Fitzsimmons Gave Sharkey His Quietus in Two Rounds.

EASILY PROVED HIS SUPERIORITY

with Bob Fitzsimmons at the Coney d Sporting Club tonight Fitzsim-was the victor, Sharkey the loser. Finstramons said all along that when an opportunity presented itself he would prove conclusively that he was Sharkey's superior and settle accounts for the injustice done him when he met Sharkey in California four years ago. Sharkey was equally confident that he would prove to be Fitzsimmons' master in the ring, but the result of tonight's battle and the heavity of it proved that Fitzsimmons is still a great lighter and able to beat the best of the heavyweights. He has beaten Corbett, Rublin and Sharkey. tastramons said all along that when an betting, owing to his showing with slin a short time ago. His defeat of Rublin on that occasion and the victory of Rublin over Sharkey a few weeks earlier were figured on as showing that Plusimmons ought to whip the sallor at this meeting.

When the men met toright both of them declared themselves to be in first-class condition and they certainly looked it. Fitzsimmons had taken on a few pounds in weight since his meeting with Bushin, but neither he hor Sharkey would tell his actual weight. Sharkey looked to be about 20 pounds the

When the men came together Sharkey mesumed the aggressive, fushing fiercely and swinging wildly. Fitzsimmons had and swinging wildly. Fitzstmmons had no difficulty in side-stepping out of the way. Bob soon began fointing Sharkey into leads, and when the Sailor tried his round-arm blows he left himself open, of which fact Flizzimmons was quick to take advantage and he stepped inside and put powerful right and left smashes on the Sailor's body and neck. He stabled Sharkey with his left, making the Sailor lose his temper. Then Sharkey rushed more wildly than before, missing most of the swings while Fitzstmmons. most of the swings while Fitzsimmons was gotting to him with great force and using both hands.

Sharkey's Only Advantage.

At the close of the round, Sharkey, with a terrific swing that landed on the, shoulder and neck, put Pitzsimmons to shoulder and neck, put Pitzsimmons to the floor of the ring and Tom fell over him in his mad rush. Tom regained his feet quickly, but the bell rang with Pitz-simmons still on the floor. The specta-tors were cheering like wild men, and when Pitzsimmons got to his feet the men shuped up to pu for each other, evi-dently not having heard the bell amid the nurser. The referse rushed between the uproar. The referre rushed between them, sending them to their corners, and this is where Sharkey says he would have finished Fitzstammons had he had le sec-In the second round Sharkey, having

Then Fitzsiamons stepped in with a crushing right to the body and a ready left to the jaw, while the best Sharkey could do was to swing a left which land ed in the middle of Fitzsiamons back. There was a fearful force behind this blow, as Fitzsiamons said after the field blow, as Pitasimmons said after the fight was over that he felt as if he had been lift with a pickaxe in the small of the Sharkey fook the count and came up sroger. He staggered back to the ropes with Fitnsimmons hot after him. Sharkey was then mable to protect himself and Fitzsimmons sent that fearfur right once more to the body, following up with a right and a left to the body. Sharkey wobbled, but still had strength enough to keep on his feet. Fitzsimmons stepped in again with another right on the body, following twice with rights and lefts on the bead and distingling left work and the fight with a stinging left ed Sharkey down with rights work and the fight with a stinging left hook on the jaw, which sent Sharkey down and out.

The Fight by Rounds.

Round 1—Sharkey rushed and swung his left for the body, but Fitz jumped out of reach. Sharkey rushed again, but Fitz jumped away. Sharkey rushed again, but Fitz met him with a heavy right on the body. Sharkey missed a right swing. Fitz ensily stepped out of reach. A DRAW AT 20 HOUNDS.

Jost, However, Was Outclassed by Purtell at Astoria.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 34.—The 20-round glove contest this evening between Paddy Purtell and Charles Jost resulted in a draw, both men being on their feet at the end of the last round, and all bets were declared off. Jost, although the favorite with the audience was clearly outclassed. declared off. Jost, although the favorite with the audience, was clearly outclassed and during the last 10 rounds acted almost wholly on the defensive. Purteil, on the contrary, rushed the fighting and continually played for Jost's wind but was unable to put him out, owing to Jeat's longer reach and clever foot work. The first and only knock-down was scored by Purtell in the sixth round and bets of two to on were offered on him without takers. Neither man showed any signs of punish-

Article 14 provides that the residue of the estate is to be given to the testator's nephew, Henry Edwards Huntington. Articles 15 and 15 give certain legal powers to the executors.

Article 17 authorises Mrs. Huntington as executrix, or such attorney or substi-tute as she may appoint, to join with Charles F. Crocker and Stillman & Hub-bard, or their respective attorneys or per-sonal representatives, in executing or indorsing commercial paper. (This power is terminated by the death of Charles F. Crocker and the dissolution of Stillman & Hubbard.)

The articles following are purely legal, the 22d providing that any beneficiary contesting the will shall forfeit his share

The will was filed for probate in the Surrogate's office today. The petition asking that the instrument be admitted to probate does not give the value of the estate Charles H Tweed Mr. Huntington's attorney, said he could not place any value on it.

The question having arisen as to what was meant by the statement in the will that securities to the par value of the sums named could be given to the beneficiaries instead of money, a representative of the Associated Press asked Mr. Tweed whether a legacy amounting to $50,000 would be paid by securities of the par value or market value of $50,000. Mr. Tweed replied that that was a question which would have to be left to the ex-ecutors to work out, and he had no doubt they would deal fairly with every one provided in the 14th article that
