WAS A WELL-KNOWN NEWSPAPER MAN

Long Continued Illness and Hopelessness Caused Him to End His Troubles.

Otto Greenhood, one of the best-known of the local force of newspaper men, and for 14 years a resident of Portland, committed sulcide shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was found after the report of a pistol-shot lying on the floor of the lavatory of the Portland Hotel with his brains blown out. The deed had been done outsity and deland Hotel with his brains blown out. The deed had been done quietly and deliberately. A few minutes before he had been chatting with friends in the barroom, and he appeared in good spirits. Calling a messenger, he dispatched the hid with a note, teiling of his death, to his most intimate friend, C. M. Idleman, stepped into the lavatory, carefully placed his hat, coat, giasses, and handkerchief on the window sill, and fired the fatal shot, which entered his mouth and passed through his brain, taking its exit at the top of his head.

Only yesterday he left the Portland Sanitarium, where he had been for two weeks, recovering from a surgical opera-tion, and his prospects had been bright-ened by work, which his friends had se-cured for him at County Clerk Holmes' office. Sickness and despendency, to which he was subject, and the hopelessness of despair drove him to the deed. His last letter was calmly and dispassionately written, and his preparations for death were made quietly and with unconcern ollowing is the letter, which C. M. dleman received after the death had oc-

The career of Otto Greenhood was one of upe and downs. Born 6 years ago in Mississippi of wealthy parents, he re-ceived a generous education, and the culture of travel in Europe and America. He received his degree at the University of Heidelberg, and was a skilled linguist, having four languages at his command, beside his native tongue. His father was at one time worth a million, but disasrous speculation in California mines ost him his fortune, and the son was lost him his fortune, and the son was forced to put his attainments to practical uses. He entered newspaper work, and drifted to Carson City, Nev., where at one time he was one of the best-known men of the city. For 13 years he held the position of record-clerk at the United States Mint at a salary of $7 a day, and was both popular and effi-cient. The office was confidential, and wirtually that of private secretary to the Superintendent of the Mint. While Carson he made the acquaintance of I the Bonanga kings. In Virginia City and in Carson City he worked on all the newspapers, and was at one time owner of the Carson City Tribune. From Nevada he went to San Francisco, where he was employed on the various newspapers, and 14 years ago he came to Portland. His work here consisted of editorial and news work on the Evening Telegram, on which he was city editor five years ago, and he has acted as correspondent for Eastern and Pacific Coast newspapers, besides contrib-uting occasional articles to magazines and literary syndicates.

For seven years his health has been shattered, and his capacity for active work has been slight. In that time, however, his friends say that he has paid off over $3000 worth of debts with which he was encumbered, all this by the hardest akind of work and toil. Recently he has been doing clerical work at the County Courthouse, in Assessor Greenleaf's office, and for Sheriff Frazier. His friends speak of him in the highest praise as a man without an enemy, with the real of heaver and despite his upa the soul of honor, and despite his upe and downs, always with the manner and character of a gentleman.

He was a member of a fraternal society with an insurance of $2000, which he has left to a niece in San Francisco, His cousin, Louis Greenhood, lives in San Francisco, and his sister, Mrs. Curry, in Oakland. Both have been notified.

At the Coroner's inquest last evening C. M. Idleman testified that Greenhood was subject to fits of despondency, and had written similar letters on such occasions. Mr. Idleman had often cheered sions. Mr. idleman had often cheered him up at those times, and was on his way hunting for him when the news of the death reached him. The other witnesses were Dr. T. W. Barrett, A. J. Singer, of the Portland Hotel, and Detective Kerrigan, who were called in after the shot had been fired. The Coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicidal death, due to sickness and despondency. The body is now at the Morrue, and funeral body is now at the Morgue, and funeral arrangements will be made today. In the button-hole of his coat was tery and the Ministerial Association.

BID A PASTOR FAREWEL

BANQUET TO DR. THOMAS BOYD BY FELLOW-MINISTERS.

A farewell banquet was tendered Dr. Thomas Boyd, the retiring pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, by the Portland Ministerial Association last evening. Some 40 ministers and their wives had assembled in the class rooms of the First Baptist Church, all denominations being represented. A social time was enjoyed by the assemblage, and after the banquet a brief address was made by Dr. Edgar P. Hill, of the First Presbyterian Church who spoke on "Our Fraternal Relations," H. W. Stone, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., spoke on "The Minister and the Y. M. C.
A." Mrs. Alexander Blackburn was spoke on "The Minister and the Y. M. C. A." Mrs. Alexander Blackburn was called upon for some remarks on the subject of "The Minister's Wife," to which Mrs. Thomas Boyd responded. Rev. Ray Palmer's subject was "The Minister as a Man," and Rev. C. E. Cline gave some reminiscences of his long acquaintance with Mr. Boyd, to which Dr. Boyd responded with considerable feeling. The sponded with considerable feeling. The song, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," was sung, and the following resolutions, which had been prepared by the committee, were read and passed:

"Whereas, it has seemed good in the providence of God that Rev. Thomas Boyd, D. D., of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, should engage in work in another city, we, the members of the Ministerial Association of Portland, Or., with friends who are here with us, desire to express and put on record our appreciation of Dr. Boyd as a Christian gen-

"His it years' service in this city has become part of the religious history of Portland; his earnest and timely interest in all work that has looked/toward the good government and moral uplifting of its citizens has been inspiring, useful and fruitful. His counsel has seemed more and more invaluable as the years have added to his experience. His keen interest in Christian, fellowship has been an admonition and a source of en-couragement to the brethren. Therefore, be it resolved, that the going of Dr. Boyd is deeply felt by the brethren in the ministry of every name, and we assure him of our confidence and high es-

"Resolved, That this action be recorded in our minutes and published in The nian, and that a copy be presented Oregonian, ar to Dr. Boyd.

"A. W. ACKERMAN. "H. W. KELLOGG,

The following record of the work of Dr. Boyd was authorized by the Portland Presbytery, in session at the Fourth Church, where a letter of dismissal was granted him to the Presbytery of Stock-

'In granting the Rev. Thomas Boyd, "In granting the Rev. Thomas Boyd, D. D., leave to resign the pastorate of the Fourth Church of Portland, to accept a call to the First Church of Freeno, Cal., the Presbytery of Portland hereby bear grateful record to his splendid ministerial worth; to his deep spirituality, and to the power of his goddy life during his long pastorate of 15 years in this city. Taking charge in May, 1885, of a Sunday school mission, with no property whatever, Dr. Boyd successfully led it on through the successive stages of a small through the successive stages of a small church organisation, still unhoused, to give place in due time to a strong, growing church, in its own temporary of considerable value, which, in turn, finally gave place to a beautiful church home, once enlarged, but unencumbered, with one of the largest and best-ordered Sunday schools in the city, and sur-rounded with as devoted a band of Christian workers as may be found anywhere.

"Dr. Boyd's work in the Presbytery is a conspicuous exemplification of wer of a holy, godly, spirit has persistently witnessed against every questionable practice in private and church life. From the very beginning, church life. From the very beginning, without a single exception, there has never been a social or concert with an admission fee in the church, nor has any kind of social amusement or supper been given in any place for the benefit of the church, and the church has never owed a dollar. He has faithfully preached and practiced against every form of Sabbath desecration, and has had much to do with molding the sentiments of the Presbytery on some of these questions.

"In his pulpit ministrations and ministerial life he has ever emphasized the doctrine of holy living; the need of the work and power of the holy spirit in the ministry and churches; and has, first and last, set our faces toward the second coming of our blessed Lord. His scholarly and spiritual pulpit work; his zeal in every question of public life and morals, and his constancy in every ministerial and presbyterial duty have given him a place in the religious work of this city and state hard to all. To his faithfulness and efficiency, it may be said, in all tasks assigned him, especially in his work on the home missionary committee, where he has served continuously for some 10 years-four years as chairman of the committee—is due much of the ef-ficiency and progress of Presbyterianism in the Northwest.

"It is, therefore, with sincere regret that the Presbytery of Portland records the departure of a brother so efficient, so faithful, and so much beloved at a time when the need of such men is so great. when the need of such men is so great.
But, bell ving with Dr. Boyd, that it is at the call of God, we consent to his going, and earnestly beseeching God's blessing upon him, his good wife, who has so fully shared in his labors of love, and his dear children, we bid him Godspeed to his new field of labor for the Master.

"W. O. FORBES, Committee."
