TEST VOTE ON TRUSTS.

How the Vote on the Constitutional Amendment Against Trusts Stood in the House of Representatives, June 1, 1900: 148 Republicans in Favor-130 Democrats Against.

NEEDING A TWO-THIRDS VOTE, IT WAS DEFEATED SOLELY BY THE DEMOCRATS.

The rulings of the Supreme Court having shown that, as the Constitution now stands, Congress can only regulate trusts engaged in interstate commerce, the following amendment was introduced in the House of Representatives and passed a vote on June 1:

Sec. 1. All powers conferred by this article shall extend to the several states, the territories, the District of Columbia, and all territory under the sovereignty and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Sec. 2. Congress shall have power to define, regulate, control, prohibit, or dissolve trusts, monopolies or combinations, whether existing in the form of a combination or otherwise. The several states may continue to exercise such power in any manner not in conflict with the laws of the United States.

Sec. 3. Congress shall have power to enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation.

The clause saving all rights of states was inserted in the hope of getting state rights Democrats to support the amendment. Nevertheless, the vote stood 148 Republicans for and 130 Democrats against, and the measure failed of the necessary two-thirds majority.

WILMINGTON, DEL.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 24.-Mr. Sherman's funeral train left for Philadelphia in this city tonight after having made its other addresses during the day. Beginning at St. Michaels, on the eastern shore of Maryland, he spoke in succession at Pocomoke, Vienna, Salisbury, and Berlin, all in Maryland; at Frankfort, Georgetown, Milford, Harrington, Dover, Clayton, Middletown, Kirkwood and Newcastle, in Delaware. The audience at each of these places was thoroughly appreciative. At a few of the stopping places in Delaware there was a conspicuous lack of enthusiasm. In his tour of Delaware he was accompanied by a delegation of Democratic leaders, including United States Senator Kennen, Governor Tamm, J. F. Ford, Democratic candidate for Governor, A. M. Daly, Democratic candidate for Congress, and Willard Salisbury, chairman of the Democratic state committee.

The first meeting in Delaware proved a disappointing one, as only a few people were congregated at the railroad station at Frankfort when Mr. Bryan's train pulled into the place, and while those who were there listened with attention to what he had to say, they were not so much interested in the speech as were the general issues of the campaign.

At Georgetown, the meeting was held in the public square, across the street from the Court house, and was presided over by a conspicuously painted poet, which, under the laws of Delaware, is used as a whipping post.
