MADE A NOISE AT LAST. Old Cannon From Fort Canby Make Themselves Heard.

For the past day or two heavy reports as from blasting have been frequently heard in the city, the explosions evident-ly taking place some distance away. A young man who had been asked a great many times where this blasting was going on, and what it was all about, resterday determined to find out. He asked everybody he met who might be supposed to know something about the matter, and a number whom he had no idea know any-thing about it and he received any num-ber of explanations, and finally concluded that correct information is one of the most difficult things imaginable to ob-

One man said the explosions were caused by the United States Engineers blasting out a channel at Ross Island. Another said that the Bouthern Pacific Company was blasting off the face of a bluff up the river. One suggested that the turrets of the old Standard mills at Milwankia were being blasted out. Another turrets of the old Standard mills at Mil-waukle were being blasted out. Another said the blasting was at a quarry in Mar-quam Gulch, where rock was being ob-tained for the improvement of a section of Grant street. One said he had heard the explosions from Albina, and they seemed to be directly west of the city; he thought some one was clearing land on the hills west of town and blasting out the stumps. Another had heard the re-ports from Vancouver, and remarked that they came from heavy blasting, wherever they came from beavy blasting, wherever it was. Not a few said they did not know where the blasting was going on, and they did not care a continental —.

At last a dealer in explosives was found, who said the reports came from dynamite exploded at Oswego in an effort to break the old cannon from Fort Canby so that they could be melted to be cast into water-pipes. The old guns never made much noise during their "lives," but they are made out of extracted in a blanch of the cast of the c they are going out of existence in a blaze of glory and at the expense of a big lot

The Disadvantage of Unanimity.

Dallas News. One of the regrettable things of this campaign is that in Texas so many young men were prevented by the spathy of the farmers from showing what they could do as orators and instructors in the science of government. It seems the only way they can ever show this will be by disagreeing and fighting their divergencies out on the stump, an im-possible thing as long as they belong in the same line of political thought.

LESSEES OF SHOOTING PRIVILEGES SUE FOR RIGHTS.

Sportsmen Go After Joseph Paquet, Who Systematically Spolls Their Bunting.

A suit to apportion certain shooting and fishing privileges on Sauvie's Island, heretofore apoken of, was filed yesterday in the State Circuit Court by Mitton W. Smith, William C. Alvord, Henry C. Campbell, Zera Snow, William G. MoPherson and Norman R. Lang against Joseph Paguset. An order for the defend-Joseph Paquet. An order for the defend-ant to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed to take over to himself the shooting privileges of the premises, pending the final hearing and determinabefore Judge Cleland Friday at I o'clock comprise about 380 acres, and upon the lands are the Little Foley, Big Foley, Big Wilmot and Smith Lakes, and from the Fall and Winter rains other lakes are formed from time to time during the geese and snipe congregate in large nun reese and snipe congregate in large num-bers. The lands are owned, an undivided third ench, by A. H. Tanner, Helen Ladd Corbett and Joseph Paquet. According to the allegations of the complaint, in the Summer of 1899 the plaintiffs acquired by purchase from A. H. Tanner and Helen Ladd Corbett, for a large sum of money, the shooting privileges of the lands, to the extent of the one-third interest of each, and the right to occupy the dwell-ing-house on the premises, and this was ing-house on the premises, and this was confirmed by them August 30, 1900, by a lease to Militon W, Smith for the benefit of himself and the other plaintiffs. The plaintiffs aver that they have ex-pended considerable sums of money for food for the fowl, so as to preserve the shooting and sporting privileges. Paquet, it is alleged, by virtue of his ownership of the other one-third inter-est in the lands, has been in the habit of entering upon the premises at any and all times, and bringing companions with hith, and engaged in shooting promiscu-ously over the place. It is stated that he has done this just before the time when he knew the plaintiffs desired to shoot, and has greatly injured their shoot-ing, as after the lands had been shot over once it requires from five to six days be-fore the shooting again becomes good. He has been there, it is said, from two to three days each week, regardless of the rights of the plaintiffs, and threatens to continue the practice. He has not, it is charged, fed the birds, but his taken advantage of the feeding by the others, and when remonstrated with and the offer made to him equitably to divide the shoot ing privileges, has refused to enter into negotiations. The plaintiffs say that the shooting privileges are a valuable right, and can be made to yield money by selling or leasing the same.

The court is asked to enter a decree apportioning and dividing equitably between the plaintiffs and the defendant, according to their respective interests, the shooting and fishing privileges, and the right to occupy the dwelling-house, either as to the time for the enjoyment of the grounds or apportioning and dividing the premises between them. If it should be premises between them. If it should be determined that equitable division cannot be had, the court is then asked to sell the entire privilege for the beason ending September 1, 1991, including the defendant's one-third interest, and to divide the proceeds between plaintiffs and defendant, Milton W. Smith and Snow & McCamant appear as attorneys.

New York Evening Post. Lowell in the part of Nick Bottom, the weaver, is a new figure to us, and probably to most readers. We reprint the following communication from the Academy, in the hope that it may call out some reminiscence of the performance from a surviving actor or eye-witness: Sir: Mr. Stillman's letter in your issue Sir: Mr. Stillman's letter in your issue of October 13 reminds me that in my copy of the first edition of "The Bigiow Papers" (Cambridge, 1845) a former owner of the book has inserted a MS playbill of a theatrical performance which came off during Lowell's residence in Italy in 1851-2. Very little seems to have been recorded concerning this vielt. If I remember rightly, only one spisite in verse, addressed from Rome, will be found in his "Letters"; and Mr. Edward Everett Hain, in his interesting book on "Lowell and His Friends," does not even mention it. It was a happy period of Lowell's life, passed chiefly in the society of his friend Story, before the great shadow had fallen on him. The right upper corner of the playbill is, unfor-
