EVERY DAY ETHICS.

For Use on Street, in Philanthropy and in Boarding-Houses.

PORTLAND, Jan. L-(To the Editor.)like to be a reformer and hope that you will not say of me as was said in refersace to one fond of criticisms. "I do not like too many Christopher Columbuses."

As I plodded through the snow this morning, when several courtseous gentlemen had, one after another, stepped aside to give me the one beaten track, it oc-curred to me how nice it would be if, when fresh snow is on the ground, every one who was not obliged to go on the left side of the street (not sidewaik)

Right now, while we are summing up what a century may do, I would like to make a more toward assisting a class of people who, from my observation during a year or two gast, are evidently forgotten in one particular. The class referred to are those respectable people who have permanent employment in the care of large benevolent matteritons. The special need that has attracted my attention is no doubt a natural result of the proverbial rush and push of the day. This push cannot, spart from any other objec-tion to it, produce the highest type of work. But the direct and individual injury is my point. Philanthropy and justice should devise a plan by which a stated time daily should be set aside for these important people to breathe heaven's air and relax their energies. Boarding myself at a very comfortable house, I am disinterested. Another matter; it concerns hygiene. How very inferesting are the lengthy articles we read on this subject. I would like to enter my thought on one particu-lar branch, my former thoughts on the subject being strengthened by the quiet I find in this same boarding-house. A habit of quiet movement, day or night (especially the intter), very much assists the world, through rest to the nervesother people's nerves. What is the need for tossing down boots, coming into a house as though there was no chance that some one might be needing quiet; sudden wheeling up or down of window-shades, or any noise which comes from forgetting the good of others. Why not do things quietly?

Perhaps it may not be taken as offen. sive, but as evidencing a desire to help the good of the coming century, if I sign myself A REFORMER.

Oregon Mine Notes.

L. D. Lively, of Loatine, has returned from a trip to the Imnaha mining district, situated on the left bank of the Imnaha and Snake Rivers, in Oregon, says the Leader. He believes that within a very short time the great merits of that section, as a mining belt, will be fully recognized. The amount of work done as to these mouths are consisted in the up to three months ago consisted in the main of assessment work, but recently a company was organized on a group of claims by financiers of Minneapolis and Rookane, and a full force of men is now at work driving three tunnels. The ore carries copper, gold and aliver. Values are high in copper, and in every instance ledges grow larger and ore richer with death Much work is now being done by individual owners of claims, with highly ancouraging results in every instance.

At a stockholders' meeting of the Lib-erty Bell Consolidated Mines Company, at Sumpter, the following officers and directers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Claude C. Basche, manager of the Basche Hardware Company; vice-president, Nat Cooper, manager vice-president. Nat Cooper, manager B. Hasche & Co., mining supply com-pany; secretary, Joseph G. Hunt, treas-urer Basche Hardware Company; treas-urer, Roy H. Miller, cashier First Bank of Sumpter; general manager. Paul E. Poindexter, mine operator. Directors: C. C. Basche, Nat Cooper, P. E. Poindexter, Robert W. Henry, Joseph G. Hunt, G. H. Wilson and J. Clifford Bowen. The properties of the company include the Leviathan, fattle Gertrude, Hardware and B. & B. ouasix mining claims, situated in & B. quartz mining claims, situated t the Alamo division of the Red Boy dis-

WEATHER CONDITIONS. WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The North Pacific storm is slowly working its war southeastward, but the center is yet contral near Cape Finteer. It is very cold to the north and east of this storm, and as the storm moves southeastward this cold weather will gradually overspread the North Pacific States. It is already from a to 12 deg. colder in Northern Washington, and snow is falling in the Sound country and about Walla Walla. Storm northeast warnings are displayed at all scappers in Oregon and Washington. The indications are for snow Friday.
