SHIPS THAT ARE DUE

About a Dozen Vessels Expected in Next 10 Days.

ORIENTAL LINER EVA IS SAFE

Ten Sailing Ships, Carrying a Million Bushels of Wheat, Left the Columbia Since Sunday.

The British ship Astracana satied from San Diego for Portland yesterday, and with favoring winds up the coast should be at hand before the end of the month. The vessel is reported to be bidly damaged, as a result of her rough two around the Horn, and she will need some extensive repairs before she will be ready for outward cargo. The Astracana brings part cargo to this port. Another ship part cargo to this port. Another ship with a full cargo, the Langdale, is also due from Léverpool, and there are about a dozen ballast ships dus within the next ten days. The French bark Alice is out five months from Havre, and the French bark Rossust, over five months from Nautes. The British ship Cromartyshire, one of the fastest ships affest, is out 12 days from Port Los Angeles, and is daily expected. The Dutch bark Pax is due from Yokohama, and the British ship Morven from Acapulco. The Peter Rickmers is out about a month from Hong Kong, but as vessels seldom come across from that port in less than 65 to 60 days, she will hardly be expected before next menth.

United Kingdom, and there is considerable rivalry among the masters as to which will make the fastest passage. It is very seldom that so many ships leave is very seldom that so many ships leave the Columbia so close together, and by getting away in a bunch, they are quite sure of encountering the same kind of weather. The Amiral Courbet, which left down yesterday, will reach Astoria today, and the Halewood will leave up. This will leave but one ship in the lower harbor, but reinforcements are close at hand.

Oregon and Oriental Liner Not Lost -Arrives at Vladivostock.

The report received from Hong Kong jest week, stating that the German steamship Eva had been lost at sea, proves to have been unfounded. A dispatch was received from Vladivostock resterday, announcing her arrival at the Siberian port Just where the other report of her loss origiwhere the other report of her loss origi-nated is uncertain. The news was re-ceived by President Wilcox, of the Port-land Flouring Mills Company, in a cable, from Hong Kong and similar ad-vices were received from London by the Maritime Exchange of New York, and the Merchants' Exchanges of San Fran-cisco and Portland. The report of her cisco and Portland. The report of her loss was generally discredited a few days after it was circulated, as nothing confirmatory could be secured /after the first dispatches. Her return from the depths will be highly pleasing to the newly-organized Oregon & OrientalSteamship Company, as she is an excellent stoamer for this route and will be needed.

usually of picric-acid- preparation or of wet gun-cotton. To the former type belong the English lyddite, the French me-linite and kresyllte, and the Austrian ekrasite. In Germany and Italy a wet gun cotton is used. That melinite is re gurded by the French as sensitive and dangerous is evidenced by the minute reg-ulations which have been issued for its care and handling. Lyddite, used in the English high-explosive shell, is claimed (by the English) to be safer and more powerful than melinite. It is simply pic-ric acid brought into a dense state of fusion. The shells are coated inside with a special varnish and the melted acid poured into them. This requires a strong detonator or, in other words, a powerful primer. It is said the English have adoptprimer. It is said the English have adopted a primer of pleric powder, which consists of two parts of ammonium plerate 157 50 to three parts of saitpeter, mixed in much the same way as ordinary granulated gunpowder. The composition is ignited by the usual service fune. Lyddite was first used in actual warfare at the battle of Ondurman, where its effects are battle of Omdurman, where its effets are reported to have been terrifying, the mere shock of the bursting of a shell killing or disabling any one within a radius of 40 or 50 yards. If recent reports from South Africa about the lyddite shell be true, the area of its destructive power has been greatly exaggerated. In this connection it may be well to state that lyddite, like all other of the specially high syningtree.

HUGE RUSSIAN LOCOMOTIVE Largest at the Paris Exposition-Has Twelve Driving Wheels.

Engineering Magazine.

The most revarkable Russian engine in the Paris Exposition is the gigantic 12-wheeled double-six-coupled duplex comwhoseed double-aix-coupled dupies com-pound on a modification of the Mallet sys-tem, and bearing the number H. 310, This is by far the biggest and heaviest spgine in the whole exhibition, weighing as it does 88 tons and having a vast 46-ton tender appended; the total weight of tender and engine being therefore no less than 132 tons, while the top of the chim-ney stands 16 feet 3 inches above the rul-level. This mighty locomotive is con-structed on the articulated plan, the four-foot driving wheels being coupled in two groups of six each, one being practically a steam bogie, while each group is driven by one high-pressure and one low-pressure cylinder, the respective dismares being cylinder, the respective diameters being 18% inches and 28 inches. In the case of this particular engine, more may be said on behalf of the complex system of ar-ticulation employed than in the case of turns received seem to confirm the claim of the Republican State Committee that the state has given McKinley over 10,000 plurality, and that the entire Republican the smaller but similar locomotive.

Gentlemans-It gives me pleasure to write and tell you that at the age of ninetyseven I can see to read and write without seven I can see to read and write without the aid of glasses and feel as hale and hearig as I did fifty years ago.

I have been taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly for several years, a tablespoonful in a wine glass of water, three or four times a day, and I know that it has prolonged my life and kept me strong and viscous transfer and v strong and vigorous. I never was a drinking man, and I regard your valuable whiskey as a medicine of the best kind.
I have not taken a dose of medicine outside of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for twenty-five years, and may it do for other old people what it is doing for me.

Gratefully yours,
JOHN W. ATTRIDGE.

ANCIENT EGYPTIAN TREATY

Agreement Between Rameses and Hittites Humane for That Age. Chautauquan.

The walls of the great Hall of Karnak are covered with important inscriptions, which have thrown much light upon the which have thrown much light upon the history of the Egyptians. Among others, the treaty of peace between Rameses and the Hitties of the Hebrew Scriptures is worthy of notice as the first recorded agreement between nations. Our late antagonist, the Queen Regent of Spain, may well consider herself fortunate that she was not called upon to negotiate with this Pharaoh instead of Uncle Sam, for Kamesos didn't waste any time on for Rameses didn't waste any time on protocols or commissions, or pay $20,-000,000 after his opponent had sued for peace. He evidently dictated the treaty himself, for it begins: "Rameses, chief of rulers, who fixes his frontiers where he pleases."

The last clause of this document is the earliest extradition agreement between two countries calling for the reciprocal delivery of political ingitives, and it is remarkably humane for that age. It pro-vides that "whosever shall be so deliv-ered up, himself, his wives, his chilares, let him not be smitten to death; more-over, let him not suffer in his eyes, him over, let him not surer in his eyes, and mouth, his feet; moreover, let not any crime be set up against him." And the whole is witnessed by the great god of Canaan, the great god of Egypt, and all the thousand gods, male and female, the gods of the bills, the rivers, the great sea, the winds and the clouds of both lands.
