Hares and Prevagicators.—A brace of Pendletonians who have lately returned from a tour of Grent, Wheeler and Gil-Ham Counties report that while at Echo they heard that a large number of Jack-rabbita, killed at a rabbit drive there one Bunday, were shipped to Portland and paimed off upon the unsuspecting dealers paimed off upon the unsuspecting dealers of this city at E per dezen, as Belgian hares. Also, that the restaurants kept up the hoax and placed the game before their guests at 75 cents per plate. The East Oregonian, in publishing the story, says: "These stories are measurous, and would lead a person to suspect that Munchausen were again alive." The rabbit chasers of Echo must have a poor idea of the intelligence of Portland dealers, Portland cuterers and Portland people. Eastern Oregon jack-rabbits have been no novelty in the markets here for many Winters. intelligence of Portland dealers, Portland caterers and Portland people. Eastern Oregan juck-rabbits have been no novelty in the markets here for many Winters, and a dealer is not badly imposed upon who buys thom at $2 per dozen; but the restaurant that would undertake to serve up even genuine Belgian hare at $5 cents per plate would not do much business. A few Portland people sample Belgian hare occasionally, out of curiosity, but very few care for it, or jack-rabbit either. It is said the Belgian hare is superior to the sugebrumb-fed jack-rabbit, and it needs to be to make an attractive dish.

Health Commissioner, under the direction of the City Physician. The committee on health and police could not decide whether the bill ought to be paid or not, and called for an opinion on the matter from the City Attorney. He decided that the law does not specifically lathorize the Board of Health to desirve property and pay for the same, but it seemed reasonable to him that a man who suffered loss of the third that the bill be paid. If bills of this kind are to be paid, a serious drain on the city's finances might occur in case of a smallpox epidemic.

Bome hunters who had their blinds on flat ground were obliged to pull up and move three or four times. There were plenty at ducks and grees, but they were scattered all ever creation, and seemed to be enjoying the situation. Some parties made fair bags, but generally not half so many ducks as usual were shot.

LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE

One Pellows' Anxivensart.—The Odd Fellow lodges of Portland have already taken preliminary steps for the celebra-tion, April 28, of the anniversary of the establishment of the order. Last year the West and East Side lodges held sepa-rate celebrations, but Spencer Butte Lodge, of Eugene, sent a proposal that the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges of the Williamette Valley join with those of Portland in a big general deem, which was received with much favor. ceition is for an excursion train from Eugene to Portland, which should pick up all the other lodges that declife to come, and thus make up a big expedition of Three Linkers. Joint committees have been appointed by the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges to make the necessary arrangements. The details have not yet been settled. There will be a gathering of all the members of local lodges and the visitors in some large hall or church, in the evening, where there will be appropriate addresses and exercises, and Clergymen representing nearly all de ominations in this city met, yesterday at the rooms of the Young Men's Chris tian Association and formed a Law and Order League for the suppression of vice and especially gambling, in Portland. About 50 clergymen were present, and a committee was appointed to take steps to present the citizens' petition to the Police Commissioners asking that all gambling-

Snyder, of the Third-Street Mission, gave the first speech as follows: "The purpose of this meeting is to determine what dissition we shall make of this petition which has been in circulation, and to dis-cues the gambling question as it is now before us. I have nothing to suggest at present, but wish to leave the question open for discussion. I should like to hear from all of you, as I feel sure that you are as much interested in the work as I am." Mr. Snyder then moved that the matter be discussed in executive session, and the motion prevailed, the only objec-tion to this course coming from Rev. Stephen M. Wise, of the Beth Israel con-

Pleasing Comedy Draws Good House at the Marquam.

"At the White Horse Tavern" made its reappearance at the Marquam last night to a good house, and was received far more warmly than on its initial production here, when so little was known of it. The play is translated from the Ger-man, but it has evidently suffered noth-ing by the translation, as the comedy is as bright and clever as anything of the kind that has been seen here for some time, while the action is rapid and consistent throughout. Mistaken identity, that old resource of the hard-worked playwright, is used to some extent in the construction of the plot, but the fun resta chiefly on the efforts of an elderly business man to settle a lawsuit by marrying his daughter to the son of his opponent. Through his superhuman exertions he succeeds in bringing about the marriage succeeds in bringing about the marriage of both the girl and the youth he intends for her, but unfortunately gets them married to the wrong people. The presence of the lawyer on the other side of the cuse, and the cheerfulness with which he undertakes to assist the match-making schemes, and at the same time win for himself the girl who is intended for the son of his client, further compicates marters, and withat the audience is kept continually wondering what is golieg to turn up next, and if requires but little persuasion to move it to laughter. While the company might be improved little persuasion to move it to laughter.

While the company might be improved in a few places to the infinite gain of the play, yet the production on the whole is such as to afford a very pleasant evening's enjoyment. Fred Mower as William Gelsecke, the Berlin manufacturer, whose troubles are legion, is fully equal to the many emergencies that arise about him, and it is not praising him too highly to say that no better man for the part could be found. His easy stage presence, his perfectly natural bearing, and his thorough manner of throwing himself into his The Spokane Fiyer, for Spokane and all palouse points, leaves Union Depot at 6 Pringer Lincotters Machine in Alaska.—Mrs. May F. Of the women, Minerva Dorr as hostess of the tavern is the star, while Bernice Nocrous as the lisping daughter of the professor, and Louise Randolph as Ottille Gelsecke are able to do the work out out for them without attracting attention by any glaring demerits. The re-mainder of the cast is sufficient. Not the least of the charms of the play was a touch of realism at the end of the first act, when a rain storm was sup-posed to be in progress on the stage, and the audience discovered to its delight that the umbrelias over the group of travelers across the footlights were actually dripping with water, while the water-spout on the tayern was shooting forth a stream like a fire nozzle.

A WINTER ROUTE TO THE EAST.

The elimate of Utah and Colorado is temperate the year round, and clear skies and sunlit days are as proverbial in Winter as in Summer. The mean annual temperature in Salt Lake City or Denver is about 55 degrees, and the average annual precipitation 18.71 inches. With such inconsequential precipitation there can be little or no trouble from snow in the districts traversed by the Rio Grande Western Railway, and its immediate connections—the Colorado Midland or Denver & Rio Grande Railroads.

In fact Winter adds but new grandeur and charm to the travel scenes, and infuses an element of variety and beauty to the unsurpassed wonders of nature along the Great Salt Lake Route. Tickets to all points East may be obtained at 253 Washington street.
