Youth Bantered for Trade and Suddealy Made Away-Fined $25.

SALEM, Oct. 16.-The trial of Cecil Vaughn in the Recorder's court this afternoon developed what is said by city officials to be one of the boldest pieces of trickery ever exposed in the police artment. Vaughn is a 15-year-old and is charged with stealing a bloycle belonging to a Japanese. According to the story of the boy and his cousin, who accompanied him. Vaughn overtook the Jap riding his wheel and bentered him for a trade, which was effected in about 60 seconds, without either party. examining the other's property or ask-ing about the value. The Jap's wheel was much the more valuable. The occurrence took place late Saturday evening, and the boy traded his new wheel to a second-hand dealer Monday morning. The Jap's story was different. He claimed that the boy asked for a trade and upon being given a chance to exformer's wheel, mounted and sped away, leaving the worthless wheel for the Jap to ride in giving chase. The Jap was unable to catch the boy, and immediately reported to the police. Recorder Judah must have believed the story of the Jap, "beyond a reasonable doubt," for he fined the boy $25.
