NO COUNTRY ENJOYS BETTER TIMES THAN UNITED STATES.

Import and Export Trade Gaining by Leaps and Bounds—Statistics on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—There is ample food for Thanksgiving reflections in some figures which the Treasury Bureau of Statistics has just presented regarding the commerce and affairs of the United States in these closing months of the year 1900...

The total importation of materials of this class used in manufacturing during the three years ending with October, 1900, is $228,573,915, as compared with $214,356,707 in the corresponding months of 1899...

Not only has the manufacturer and the millions dependent upon his industry shared in the prosperity of the year, but those engaged in agriculture are also finding that they have been equally prosperous...

WORK FOR NEXT CONGRESS

NORTHWEST REPRESENTATIVES HAVE FEW ON CALENDAR.

Oregon and Washington Most Concerned in Appropriation Measures Yet to Be Framed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—An examination of the calendars of the Senate and House for December 3, the first day of the coming session, does not disclose a very large number of bills introduced by Oregon or Washington representatives which are in line to be taken up at the short session, but, as usual, the most important pieces of legislation for which these two delegations will contend were embraced in the general appropriation bills yet to be framed.

The Senate calendar does not show a short public bill by either of the Oregon Senators which has been reported, but Senator Foster's bill to appropriate funds for conducting investigations and tests of American timber has a place pretty well down on the list. Unless the Senate goes through the list with great rapidity, this measure will not be reached in the three short months unless taken up out of its regular order.

There will, of course, be a few bills general in character, such as apply to mining operations and public lands, which will be applicable to Oregon as well as other states, but these were not introduced by members of either delegation.

In the House there is a slightly better showing. On the House calendar is a bill by Mr. Tongue for the creation of the Crater Lake National Park, reported by Mr. Moody at the last session, and a bill by Mr. Moody, extending to Oregon, Washington and California section 8 of the timber culture laws, which by an inadvertence was not made applicable to these three public-land states. The bill, it may be added, was passed through the Senate last session by Senator Simpson.

Representative Jones, of Washington, has two bills on the House calendar, one prohibiting the creating of new forest reserves, or the enlargement of existing reserves, except by the consent of Congress, and the other prohibiting the establishment or extension of forest reserves in the State of Washington, except by act of Congress. A bill by Representative Lacey of Iowa, to prohibit the location of mining claims in Alaska by power of attorney will also be of much interest to Oregon and Washington, and have the support of both delegations.

Other bills on the calendar of the committee of the whole House of Interest to the Northwest, are as follows: Mr. Tongue's bill amending the act pro-

NO GOOD TO COME.

Therefore Joint High Commission Will Not Be Called Again.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Although there has been talk of another session of the Joint High Commission, the probabilities are that it will not be called together, because the Administration is quite convinced that no good can be accomplished. The principal matter in dispute before the commission before was the Alaska boundary, and by the moment every other question would be raised which would be a permanent boundary line. As neither nation will agree upon any other line than that at present located, and as the United States would have to give up the territory in the Porcupine district, and England will not relinquish her claims to land on the American side of the provision, it is likely that the Administration will go on from year to year until somebody finally concludes that it has been that way so long that it might as well be accepted as the permanent boundary.

In other words, the Administration is not inclined to settle the question of the boundary line. It is understood that the commission to meet unless there is prospect of it accomplishing something. In other words, it does not want our diplomacy made ridiculous again as it was by the last meeting of the commission.

The Process of Restoration. New York World.

Senator-elect Bailey's notion of rehabilitating the Democracy is through a "process of elimination, subtraction and addition." A good idea. Eliminate the Populists, add the Trust-busters, subtract the "personally conducted" campaign of the Presidential candidate. Add the Democratic principles and policies that vivified the party from the days of Jefferson to the time of Cleveland, but which were laid aside in favor of fusion and frenzy in 1896. So shall the party regain the people's confidence.

Tom Barry, of North Yakima, is reported here. He left a few days ago in a snow storm, intending to go to Prosser. He never arrived at his destination and has not returned.

NICARAGUA CANAL BILL.

Lukewarm Support of Several Senators One Danger That Threatens.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The one danger that threatens the Nicaragua canal bill is the lukewarm support it will receive from some of the Republican Senators. Regardless of the enormous pressure that is being exerted by the people at large to have this legislation enacted at the approaching session, there are a number of Senators who still assert that there is no occasion for haste in the matter, and are not ready at this time to bustle themselves and secure the passage of this most important piece of legislation.

Present among this class of Senators is Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, who, shortly after his arrival in Washington, gave out a statement that he "did not think there should be any legislation, owing to the importance of the subject." If the Senator came from a coast state, he would hear from his constituents in no unmistakable terms after such a declaration as that reached them. If a sufficient number of these Senators can be aroused to the real importance of passing this bill at the coming session, there will be no difficulty in getting it through. And yet, in spite of his declaration regarding the Nicaragua canal bill, Senator McCumber states in the same statement, almost, that he believes the ship subsidy bill should be passed at the coming session, without fail.
