

DOORS LIKE ROGERS

His Chances for Renomination Are Bright.

VOORNEES HAS A POOR SHOW

Governor's Strength Comes Chiefly From the Smaller Counties, Though Spokane Will Aid.

SEATTLE, Aug. 24.—The prospects of Governor Rogers for renomination at next Monday's union convention tonight look exceedingly bright. The opposition has been demoralized by the repeated attacks made upon Favre and a strong effort is now being made to get him out of the race. The Evening Times, which has been exceedingly hostile to Favre and unsparring in its denunciation of his personal record, tonight announced his withdrawal; but the Tacoma candidate emphatically declared that the announcement is unauthorized, and says that it is merely a device of the Rogers people to damage him. It is generally believed that Favre last night decided to retire and so informed the steering committee of the King County delegation. Today he changed his mind. There has been considerable speculation that Favre will be given the State Treasurership, but little progress seems to have been made in that direction. The exact instance of the outside candidate's determination to pull out cannot be ascertained, but it may be guessed that they are based upon realization of the fact that for him to retire would be substantially a confession that his ugly fight about him are true. The fight centers on control of the Democratic convention. The anti-Rogers committee control the Everett and Tacoma delegations, and have the nucleus of very great strength, but reports from the country indicate that Rogers will have the great majority of the outside counties. J. J. Smiley, of Tacoma, one of Rogers' able lieutenants, arrived tonight with the assurance that every one of the six Central Washington counties is solid for Rogers, not to mention the King County delegation, but in the Populist and Silver Republican. Reports from other sources substantiate this statement. It is known that Senator Turner is in his fight for control of the Spokane Democratic delegation, and this means that a majority are without question for Rogers and against Voornees. The Populist delegation from the King County is a severe blow to the Voornees candidacy, coming as it does from his own county.

Talk of James Hamilton Lewis for Governor was revived during the day and a Lewis boom seemed to be fairly launched. But it was killed off by Lewis himself, who announced that he was not a candidate for Governor, and that he was pledged to Ronald for Congress and Moore for Supreme Judge, which was all the Democrats could fairly expect from this county. As likely as not the Lewis talk will revive.

There is but little talk of the two-thirds rule, and there now seems to be no likelihood of its being adopted. It is probable, however, that the party will adopt the Democratic name, though this is by no means certain. Senator Turner is being urged for chairman of the state central committee. This is a somewhat surprising move, and it is at all certain that Turner would accept.

Maloney and Goddard Are Out. Boss Maloney and his secretary, C. H. Goddard, are decidedly out as to the proper course of the union convention. Maloney's sole purpose early in the campaign was to get the Governor elected and a Lewis boom seemed to be fairly launched. But it was killed off by Lewis himself, who announced that he was not a candidate for Governor, and that he was pledged to Ronald for Congress and Moore for Supreme Judge, which was all the Democrats could fairly expect from this county.

FOR THE PORTLAND EXHIBIT. O. R. & N. Brings Carload From Pullman—To Close Saloons Sunday.

COLEMAN, Aug. 24.—The O. R. & N. Co. today shipped from Pullman a carload of farm products—grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits grown in that vicinity—and which will be placed on exhibit at the Portland fair.

Professor Palmer, of the Washington Agricultural College at Pullman, who is the city stated that he would not be with the other members of the college faculty at the beginning of the Fall semester, having been granted a leave of absence to accept the position of superintendent of the beet-sugar factory at Waverly during the Fall campaign. As soon as the season shall be ended Professor Palmer will resign his place as head of the chemistry department of the Waverly sugar factory.

Announcement is made from Rosalia that the anti-saloon league of that place has taken up the matter of the enforcement of the Sunday closing law, and has had both saloons men of the town arrested on a charge of liquor selling on Sunday last. The saloons are Joseph Schulties and Florent Meyers, have been held to appear before the Superior Court on August 31, with bonds fixed at $500 each.

Heavy rains were general throughout the Palouse country today, stopping all harvest work and producing a feeling of great uneasiness among the farmers. No grain has as yet been threshed, and the rate, outside of the delay to threshers and headers.

AT THE QUARANTINE STATION. Old Buildings Will Be Fitted Up for Barracks and Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Although bids were received several weeks ago for constructing a detention barracks and marine hospital building at the Astoria quarantine station, there is little likelihood that work of this nature will be undertaken at this time. It was found that these buildings will cost considerably more than the funds now available, which reached in the neighborhood of $7500, so it has been practically decided to use this money in repairing and fitting up some of the old buildings on the site for hospital use and wait until a special appropriation can be obtained for erecting two new buildings. It is stated here that the old buildings, if repaired, will be ample for present demands, but can not last for many years.

ARBITRATION AGREED TO. Canadian Pacific Will Leave Wages to Be Decided.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 24.—A special board on Winnipeg this evening stated at a conference held there this afternoon that the Canadian Pacific Railway, and representatives of the striking machinists, it was agreed to submit the question of wages to a practically inflexible arbitration board. Canadian Pacific conductors, trainmen and engineers will meet in Winnipeg on Sunday to discuss the strike situation. The strikers say that the decision of the company to submit the mooted points to arbitration came just in time to prevent radical action on the part of all employees of the road.

ATTEMPT TO ROB A BANK. Men Frightened Away by Shots of Nightwatchman.

MORO, Or., Aug. 24.—An attempt was made to rob Moore Bros. bank last night. Two men undertook to get into a side door, but were frightened away by the fire just back of the bank. They first took off a screen and then started to break out the glass, but just as they were about to do so the night watchman came and took two shots at them through the and by the prodigal and corrupt use of money. If the party nominates him we will go down to certain defeat. The men who are nominating him are divided into two classes—those who are ignorant of the man's record and who do not know what we will have to contend with if we nominate him, and those who are out of money, and don't care a snap whether the party succeeds or not. Some of the self-styled leaders in the party, some who hold positions in the community, and some who show the marks of the regulation grafter in this Favre fight.

King County Unanimous. The King County situation is not satisfactory to the Favreites. The Populists are instructed for him, the Silver Republicans are divided, and the Democrats plainly do not know where they are. They know only that they are not for Rogers. There are a few exceptions, like L. C. Gilman and George H. King, and the voices of these are likely to be silenced by the unit rule. The unit rule means that the vote is cast to the unanimous support of King County, on the ground that the primary fight has hinged largely on the Rogers issue, and the Governor was beaten; and on the further ground that Tacoma should have the Governorship if Seattle is given a Congressman. Rogers is a Pierce County man, having from Payallup; but he is not good enough a Pierce County man for the Favreites. Ronald finds himself in much the same position that Cushman did at Tacoma. The Pierce County Democratic delegation is pointing him on the back, and insisting that in the interest of fairness and good politics his delegation help out Favre; and the Rogers people hint at all sorts of ugly possibilities in case he does go to Favre. This was the sort of thing that rattled Cushman, when he never was in any sort of danger nor is it apparent now that Ronald is running any risks whatever he does. The temper of all the delegates is that King County should have a Congressman, and as Ronald is the only candidate put forward, he will be elected. The unit rule means that make him any sort of trouble is James Hamilton Lewis, and Lewis' hands seem to be tied.

Capital City Brevities. SALEM, Or., Aug. 24.—Extensive plowing and box factories are rushed with orders for fruit boxes, trays, and other fruit handling appliances. The box factory will keep many hundreds of dollars in cash on hand for the location of a factory here. As the custom of packing fruit in boxes becomes more common, the importance of the factory increases.

The residence of James Decker, near Whiteaker, in the Waldo Hills, was destroyed by fire last Wednesday evening. The fire caught in a stovepipe and spread so rapidly that the furniture and contents were destroyed. There was no one in the house.

Rev. P. A. Powell, a native of Montana, but now a pastor in Missouri, has been called to the pulpit of the First Christian Church, of this city.

The three members of the Polk County Board had a conference today with the county engineer, and they agreed to let the steel bridge across the Willamette at Salem. It was decided to brace the piling so as to prevent oscillation, and to re-roof the main part of the bridge.

GOOD PRICE FOR HAY. 150 Tons at $11—Prune Driers Started.

MILWAUKEE and Gaby. OREGON CITY, Aug. 24.—It is already evident that Clackamas County farmers will receive a good price for their hay crop, the yield being up to the average.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., Aug. 24.—The rain is evidently trying to get a start. Yesterday at noon a few drops fell—just enough to make the hop men look a little downcast. The rain will be a great help this week, with every indication of rain. Should the rain hold off another week hope could not be hurt to any great extent.

The Southern Pacific bridge gang is camped on the sidewalk at this point while engaged in putting new foundations and a new roof on the company's warehouse near the depot. This is in preparation for moving this season's crop.

What's everybody's business seems to be nobody's business in regard to the exhibit by counties at the state fair this year. A committee was appointed to look after a Polk County exhibit at the state fair. The committee has spent considerable time on the matter, but thus far has been unable to get any one interested enough to exhibit for the purpose. Hop-picking will begin next week, and continue for 30 days, during which time there won't be anything else thought of.

Good Prices for Horses and Wheat. LAKEVIEW, Or., Aug. 24.—There is a brisk demand for cavalry horses in this section, and every available horse is being rounded up and broken up for the market. The market for horses on the ranges in Lake County this winter than for many years. It is understood that the German Government is also securing the best horses for its army, and as it uses mares as well as horses, the ranchers can sell out pretty close. High prices are offered.

The new crop of wheat now being threshed in the valley is bringing prices, 90c and 1c having been paid already. It is expected that $1.25 per bushel will be paid before the season shall be over. There is quite a demand for wheat this year, and the crop is only average.

Oregon Notes. Newberg's pastors have formed an anti-saloon league.

The bridge across the Pudding River at Cooley's will be completed in a few days. Roseburg man reports white grapes ripe August 15—very early for Oregon.

Salem's cannery is buying all the prunes and Bartlett pears offered to it, and expects to employ 200 hands.

Sheep are already being driven from the mountains to the Willamette valley, where feed is poor, to their winter range.

The logs coming into Coos Bay by the Daniels Creek Railroad are large, of excellent quality, and average 40 feet in length.

Miss Mary C. Burton, of Kansas City, has been appointed kindergarten at the Umattilla Indian school, at a salary of $300 per annum.

Bishop B. Wistar Morris, notwithstanding his advanced years, is making one of his customary stage trips to Coos and Curry counties.

The keel is being hewed for another vessel to be built at the Marshall shipyard, and she will be a sister ship to the Foresthawk.

E. S. Craven, of Newberg, has cut 100 tons of red clover from 22 acres this season, and the same place is now making a third growth sufficient for good Fall pasture.

Pat Kine, of Umattilla County, raises on an average 200 pigs annually for market, and finds a ready sale for them in Pendleton, the price at present being 3 1/2 cents per pound.

The Stockmen's Union at Antelope has inaugurated a movement to gather a large amount of information favorable to the sheep bounty law to prevent its repeal next winter.

The report that the late Peter Scholzer, of Albany, had made his daughter, Mrs. Phillips, the beneficiary of his A. O. U. W. insurance is a mistake. The money is payable to his widow.

W. S. Vandenberg, the Coos County Populist who came so near defeating Representative Tongue in the Spring of 1898, has rented a ranch in Southern California and gone to work.

The Dalles Chronicle is confident that "when it comes to fruit-raising, especially of peaches and grapes, the Willamette Valley is nowhere in comparison with Washington County."

Albany's hopes for a glass factory have been shattered. The town was asked not only for $50,000 cash bonus and five acres of land, but to guarantee soft coal at a maximum of $1 per ton—the latter "an impossibility."

Representative-elect Lot L. Pearce, of Marion, says he will introduce a bill at the next session of the Legislature to amend the present game law, so as to make the open season for quail August 15 to November 15, and fixing the maximum number of birds to be killed by any one hunter in one day at 10.

J. F. Camp, a railroad engineer from Spokane, has been here to be interviewed by the Corvallis & Eastern, says the Malheur Gazette. He could not be induced to express any opinion in regard to the future intentions of the road, and would only say that he had been along the road for the purpose of estimating work and cost of construction.

J. B. Saylor and A. E. Thompson have returned to Beho from their trip to Idaho, says the Pendleton Echo. They were commissioned by stockmen of Butter Creek to buy "feeders" for them, but were unable to buy any cattle at all. They were led to believe that there were plenty of cattle in the market for sale, and expected to ship to Echo some 25 carloads.

CLEW TO THE BURGLAR

MAN WHO COMMITTED ROBBERY OF A CORVALLIS WAREHOUSE.

Livery Rig That Was Not Retained Leads to the Discovery of Suspicious Circumstances.

CORVALLIS, Or., Aug. 24.—Some of the recent thefts in Corvallis and vicinity are apparently explained by developments today. At 4 o'clock last Wednesday morning a stranger hired a rig at the Eighth stable. He failed to return at the appointed time, and a telegram this morning announces that Mr. Eglin recovered his property in Salem. The stranger was not seen again.

Ten days ago the same stranger hired a hack and team at the same stable. About the same time there was a robbery of the O. R. & N. warehouse in this city. The stolen goods were taken. It has since been learned that the same day that the team was first taken from the stable 200 pounds of wool were shipped from the warehouse, 35 miles north of here, to a Portland firm. The shipper gave the name of J. C. Wilson, and answers the description of the person who has been operating with the livery stable. The wool is supposed to be that which was stolen from the warehouse.

Gave Same Name at Salem. SALEM, Aug. 24.—A young man giving the name of J. C. Wilson hired a horse and buggy from Corvallis livery stable last Tuesday and drove to Salem. The rig was left at the Page & Stephens' stable in this city, on Wednesday, and the driver has not returned.
