THE QUEEN'S BALLY.

Physicians Surprised by Her Regaining Consciousness.

COWES, Jan. 22, I A. M.—Another day n the Victorian era, now so rapidly drawing to a close, passed without any great change in the condition of Queen Victoria. The slight improvement so frequently mentioned merely indicated a postponement of the inevitable. The end will be only a matter of days or only hours, but the members of the royal family who are now dragging out a weary visit at Osborne House know that the death of Her Majesty is merely a ques-

The most noticeable feature of yester-day was the satisfactory portion the Queen spent in consciousness, which she regained early in the afternoon and still retained at 10 P. M. At that hour she had not seen Emperor William, local ru-mors to the contrary notwithstanding. The royalty at Osborne thus had a chance to recuperate from the terrible ordeal un-dergone during the early hours of Mondergone during the early hours of Monday. The correspondent of the Associated Press is informed that the members of the royal family were called to a room adjoining the Queen's bed-chamber no less than four times in all, and were kept in momentary expectation of being summoned to witness the end up to 5:30. Her Majesty's physicians then had only a vestige of hope that they would be able to keep the Queen's feeble life in exist-ence until the Prince of Wales arrived. To secure this result they resorted to the frequent use of brandy and cham-pagne. These stimulants, used to an extent which only the greatest emergency justified, worked their process and when the Prince of Wales and Emperor Wil-iam entered the castle grounds at 11:20 A. M., they found the Queen a trific better than they had expected. The desperate remedies employed Monday morn-ing to enable Her Majesty to live until her eldest son's arrival will not be used again to the same extent, for the doctors are fearful that the remedy might be al-most worse than the disease. They trust to prolong her life by a moderate appli-cation of stimulants combined with as much nourishment as can be assimilated. Such expedients as were employed Sun-day evening and Monday morning are not considered justifiable. The Queen's rally astonished no one more than her physicians, and when, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, they heard her ask for chicken broth, their amase-ment almost equalled their delight. Privately, however, they built no false hope upon these fading signs of what habeen one of the strongest constitution. with which a woman was ever endowed.

TO HAVE 25,000 HORSEPOWER

City & Suburban Building

Near the Sandy.

Work of Acquiring Lands and Waterways Has Been Going on for Two Years-Personnel of the Enterprise.

Portland is going to have another great ectric power plant. It will be built near the Sandy River, at the confluence of the two forks of Gordon Creek, and will have about 25,000 horsepower. Back of this enterprise are Hon, H. W. Corbett and associates in the City & Suburban Railway Company. This fact came to light yesterday. Acquisition of land, con-trol of the mountain streams, surveying for dams, and measurements of water in the creeks have been in progress for at least two years, but every movement has been under cover, and no one employed in he various departments of the preliminary work seem to have known until very ecently whose undertaking it is. The ast pay checks have revealed this information, and the personnel of the enter-price is given by The Oregonian's Gresh-am correspondent:

GRESHAM, Or., Jan. 21.-Some new evelopments have been made concerning the great enterprise now under way be-yond the Sandy which go to show that it will be an electric power plant when completed and that the work is being done by the City & Suburban Rail-way Company of Portland. A piece of land containing 199 acres has been bought from James Deavers at the confluence of the Big and Little Gordon Creeks, which is about four miles above the mouth of the Big Gordon, where it empties into the Sandy River. The surveying and road working crews are still busy opening a road from Huriburt's to the junction of the two creeks, the intention being to build a dam by which the two Gordons will be diverted into Trout Creek, upon will be diverted into Trout Creek, upon which will be built a mammoth powerhouse. The site of the dam will be upon the mountain, which is about 60 feet above the sea level. One of the survey-ors has stated that the measurements of the three streams when combined will develop 25,000 horsepower. Heretofore the men employed have been paid off in cash each month, but their last payments were made by check, signed by C. F. Swigart, of the City & Suburban, and there is not so much secrecy about the work as formerly. The impression is gaining formerly. The impression is gaining ground that the company will soon have ample power for many more miles of road and that the eastern section will be connected by an electric road with the metropolis. It is asserted also that the company will be in a position to make a bid for the lighting of Fortland, as well as being able to furnish power and light for other places between here and there.

Corbett vs. Morey.

"Set that new power company down as a continuation of the fight between Henry W. Corbett and P. F. Morey," said a well-known business man who is not unknown in solitics also "and is will be unknown in politics also, hilt. Corbett is Morey's antagonist. His first open attack was two years ago, when the charter was amended so as to give the Water Committee the power to light the city. When the committee wavered in the matter of building electric light works, Corbett said he would build them himself and light the city for about half the sum paid annually to the Portland General Electric Company. With this plant on the Sandy he will be in a positon to furnish light for Portland and to sil power in opposition to Morey's com-

"But there is room for both companies The Portland General has an active market for about all the power it can gen-erate at Oregon City, and within five years there will be a market for all that this new company can make. Besides, the City & Suburban will need a lot of power itself, and it is obsaper to use water than steam for driving dynamos. Still, there is bound to be a lively opposition,

The effect of the sad news regarding Queen Victoria upon her eldest daughter has been very unfavorable. Empresa Augusta Victoria, upon learning this, had intended to go to Cronberg in order to inquire personally as to the condition of the Kaiser's mother, but later news from Cronberg was somewhat reassuring, and for the moment she gave up the idea of the trip. However, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, Prince and Princess Frederick Charles and the hereditary Princes of Saxe-Meiningen, who arrived at Cronberg yesterday, will remain with Empress Fred-

"It is with aincere regret that we anneunce that the Empress Frederick's condition has become materially worse. There has been a serious development of the disense from which she is suffering, and her physical pain is intense. All idea of any journey in pursuit of health has been definitely abandoned, and it is in the highest degree improbable that she will ver leave Cronberg."

This is somewhat at variance with reports from Berlin to the other morning papers, which report that the condition of the Empress Downger is a trifle more favorable, but, as the Associated Press has already announced, the news that Queen Victoria is dying has a very serious effect upon her oldest daughter. The Dowager Empress was very anxious to go to Osborne, and did not abandon the ope of going until it was represented to her that it would be utterly in for her to undertake the journey.

Not on Unincky Friday. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The battle-ship Wisconsin will not be commissioned Friday. Secretary Long today gave an order for the ship to be in commission February 4, which is Monday.

Inasmuch as under the call it had been conditioned that there should be 45 present, a majority of the entire Legislature, no vote was taken and no effort was made to pledge the conference to any line of action, except that it was decided unanimously to renew the effort to persuade the minority to join with the majority in naming a candidate for United States Senator. To that end an address was issued to the minority and an invitation extended to them to assemble with the majority next Wednesday night. Following is the address in full:

The address was then prepared and used and its conciliatory spirit and strong and candid presentation of the purposes that animate the majority seemed to express the opinions of every one present. When the address was adopted, there was some discussion of the best means to convey its text to the ab-sent members. It was decided to send it by letter to each one.

The conference was remarkable for its real enthusiasm and cordiality.
