of the Filipino Rebellion. MANILA, Jan. 11.—Optimism is taking the place of conservatism among the mili tary men here, the cause being the numerous surrenders, captures and destruction of insurgent camps, coupled with the increasing understanding of the Americans' literations among the natives. The propagation of the principles of the Fed-eral party and the knowledge that they are approved by the United States Philippine Commission and the military thorities, and the carrying out of terms of General MacArthur's proclamawhich classes all who commit acts cal to the interests of the Army as rebels and traitors, are having pointed effect. The cutting of communications and supplies has destroyed the remnants of the insurgents' organization. Both House and Senate Promptly Organized.

SENATOR FULTON PRESIDENT

Reeder of Umstilla for Speaker of the House-Both Nominations Were Unanimous in Republican Caucus.

FALEM, Or., Jan. 14.-No delay was experienced today in organizing the list bl-ennial session of the Oregon Legislature Senator Fulton, of Clatsop, was made president of the Senate, and Ropresenta-tive Reeder, of Umatilia, speaker of the House, It all went like clockwork. A tentative effort of the McBride faction to House. It all went like clockwork. A tentative effort of the McBride faction to make some kind of a deal with the Democrats to beat Reeder was early abandoned, for the reason that it was impracticable. So no open opposition of any kind was made. Fulton was the unanimous choise of the Republican Senate caucus. Howe withdrew his name, and with his friends cheerfully accepted the result. The siate prepared by Mr. Fulton's lleutenants on Senate officers received the indorsement of the caucus and later of the Senate. No candidate suspected of active sympathy with the Corbett campaign had much of a show. But it was all the fortune of war, and no bad feeling was engendered as a consequence of the contest. As a matter of fact, the choice of Mr. Fulton is a popular one, and very general confidence is placed in his declaration that he will be entirely impartial in his attitude toward all factions.

The House caucus found no difficulty in arriving in its choice of a Speaker, but had a somewhat protracted struggle over had a somewhat protracted struggle over the minor officers. Three separate ballots were taken for malling clerk. There was no state, and every candidate was consid-ered strictly on his personal merits and the size of his individual pull. Dr. Smith, of Marion, withdrew as candidate for Speaker, and Mr. Reeder was the unani-mous selection of the caucus—a choice mous selection of the caucus—a choice that seems to give complete satisfaction to all Republicans. Reeder polled the full Republicans vote, with the addition of Representative Shipley (Dem.), of Multaomah. The action of Shipley is not significant, however, of his purpose to act with the Republicans. He seems to have been moved by personal considerations. Edson of Washingto: falled to realize his unbounded hopes of a Republicant squabble, wherein he might slip in. He was the Democratic caucus nominee, but beyond the party vote and a complimentary vote from Mr. Reeder, he did not go. A. C. Jennings, of Lane, is in his old place as chief clerk of the House, and S. L. Morehead is also again chief clerk of the Senate.

elect all clerks and employes might cause delay of the Senatorial election. Under the Legislative act of 189, the various clerks, doorkeepers, stenographers, etc., carris, dooracepers, stenographers, etc., are, perhaps by some inadvertence, declared to be "officera." Now, it is held by some persons who think they know the law, that the Legislature cannot be completely organized until it has elected all its officers; therefore, organization is by the Central Catholics. The Commis-sioners are unanimous in the belief that a great majority of the Filipinos desire religious teachings in the schools. They hold that the purpose of the bill for pubnot perfected until every "officer" named in this statute has been chosen. The Senste adjourned till tomorrow, and will then name its cierks. If the view of the technical constructionists is correct, the first builtor of the Senatorial election will not take nices until the second Treestay of take place until the second Tuesday after organization—that is, two weeks from tomorrow. Whether the McBride forces, who may have their own reasons for wanting to enforce this view upon the Legislature will make it a pretext for putting off the Senatorial fight remains to be seen. Likely maybe they will try it, with very small prospects of success

President Fulton has been actively at work all afternoon and evening preparing his list of committees. The work has been so fur expedited that he hopes to nake the announcements tomorrow. The hairmanship of the committee on rail-uses will go to Senstor Brownell, and creater Mays will probably get either the Judiciary or the ways and means committee. All this, however, is merely surmise. In the House the labor of selectmise. In the House the labor of selecting the committees is not so far advanced. It is understood that Representatives Smith and Story, defeated candidates for the Speakership, will be given prominent chairmanships. It is said that Smith will be awarded the committee on ways and means. The friends of Senator Corbett are objecting to this arrangement on the ground that it is placing the House on the ground that it is placing the House on the ground that it is placing the House Russia turned over the Tien Tein Raliroad to Germany. The small son of Senator Cameron, a sturdy, bright-faced youth, was named by President Fulton as one of the pages; and thereby hangs a tale. Senator Camron was a member of the Legislature of 1533, and one day he was summoned home on a mysterious errand. Now, the Senator is not a young man, and his friends were not exactly prepared for the news that came later that to the Cameron household had been born a fine young son—the first. When the Senator returned he found his desk covered with flowers by his autoreciative colleges. his appreciative colleagues, and ever since his fellow-members have taken a socitous interest in the lad's welfare. The caused such an overflowing of Legislative congratulations eight years

Senator Proebstel is anxious that the Sonator Processed is anxious that the Senate begin its labors under constant apiritual guidance, and early today he presented the usual resolution calling on the clergy of Salem to open the daily sessions with prayer. It has been remarked that the wording of the resolution was significant, maxmuch as it did not request the Salem Ministerial Association, as is usual, to make daily assignments of ministers. It is reported that that body has not always been as that that body has not always been as catholic in its selections as it might have been, and preachers of certain denomina-tions have been excluded from opportunity to show the quality of their eloquence, and the character of their religious faith. Whether this is so or not, the sergeant-at-arms will now make the selections, and presumably he will do his duty without reference to the peculiar prejudice of sect, creed or denomination, and those Senators who listen to the prayers will get a judicious variety of spiritual admonition and instruction. The roll-call of the Federal brigade The roll-call of the Federal brigade continues to show several important absentees. Doubtless the ranks will be filled and a solid front presented to the enemy, now that the question of organization is settled, and interest in the Senatorship resumed. Collector of Customs Patterson is here, and Deputy Postmaster Matthews, and various office-holding small fry.

The Senate speedily got down to business by naming its two-fifths of the usual joint committees for the purpose of investigating the insane Asylum and Penitentiary, and the beeks of the Secretary of State and State Treasurer.

Ex-Senator Crosse, of Lincoln County, is one of the interested spectators at the Legislative proceeds go. He is complaining because, under the present apportionment, Lincoln County has no representative in either house of the Legislature. He says that the residents of his county are awaiting the decision of the United States Supreme Court on the questions. United States Supreme Court on the ques-tion of whether the Constitution follows the flag, and if the decision be favorable, they will apply for annexation to Hawaii.

Disaster by flood was not enough to keep away Representative Hemenway from the opening session. He came in to-day on the special focomotive sent up the Bouthern Pacific road after Presidential Elector Fullerton. He walked across the Harrisburg bridge, took a velocipede to Junction, boarded the waiting engine, and reached the scene of his duties in time for the Republican caucus. Representative McQueene, who has been sick, is expected as soon as the regular trains get through. through.

The Governor's message, it is expected, will be delieverd before the Legislature in joint session to corrow. It is known that Governor Geer has devoted a great deal of thought and care to its prepara-tion, and it is expected to be an uncom-monly interesting document. Its length is in the neighborhood of 10,000 or 12,000 words. It was given to the printers this afternoon. No hint as to any particular recommendations can be obtained.

Election of Officers the Chief Business-Concurrent Resolutions.

SALEM, Jan. 14.—By 9:30 o'clock this morning the members of the Oregon Senate were on hand, ready to proceed with the organization of that hody. About 10 o'clock all the Republican members assembled in the office designated for the president of the Senate and proceeded to select the party candidates for the various offices of the Senate. This work occupied over an hour, during which time the pied over an hour, during which time the opposition members of the upper house busied themselves at their deaks or found other means of pessing the time. He announced that the first business would be the election of a term. business would be the election of a temporary president. Senator Kuykendall, of Lane, placed in nomination J. N. Will-iamson, Republican, of Crook. Senator Sweek, of Mulinomah, nominated William Smith, Democrat, of Baker. A rising vote was taken, resulting in the choice of Williamson On taking the chair Senator William to be called upon to preside, porarily, over the Senate of his state, and he begged to thank his fellow Senators, not only for himself, but also on behalf of the people of Eastern Oregon, for the honor conferred. For temporary Chief Clerk and assistant Chief Clerk, S. L. Moorhead and Frank Grant were chosen without opposition.

On motion of Senator Brownell, the chair appointed Senators Brownell, of Clackamas; Josephi, of Multnomah, and Stelwer, of Sherman, a committee on credentials. After a moment's conference, Senator Brownell read the report of the committee, and it was adopted.

Senator Porter, of Clackamas, moved that a committee of three be appointed to invite the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to administer the oath of office to the new members of the Senate. This committee, composed of Senators Por-ter, of Clackamas; Kelly, of Ling, and Adams, of Marion, all hold-overs, retired, and in a few moments returned with Chief Justice R. S. new Sentaors being now inducted into office, the upper house was ready to proceed with the permanent organization, and Chairman Williamson so announced. Senator Brownell secured the floor with-out opposition and placed before the Sen-ate the name of Charles W. Fulton, of Clatsop County. In making the nomina-tion he reviewed the successful experi-ence of Senator Fulton as a presiding officer, paid a high compliment to his worth as a man, and announced that he was the unanimous choice of the Republican caucus. Senator Sweek, of Multnomah, slaced in nomination Senator Smith, of Baker. The vote was taken on a call of the Senate, and resulted as follows: For Fulton-Adams, Booth, Brownell, Cameron, Daly, Dimick, Howe, Hunt, n later, and on being informed of what and taken place, stated that he had excted to return to the hall before this business came up, but, not having done so, he requested unanimous consent of the Senate to have his vote recorded for Senator Fulton. This was granted. Hunt, Mays and Smith, of Multnomah, elected in the Citizens' ticket, voted with the Re sublicans throughout the organization. Senators Brownell, of Clackamas, and Johnson, of Sherman, were appointed to escort the newly elected president to the chair. Senator Fulton was greeted with a good round of appliause as he mounted the roatrum and addressed the Senate. He assured the members of his deep ap-preciation of the honor conferred upon im, and said that he would endeavor to perform the duties of the responsible po-sition impartially and without regard to pertisan or factional lines. He asked perission to call the attention of new mem bers to two requisites of a valid law which are sometimes overlooked, with the result that needed laws are declared invalid. These requisites are embodied in the constitutional provisions that each bill must contain an enacting clause, and that each bill must embrace but one sub-

"THE SENATE WILL NOW COME TO ORDER."

In the Senate, Megler of Wahkiakum was made president pro tem., and will preside until Lieutenant-Governor Mc-Bride shall be sworn in on Wednesday. The full Republican caucus list of officers and clerks were elected. The Democrais were allowed to name the assist-ant secretary, the index clerk and one page. Six bills were introduced. The most important was one by Senator Preston, of King, creating a railroad commission. This bill was outlined in this morning's Oregonian. The probability is that Senator Talman will introduce a bill on somewhat different lines. Sena-tor Crow, of Spokane, introduced a bill-providing for an additional Superior Judge for his home county.

A bill providing for deficiency appro-priations for the stae institutions was in-troduced in the Senate today by Land. Democrat, of King. The bill appropriates $12,500 for the Penttentiary, $4500 for the Soldiers' Home and $500 for the expenses of the State Board of Audit and Control. Crow, of Spokane, today inroduced a bill in the Senate providing for the sub-mission of a constitutional amendment changing the manner of electing Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts. The amendment provides that they shall be nominated by petition, and not by party, and elected at a special election held for that purpose, and ne other.

The House convened at 12 o'clock. A. C. Rundle, assistant chief clerk of the last House, called the members to order, after which prayer was offered, and hen the list of members as certified by he Secretary of State was read. Nominations for Speaker being in order, Easter-day of King presented R. B. Albertson, of King, as the unanimous choice of the Republican members. Falkner, of Thur-ston, and Rosenbaupt of Spokane, who were defeated for the Speakership by Mr. Albertson, seconded his nomination. Mer-ritt of Spokane, who had been selected as the minority leader, was nominated. Al-bertson received his full party vote, and after he had been declared elected he made a brief address. Justice Reavis administered the oath of office. Speaker Albertson then administered the oath to

APPROPRIATIONS FOR OREGON

Improvement of the Columbia Will Benefit Both States-Rash Talk in the House is Equally Injurlous to Both.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.-In a 30-minute WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In a 39-minute speech today Representative Tongue assailed the remarks of Representative Cushman on the river and harbor bill, and made a strong defense of the appropriation made for the mouth of the Columbia litiver. He pointed out that the improvement of that river was as much in the interest of Washington as of Oregon, and that it should command the sungon, and that it should command the sup-port, rather than the antagonism of the Washington delegation. He showed how the wheatgrowers of Eastern Washington are dependent largely upon the Columbia for getting their grain to market. He made the assertion that the speech of Cushman had done more to injure the Cushman had done more to injure the chances of getting through the large appropriation for the mouth of the Columbia than anything that could have been said, and, furthermore, his speech had prevented what little possibility there was for getting recognition of a new project at The Dalles. The combined efforts of the Oregon, Washington and Idaho delegations, he admitted, will be necessary to set an appropriation for a new project. get an appropriation for a new project, and now double efforts will be required, He pointed out that Senator Poster and He pointed out that Senator Foster and Representative Jones were both willing to assist these two projects. Mr. Tongue resented the assertion that Washington had been discriminated against, and pointed out that there were many continuing contract projects in that state for which provision is made in the sundry civil bill, while Oregon has not one. He moreover asserted that as the "Seattle ditch" has $170,000 unexpended after five years er more, it was not doemed expedient at this time to increase that amount. Mr. Tongue had no opportunity of addressing the House Saturday. the House Suturday.

In closing debate on the river and har-bor bill today, Chairman Burton, after de-nouncing the speech of Representative Cushman, said that as far as the Columbia River was concerned, the appropria-tion for its mouth should be credited equally to Oregon and Washington, and that this improvement disregarded, Washington gets more money than Ore washington gets more money than oregon in the present bill.

Representative Cushman today offered amendments to double the appropriation for New Whatcom and increase Tacoma's allowance to 130,000, but both were defeated along with all other amendments.

THE DAY IN THE HOUSE. Congressman Grosvenor Also Re-

Congressman Grosvenor Also Replied to Cushman.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The House to.day postponed District of Columbia business until next Monday, and proceeded with the river and harbor bill. Good progress was made, 55 of the 37 pages of the bill being completed. Many amendments were offered, but all of them failed. When the House met Loud (Rep. Cai.) presented the report of the joint postal commission, which has been investigating the question of railway mail pay and other matters affecting postal affairs. The debute on the river and harbor bill The debate on the river and harbor bill was then resumed. Lawrence (Rop. Mass.), a member of the committee, protested against the appro-priations in the bill for great National projects being charged to the states in which they happened to be located. He cited the case of Boston Harbor, which received several millions in the bill. That improvement, he contended, will benefit all sections of the country, as less than 10 per cent of the commerce of ships en-tering and leaving Boston are chargeable to Massachusetts.

to Massachusetts.

Grosvenor (Rep. O.), who was formerly chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, replied to some remarks made by Cushman (Rep. Wash.) Thursday, relative to the appropriations in the past for the Columbia River.

Morris (Rep. Minn.), another member of the river and hurbor committee, also defended the bill, arguing along the lines followed by Lawrence, that appropriations for big National projects could not properly be chargeable to the states in which erly be chargeable to the states in which they happened to be located.

Tougue (Rep. Or.), mother member of the committee, replied to Cushman's criti-cisms, using official figures to deny some of his statements. Referring to Cush-man's assertion that were Caesar allve today, instead of dividing Gaul into three parts he would divide "gall" into enough fragments to give one to each member of the river and harbor committee. Tongue said that were Caesar alive today he would not have divided gall at all; he would have left it in the original pack, age in its pristine integrity, and have pro-claimed to the world that the gentleman from Washington was not only the "real thing," but the "whole thing." Cushman moved to increase the appro-priation for Tacoma harbor from $30,000 to $100,000. The motion was lost. A host of small amendments were offered by various members, but all were lost. After completing 50 of the 97 pages of the bill, The District of Columbia appropriation ill was reported. It carries $7,747.564. At 5:65 P. M. the House adjourned.

ANOTHER PROFESSOR RESIGNS Sequel to the Dismissal of Professor Ross From Stanford.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 4.—The recent dismissal of Dr. Ross, pro-fessor of economics, from the Stanford University, had a sequel today in the resignation of rPofessor George E. Howard, head of the department of history. It will be recalled that during the Ross incident, Professor Howard took a strong stand in Ross' behalf, asserting that his dismissal was due to corporate influence. His ex-pressions were allowed to pass unnoticed by the university management until today when President David Starr Jordan addressed a letter to Dr. Howard request-ing a satisfactory apology for what he (Professor Jordan) considered a breach of discourtesy and to give such assurante of his attitude towards the management of the university as would guarantee a prop-er harmonious relation in the future. Failing in this he was asked to tender his resignation to take effect at the end of the current year or sooner. Professor Howard promptly answered that he would be unwilling to remain under the present management and asked that his resignation take effect at once. Pro-fessor Howard is one of the oldest mem-bers of the Stanford faculty.
