Charles L. Alvord, of the First National, Is the Defaulter-Probably Escaped to South America.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.-Charles L. Alnote teller of the First National Bank, of this city, is a fugitive and a defaulter to the extent of $700,000. The ent of the defalcation, which was made this afternoon, created the ut-most excitement in financial circles in this city, but the well-known stability of the First National and a statement sued by the bank had a quieting effect. The statement was as follows:

"The note teller, who had been in the imploy of the First National Bank for any years, is a defaulter to a large amount. His operations have continued for a considerable period, and have been skillfully concealed through a manipulation of his balance books. The discovery made by one of the bank's employes a few days after the completion of the examination of the bank by the United ance of his peculations periodical examnations have been made by several distinot corps of examiners, representing the Controller's Department, all expert acquent independent examinations, none of which has developed any irregularities. The aggregate of the false entries, amounting to $700,000, has been charged off on the books of the bank out of -e reserve fund without diminishing the surplus and profits of the bank, as reported in the last published statement. It is expected that the shortage will be materially reduced by a substantial sum, of which there is a fair prospect of recov-

Alvord has been with the bank for 20 years, and was one of the most trusted men in the institution. His stealings extended over a long period, but no sus-picion of the truth was known until 19 days ago, when he sent word that -e was ill at his home. After he had been away for a day or two the bank put experts at work and some irregularities were found. As the experts delved deeper and deeper into Alvord's books, the extent of the robbery began to dawn on the officers until they were overwhelmed to find that it reached the enormous figure of $700,000. Whether that sum is all that took is not known.

It has not yet developed how the note teller was able to put his hands on so much money, but one of the directors is reported to have said that Alvord was abled to take such a large sum be cause, as note teller, he was in charge of the mail. This he opened every morning, and he had ample opportunity to abstract notes, drafts and checks, as well as money. Of course, he had to be especially skillful to make his accounts balance. This director admitted that he was at a loss for the failure of the bank examiners to discover Alvord's irregular-

What Alvord did with all the cash is slso a mystery as yet, except that, as usual in such cases, it is paid a large amount of it went in stock speculations. The story is that he lost $75,000 in one deal, but what deal it was is not stated It has been discovered that, during the Summer, Alvord visited Saratoga, where he cut a great figure, spending mency like a prince. He rented and kept a fine sta-tale of horses, and beside playing the races, is said to have frequented gam-

If these stories are true, Alvord dis-played entirely different characteristics than those he showed at home. In this city he was known of as a man of very city he was known of as a man of very habits. Among his associates, he known as "Happy" Avord because of his cheery ways. His home was in the suburb of Mount Vernon. This home is a magnificent place, located on Chester Hill, one of the most artistic sections of the own. It is surrounded by luxurious rounds and there are extensive stables. Alvord has long been considered one of the big men of the town. His family en-tertained lavishly and gave large sums to charity. Invitations had been sent out for week ago tomorrow ight. The day set for the dinner messengers scurried throughout Mount Vernon recalling the invitations. That night the house was in darkness. Friends of the family were told that Mr. Alverd was ill. The darkened windows since then and the fact that no callers were admitted led the neighbors to believe that his illness was

It was not until this afternoon that the residents of Chester Hill heard of his big defalcation. There was a rumor that Alword left town the day the invitations were canceled and that he took a steamer for South America. This could not be corroborated. Late this afternoon, Mrs, Alvord, wife of the missing teller, was seen at her Mount Vernon home. She was weeping bitterly and would not talk about the case. The family consisted of

Mr. and Mrs. Alvord, two girls and a boy. They kept four or five servants. Mrs. Alvord is said to have told friends that, owing to his position in the bank, Mr. Alvord was able to obtain tips which enabled him to make $40,000 to $50,000 a year over his salary by dealing in Wall street. She is said to have boasted that her husband's tips were so straight that he never lost a cent in the street and al- BLEW UP O. R. & N. BRIDGE ways made a gain.

An official connected with the bank, who did not wish his name used, said: proof that the bank is not likely to suffer by the defalcation is that Its profits for the year ending last September were $1,390,600. This surplus is increasing fast. The par value of the stock is $100 a share, but it has brought as high as $1925 at auction: The book value or its stock is $3105 per share, and as high as $3800 has been bid. The percentage of increase of capital, according to its last year's earnings, is $270, 12 per cent. It has for several years paid annual dividends of 100 per cent. The First National Bank holds in stocks, bonds and other securi-ties, according to its latest report, $24,-

PRESIDENT ELIOT, OF HARVARD

WHO HAS COME OUT FOR PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.

President Charles William Eliot, of Harvard University, who has just prone favor of McKinley, and has thus set at rest all the speculation concerning his individual opinion of present policies in Government, is noted for the utter freedom with which he criticises all men and all things. More than once has he stirred up storms of disapproval from persons who did not agree with him, while at the same time eliciting no less praise from those whom he commended. His knack of hitting hard and mercilessly in the weak spots of those he condemns has made him famous, and the expression of his views on the present campaign issues has been, therefore, awaited with keen interest. Dr. Eliot has been president of Harvard since 1809. He is now 66 years old.

Citizens of Burke, Idaho, Did So to Avoid General Flood.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 23.-Citizens of Burke, Idaho, tonight blew up with dynamite a bridge of the O. R. & N. Co. spanning Canyon Creek. Tailings from the mills had lodged against the bridge, forming a dam. Today heavy rains swelled the little creek into a raging torrent, and this afternoon the backwater from this dam was flooding a score of houses and threatening to flood and destroy all residences in town. The citizens first attempted to protect their homes by the construction of a dyke nearly 500 feet ong, but this was soon surmounted by the rising water. About 8 o'clock tonight, fo men proceeded to the trestle, and exploded a charge of dynamite under the Later two more explosions took place, tearing completely out the three cents of the wooden structure, and opening a channel through which the waters passed Kent's drug store, at Paterson, and near it met Andrew Campbell. There was a short conversation, and then the pair walked down Main street. Somewhere en route they were joined by George Kerr, Walter McAlister and William Death. The four entered Christopher Sani's salocn. Here drinks were served. Finally, one of the men telephoned to the Eric Station for a carriage, and August Schulthors responded. This hackman has been the main source of the police's information, and has given detailed stories of what occurred. It was in the neighborhood of 10 o'clock when the four men lifted the partly unconscious girl into Scimithors' rig. It is alleged that after the hackman had been called one of the regular habits. Among his associates, he was looked up to and on Wall street was Judge who sentenced him died before the men asked for another round of drinks and into that served to the girl poured the contents of a vial that held knockout drops. The men directed the driver to take them to a roadhouse, but they found the place closed, and repeated rappings produced no response. The party then produced no response. The started back toward the city.

In a lonely spot the back was stopped and the girl lifted out of it and laid upon a blanket by the roadside. In what fol-lowed the backman and one of the four, it is said, had no part. The story is too revolting to describe. The hackman claims that he did not leave his seat on the cab. He was unable to say whether the girl was dead or alive when she was lifted back into the cab. He remembers that he was told to drive down by the river bank. Here the girl, apparently life-less, was lifted out of the cab, and her head and face bathed with river water. After a long time spent in trying to re-vive her, the men held a consultation. Their victim was again lifted into the cab and the hackman was ordered to drive like mad to, Dr. Wiley's house. Dr. Wiley was not at home, and the party hurried to the residence of Dr. Townsend. The physician was aroused and told to come down stairs at once and give immediate attention to a women who had been in-jured. He was told not to wait to dress. He slipped on a bath robe and went out to the carriage door. He felt of the girl's pulse, and then stepped back, saying his services were not needed, as the girl was

One of the men cursed the doctor for a fool, and told him to revive her. The doctor turned and started back into the house. The men then changed their demeanor, and begged him to do something for the gtri. Then the doctor again as-sured them that it was useless, as the girl was dead and beyond help. The car-riage then drove away, but came back in a few minutes, and the men urged Dr. Townsend to resort to anything to bring the girl about. He again explained that the girl was beyond medical aid. The doctor was offered any amount of money if he would try, but he persisted that it was useless for him to try, as death had ne long before. The carriage then drove away. There was a consultation among the men. One wanted to take the body to the girl's home and leave it there. The other three refused to consider this and insisted on dropping the body on the roadway. It was finally resolved to drive out into Bergen County by way of the Thirty-third-street bridge. When the bridge was reached the driver was again ordered to stop. The purpose soon developed.

When the triple attack upon the unconscious and perhaps dead girl was made, a portion of her clothing had been torn off. When the party left the scene of the crime one man had a portion of her clothing in a pocket of his coat, and another had the remainder of the gar-ments. When the stop was made at the river to bathe the girl's face and head, her combs and pins had been removed. These were in McAllister's pocket. The two portions of the garment and the combs and hair pins were dropped from the bridge into the Passalo River. The carriage was then driven a short distance along the road into Bergen County. The spot was decided upon as a good place to drop the corpse. The body was dragged out of the carriage, but just then a wagon was heard approaching and one of the men hurled the body back into the cab, exciaiming: "For God's sake, drive on.

Here comes a carriage." The hack went on until a dark spot near Alicia's mills was reached. Another neer Alicia's mills was reached. Another of the men lifted the shoulders and as the hips reached the sill, McAllister dropped the feet and the two men held the body upright for a moment and then let it go. The girl's body feel backwards, the head striking a rock, which crushed the skull. The circumstance which threw the Bergen County authorities off the scent was not forseen by the men dispos-ing of the body. The hackman received $10 for his night's work. This was paid by McAllister.

This is the story as detailed by detectives. The four men directly concerned in this affair and the hackman are prisoners. The hackman has told all he knows, and two of the others have confirmed his story. If is said that Death firmed his story. It is said that Death and Campbell are the two men who told all, and that Kerr has also confeesed. Mc-Allister alone is said to deny the affair as detailed. Alter McAlister is a member of the firm of James McAlister & Co., silk throwsters. George Kerr is a member of the J. P. Donleavy Paint Company. Andrew Campbell is a bookkeeper employed at the Hand-street silk mill. William A. Death is a young man who was iam A. Death is a young man who was married five weeks ago. Mrs. Death's friends are endeavoring to conceal, the story of the details of her husband's ar-rest, and she is convinced that a mistake has been made. The men implicated in the crime were held without ball after a hearing before Recorder Zenior today. Judge Kerr, brother of one of the prison-Judge Kerr, brother of one of the prisoners, is married to a sister of Mayor Hinchliffe, the millionaire brewer of Paterson. He is also a relative of John Johnson, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Paterson district.

The funeral of the dead girl was held this afternoon. To avoid a crowd it was announced that services had been postponed by the Coroner It is claimed at poned by the Coroner. It is claimed at Paterson tonight that the crime is only one of a series of crimes of which the mill girls of that city have been victims, but this is the first case known in which any of the girls have lost their lives.

VON ZEPPELIN'S AIRSHIP.

Under His Control. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Count von Zepperlin is satisfied with the performance of his airship, says a Herald cablegram from from Friedrichshafen. He says it has been proved that it was absolutely under the control of the steering apparatus. This apparatus, however, was not in most perfect order on the first ascent. One of the two rudders below the machine at the stern would not work freely. Thus, instead of moving parallel with each other, the rudders frequently formed an angle. This defect hampered Count von Zeppelin very much indeed. Opinion in general is somewhat unsettled. The de-cisive trial has not yet been made, for the machine is still in an experimental stage, though an undoubted step toward the achievement of aerial flight has been made. A former nautical engineer of Geneva, Livential by name, who is watching the trial, expressed himself as being dubious of the machine's ultimate suc-

LONDON, Oct. 23.-When the medical students who were arrested yesterday for mobbing John Alexander Dowle, the Zionof Chicago, were arraigned before Nicholas Fenwick, the police magistrate, today, he gave them a good tongue-lushing. The magistrate said he was shocked at the fact that educated men had acteo so disgustingly, and assured them their rowdyism and violence would not be tor-erated. Fines of £5 were then imposed on the students. A huge mob awaited Mr Dowle at Starlington Hall, and the "Faith healer," who had to be guarded by police, was rushed into the hall through a double cordon of policemen. The crowd howled and charged, but the police stopped what were really ugly rushes for the doors.

SPANISH WAR CLAIMS.

Of the Many Thousands Filed, Few So Far Have Been Allowed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Many in-tuiries have been made recently at the Pension Office as to the status of claims filed for pensions by soldiers of the Spanish-American War. Commissioner Evans said today that the bureau scarcely had time to respond to all the inquiries, but that the claims were being adjudicated as rapidly as possible. He added that some of the claims had been delayed by difficulty in obtaining the necessary official
