HOME-MADE AUTOMOBILE.-The auto oblie, on which Mr. Hartman, Jr., of artman & Bons, machinists, has been outting in his leisure hours for the pasyear and a half, is now practically com-pleted, and will probably make its appearance on the streets today. It was seen yesterday at a carriage factory, and is, as Hartman, Sr., the most exacting and unprejudiced critic of his son's work. says, a beauty. It is double-seated and has a canopy top. The power for pro-pelling it is supplied by a steam engine placed under the rear seat and wrapped in some non-conductor of heat. Under the front seat is the tank of water for supplying the boiler, and under the floor is the tank containing the gasoline for fuel. At the base of the dashboard are hid gauges; also a gong to give warning to pedestrians of the approach of the vehicle, which, on account of the rubber tires, will be noiseless. There is the livest layer for guiding the vehicle and usual lever for guiding the vehicle and levers for starting and stopping and re-versing the engine. The seats have high, lazy backs, and will be very comfortable. Everything about the vehicle is as perfeet as skill and care can make it, and it is expected that the vehicle will run without a hitch from the turn loose.

REPAIRS FINISHED.-The job of repair ing the stone chimneys of the Postoffice building was completed yesterday by Contractor Otto Schurman, who was happy to have it completed, as it was a dan-gerous job. Fourteen large and heavy ocks of stone were hoisted to the root of the building and put in place, and the same number of rejected stones lowered down, and all got through with in four days. As it was necessary to use two erricks on the work, one of them stand ing on the edge of the roof over a place where people were constantly passing, great care had to be exercised to pre-vent accidents. The cause of the disintegration of the stones was that they had been blasted from the ledge instead of being quarried, and some of them had been set on edge instead of in their nat-

NATIVE SONE OPEN MENTING.—The Na-tive Sons and Native Daughters of Oregon held their first "open meeting" of the season at Elks' Hall, last night. It was largely attended and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The programme comprised a plane sole by Mrs. William Wighin; a base solo by Sidney B. Had-rill; recitation, "Searching for the Alarm," by Miss Sterling; soprano solo, "Berenade," by Miss Fryer. Judge M. C. George delivered an address, which was listened to with attention and was much raised. A soprano solo by Mrs. E. E. loovert, an old-time recitation by John Logan and a bass solo by Signor Perrari concluded the programme, These open meetings will be continued

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM LETTLE GIRLS.— Three little girls, 8 to 16 years old, called on President Taylor, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, and delivered their offering to the Galveston relief fund. They were Misses Jennie and Margaret Burton and Miss Edythe Abrams and the sum of their contributions was $9. They had resorted to all sorts of devices to collect this money, and they were justly proud of the result of their efforts. President Taylor thanked them and assured them their contribution would go forward for the relief of the sufferers, and the children departed happy in the consciousness that they were of some account in the world. NOT CALLING FOR DIVIDENDS,-Depos ftors of the Portland Savings Bank are apparently not so much in need of money as they used to be, since times have become prosperous, and therefore are not so anxious to secure their dividends. Receiver Nixon has been paying a 2 per cent dividend for some time, and there are yet a large number of depositors who have not called for their money. He will be pleased to see them as soon as conpaid before he declares another.

New York Times. After reading Archbishop Ireland's definite, and, of course, unquestionably cor-rect, account of what the pope and Cardinal Rampolia told him about their complete contentment with the policles and acts of the American authorities in Cuba Porto Rico and the Philippines, we are really sorry for papers belonging to the class of the New York Freeman's Journal. For those papers, ever since Spanish rule ame to an end in the East and West Inntly, not to say virulently, at the task of teaching their readers that Amer-ican domination of the islands has been for the church a season of cruel persecu-tion and shameless robbery, that sacrilege and outrage have been the habitual occupations of American officers and soldiers, and that the warning which Archbishop nounced every measure taken with a view of emphasizing the complete separation of state and church; they have declared that every complaint against the work-ings of the old system was a fout and implous calumny, and they have steadily refused to see a trace of merit in any one of the changes made under what they call the pretense of reform. And now, Arch-bishop Ireland quotes the pope as saying: "We are well pleased with the relations of the American Government to the church in Cuba and the Philippines. The American Government gives proof of good will and exhibits a spirit of justice and respect for the liberty and rights of the church. You will thank in my name the President of the Republic for what is being done." With all of which Car-dinal Rampolia expressed earnest agree-ment, and then added that the repeated requests of the Tagal rebels for the sup-port of the vatican had been refused. This creates a situation that cannot fail to be most embarrassing for the editors who have been suffering so horribly from the atroclous conduct of the Administration and its bloodstained hirolings. They stand convicted of being vastly more Catholic than the pope, and therefore, as said before, we are really sorry for them.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"For Her Sake" at Cordray's Tonight.

Rusco & Holland's great Russian play, "For Her Sake," will be the attraction at Cordray's Theater for the rest of this week, beginning tonight. The play deals with the aiways thrilling subject of life in the Russian Empire and the misfor-tunes of the people who dare to say what they think. The heroism of a Prince of the blood, whose love for a poor peasant girl leads him to break down the barriers of rank, furnishes the theme for a pretty love story, and a clever vein of comedy is interwoven in the plot. The scenery is especially fine, and the com-pany is fully capable of meeting the exacting demands of the drama. The indi-cations are that "For Her Sake" will play to big business all the week.

"A Wise Guy."

A vaudeville farce which is likely to attract more than ordinary attention is "A Wise Guy," to be seen here for the first time at Cordray's the week beginn's Sunday night. The plece is credited to George M. Cohan, a comedy genius known to every theater-goer as the cre-ator of nearly all recent laughing successes. The new skit is, however, the first of its class from the pen of Mr. Cohan, and is said to abound in humorous speeches and lively comedy situa-Jersey, filled with New Yorkers, male and female, at the time of a midsumm r vacation, is made the basic theme of the and Mr. Cohan is said to have skillfully constructed from the subcomedy of endless amusement, Successful musical numbers, now cur ent in New York, have been introduced largely, and among those which will attract particular notice are "Liberty Belles," "A Dead Wise Guy," "My Lin'y Lou." "Mary Carey" and "Happy Dixie Land." Some of the best-known members of the big company are William Sel-lery, Charles Graham, Edward Saniford, Anna Mortland, Bertle Haydn, Seville and Stewart and Joy and Clayton.

"Whose Baby Are You?" An interesting theatrical event will be the production at the Metropolitan Theater next Sunday, October 21, and week, of Mark E. Swan's bright farce, "Whose Baby Are You?" This three-act skit, dealing with the follies and folbles of American life, has caused considerable comment wherever it has appeared this season. Mr. Fitzgerald Murphy, the manager of the company, who is also acting in the capacity of advance agent, was in the city yesterday. In the course of an interview regarding his attraction he said: "Whose Baby Are You?", not-withstanding the rag-time suggestion of its title, is in reality a high-class farce, approaching at times the standard of pure comedy. The piece has a happy-go lucky American smack, varying from a hilarious scene to a double entendre bit of spley but innocent dialogue. It exhibits the prevailing brilliancy of the Bohemian life of the artist in the larger cities. It is full of witticisms and all sorts of happy surprises. It contains fun in all sorts of shapes to suit all sorts of people, and the theater-goer who cannot drive away dull care while witnessing a performance of 'Whose Baby Are You?' isn't built that way and deserves to be rroceedings of the Convention Recently Held at Moro.

MORO, Or., Oct. 16 .- The state convention of the Oregon Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in this city, October 9 to 12. Rev. Mr. Elder, of the Presbyterian Church, on behalf of the churches of Moro, and Miss Maggie Eaton, of Wasco, opened the session by ap-propriate addresses of welcome. Mrs. Steele, president, of Marion County, re-sponded. Then followed the annual address of the state president. Mrs. Helen D. Harford. The programme was inter-spersed with vocal and instrumental selections by the De Moss family.

A consecration service was held the sec ond day, led by Mrs. Spangler, state evangelist. The routine convention work was taken up, and roll-call showed all the general officers present except the recording secretary, Mrs. S. M. Kern, who was unavoidably absent. After reports of the county presidents, a memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Mears, president of Linn County.

In the afternoon were submitted the reports of the corresponding secretary treasurer and Northwest White Ribboner of state organizers. Mesdames Additor Spangler and Round, Y. W. C. T. U., and L. B. WARREN'S STATEMENTS ABOUT MATE KIRK'S MONEY.

Chief of Police McLauchlan Testifies Concerning the Defendant's Admissions After His Return.

At the trial of James L. Warren yesterday Chief of Police McLauchlan tes-tified that Warren stated to him that the last time he met William Kirk the mate of the ship Clarence S. Bement, was in his stateroom on the night of January 23, about 8 o'clock. He told Kirk he was going away, and Kirk wished him good luck. Witness said Warren told him the mate gave him $6 or $7, and that he had $16 or $17 when he left here, but would not tell where he got the money, assert-ing that he would tell some other time. Chief McLauchian stated that this conversation with Warren occurred at the police station after Warren was returned here. The Chief stated that Warren also informed him that Kirk, the mate, had a good deal of money, and he saw the second mate and the carpenter give Kirk money to take care of for them, and witnessed them draw money from the mate, but did not know where he kept the money. Witness further related that in the conversation Warren said he assumed the name of Wilbur at Savannah at the suggestion of his wife, on account of some money trouble he had at Seattle, and that he met his wife clandestinely at Savannah, but gave no reason for it. He also stated, said the Chief, that when he left the mate's room on the night of January 23 he met John J. Byrne, the watchman, and walked up and down the deck with him. (If Warren had just killed Kirk in his room at that time, which seems to be the theory of the prosecution, his walk and conversation with Byrne was for the purpose of throwing Byrne off the track, and he is said to have told Byrne that Kirk was in his cabin asleep. War-ren immediately afterwards left the vessel, and was next heard from at Savan-nah.)

Joseph Day, detective, testified that Warren is an absinthe fiend. He was very nervous at Savannah, and upon the advice of the police authorities there a pint bottle of absinthe was procured, and Warren was allowed to use it on the re-turn trip to Portland. When it was gone he did not ask for any more. He had a fainting spell at Green River and another at Pocatello. The witness corroborated Detective Ford concerning the statements made by Warren regarding his travel after he left here, and that they could not locate the Cleveland Iron Works at St. Louis, where Warren said he worked, and Warren was unable to tell them the name of the street where it was or the name of the foreman, and refused to answer any more questions about murder after they left St. Louis.

SUES FOR FOUR YEARS' SALARY. Sheriff Frazier.

Ex-Sheriff George C. Sears yesterday filed suit against Sheriff William Frazier in the State Circuit Court to recover $18,000, being the amount of salary of the Shgriff from July 2, 1896, to July 2, 1900. The basis of the action is that Mr. Fra-zier was not a citizen when he was elected Sheriff in June, 1896, and had no legal capacity to receive the votes cast for him, and that he, Sears, was wrongfully oust-ed from the office, and is entitled to all of the compensation since.

Mr. Frazier came to the United States with his parents when he was 7 years old, and to Oregon when he was 14 years

There was a hot time in Judge Frazer' court yesterday at the trial of the suit of Lang & Co. against J. E. Worth, a Su nyside druggist, to recover $62 balance alleged due. Worth contends that he paid the bill to Ed Strauss, a former em-ploye of the plaintiff, who afterward went to San Francisco, and that he obtained a receipt signed "Max," which he said was a familiar nickname by which Strauss was known instead of his right came, Ed. Lang & Co. deny that Worth ever with a high-class specialty act, and the paid the bill, and there is a deposition from Strauss in evidence, stating that he never collected the money.

In answer to a question by Attorney Cotton, for the plaintiff, "if he felt hurt," Worth became very dramatic, saying his was attacked and he did not like it. He had been threatened with criminal prosecution, and he said, "they are willing to take the word of a defaulter for $1400 in preference to mine. I don't lie, nor steal. I have lived here for years and was born in this state. Of course, I am hurt."

Mr. Worth gave voice to several more such sensational utterances at different times. The defendant's books are in evi-dence and the plaintiff has offered several lines of proof to establish that the bill was not paid. The case is being stubbornly contested. W. D. Fenton appears as defendant's attorney and A. King Wilson is assisting Mr. Cotton as counsel for plaintiff. The case will be submitted

Divorce Cases.

Suit for a divorce has been instituted by Josephine Waddell against Jesse Waddell The action brought by Mrs. Waddell against her father, D. E. Buchanan, to recover a share of the property of the estate of her mother, Rosa Buchanan, deceased, was recently dismissed. Mrs. Waddell and her father are said to have settled their differences, and the divorce suit is the end of the chapter. The parties were previously divorced and remarried. Lucila Magruder has sucd James P. Magruder for a dissolution of the matri-monial Bonds, alleging that he deserted her at Dallas in July, 1896. They were married in 1889.

Edith Johnson has sued Franklin W Johnson for a divorce in the State Circuit Court, and she also asks for the legal custody of their minor child. They were married in this city in 1895, and soon after their marriage he began to abuse and ill treat her. When their child was born she alleges that he called her sister, Ethel Rickert, who was at their home, vile names, and at their residence at Salem, permitted his sister, Bessie delegate to the world's convention held in Edinburgh in June. This was a spe-cial feature of the meeting.

Johnson, to grossly insult her. Mrs. Johnson further asserts that her husband choked and slapped her. She left him, she says, taking the child to the home of her parents at Troutdale, and while she was at The Dalles, where she was engaged in doing housework, he went to her parents' home and removed the child.

Court Notes.

The divorce suit of Isabella Robbins vs Henry F. Conner was appointed guar dian of Henry R., Ernestine, and Olivie Failing, minors, children of Edward Failing, deceased, who each have an estate amounting to $6087.

The semi-annual account of C. J. Reed, B. G. Whitehouse and D. P. Thompson, executors of the will of John Green, de-ceased, was filed in the County Court yesterday. It shows that the receipts were 981 and the prior balance on hand was 7,245. The disbursements were $41,022, which consisted mostly of a distribution to the heirs, made July 11, 1900. Judge George yesterday overruled the motion to quash the indictment in the case of W. A. Keutemeyer, H. J. Epperson and F. V. E. Epperson, charged with

NOT FIVE FOR BRYAN.

How College Professors in Oregon Will Vote.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 18 -(To the Editor.) -Dear Sir: There is an article going the rounds in the various Democratic papers stating that two-thirds of the faculties of Yale and Harvard expect to vote for Bryan. I have written to friends at Corvallis, Eugene, etc., and have learned that the faculties of the three principal institutions, i. e., Corvallis, Eugene and Forest Grove, not five of them will vote for Bryan. Does this show that Western educators have more sense? Why are the Hebrew citizens of Bridgeport flocking over to Bryan, when it is a wellknown fact that the Jews are nearly all for sound money? A. C. WISE. for sound money?

Accompanying this communication is a campaign item from a Democratic paper stating that the "Hebrew Citizens" League of Bridgeport, Conn., has decided to support Bryan and Stevenson.

It is stated that by election day there will be fully 1000 Hebrews enrolled in the league." The Oregonian can answer the correspondent's query only by stating that the report as to the Hebrews Citizens' League is doubtless not true. No authentic statistics that The Oregonian has yet seen pretends to say how the factulties of Yale and Harvard will vote. The following news item to the Chicago Record (an independent paper) has just reached this office:

AMONG THE CLERGY. Coffee Being Replaced by Postum

Food Coffee. "I am the wife of a minister. About three years ago a warm friend, an ex-emplary mother and the conscientious wife of a minister, asked me if I had ever tried giving up coffee and using the Postum Food Coffee. I had been telling her of my excessive nervousness and ill health. She said: We drink nothing else for breakfast but Postum Food Coffee, and it is a delight and a comfort to have something the to have something that we do not have to refuse the children when they ask for it.'

"I was surprised that she would per-mit the children to drink even the food coffee, but she explained that it was a most healthful beverage and that the children thrived on it. A very little thought convinced me that for brain work one should not rely upon a stimulant such as coffee is, but should have food and the very best of food.
"My first trial of Postum was a failure

The maid of all work brought it to the table lukewarm, weak and altogether lacking in character. We were in despair, but decided on one more trial. At the second trial we faithfully followed the directions, used four teaspoonsful to the pint of water, let it boil full 15 minutes after the real boiling began, and served it with rich cream. It was de-licious and we were all won,

"I have since sung the praises of Pos-tum Food Coffee on many, many occa-sions and have induced numbers of friends to abandon coffee and use Postum, with remarkable results. The wife of a college professor said to me a short time ago that nothing had ever produced so marked a change in her husband's health as the leaving off of coffee and the use of Postum Food Coffee."
