PORTLAND, Jan. 8.—(To the Editor.)— As might be expected, there appears some dissatisfaction with certain sections of the proposed changes of the game laws. We proposed changes of the game laws. We all appreciate the fact that it is well nigh impossible to construct a law that will absolutely satisfy everybody, and the writer is in a position to know that the present proposals as to the reconstruction of the code were only arrived at after carefully considering expressions of opinion from many representative people from all sections of the state!

The desire has oursely been to create a

The desire has purely been to create law conforming as nearly as possible to the popular desire. A reasonable and honest effort has been made to induce the extremists to meet "a" way with a strong inclination towards giving the game a fair show, in the belief that to have any small to kill at that date. The cocks must be well grown and strong on the wing before even an expert can tell what sex it belongs to and the gunner dare not take chances of killing a hen by shooting too small chicks. Furthermore, the hunt-er would only be compelled by such a law to benefit himself, for if all the hens were left, in the course of a year or two they would be raising more roosters than all the crack shots could get away with. These birds are polygamous, and one cock is ample to take good care of at least a dozen hens. This is no original idea, and is always adopted in European preserves at periods when it is desired to multiply the supply. There are also other very good reasons why the cocks should be thinned out ospecially when they pre dominate in numbers.
