THE CARNIVAL OPENING

KING AND QUEEN WILL ARRIVE IN THE CITY TODAY. Everything in Readiness for the Street Fair—Visitors Pouring Into the City.

Accompanied by the music of many bands and escorted by hundreds of their faithful and richly costumed subjects, the King and Queen of the Carnival will arrive at 2 1/2 P. M. today from some mysterious region down the river, and will be accorded a welcome by the citizens of Portland as generally heartiest and as ceremonious in performance as their high estate and kindly feelings toward Portland entitle them. The most magnificent preparations have been made for the proper reception of the royal pair and for their entertainment every seen in Portland. They are to disembark at the Ash-street dock, where they will be met by the Mayor of the city and escorted to the Courthouse at the head of the longest and most brilliant pageant ever seen in Portland. Arriving there, the coronation ceremonies will be performed with an elaborateness of detail equalling similar functions recorded of real Kings and Queens in the pages of history.

Miss Alice Thayer, the Queen, has chosen as her maids of honor Miss Maude Sutherland, Miss Helen Post, Miss Inez Craig and Miss Estella Case, and their costumes will be rich beyond expectation. The identity of the King will not be disclosed until his arrival today. Every train and boat arriving here yesterday was crowded with visitors, and all day long through every part of the city they came and went, baggage in hand, or later sailing forth to join the innumerable and happy hosts that promenade the streets in quest of points of interest. Gay streamers of the Carnival colors—purple and white—and the stately flag of the Nation fluttered a welcome on every hand. Some idea of the number of people that will visit the Fair was expressed last night from the crowds that surged along the sidewalks of Sixth street admiring the magnificent decorations of the Hotel Portland, looking among the greenery of the park entrance, and gazing wistfully over the locked and guarded gates of the enclosure. The myriads of electric lights that gleam from the booths and hang in great festoons throughout the Fair blocks were glittering merrily and afforded the onlookers a foretaste of the assembled splendor that will greet the eye tonight at 7 when the gates will be thrown open to the public and the great Street Fair and Carnival will be a reality.

One of the first delegations to arrive was the advance guard of the Roseburg Elks and their friends who came in from the Southern Pacific overland last night. They were met at the Union Depot and heartily welcomed by the Elks' hospitality committee, headed by Captain W. J. Riley, and a band, and were escorted to the Hotel Portland. Many thousands more will come today from every part of the North Pacific, and by the middle of the week the city will be entirely in the hands of the visitors. Thursday 700 are scheduled to arrive from Baker City in one body, while Albany will send 500 and Seattle will contribute a delegation of 1500. Owing to the systematic methods and diligent work of the accommodation committee, the immense numbers of people already in town have been handled easily and no trouble in furnishing quarters for all who come is expected. Nearly everyone having rooms to spare have invited them at the accommodation headquarters in the Hotel Portland, and anyone calling there will be cheerfully directed to desirable places. Assistant Secretary W. H. Street invites all having rooms not listed to call upon him and leave their names and addresses. There is no charge for this service and it will be rendered cheerfully. No favoritism is shown, and the rooms will be assigned in the regular order in which they have been listed.

Line of March. The line of march will be from Ash-street dock on Ash to First, to Morrison to Third, to Burrhead, to Fourth, to Columbia and countermarch to Courthouse to reviewing stands, where coronation exercises take place and parade will disband.

FOR THE FLORAL PARADE.

Intending Exhibitors Are Asked to Report to Committee.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the committee having in charge the Floral parade, which is to be given Friday, September 7, and when the thousands of expectant sightseers through the thoroughfares of that day it will be to gaze upon the most exquisite commingling of art and of Nature's beauties that has ever been attempted in the Northwest. Everything that careful planning, artistic taste and hard work can do towards bringing about the ideal sought by the women has been done, and now they ask the hearty co-operation of everyone who is in a position to lend a helping hand by contributing a vehicle bedecked with flowers. No restrictions are to be placed on the kind of rigs offered, entry, and even a hay-rack or a dumpcart will do so long as it is decorated, and it is expected that some very novel effects of that sort will be introduced, while bicycles and horse-drawn rigs will be well represented. In order to insure the proper placing of entries in the parade, those desiring to take part are requested to leave their names at the Elks' Carnival headquarters, 218 Sixth street, today and tomorrow, and to designate the class of vehicle which they wish to exhibit. This is absolutely necessary, and the committee is especially anxious that none should be debarred through failure to comply with this simple requirement. Cash prizes to the amount of $100 have been provided, and will be gladly assist in stimulating interest among the many contestants.

Handsome and suggestive floats have been arranged for by the Ladies of the Macabees, the Knights and Ladies of Security and the Rathbone Sisters, which will attract the admiration of all. General Summers will arrange the line of march, and will give it to the public through the columns of The Oregonian Thursday morning, when he will also announce the place of assembly and other details in connection therewith.

Russians' New Calendar.

It is said that Russia is about to adopt a new calendar. Each year contains 12 months of 25 days each, and begins on Monday and ends on Saturday. The main feature of this calendar is its apparent stability, and in this it resembles the sovereign remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitter, which has held an unmovable position for half a century. Try it for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness or insomnia, but be sure you get the genuine.

MARQUAM IS OPENED

"BROWNIES IN FAIRYLAND" MAKE A HIT.

Clever Little Tots Delight Young and Old by Graceful Dancing and Singing.

One of the most wonderful and entertaining performances ever favoring Portland's theater-goers was given at the Marquam Theater last night by the clever little Brownies. A house filled to the doors greeted these interesting little artists, and had encores been allowed, the poor youngsters would have been worn out with recalls.

The Brownies are an aggregation of juvenile dramatic, terpsichorean and musical talent verging almost on the precocious. Ranging in years from 4 to 12, they are all really what their wondrous antics had pictured fairies to be, the play will also be a revelation.

In a few paragraphs it would be useless to try to give details of the numerous specialty numbers. A criticism would be but a repetition of complimentary phrases. Certainly the 20 little professionals were artists of first-class caliber. The chorus of local fairies and Brownies in another performance will be better up to their business, and will sing out with more confidence, although even last night, their performance, their efforts were fully appreciated.

Prominent among the numerous artistic turns stands out Maude Sorenson's. This clever little miss, but 8 years old, is little short of the wonderful. Her singing and enunciation are peculiarly sweet and clear-cut, while her ballet dance throughout, being entirely on her toes, was the feature of the performance. Then those two sweet little tots, Queenie Tilton and Eva Lerner, each about 4 years old, outdid one another in graceful postures and naivete, especially in their Tyrolean dance. Mildred Fitzgerald in her sailor's blouse, Florence Emery's good singing, Marie Louise Conkey in her cornet solo, Gladys Sorenson in her butterfly dance, and the two pretty girls, Alice Condon as the Prince of the Brownies, and Lillian Rhodes, as Queen of the Fairies, all furnished clever entertainment. Nor should the good singing of Ben Harrison Lerner and Tom F. Dunn be overlooked. But when details followed so rapidly and were all so good, a full description would be next to impossible.

The performance concluded with an artistic cakewalk by the company, and a grand fairy transformation scene. The Brownies will hold the boards every evening this week, with the exception of Wednesday evening, when two special matinees for the little folks Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Death of Henry S. Ball. Henry S. Ball, of the East Side, a Portland jeweler, died at The Dalles Sunday, and the body has been returned to Portland for interment. Mr. Ball had been in failing health for several years. He went to El Paso, Tex., several months ago, and received some benefit. Recently his condition was such that his physician advised him to go east of the mountains, but he only remained there two weeks. He was 59 years old, and had been a resident of Portland for about 26 years. He was prominent member of the Second Baptist Church, and wife and one son, Leo S. Ball, survive him. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Second Baptist Church, and Lone Fir cemetery will be the place of interment.

TWO BUNCO MEN EXILED.

Chief of Police Orders Confidence Men to Leave.

Detectives Day and Welner picked up a Tacoma confidence man named Butz yesterday afternoon, and he was invited to the police station to have a "talk" with Chief of Police McLachlan, who ordered him to leave within 24 hours or be run in again. The detectives and patrolmen are keeping a sharp lookout for confidence men and bunco steers and as fast as they are located they are ordered to leave the city. Another sure-thing man, known by the police as "Blackie," was ordered to cut his Portland visit short by Chief McLachlan yesterday. Almost daily for the last week men known to belong to the "quality" receive notice that the Portland police department will tolerate no depredations on the visitors during the Carnival.
