Young Men Busy.

Morning Glympian.
Another evidence of increased prosperity is noticed in the dearth of young men in attendance at the Thurston County Teachers Institute, now in secsion in this dity. It is stated that there are not over half so many young men as usual attend-log this year's session, and a perusal of the rester of last year's institute discloves the fact that this year's absentees have engaged in other and more remunerative pursuits. It must be admitted that many young men follow teaching, not with the intention of making it their chosen pro fession, but only until something more to their liking presents itself. Times being better more men are demanded in the business world, hence the falling off in
