last 24 hours the United States Government has received from its representa-tives at foreign capitals much material information in regard to the attitude of the powers on the Russian proposal to evacuate Pekin. These give the general nature of responses made to Russia by certain of the powers. It is stated authoritatively that if there was at any time a prospect of a serious international clash, this has been very largely, if not entirely, removed by the harmonious character of the communications the several governments are making. The exact nature of the responses is not made public by the State Department, for there are yet some replies to be transmitted, and until all of them are in, the negotiations are considered in such an incom plete form that they will not be made public. It is said, however, that the anawers go much beyond the tentative char-acter of those heretofore referred to, and are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the governments, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the particular proposition advanced by Rus-sia. The responses are understood to be rather long and somewhat argumenta-tive, similar in this respect to the Ameri-can response. This very fact is a cause for congratulation among officials, as they point out that there is no disposition to treat the proposal with terseness or in any manner to give offense, but rather to bring the powers together on a ommon basis. On the whole, the general tendency of as to give entire the responses is such satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations. The samuactory progress of the negotiations along these lines has had the effect of directing attention to the personality of the envoys who will probably represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails that Mr. Conger is eminently fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative. Mr. Rockhil's name is mentioned as an alternate, in case Mr. Conger does not care to remain n Pekin or to participate in the settletment. These suggestions, however, are all speculative, for up to this time the State Department has not conferred the necessary special powers upon any person to represent this Government in the final negotiations. If the present state of affairs in China is protracted until the arrival there of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, which should occur in about 10 days, or a formight, it is not to be doubted that the Government of Germany will en-deavor to have all the negotiations with Chin Government conducted through that official as a representative not only of Germany, but of all the powera. It is gathered that strong arguments will be advanced to support the advisabil-ity of combined action through one agency in this manner as the best means of securing a speedy and generally satis-factory termination of the Chinese trouble. In fact, it will be urged that there is little hope for an early adjustment of the difficulties between the powers and China, if each of the powers is to lay down an independent proposition, the cul-minative effect of which, particularly in the case of money or territorial indemni-ties, might be absolutely crushing to the ase Empire.

Russia's Policy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 5 .- The officlal Journal de St. Petersburg, reiterating the statement that Russia's only desire is to end the disturbances in China as speedily as possible, "preparatory to which the re-establishment of the Chinese Government is necessary," contends that "military action beyond Pekin would only arouse fresh complications." "However great may be the just indignation which events in China have provoked in all civilized countries." the paper adds, "the Russian Government, while examining with necessary calmness all the questions raised by the recent occurences, adheres unalterably to the principle forming the basis of her policy, namely, the maintenance of peace with all the powers who

In Favor of the Count of Flanders Son, Prince Albert.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 .- A dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser from Brus-sals says: According to official announcement just issued, the marriage of Prince Albert and of the Duchess Elizabeth of Bavaria will take place here in the ancient church of St. Gudule on October 1. Great preparations are being made for the event, for the Prince, who spent some time in the United States, is the most popular member of the royal family.

It is persistently reported that immedi-ately after the wedding, which will be celebrated with a good deal of pomp, Leopold will abdicate in favor of Prince Al-bert, whose father, the Count of Flan-ders, younger brother of the King, is so deaf as to have decided him to shan his own rights to the throne of his only surviving son.

The de-partment has also been informed that the Turkish Naval Department has completed the plans and specifications for the cruiser which is to be built in the United States.

After denouncing what he termed the tendency toward militarism, Mr. Bryan concluded as follows:

"The Colonial policy is not carried on for education or for the support of Chris-tianity. It was undertaken under the mask of benevolence, but the main motive was the Almighty Dollar, and if we enter upon an imperial policy it will not be to educate the Filipinos. It will not be to Christianize them. It is the Chris-tian portion of the Philippine Islands that is now in revolt against us, and it is the Mohammedan portion that is most friend-ly to us. Our flag is most secure as it floats over the palace of the Sultan of Sulu, and the Republican Administration pays the Sultan so much to let the flag oat there. And if you Republicans think that your party stands for the doctrine it used to stand for, I want to remind you that a treaty has been made by the Republican Administration with that potentate whereby everybody is recognized under the American flag. The same treaty that provides that the Stars and Stripes shall float over the Sultan's palace recognizes slavery as an existing in-stitution."

at Morgan's Grove, in the suburbs of the town. Fair weather was in progress and the audience was immense, people having come not only from West Virginia, but also from Maryland and Pennsylvania. A letter was read at the meeting from Hon. W. L. Wilson, ex-Postmaster-General, strongly indorsing Mr. Bryan, and saying that only sickness provented his attenda ance upon the meeting. In his letter, Mr. Wilson emphasized his opposition to a colonial or imperialistic policy, saying ghers are still in arms in the Eastern Free State and in sufficient force to put a British garrison in danger of surren-dering. Telegrams from the Basutoland frontier show that the Boar commandos have surrounded Ladybrand and reduced the defenders to such straits that they have burned all, their stores in the market place to prevent them from falling into the enemy's hands. Mr. Bryan began his speech by re-ferring to Mr. Wilson in most complimentary terms. He had known Mr. Wilson in Congress, and he had never be lieved that so kind and loving a man could indorse a war of conquest. Mr. Bryan expressed his pleasure at being able to address an assembling of farm-ars. He wanted to know how any farmer could be a Republican. It was easy to understand how the head of a trust or ap is understood that the disturbances and outrages upon missionaries continue in e of the districts outside of Pekin. It lieved here, possibly because of these reports, that the foreign Ministers in Pekin probably will enter an earnest objec-tion to any withdrawal of troops if their respective governments delay action upon the Russian proposition until they have had a chance to express their views.

The German Foreign Office appears to be active in furthering the negotiations, and quite a number of messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. These persons have named Yung Lu and Hei Tung in place of the two pucific Viceroys. But while there is doubt as to the personnel of the commission, it is quite generally accepted among officials that some such move on the part of China has matured and will take form in Washigton very soon. In that event, it is elleved by diplomatic officials that the entire status of the negotiations between the powers might be changed, and that Russia no longer would feel impelled to insist upon the withdrawal of her Min ister and troops from Pekin, as all these matters would be subjects for the commission itself to deal with. It is pointed ut also that in the six days since the Russian-American notes were given to the world the sentiment has been grow-ing steadily in favor of continuing the presence of troops at Pekin. In view of the declarations made in the American reply to Russia, some question has arisen as to the course open to this country in case of a compromise or change in present diplomatic status. It is said that the attitude of the United Staes is paricularly favorable for adarding itself to any change in conditions. Only in the one contingency of Russia withdrawing her Ministers and troops has this Gov-ernment given the positive declaration that the American troops also will be withdrawn. charge that the Republican party of today is the party of the few, and that its legislation gives a benefit to the comparatively few at the expense of the many. I be-lieve that through the Republican policies there lies one vicious principle, namely that the dollar is worth more than the man. The proper relation between man and money is that man is the master and money the servant. The Republican party has reversed it and is making money master and man the servant. Take the vicious acts of legislation that the Repub. lican party has been guilty of. Do the masses of the people petition for such legislation? This is not all, the Republican party does not ask the great majority of the people anything about legislation. It simply seeks the opinions of those who are conspicuous in business and influence. It does not fight open battles. It seeks secret advantages. Today the Republican party has not a policy on any question that it dares to outline before the American people. They cannot think of any argument to use in defense of the trust, the large standing army and the imperial policy. Already the Republican party has advocated the retirement of the green-back. And yet the Republican party is responsible for a financial bill which pro-

They are today sharing with the citizens of the North in the citizenship of the Union, and they are wishing, with the citizens of the North, to see which section can add most to the grandeur and glory of this our common country. (Applause.) That is not the case as it is in the Philipppines. We are not bringing the Filipinos in as citizens. We are bringing them in as subjects, and if you to know the difference between th
