DEFEMPS HIS COMPANY'S ENTERPRISE W. L. Lindhard, manager of the Cleve-land Oil & Paint Company, which operates a mill in South Portland, which a informed The Oregonian is extending its lumber yard into the streets. says that if there has been any encronch-ment of this kind it will be stopped. Mr. Lindhard adds that before his company took hold of the mill it had been idle for 10 years, and the decayed appearance of the surroundings was a much more serious drawback to the neighborhood than the possible extension of a few lumber piles into the street. Before the min was started there were many vacant bouses in the vicinity. Now there are none, while 40 men living thereabouts are employed in the mill at an average wage of $3 a day. Mr. Lindhard thinks that an enterprise which can do this much for a chood should receive the suppor of the residents rather than their con demnation. He further remarks that From street for almost its entire length is much more nearly impassable owing to unt of traffic than any of the streets near his mill.

NOT WHALING TO LOSE THEIR VOTES There will probably be a very full vote cast in this city for Presidential Electors, although there are a number of disgusted Democrats who will not vote, not being; able owing to their bringing up, to vote the Republican ticket, and not willing under any elfournstances to vote for the mongrel ticket put up by their party. There is, however, a determination on the part of many who might be disfranchised for this occasion—owing to having lately changed their residences, to having been under age when voters were registered, or who have been only a short time in the state-to have their votes counted. Every day many persons are asked to be one of the six freeholders required to sign their names to the paper requisite to secure such persons the privilege of voting, and in several places persons are in waiting with the necessary papers, prepared to take the signatures of the freeholders who can testify to the qualifications of

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The Dailey Company. When "The New South" was first preplayed Captain Harry Ford, Phoebe Da-vies essayed the role of Georgia Gwynne, and Burr McIntosh, who starred last year and Birr actitions, who started tast year in "Pudd'nhead Wilson," assumed the character of the negro Sampson, a colored political leader. Scott Cooper was the original General Hewston Gwynne, the part which is portrayed with the Dalleys by Louis Belmour.

Manager Delley has two companies on the road this year. His company of comedians will be seen here for one ook, commencing Sunday, October 28, at he Metropolitan. Manager Dalley has gathered together the very best material for his company, and a more evenly balanced or painstak-ing and versatile organization has seldom nation. "The Wife," "The Lost Para-dise" and "The New South" are among the plays that they are to produce. "The Wife," Belasco and DeMille's master-pleos, is widely known as one of the most beautiful emotional plays ever written. It will be given a superb presentation by the Dailey company, Miss May Nannary, the leading lady, is an actress of temperament, having a great deal of that vibrant sensibility which holds an audience.

"The Fast Mail" at Cordray's. "The Fast Mail," which appears at Cor-dray's Sunday and all next week, is said to be the most successful railroad and ic melodrama on the road this sea-L. J. Carter, the author and manager, has contrived to weave into a con-sistent story nearly all the good points of the sensational drama. The climax of each act is strong enough to sustain a whole play, yet so well graded are the features of the piece that one views with increasing interest through the five acts the murder and the clever trick with the grandfather's clock in the first act; the Mississipi River steamer, its engine-room showing a practical furnace, and the explosion, with "complete change of behind a curtain of rising smoke," behind which is seen the wreck, as the curtain falls on the second act; the fullsize freight train, with its realistic engine and 14 box cars, with their familiar lettering, followed at the close of the third act by the fast mall; the "Dage" of the third act, and the thrilling incidents and hair-breadth escapes which take place there; and then the full front view of Niagara Falls, as seen from the cen-ter of the suspension bridge, upon which the final curtain descends.

A.O.U. W. PARADETONIGHT

BEST OF WEATHER IS PROMISED FOR THE EVENT.

Astoria Special Will Arrive About Noon and Be Received Formally-Other Outside Delegations.

The weather clerk acknowledges the A. O. U. W. and promises fair weather today which increases the cn husiasm in projection. The day will be a busy one for the committee. The Astoria special of six coaches will reach Fourth and Washington streets about noon, where they will be met by the committee with a band and escorted to the Tabernacle for entertainment. The Oregon City special boat will arrive at 5:30; the Salem train also during the afternoon. Altogether, the reception committee will have no time to lose.

Members of the A. O. U. W. are justly proud of the record of their order, which furing the 32 years of its existence has paid out to widows and orphans the enormous sum of $103,000,000. The large amount expended in charity during this time is not included in this. This showing, and the fact that the order is stronger new than ever, the members consider a sufficient refutation of the statement so often made, that a fraternal order of the beneficiary character cannot maintain its existence for any length of time. Following is the amended formation of column and line of march for the big parade tonight in connection with the anniversary exercises: Formation of Column.

TAKES IN THREE STATES.

Photographers' Association Has Added Washington and Idaho.

The Pacific Northwest Photographers' Association was organized in this city yesterday, the Oregon Association having expanded so ca to take in the states of Washington and Idaho also. A. L. Jackson, of Tapoma, was elected president: H. D. Trover, of Salem, first vice-president; Ed Curtis, of Seattle, vice-president for Washington S. Aune of Parts. dent for Washington; S. Aune, of Port-land, vice-president for Oregon; H. C. Meyer, of Boise, vice-president for Idaho; Charles Butterworth, of Portland, will set as secretary and tressurer of the new association. Portland was selected as the place of meeting next year. Tacoma but Portland's superior advantages prevalled and this city was an easy victor. The afternoon session was mainly devoted to demonstrations in posing, lighting and nogative making, with the new Pacific photo film, at Mr. Tolman's studio,

2271/2 Washington street. Much interest manifested by the attending professional photographers. Last evening the association assembled to witness demonstrations in American Aristo papers, in Hibernian Hall. Quite a number of new arrivals were present and several important exhibits were added to the large collection in the body of the hall. The interest taken by women photographers was marked and caused much favorable comment on the part of the stronger sex.

Among the attendants at the meetings esterday was Charles H. Kirshner, of Berlin, Prussia, who placed some very interesting pictures on exhibition.

This morning the committee on consti-tution and by-laws is expected to report. It is composed of the following members of the association, appointed by the presi-dent: Frank Averill, Portland; Mrs. L. D. Hicks, San Francisco; Frank Doyle, New York, and Charles Butterworth, of Portland. The association hopes to conclude its noon. The play is one especially suited to a matinee performance, as it abounds in music and specialties, and is just the music and specialities, and is just the kind to put every one in a good humor and send him home happy. The adven-tures of a plano-mover endeavoring to impersonate a millionaire furnish the fun. and there is plenty of it. The company is fully up to the requirements of the piece, and a good afternoon's entertain-ment is assured. The last performance sided in Portland and vicinity for many years past, has commenced another suit to recover possession of his former h consisting of a house and two lots at Monticello, against Eliza Jane Darling and John Darling, her husband. He states that because of sickness and the infirm'ties of age, he was incapacitated, and Mrs. Darling introduced herself to him and offered to tidy up his home and on several occasions cooked his meals. Whitshe had gained his good will, she proposed, he says, that as he had a nice home, well stocked with provisions, and she and her husband had no home, they would come and reside with him and take care of him. He consented to the arproperty from Penumbra Kelly, who had him 80 balance due upon it and taking a deed. Briefly stated, the rest of Mou-dy's tale of woe is that the defendents soon treated him so badly that he was compelled to leave the place. He wants his property back, and an injunction issued restraining them from seiling it un-til the case has been decided.
