THE LATE JACOB JOHNSON.

Jacob Johnson, the well-known ploneer, who had lived many years on Johnson's Creek, at Mount Scott, died yesterday merning, in his 72d year. Mr. Johnson came to Oregon in 1886. He was born in Highland County, Ohio, in 1828. His father, William Johnson, settled at the place where the family has since resided. Johnson's Creek thus took its name. Jacob Johnson took a land claim some distance further up the creek, and afterward removed to Portland, where he lived till 1861, when, having bought the old home place where his father had settled, he moved thereto, where he had since resided, and where he reared his family, of whom four sons and five daughters survive.

Jacob Johnson was one of our best-known and most useful citizens, a gene and most worthy man. He was known for his distinct individuality, quaint speech and perfect integrity. In the community where he lived he was a man of force and influence. For many years he was a Director of the schools in his district, and once was a Representative in the Legislature from Mulinomah naught, Sir James Reid and the royal la-dies. The latter having retired, Sir James, with reverent hands, assisted by the house servants and the King, Em-peror and the Duke, removed the body from the bed to the coffin.

In death it was loveller than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the rayages of disease were visible. The ser-vents having retired, Queen Alexandra, the Princess and the children were recalled, and with lingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before the white-robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the King.

dining-room. Officers and men from the Princess Beatrice was pitiful. After the benediction each placed a wreath upon the coffin, and then all retired. The correspondent of the Associated Press is informed that the will has not been opened, and that, according to present arrangements, it will not be opened until after the funeral, its details being unknown to the royal family. There is no truth in the statement that King Ed-ward and emperor William knelt by the bedside of the Queen and swore to pre-serve peace. A significant feature of all the deathbed scenes has been their abso-lute naturalness, and the absence of false or dramatic elements. According to a rumor circulating at Osberne, King Edward desires himself to be styled "His Imperial Majosty," in or-der to emphasize the fact that he is Emeral service in the presence of the royal amily. Emperor William covered his isses Araminta and Jennie Johnson.

RESULT OF THE ELECTIONS

The President Transmits to the Senate the Report of the Taft Commission-its Acts and Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 35.-The President today transmitted to the Senate a report from the Secretary of War inclosing the report of the Taft Phillippine Commission. In his message of transmittal the President says the report includes not only the report of the commission, but its acts of legislation and other important informa-tion relating to the wants of the Philippines. Concluding, the President says:
"I earnestly recommend legislation under which the government of the islands may have authority to assist in their peaceful industrial development in the di-rections indicated by the Secretary of Secretary Root's letter of transmittal, dated January 24, addressed to the President, says;

"A personal letter received by me from Judge Taft, dated December 14, 1900, says: Since writing you, about 30,000 insurgents in llocos Norte have surrendered and 16,000 persons who were not well affected towards us in Pansy have taken the oath of allegiance. I have already received two papers from native priests, 18 in number, and I am told that there will be a great many more papers signed by a great many more native priests, ten-dering their allegiance to the United States and promising fidelity without mental reserve. The mative priests are those who have held out longest in favor of the insurgents, and against the Amer-icans, and I deem this action as of great mportance. The Army is hitting small but hard knocks against the insurgents everywhere. Since the election there has been a great falling off in the activity of the insurgents in aggressiveness.

The system has greatly reduced the percentage of disability from this cause. It is purely an Army police measure, outside our jurisdiction; a military necessity. The result is better than futile attempts at total suppression in an Oriental city of 300,000, producing a greater evil. Prostitutes known are not permitted to land. A number were deported. The general moral condition of the city is greatly maligned. Measures of violence are now comparatively few. Gambling has greatly decreased. Native vino shops in Manila in August, 1888, numbered 400, and are now reduced to 400. American saloons, including hotels and restaurants, were reduced from 236 in February, 1900, to 8 now. Americanizing the Islands. The report itself is a very voluminous production, divided into many heads, exhibiting the progress made by the commission in carrying out its plans for the Americanization of the islands. A particularly interesting section of the report, introducing the whole Philippine question, deals with military and political conditions, the effect of the American elections and legislative procedure and acts. The commission says that examinations of many witnesses as to the form of gov-ernment best adapted to these islands and satisfactory to the people show "that the masses of the people are ignorant, credu-lous and childlishe, and that under any government the electoral franchise must be much limited, because the large majority will not, for a long time, be ca-pable of intelligently exercising it. "From all the information we can get, "From all the information we can get, it seems clear that a great majority of the people long for peace and are entirely willing to accept the establishment of a government under the supremacy of the United States. They are, however, restrained by fear from taking any action to assist the suppression of the insurrection. Any one suspected of giving information to the Americans concerning the insurgents is immediately marked for assassination. The randifications of the conspiracy are so vice that it also effected the terrorism of an entire people. It is a Maña on a very large scale."

Chief of Police Instructed to Suppress Gambling.

ORDER TAKES EFFECT TONIGHT

Slot Machine Banished With the Faro-Box and Roulette Wheel-Knights of the Green Cloth Surprised.

Gambling of all kinds will be stopped in Portland after toolight. The official an-nouncement was made last night by Chief of Police McLauchian, who said:

"I have been instructed by the Police Commissioners to issue an order that gam-bling of all sorts must be suppressed in the city after Saturday, January 25. They who persist in gambling after that date will be arrested, and brought into court. Policemen will be sent to the gambling houses tomorrow to say that gambling must stop,"

There was little short of consternation among the gambling-house proprietors when it became rumored that tonight would see the last of open gambling, and all other gambling as well. One Burn-side-street boss voiced the sentiment of his associates when he said:

"This order to close has nearly taken the breath from me. It is a surprise. The usual monthly fine was paid January 1. and we expected that the money would give us the right to do business until January 2L. The Police Commissioners have not treated us fairly, and have not allowed us to get our money's worth. Still, I'll close up gambling Saturday night and obey the law, because I have to.

The police say that the order issued means that fantan, nickle-in-the-slot ma-chines, card-cigar machines and every gambling device in Portland must cease business tonight when the clock strikes 12. At that hour policemen will be sent out to see that gambling has ceased, as far as they can reasonably see.

Five hundred professional gamblers, earding $10,000 per week, will lose their po-sitions, and will probably move to San

Rev. J. E. Snyder, one of the members of the ministers' committee against gam-bling, estimates that gambling has de-creased about 15 per cent since the agita-tion by his committee began. Mr. Snyder arrives at this conclusion from reports made to him by his workers, who have recently visited gambling resorts and who have noticed a drop of about 16 ser cent in attendance at the tables. One keno operator explained the position yesterday as follows: "I have been playing keno, roulette and rease some playing keno, roulette and poker since gambling became open last July, but since the crusade started I have stopped playing. One never could tell what the police might do, and they might have raided the very place where I was playing and arrested me. I did not take chances, and there are many other players who feel the same as I do."

In one of the large Burnalds street came.

In one of the large Burnside-street cambling-houses, last night, a proprietor point-ed to the slim crowd around the tables and said: "Yes; trade is quiet. Either the boys are 'broke,' or the ministers have scared them away."

"How much money do you suppose, on an average, these customers of yours was asked. "The crowd is poor, and if a man has only a nickel to spend over the bar, how much can be piace on the faro-table? In my opinion, the North End crowd is broke, and if we did not get the miners and loggers, we could not do business."

The proprietors of cigar stores were bitter against the ministers, yesterday and said that the agitation started against the use of card machines would send a few cigur dealers out of the busi-ness. One dealer argued that a card ma-····· any share in the fortification of Ching Wan Tao, claiming that it merely guards chine, although a gambling device, is necessary to sell cigars in these days of fierce competition, but other dealers said they had sold cigars before, without the the mines and other property belonging to the English, and that it is England's aid of a card machine, and could do so again. "Will the reputed owners of sale and gambling-houses lose much, in the way of bar fixtures, fare tables, etc., now that the police has given the order to close?" was asked of a prominent worker in the gambling crusade, last night.

Germany has put the screws on Eng-land, with the result that the negotiations have retrograded to where they were "The men whom we know openly as the proprietors of most of the city gam-bling-houses will not lose much." was the reply. "The men presiding over the gam-Tung Fu Slang, whose head is asked for, possesses, as the Ministers well know, at this moment more real power and controls more troops than bling-houses are simply employes on a salary and getting a percentage of the any other man in China. Mr. Snyder said he thought that the people misin-terpreted the motives of the city officials when they adopted the system of open gambling. "It was adopted only as an expedient," he said. "Now that the police are taking steps to suppress gam-bling, it should be the duty of every citt-zen to co-operate with them. Now that the order to close gambling has been given, if a citizen finds out that any one keeps a gambling-house or gambles, such information should be at once given to the police, so that the offender may
