JOHN SHERMAN DEAD

Passed Away at His Washington Home Yesterday.
HIS DEATH WAS NOT UNEXPECTED

For Over a Year He Had Been in Failing Health—The Funeral Arrangements.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Hon. John Sherman, Representative in the House; for a long term a member of the Senate and twice holding Cabinet position, died at his residence in this city at 6:45 o'clock this morning in the 73th year of his age. His death had been expected for some days and long friends gave him their unremitting care and attention to the end. The immediate cause of death was described as brain exhaustion, incident to weakness due to old age and several attacks of sickness from which he had suffered for the past year and a half.

Since Saturday afternoon, Mr. Sherman has been mostly in the unconscious, rallying partially at intervals when slight nourishment was given him. Yesterday afternoon, evidences of the approaching end were manifest, and he passed into unconsciousness after 3 o'clock, passing away peacefully just after dawn broke. About 1 o'clock this morning he rallied up, was manifestly in the possession of himself over in bed, but after that he gradually sank until the end came.

Several days ago, realizing the critical condition of Mr. Sherman, the members of the household and the greater part of the family connections throughout the country notifying them of his extreme illness and some of the public ones, wrote before he died. Among those who had been called to the bedside were Mr. and Mrs. Colgate Hoyt, of New York City; William K. Otis, of New York City; Theodore Sherman, a son of the late General Sherman; Charles M. Sherman, of Chicago; Mrs. Anna Sherman, Mrs. James McCallum, the adopted daughter, who has been Mr. Sherman's constant attendant, and her husband, General and Mrs. Miles, the latter a niece of Secretary Sherman, were at the house the greater portion of the day and evening, but left for their home shortly after midnight. They were summoned when it was apparent that the end was near and reached the house a few minutes after the venerable statesman had passed away.

Secretary Sherman's death occurred in the handsome home at 645 A. street, which he had erected eight years ago. Some weeks ago the Secretary deeded this valuable property to Mrs. McCallum. The Secretary was a large holder of real estate in this city. Conservative estimates of his wealth place it at around $1,000,000. It is known that Mr. Sherman left a will, but no information is available as to its contents or even when it would be probated will be obtainable until after the funeral.

The Funeral Arrangements.

The funeral arrangements, so far as they pertain to the services at Washington, were completed late this afternoon. They will take place at the residence, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. W. H. Smith, of St. John's Episcopal Church, being the officiating clergyman. Immediately after the service, the body will be taken to the residence of the Secretary for the last rites here. The arrangements for the last rites here have been left in the hands of Rev. W. S. Kerr and other friends of the family. Services will be held at the residence of the Secretary, St. John's Episcopal Church, usually attended by Mr. Sherman while in Mansfield, and the interment will be made that afternoon in the burial lot at West Washington.

Tributes of Cabinet Members.

Ex-Secretary Sherman was known intimately, not officially, but personally to Secretary Hay ever since the Civil War. "In the death of Mr. Sherman the country has lost one of its greatest citizens, a man whose name was inseparably connected with the history of the Republic. The country owes him a debt of gratitude for the services rendered while Secretary of the Treasury in maintaining the National credit on a sound and conservative basis."

Secretary Gage said:

"Whether as a Representative, Senator or member of the Cabinet, Mr. Sherman was at all times a distinctive force. He had the force of Congress, which passed the resumption act in 1874. As Secretary of the Treasury in 1877, it became his duty to carry into effect the provisions of the act, and he recognized in Congress done so much to inaugurate. In the performance of this duty he had many difficulties to meet, but he met them with the same steady courage and the calm persistence which the occasion demanded. History will, I believe, point to that period as the most brilliant in his career, and he recognized the fact that the National Treasury to specie payment on January 1, 1878, he accomplished the greatest and most useful work of his long and fruitful life."

President McKinley was greatly affected by the news of Mr. Sherman's death.

He immediately directed that the White House be closed to visitors, and the flag of the Executive mansion was placed at half-mast. After ordering some beautiful flowers from the White House conservatory, he went in person to Mr. Sherman's late residence to express his grief and offer what consolation he could to the bereaved family. Mrs. McCallum informed him of the funeral arrangements, and the President decided not to delay his departure for Canton. If they were addressed to, but to attend the funeral services at Mansfield Thursday. Mrs. McKinley later drove to the Sherman residence and left her card. It is presumed that the President will issue an Executive order closing the departments on the day of the funeral, as a mark of respect to the dead statesman.

In Diplomatic Circles.

In diplomatic circles the news of Mr. Sherman's death brought no expressions of heartfelt regret, as the foreign representatives had been brought into intimate association with him during his stay as Secretary of the Treasury. The French Charge d'Affaires, M. Thiebaud, accompanied by Captain Vignal and M. Beovive, took early occasion to leave cards at the Sherman residence, and other members of the corps paid their respects later. The Chinese Minister and members of his suite were among the callers about noon. M. Thiebaud spoke of Mr. Sherman as a man whose name was known the world over as conspicuous in the public life and progress of this country. Similar tributes were expressed at the Russian and German Embassies. The Chinese Minister, Mr. Wu, said that above all Mr. Sherman was a truly good man, whose execution inspired confidence in any

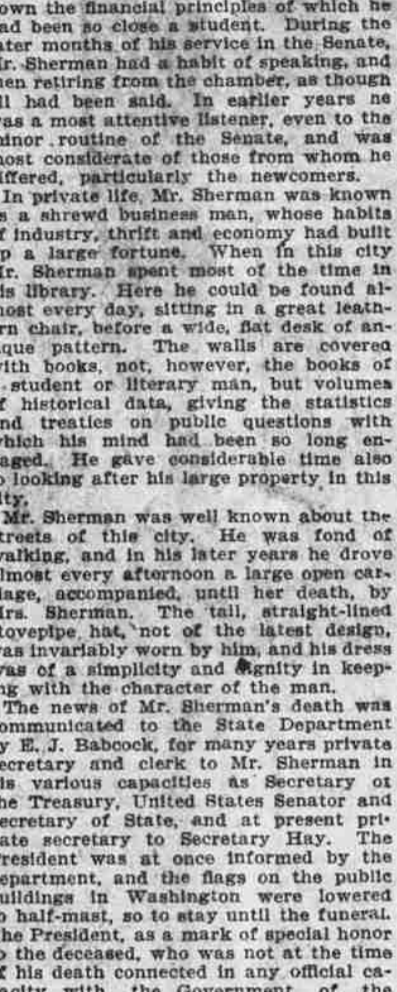

EVEN UP IN DOUGLAS

Both Republicans and Democrats Claim the County.
VOTE NEARLY EQUALLY DIVIDED

All Classes of People Prosperous—Enormous Disposal of Public Land This Year.

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 22.—(Staff correspondence.)—Both the Republicans and the Democrats claim Douglas County. An impartial view of the situation, with weight given to the estimates of conservative McKinley and Bryan leaders, and

THE LATE JOHN SHERMAN

Little allowances made here and there, for the conclusion that each party has an equal chance to get a plurality. It is conceded that the June vote affords the best basis for approximating the November result. At the state election the Republicans carried every office except the Assessor and one Representative by pluralities ranging from 23 for County Clerk to 638 for District Attorney. In 28 candidates the Republicans gave an aggregate of 22,890 votes, an average of 187, and the Fusionists gave an aggregate of 29,841, an average of 1653. The average Republican plurality was 109. It is admitted by Republicans and Democrats that Blinger Hermann's candidacy for United States Senator helped the Republican ticket to the extent of about 50 votes, and that the contest over hops ranging at large added 20 more, a total gain of 70. Deducting these from the Republican vote and giving them to the Fusionists, it would appear that the vote of Douglas County under normal conditions in June would have been 157 for the Republicans and 1728 for the Fusionists. For the June election 497 votes were registered and 892 cast, a shortage of 774. The Democrats say that a majority of the stay-at-home vote is theirs, but more likely it is evenly divided. Conceding them 55 per cent, which is their outside estimate, they would give Bryan 1934 votes against 1925 for McKinley. Cutting the stay-at-home vote in two on the supposition that it will all come out, McKinley would get 964 and Bryan 965. The Fusionists would get 1925 and the Republicans would get 1925. These are factors that are taken into consideration by conservative McKinley and Bryan leaders, who admit that the county is close.

McKinley and Bryan Estimates.

The outside Democratic estimate is 159 plurality for Bryan. It is that of Chairman R. S. Sheridan, of the Democratic state committee. Senator Morston says McKinley will have about 50; Chairman Crawford, of the Republican county committee, puts it at 100 to 150, and Judge J. C. Fullerton, Republican candidate for President Elector, at 250. One of the best-informed men in the Republican camp is W. E. Conner, editor of the Roseburg Pinaldancer. He says the county is close, with the chances favoring McKinley. On the Bryan side, the man who has the most intimate acquaintance with the rank and file of his party is Charles H. Fisher, editor of the Roseburg Review. The Democratic organ of Southern Oregon. He was asked to give an estimate of Bryan's probable plurality to serve as a guide, and was told that unless he consented he would not be quoted. Mr. Fisher authorized the publication of this brief statement: "I am not in a position to make an estimate, as we are not putting up the fight we usually do. There was a good deal of dissatisfaction in our party in June, but many who fought fusion said they were Bryan men, and we expect them to vote with us next month. Whether McKinley or Bryan carries the county, he will not have much of a plurality."

Prosperity in Douglas.

Calamity gave Bryan Douglas County four years ago, but it is not present in any form this year, and imperialism makes a poor substitute for it as an election issue. There are no idle men, no languishing industries, no wrecked-looking farms, no business men standing at the door waiting for the dollar to be, and the expense account. To tell the story of Douglas County's prosperity would be but to repeat what applies to

EVERY SECTION OF OREGON.

Though general trade has advanced to a high plane since 1898, business is better this Fall than ever before in the history of the county. Land is in demand for legitimate development, and the Government holdings are going like hotcakes. Disposals of land in the Roseburg land district, comprising wholly or in part Benton, Crook, Curry, Douglas, Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Lincoln and Linn Counties from July 1, 1890, to June 30, 1900, were 4,668,351 acres, compared with 2,839,728 acres in the 14 years from July 1, 1885, to June 30, 1899. Officers of the land office say that the disposals for the calendar year ending December 31, 1900, will exceed those of the fiscal year ending June 30 last. This is but one of the many evidences of prosperity that one sees on every hand in Southern Oregon.

Bryan Carried Douglas by 141 in 1898.

Bryan carried Douglas by 141 in 1898, receiving 3369 against 1918 for McKinley, 35 for Prohibition and 31 for Palmer. In 1898 the fusionists held their strength against the bolt of the Middle-of-the-

IN HIS OWN STATE

Roosevelt's Flying Campaign Through New York.
MADE EIGHT SPEECHES YESTERDAY

Answered Numerous Questions by Bryanites—Busy Week Ahead of the Candidate.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Governor Roosevelt finished the first day of his flying campaign through the state in Kingston tonight after traveling 98 miles and making eight speeches, the longest being at Newburg and Kingston. At the former place, the home of the Republican candidate for Governor, he talked to a vast assemblage, having to speak in two places.

Speakers interrupted the speaker with questions, in every instance receiving a reply. At West Nyack a man close to the car cried and reiterated: "Hurrah for Bryan!" and Mr. Roosevelt replied: "Why don't you hurry and get Aguilardo?" The cheering ceased. Another called out: "What about the ice trust?" and he answered: "This election has decided the ice trust. It has given sense in the country who outnumber the shouters of your type. The ice trust will be attended to in a proper and a legal way."

Toward the end of his remarks at Newburg, the Governor was interrupted a number of times by shouts of "What is the matter with Bryan?" "Down with the trusts."

Governor Roosevelt remarked: "That gentleman has all the symptoms of a Bryanite," which sally was greeted with laughter and applause. Then walking over to one side of the platform and speaking directly towards the point from which the shouts arose, the Governor said:

"You look like one of those men who work exclusively with their mouths. What do you mean to do with the cotton-bale trust of Mr. Jones? or the ice trust of Mr. Crocker? (Cries of 'What's the matter with Bryan? He's all right!') That is an argument of wind. You are afraid to hear the truth. You interrupt this because you are a hoodlum and nothing else. You represent the disordered class that is naturally against us. You represent those people who not only object to prosperity, but who would get any of it, because you won't work (applause). Now go back to your fellow hobos and learn that after this (more railing and shouting) you must get up (depart) that you stand against the flag. You have not got a particle of patriotism in you. I am glad you are going away. If you have learned enough hereafter not to monkey with the buzzsaw. (Long continued applause.) Now, gentlemen, in the temporary absence of the police, I have driven off that disturber of the meeting" (Applause.)

Last Tour of New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—With the intention of traveling 216 miles, almost all of it within the confines of New York State and outside of the Hudson River boundaries, and with the purpose of delivering 33 speeches, ranging from seven minutes to two hours in duration, Governor Roosevelt left Washington Saturday following he will rush along the Erie road, reaching Binghamton that night, and remaining over Sunday. The following week will find him at every place of importance in Western New York and back in New York City on Saturday, November 3, Monday, November 5, the day before starting on his final making a tour of Long Island and finishing his flying canvass of the state.

Governor Roosevelt arrived at the West Shore depot at 10:30 o'clock, accompanied by his secretary, William S. Sussex, Walter Emerson, of Maine; Job Hodges, James R. Sheffield, Arthur van Velsien, E. S. Whipple, and ex-Senator John Laughlin. As Governor Roosevelt stepped on his car there were cries of "Speech." The Governor uncovered and said: "My throat is not in good condition for me to say much, but will say a few words. We are going to knock them out on the 6th."

At West Nyack.

WEST NYACK, Oct. 22.—"Hurrah for Bryan" shouted a man in the small crowd of people that greeted the Roosevelt special train at this place. His first stop today.

"Why don't you hurrah for Altgeld or Aguilardo?" retorted Governor Roosevelt, and the man rebuffed, while the crowd cheered and waved flags. The Governor's voice was good, and he made himself plainly heard. He said in part: "I am now back in my own state and I come to appeal to you, whose representative at Albany in the Executive chair I am, to ask you to vote and stand by the cause of civic honesty and decency, of National prosperity and National honor. You have been asked by our opponents at different times what were the paramount issues in this campaign. I can tell you. The paramount issue for the whole Nation is, one for all, to stamp under foot Bryanism. And with it, in this state, goes the least important question of the 'stamping under foot' of Crokerism. Bryanism means different things in different places, but fundamentally it means an appeal to the lowest passions, to those qualities that are the last and the most dangerous to the welfare of the people."

"I ask you to compare the Nation as it now stands with what Mr. Bryan proposed four years ago, and to compare the government of New York State with that of New York City and then make up your minds if you are willing to desert the state and turn it over to the rule of Tammany Hall."
