FLANNEL WAISTS
The cooler air has turned many minds toward flannel shirts. We have gathered freely of the best of the season's new styles. Everything desirable in plain colors and tasteful stripes, dots and figures are here, with many dainty embroidered effects, and with them all a full selection of more modest qualities. Prices, 50c to $1.50 each.

OUR HANDKERCHIEF SALE
The higher prices now prevailing for all kinds of linen goods by reason of a scarcity of linen is a strong reason for buying a liberal supply of handkerchiefs at this great chance. 30,000 Richardson's pure Irish linen handkerchiefs at much less than old cost before any advance had been made. Sold only in half-dozen at 50c, 75c, 90c, $1.10, $1.30 or $1.75 per half-dozen. All worth nearly double.

FALL FURNISHING
That floor of yours needs some of our new patterns of carpet size or small rug. Spend a few minutes and see the good things just in. Moquette, Smyrna, Wilton, Axminster, all are here.

ILLINOIS ORATOR COMING
COLONEL W. B. SHERMAN TO CAN-VASS FOR MCKINLEY.

Republican State Committee Arranging Dates for a Number of Local Speakers.

Colonel Ward B. Sherman, of Chicago, will begin a canvass of Oregon for McKinley and Roosevelt about October 15. He has been assigned to Oregon and Washington by the Republican National Committee, and will make his first speech at Spokane tomorrow night. He will spend two weeks in Eastern Washington, after which he will return to the seat part of the state for a short stump tour before crossing into Oregon. The Republican State Central Committee of Oregon will begin arranging Colonel Sherman's itinerary as soon as the time of his coming is definitely known.

terday trying to settle the matter up, and have prosecution withdrawn. Jennings was married recently to a young woman, who now makes her living as typewriter in a down-town office.

NO FREE TUITION.
School Board Holds That Outside Children Must Pay.

The Board of Education received several communications from nonresident parents last evening asking for free tuition, but the sentiment was strongly against granting such favors. Director D. P. Thompson said: "There are fully 30 pupils now attending Portland schools whose parents should be made to pay tuition, as they are not residents of Portland. These people flock in here every fall from outside the city, and even from distant counties, and they expect the taxpayers of the city to educate their children free. They know Portland has superior school facilities and equipments, and I for one am in favor of charging the stipulated tuition for all children whose parents are not actual residents of the city."

In one case last evening it was decided that an affidavit should be taken before a Notary Public as to the truth of statements in the petition.

Several petitions were received from parents who objected to having their children vaccinated, on the ground of delicate health. The board decided not to act on these until a physician's certificate in regard to the condition of the child's health should be placed on file.

Miss May Thompson, who taught last term in the Harrison-Street School, had been promoted to a position in the High School, but last evening she was heard from at Dillon, Mont., from which point she had sent in her resignation as assistant in Harrison-Street School. She had not yet been apprised of her promotion, and the board decided to await her reply to a telegram which Superintendent Rigler will send her today. She had accepted a position in the High School at Dillon.

Miss Martin, of the Brooklyn School, was placed on the roll of full-pay teachers of the sixth grade, to date from the beginning of the present term. Miss Habighorst was placed on the half-pay list of teachers at the Conch School, and Miss Martin was employed at the Thompson School on half pay. Miss Whitfield was transferred from Williams-Avenue School to Holladay School, and Miss White will take Miss Whitfield's place at the Williams-Avenue School.

A communication from G. A. Lee was read asking for a room in which to conduct civil service examinations four times a year. He was willing to pay $5 a day, but the Directors were not in favor of hiring any quarters out, so the petition was not acted on.

An additional room for the Sunnyside School was ordered rented for 10 months at $10 a month.

The secretary of a kindergarten in the North End asked for repairs to the roof of the schoolhouse. The kindergarten is supported by voluntary contributions, and the board referred the matter to the repair committee, with instructions to fix the roof.

One of 10 lots in Stephens' addition was ordered sold for the purpose of buying a library for the Stephens School. These lots are not connected with the school block, and were donated by James Stephens some years ago.

A few elm and maple trees on the north-west corner of the Park School block have grown so tall and broad that they darken the schoolrooms. These were ordered cut down.

The iron fence on the Williams Avenue block was ordered removed and sold as old iron.

AT THE MARQUAM.
Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" will be played at the Marquam tonight and Wednesday. The piece tells the story of a wealthy Texan who has been elected to Congress, and his experience in Washington. A charming love affair runs through it all, the girl being the newly elected Congressman's daughter, and the man an Army officer. Many characters are introduced well known in Washington official and social life. The ways and means of the politician are well known, and the development of the rough Texas household in the social swim of Washington is particularly pleasing and interesting.

The cast is practically the same clever one that presented the piece in its opening season. James R. McCann will be Haverick Brandler, the Congressman, and Will H. Bray the Minister to two clever roles. Miss Florence Rossland, pretty, clever and petite, will be Bossy. Miss Lizzie Kendall is Brandler's wife. George T. Meach, Ernsay Gall; Katie Fawcett, Dixey Sly, and Gustave Neville, Major Yell. The original Texas Steer quartet is one of the features of the performance. The play is one of the best that ever came from the talented pen of Hoyt, and will undoubtedly be welcomed here by large audiences.

Two Canals Binding Atlantic.
It is asserted that the future will see two canals binding the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. The value of such a connection cannot be too highly estimated. It will bring added prosperity to the Nation, as surely as Hoetter's Stomach Bitters brings health to the dyspeptic. If you cannot get rid of your indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia or biliousness, try the Bitters and never accept anything in place of it if you wish to get well.

FOR BABY SWALLOWING POISON

TWO-YEAR-OLD FRED HARVEY TAKES FATAL DOSE.

His Childish Instinct to Put Things in His Mouth Brought Him a Painful Death.

Poisoned by eating tablets of digitalis, Fred Harvey, the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Clara J. Harvey, 26 Grand avenue, died in convulsions Sunday afternoon. The Coroner was notified and after investigating the circumstances of the death, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mrs. Harvey has recently moved to Portland from Bancroft, Neb., and has for some time been under treatment for heart weakness. The medicine prescribed by her home physician consisted of tablets of digitalis and morphine, which she kept in a little box sitting on a high shelf. This she had taken down Sunday afternoon and left on a table, while going about her household duties and looking after an infant child. The baby boy grabbed the medicine box from the table and unnoted ate several of the tablets, each one of which contained ten times the dose for a child, and would have sufficed to poison the babe, though the effect on an adult would have been medicinal. The boy was seized with convulsions, and Dr. Jefferson was immediately summoned. Half an hour after he had swallowed the tablets, and a few minutes before the physician's arrival, the boy died before anything could be done to assist him.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

SALE OF SEATS THURSDAY FOR BOSTON LYRICS.
The sale of seats for the Boston Lyric Opera Company will go on sale Thursday—one day earlier than usual, on account of the large demand for places for the season of two weeks. VISIT TO SIBERIA.
Warrenton Man Tells of the Strange Natives.
Mayor Linnton, of Warrenton, who has just returned from the Siberian coast, brought, among other souvenirs, a Siberian pup, which attracted a good deal of attention on Portland streets yesterday. The animal is of a dull drab hue, and resembles the Alaska "husky" in shape, the short stiff ears and bushy tail being common to canines on both sides of Behring Sea. Mr. Linnton said dogs are used in transporting freight and passengers in Siberia, and the cost of keeping them is so small that they will always be utilized in preference to horses in that frozen region.

He left Cape Nome early in the summer, on a schooner, and landed at Tuskahoma on the Russian coast, where he found the natives eager to exchange whalebone and ivory for goods from the temperate zone. Such articles as needles and ribbons, which Americans place a value on, are highly prized among the underground settlements of Siberia, and even nuggets of gold are gladly parted with in obtaining "ictas" of the white man.

The Siberian coast is a good deal like that of Alaska, he said, being low, flat and frozen. Habitations are few and far apart, and there are no signs of a town until the traveler is right in the midst of one, as the huts are all deep in the ground, and tunnels are largely used for streets between the habitations.

"Where is the town of Tuskahoma?" asked Mr. Linnton of a man he met on shore.

"You are right in the middle of it," was
