the Southern Pacific at the mouth of the Coos Bay, and thus coast people would have an outlet to Portland. The Tillamook country could easily be tapped from our point, and a large S. L. and growing trade from San Francisco to Portland, where it rightfully belongs."

FLOR DE MADRID. This Excellent Clear Havana Cigar Two for Fifteen Cents. This is an opportunity for lovers of a good smoke. The Flor de Madrid is one of the best cigars on the market, and always sold at two for 25 cents. Hand-cut, no use in smoking, but can be dropped in and buy a couple at the Cut Rate Cigar and News Stand, Perkins Hotel building.

DEATH OF CHARLES E. TALBOT.—A dispatch was received here yesterday morning from Fred Talbot, of Tacoma, announcing the death there yesterday morning of his father, Charles E. Talbot. Mr. Talbot was for many years a resident of Portland, being a son of John D. and Sarah Talbot, early pioneers, who settled on the summit of the hills southwest of this city. Mr. Talbot was a civil engineer by profession, and was the first of one of the first to conceive the idea of Portland procuring a water supply from Bull Run, and spent a good deal of time making surveys to ascertain the most feasible route for a pipe line. He removed to Tacoma a number of years ago, and had resided there ever since. Of late years he had been working on a scheme for taking water for newspaper illustrations, etc. direct from the object, but had not quite completed it. He was about 50 years old. The remains will be brought here for interment tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S FOOTBALL.—John Hughes, an old-time printer, will know to all members of the craft here and in Salem 25 years ago and more, but who has for a number of years been interested in prospecting any mine in Baker County, in the city on a visit. His brother came out from the Middle West to see him and this country, and so Mr. Hughes pitched camp at the home of the brother and arrived here by boat last night. They are going down to the seaside, and will spend a week or two looking up old friends of Mr. Hughes. He has promising mine in the Sumpter district, and things are coming his way now.

MARION COUNTY'S GOOD CONDITION.—E. P. Parkhurst, a well-known citizen of Salem, was at the Imperial yesterday. He was in Portland on business connected with the Elks' carnival, and he predicted the biggest crowd Portland ever had would be in attendance here on that occasion. "Marion County," he said, "is in good shape to stand a short crop of wheat, as our hop crop is fine, and our fruit prospects are bright. Besides, our people are taking more interest in livestock and dairying than formerly, and as there is an abundance of grass and hay, these interests will go far toward making up the shortage in wheat."

NEW FLAGSTAFF.—Postmaster Crossman has succeeded in perfecting arrangements for having a new flagstaff placed in the cupola of the Postoffice, and the flagpoles for this work are now being erected. The staff is larger than one looking at it from the street would imagine, being about six inches in diameter at the base and 12 inches at the top. The ball at the top is to be gilded with genuine gold leaf. Uncle Sam permitting no Dutch metal or other imitations to be used on any such work done for him. The cost of the new staff will be about $100.

CONVENT OF JEWISH WOMEN.—Miss Sadie American, secretary of the National Board, Council of Jewish Women, who is now in California, will visit Portland the latter part of August. Miss American's visit is in the interest of the local section. While in Portland she will discuss the subjects of which she is the editor of the "Jewish Home" and the date will be published in due time. A call for a meeting of the local section to arrange for Miss American's visit will be made in a few days, and it is hoped all members in the city will make an effort to be present.

PROFIT IN BELGIAN HARES

It is No Fad, but a Pure Food, Money-Making Industry. "The Belgian hare is no fad, and the raising of Belgian hares for market has become a legitimate enterprise, like the raising of cattle, sheep and hogs," said George W. McCoy yesterday. He has a large tract of land just east of Montaville, and says there are now over 300 on the place, and that in three months these will have increased to 600.

"What do raise them for? Why, to sell the meat. I can get 22 cents a pound in Portland for all I send in, and hare at 22 cents a pound is cheaper eating than beef at 15 cents. The best class of restaurants and hotels take all I can raise, and would take more."

CINCHING THE RINGLINGS

COUNCIL SLAPS ON A LICENSE OF $12,000 A DAY.

They Do Not Want the Big Circus to Interfere With the Elks' Street Fair.

Up to the last minute before the special meeting of the Common Council convened yesterday no one could be found around the City Hall who would admit that he knew what the meeting had been called for. It was, however, soon seen that the object of the meeting was to consider legislation intended to "discourage" circuses and other "attractions" from showing in the city during the Street Fair. The matter was talked of a week or two ago, but was laid over, and the special meeting was called yesterday to take action in the matter. It was the intention of the showmen to be discriminated against have not been caught napping, as Clay Lambert, representing Ringling Bros., of the "World's Greatest Circus," arrived here Sunday night and yesterday morning appeared at the City Hall and tendered $500 to the Deputy City Treasurer, asking for a license for Ringling Bros.' circus to give four performances here on the 6th and 7th of September. The Deputy Treasurer, acting, it is said, under advice of City Attorney Long, refused to receive the money. Mr. Lambert then tendered the money to one of the clerks in the Auditor's office, who, of course, had no power to accept it.

It was remarked incidentally that agents of circuses are not usually in the habit of paying for licenses so far in advance, and that of late years they have generally applied for a reduction of the license of $12,000 to $10,000, and if memory serves, have generally succeeded in having it cut in two, and that generally most of the Councilmen have had reserved the shortage in wheat."

When the Council convened, Mayor Ross, in the chair, asked to receive the ordinance to amend an ordinance regulating the issuing of licenses so as to make it provide that circuses of the first class shall pay a license of $12,000 for each performance, and circuses of the second and third classes a license of $600 for each performance; circuses of the first class, with a menagerie, $2000 for each performance, and circuses of the second and third classes, with menagerie, a license of $500 for each performance, and every side show a license of $50 per day.

The license having been read twice, Mr. O'Day, counsel for Ringling Bros., was granted permission to address the Council. He said he appeared for Ringling Bros., who expected to exhibit here September 6 and 7. He took it for granted that the Council did not wish to do a wrong to anybody. Ringling Bros.' circus traveled in some 65 wagons, running in three or four sections. They had made contracts with railroad companies for transportation months in advance. They had made a contract with the Southern Pacific Company in November, and they had to go through Portland, whether they exhibited here or not. If they could not exhibit here they would be put to great loss. Their representative had tendered the money for two weeks' license, and its acceptance was refused. As he understood it, the power to tax was not power to prohibit. He did not believe that the Council had power to prevent the Ringling Bros. from exhibiting; that is, no power to pass a prohibitory ordinance.

It had been suggested that Ringling Bros.' show was headed for Portland on account of the Street Fair, and that the ordinance under consideration was intended to protect this fair. He believed that the members of the Order of Elks generally would see that the circus would not injure them, and that the circus would be a great help to the city. A circus could not successfully compete with a street fair, especially in the evening performances. Everybody desired to make the Street Fair a success.

The circus was to come here on September 6 and 7. They would like to make a change and come later, if possible, but they cannot. Mr. O'Day asked if there was some way that this ordinance might be made to apply to their circus. If they have to stay here without giving a performance they will suffer a loss. He did not know what they would do, but he appealed to the Council as fair-minded men to do what was right in the matter.

City Attorney Long said he had recommended the passage of this ordinance. It was perfectly legal, and he thought if $6,000 or $8,000 were attached to the ordinance and the circus came and made $6,000 or $8,000 it was only right that they should pay some of it to the city. He did not consider the license prohibitory, nor was it so in the judgment of the Council. Brough said he had expressed his disapproval of this measure, and he wished to explain his vote. He did not wish to oppose a measure which the Council considered right, and while this ordinance was opposed to his conscience, and what he believed to be right, he should vote with his colleagues for its passage. The ordinance was read a third time, put on its final passage, and passed by unanimous vote, and the Mayor at once attached his signature to it.

Other Business. An ordinance authorizing the committee on health and police to receive bids for the sale of the old Rockery at Rocky Point, and to sell it to the highest bidder, was passed. An ordinance was introduced by Merrill providing for appropriating $100 out of the general fund to pay for 12 sections for the plaza blocks. An ordinance providing for the purchase of these sections was passed by the last council, but was vetoed by Mayor Storey. Mr. Merrill urged that, now that the Thompson fountain was about completed, it was very desirable to have more sections on the plaza blocks, and there was an opportunity to secure them very cheaply now. Masters suggested that as there was to be a Park Commission before long, and a special tax was to be levied for beautifying the parks, under their direction, it would be as well to leave it for them to look after these sections. He did not favor taking anything out of the general fund for this purpose. On motion, the ordinance was referred to the committee on parks and public property. An ordinance was passed authorizing the license committee to contract for license tags for the quarter beginning October 1 and for the year 1901. An ordinance was introduced by Sherrett allowing the riding of bicycles between 6 and 9 A. M. and 4 and 7 P. M. on the west side of Milwaukee street, from Holgate to Franklin street. It was explained that owing to the bad condition of that street workmen had been granted the privilege of riding on the east side of the street during the hours named. The intention of this ordinance was to change to the west side of the street, where there are no stores, and to extend the privilege five blocks. This explanation was satisfactory, the ordinance was passed. A resolution directing publication of notice for the improvement of Sixth street from Morrison to Salinas was introduced. Branch objected to it on the ground that the improvement would be paid for out of the general fund and said the street was in fairly good condition. Referred to the street committee.

AS HIS OWN LAWYER.

Dixon, the Real Estate Swindler, Conducted His Defense. Mrs. Mattie Frost and George Dixon, alias Dana, arrested on the charge of forging a deed to property belonging to Henry Wilson, deceased, had their preliminary examination before Judge Cameron yesterday, and were bound over to the grand jury. Mrs. Frost, through her attorney, Henry E. McGinn, waived examination, and was placed under $300 bonds.

Dixon, on the other hand, demanded a hearing, and conducted his own case, stating to the court that he was an attorney-at-law. He cleverly cross-examined the following witnesses called by the prosecution: Mark Schlussel and Julius Adler, the real estate men; W. C. Puffer, Notary Public; S. C. Beach, County Recorder; Paul Hutter, John Sexton and J. Curtin, messenger boys, and Walter J. White, who made the Henry Ackerman seal.

Dixon was identified by the messenger boys as the man who had received the deeds and the seal, and their evidence was damaging. Dixon, in his cross-examination, endeavored to bring out evidence to contradict the statements of Schlussel and Mrs. Frost. He was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

ARRESTED HIS CONFEDERATE.

Dixon's Pal Falls Into the Hands of Seattle Police. Chief of Police McLaughlin received the interesting news last evening by telephone from Chief Reed of Seattle, that Dixon, a confederate of George Dixon, alias Dana, had been arrested in Seattle. At the same time Chief Reed confirmed the belief of the Portland police that Dixon had been working in Seattle, and that he was engaged in a similar real estate swindle, with the object of selling a piece of property belonging to a Portland man to the city of Seattle. The swindle was discovered through the publicity given to the transfer, and the news of the attempted fraud reached A. E. Jackson of Portland, Mr. Billings, agent, who took steps to have the conspirators arrested.

Regarding this phase of the case, Chief of Police McLaughlin said last evening: "The most valuable ideas in the construction of the arrest of Sherrett, the confederate of Dixon in the attempt to sell a piece of property belonging to Mrs. Blinn, of Portland, their scheme was the same that was worked successfully in Portland. They forged a deed to the property, and were just completing the sale, when a notice of the transfer of the property was received in a Seattle paper. Friends of Mrs. Blinn noticed this, and the news of the sale reached her agent, Mr. Jackson, of Portland, who put the Seattle police in possession of the facts, and they started to work on the case. "Our man Dixon escaped arrest from the officers by jumping out of a window. He then evaded the Seattle officers and came to Portland, and had another deal perpetrated before they got track of him. Reading the accounts in The Oregonian, Chief Reed made this inquiry and found he had his man. He told me if we could not convict him down here, to send him up to Seattle, where he thought they had a clear case of forgery against him."

WATCHING INFECTED FRUIT

Carload of Lemons Returned at Once to California. Pursuant to the notice mailed some time ago by the State Board of Horticulture to fruitmen of the Northwest, Secretary Dosch has been diligently investigating for infected fruit shipped into or out of this section. Saturday an entire car of lemons shipped from California to work in this section, because of the presence of scale. Secretary Dosch found both San Jose and citrus scale in some lemons from this same California grower, and he immediately ordered them returned. When the Portland commission house received the carload Saturday, knowing it came from the infected lot, they returned it without delay to the grower, and the car was returned to the Horticultural Department. A continuation of the investigation is being made.

tion of this work for a period is expected to stop the shipment of all infected fruit to Oregon. Equal vigilance is exercised by Secretary Dosch to prevent the spread of fruit pests from different localities in the state. The fruit displayed in the groceries and stands is inspected carefully to ascertain whether worms, scale or aphid are to be found in it. All dealers are disposed to obey the law when their attention is called to infected fruit, and with the readiness in detecting worms and some of the more prominent pests, it is hoped that the time may never be distant when infected fruit will not be sent from the locality where it is grown.
