FRIENDS ARE REMAINING LOYAL

He Points Out That Members of th Multnomah Delegation on Their Declared Platform, Have Freedom of Choice.

Ex-Senator Corbett was asked at his residence last evening what he thought of the situation at Salem, in regard to his candidacy for the United States Senate, and he replied that he felt more con ate, and he replied that he reit more con-fident of his success than at any time since the Legislature met. "My friends are standing by me loyally," he said, "and members from Southern Oregon, Eastern Oregon, as well as those from Marion, Polk, Tambill and other counties, have shown their determination to remain steadfast to the end. How about Clackamas County? Joint Representative Dres-ser, of Ciackamas and Mustnomah Counties, was known as a Corbett man prior to the June election last Summer, when he called upon me, and he promised at that time to give me his loyal support in case he was nominated and elected, and I consider his word to be relied upon. Senstor Brownell voluntarily wrote to a personal friend of mine prior to the June o, pledging his carnest support in was a candidate for the United Senator Porter has signified his intention of giving his loyal support to Mr. McBride for a proper length of time, after which, in case of no election. he feels at liberty to vote for another, and will likely join the majority."

"Do you propose to stand firmly as a candidate to the end?"

"I do, most emphatically. Two years go, when I was a candidate and knew that a majority of the caucus was in my Cavor, I withdrew, after five days, of balloting, in the interest of harmony, although some of my friends felt sure I sould have been elected if I had not with drawn. They will put in 800 panes of glass 18 inches wide by eight feet long, to complete the light of the building. Owing to the arre order, there has been delay in filling it, but as the glass has started to come, it is expected that work will proceed right it is expected that work will proceed right along. Other portions of the building have been held back on account of the roof not being inclosed, but the inside may now be completed. Contractor Bridges was on hand yesterday, and hopes to put a force at work laying the flor at once, and get the building completed is soon as possible. Pipes for steameating have been laid, so the floor may a put down. Some of the new machin-ty which will be used in the structure has been on hand for some time, and will shortly be placed on the concrete foundations prepared for it. This building, with will cost between $75,000 and $80,000. It is not yet known which of the other buildings of the series will be put up this year, and it is understood that this will depend on the decision of Presi-dent Hays, who is expected to visit this division of the Southern Pacific system this Spring. It is thought the blacksmith d boller shop, which will stand west the machine shops, will be next built, will be 122x163. Plans are prepared for 16 buildings. The grounds are all graded and tracks laid, so work can proceed on the other buildings whenever the order

Preparing for the Boating Season. The Oregon Yacht Club, whose unique boathouse is moored near the east end of Madison bridge, is making preparations for an early and active boating season, and many new and handsome yachts will be seen on the river this year. Last year's craft are drawn well out upon the beach, undergoing repairs and receiving new fittings. The greatest interest centers in the new yachte known to be under construction, as the builders are proceeding with the work as quietly as possible and keeping the details of their craft under cover. Charence Jones, who built the Lark, which was so speedy last year, has a yacht building that will be up-to-date and sphedy. Told & Dodge are putting up an elegant yacht on East Washington street that will cut through the water with great speed. Seth Catlin, Lu Woodward and Bud Austin have a fine yacht under construction that will be a hummer, as well as a beauty. They know how to put up a fine craft. Mr. Johanseu will have a yacht on an Australian plan. John Wolff has the model for a handsome craft. Mr. Wolff built the Swallow and the Helen, which were famos in the past. Wilson Brothers also are building a yacht for the coming season. All these yachts will be larger and better built than any that have yet sailed on the Willamette River, and the club will have a fleet of boats that its embers may justly be proud of. Work progressing satisfactorily on the boat-time of the club, the steamer Queen be-g used for this purpose. Most of the work has been done by the members, with some outside help. There will be lockers on the lower decks, and apartments for every purpose required in an up-to-date clubbouse. #### AUDIENCE WAS DISMISSED.

Concert of Schramm Children Ended Unfortunately.

Before the programme at the concert given at the Marquam last night by Palo-ma and Karia Schramm was half com-pleted, the father of the children appeared before the footlights and announced that he was dissatisfied with the treatment he had received at the hands of the manhad received at the hands of the management of the theater, and would not allow the concert to proceed till he had received a statement of the night's re-ceipts. A few minutes later, the assistant ceipts. A few minutes later, the desistant manager of the theater, W. B. Pangle, who had been called by the treasurer at the commencement of Schramm's address, appeared and dismissed the audience, informing them that their money would be refunded at the box-office. In the lobby Schramm made further remarks to the people as they were passing out, alleging that he had not been fairly used by the theater, and that he thought he was not going to receive all the money he was entitled to.

The trouble appeared to be that there was not enough money in the house to suit Schramm, who is under contract with H. W. Laugenour to have his children give concerts for a certain percentage of the receipts. All the contracts with the theater, and all of the advertising and other contracts were made by Laugenour, and it was to him, and not to Schramm that the theater was response. Schramm, that the theater was responsible. Laugenour said last night that he was sure the theater had used him with perfect fairness, and was so firm in his belief that Schramm had acted unwisely that he decided to sever all connection with him. "My contract with Schramm," said Laugenour, "provided that he was to give the concerts, or rather have his children give them, for a certain percent-age of the receipts, the amount of which is not material. I have carried out my part of the contract, and the theater has used me squarely. There was not enough money in the house to give Schramm a handsome profit, but that was not the fault of the theater, and, anyway, his grievance, if glievance he had, concerned me, and not the theater management. He had no business to expect a statement from them, or to quarrel with them. He eemed, however, to be convinced that a empiracy to cheat him existed some-here, and demanded a statement from where, and demanded the evening. course, it was impossible to give it to him then, for it takes some time to count up, and, angered at not receiving comething to which he had no right whatever, he insuited the audience. As soon as I learned what he had done, I informed him that my contract with him was at an end, and henceforth he can get along Assistant Manager Pangle, in speaking

f the affair said;
"I was called into the theater by the information that Mr. Schramm was holding the performance, which he did in the in-termission, and finding that he had made nly thing left for me to do was to dishave treated Mr. Schramm as we would any other man, fairly and honorably, and any charges he had to make, it is need-less to say, were uncalled for. We made no contract with Mr. Schramm himself, conducting all business through Mr. Laugenour, his manager, who is perfect-ity satisfied that we have acted as much in his interests as in ours. It was unfortunate that the business was not larger, but even had there been only 10 people in the house, Mr. Schramm would have had no right to address them."

The Schramm children, Paloma and Karla, have been under the management Karia, have been under the management of Laugenour since November, and have done a good business up to last night, their engagement in Portland, which, for some reason, has been unsuccessful. The home of the Schramms is in Los Angeles. The numbers that were given were greatly enjoyed. The audience enthusiasm what it lacked in number The bearfiest sort of greeting was given the two talented little artists. The last of these was rendered with delightful delicacy and grace, that could not fall to charm all Chopin admirers. Karla received quite an ovation for her playing of the Field Nocturne and Durand Concert Valse. In response to the encore she gave the Chopin Value, op. 64, No. 1. They Allege That His Profits From the Astoria Railroad Amount to $1,000,000,

George Whitney Moore and George William Moore, of Detroit, Mich., have sued A. B. Hammond, of Portland; John C. Stanton, of New York, and The Astoria Company, of New Jersey, in the United States Circuit Court, for the profits arising from bonus and subsidy procured for the construction of the Astoria Railroad. They allege that in April, 1894, Stanton entered into a parole agreement with themselves and James T. Campbell, to secure a right of way and certain bonuses and subsidies for the construction of a railroad from Goble to Astoria. One-third of the profits were to go to Stanton, one-third to Campbell, and one-third to the Moores. In November, 1894, Stanton entered into a right of way contract with Hammond, E. L. Bon-ner and H. I. Kimball, in which he recognized the rights of the plaintiffs. The Moores allege that Hammond and Bon

Because one or more members of the Multnomah delegation to the Legislature, elected on the Citizens ticket, are voting for Mr. Corbett for Senator, they have been charged with unfaithfulness to pledges. Now the fact is that all the candidates on the Citizens ticket was specifically unpledged as to United States Senator, in these words:

We accept the nominations tendered us upon the "Citizens Ticket" without having expressed or having been asked our pref erence for any candidate for the United States Senate. We most solemnly avow that we are entirely unpledged for any candidate for that important position, and we each promise that we will, if elected, exercise our best judgment as to whom we will support; and, being uninfluenced by any selfish consideration, will, when the time comes, vote for such person as in our individual opinions is best fitted to represent the interests of the State of Oregon in the Senate of the United States.

How the General Appropriation Bill Was Manipulated in the

ISLATURE OF 1895.

The Salem Capital Journal thus describes the methods by which Senator McBride secured his election in 1895: The Oregon Senatorship should not be secured again by making the appropriation bill as it was done in 1896. danger that stares this Legislature in the face is that the committees of the two Houses of this Legislature that make the appropriations will be controlled and organized in the interest of Mr. McBride's second term. That was done in the Legis-lature of 1896, when Mr. McBride made himself Senator. I. L. Patterson, of Marion, was chairman of the committee in the Senate. Joseph A. Wright was chairman of the same committee in the Houseways and means. The editor of the Journal was on the House committee and so were other gentlemen now in the city who can correct this account if it varies in any particular from the facts.

The Republican state convention had revolted at the MoBride regime as Secre-tary of State and had ordered a new deal. A state platform for economy and reform had been adopted by the Republican state convention and nearly all the county con-ventions. If ever there was a time when a Legislature should have been left alone to do the best work it was capable of, it was the session that opened when Mr. McBride ended his long term as Secretary of State. Claiming to be very ill he re-mained in his rooms at the State House, and Senator Patterson and Mr. Wright, of the House, threw their two committees into one and notified the joint committee that they would have a draft of the apday submit it to the committee for its consideration. This was done and when the joint appropriations committee of that Legislature met near the close of the ses-sion, and for the first time saw the bill, Mr. McBride, then a private citizen, appeared with it to explain its provisions. He had made every line of it while in the retirement of his ostensible sick chamber. and to say that his friends and political lleutenants were provided for, is not draw-ing it too strong.

But to go on with the history of the appropriation bill of 1895, that helped make McBride Senator. At its first meeting the committee stood six to four for cutting all the padding out of the bill. A number of jobs were stricken out of it, when, to the surprise of the uninitiated, the committee adjourned. When next it met it stood six to four for the bill as McBride had drawn it, and so it went without further material amendment to the House, where, under the Constitution, all appropriation bills should originate, but where this one did not originate, for it originated with Mr. McBride. In the House the reform elements struck out many of the most obnoxious items, but in the Senate, of that session, which was not a reform body, they were mostly re-stored, and Mr. McBride's bill went through pretty nearly as it passed, and the conference put the finishing touches on the measure in the closing hours of the session, in the last quarter of an hour of which session McBride had his name sprung for United States Senator by Rep-resentative Cleaton, and was elected, be-cause like the builfrog in the comic song,

'there wasn't nothing else to do. The Journal warns this Legislature to keep a sharp lookout that Mr. McBride does not get to make the appropriation bill at this session. If his supporters can get control of making up the appropri-ations their friends will not suffer. No one believes they would buy votes in so bold and public a manner, but judicious appropriations for different sections of the state will not be an obstacle to Mc-Bride's success if he is given the opportunity through his supporters of making those appropriations. We do not say other aspirants might not be tempted to do the same thing, but Mr. McBride has a record on this matter, and the members of this Legislature are cautioned to see if the same kind of work will not be undertaken again in making the appropri-

The best proof that McBride made that appropriation bill is found in the fact that in the immediate future, and before he went to take his seat in Washington to succeed Dolph, Mr. McBride was presented by Senator Patterson and Representative Wright with a $150 gold medal for his services in making the ap-propriation bill of 1895, a labor which they could not entrust to a Legislature elected upon a reform platform at a time when the Republican party of Oregon sup-posed it had rid itself forever of the extravagant methods and rutnous policies of the McBride regime. This is what will be attempted again at this present proprintions within their own organiza-

built the first cabin, who laid the foundation of this thriving prosperous com-munity, was among the living but a few short weeks ago. The news came from Portland, On., that Samuel S. White passed away in that city on the 8th day of the month.

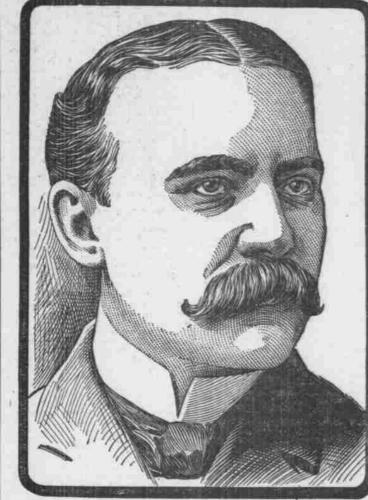

"A number of our older residents, notably

Or. Salter and Mrs. Nancy Hilleary, re-member Mr. White, who was familiarly known as Simpson White. He was one of three brothers-in-law who came to what now is Burlington in the Fall of 182-the thers were Amzi Doolittle and Milton McCarver. They built the first cabins at the mouth of Hawkeye Creek, the White cabin being on the south side, near where the big Burlington elevator now stands. The original settlers were squatters on Indian lands, and were driven off by United States troops, but returned later to be left in undisturbed possession. The country at that time was a beautiful wilder ness. The hills were covered with spien-did forests, abounding with game. It was a veritable hunter's paradise. The early settlers killed a bear a few days after their arrival near where the City Hall now stands. It is difficult for the younger generation even to imagine the site of the original settlements, or to site of the original settlements, or to form a proper conception of the hard-ships, trials and privations of the early settlers, who should be held in grateful remembrance. It would be eminently proper if the necessary steps were taken to secure a picture of the founder of Bur-lington for our gollery-of local history in the new L-brary building."

Just how Paine's Celery Compound was first brought to his attention he does not emember, but it has done so much for his realth that it has no more enthusiastic advocate in the City of Chicago. He gives full credit to Paine's Celery Compound for the great improvement in his health

"Senate Chamber, General Assembly, Springfield, Ill., Feb. 25, 1900. "Gentlemen: It is with sincere pleasure that I furnish this testimonial to the superior merits of Palne's Celery Com-pound. I have found it an efficacious and agreeable remedy for various complaints which refused to yield to other forms of treatment, and I can cheerfully mend it. EDWARD M. DWYER.

Senator Dwyer has held many positions of trust, both in the city and state. Elected Southwest Town Clerk, before he had concluded his term, Mayor Washburne ap-pointed him Superintendent of the City water office. Later he became West Town Assessor, and in 1894 was elected if Paine's Celery Compound is used

Winter's session. Dwyer has Semutor

Paine's Celery Compound to many of his friends, and has yet to hear anything but the most favorable results from any one Busy men and women threatened with failure of nerve force and showing the effect of too prolonged, too hard, or too anxious work by periods of languor, depression, nervousness, dyspepsia, or other signs of nerve exhaustion, will find Palne's Celery Compound an invigorator as superior to all other remedies as modern scientific methods are superior to old-fashioned, inaccurate ones.

When Paine's Celery Compound is used,

other members of the family are quick to see the great gain in health. Paine's Celery Compound is the one known nerve feeder and nerve restorative. By its means all the functions of the body receive a fresh supply of nerve food. It encourages the body to produce an abundant supply of this indispensable vital force without which there can be no health, strength, nor happiness in living. From the lack of nerve force men and women are driven to despondency, melancholy, the third and suicide.

There will be no neuralgia, no persistent headaches, no dyspepsia, no haunting pain over the eyes, no nervous exhaustion,

Dr. Wise Tells of Movement to Aid Russian and Roumanian Jews.

Rev. Stephen S. Wise, at the meeting of the Council of Jewish Women, last night, told of the plan of the Zionists to send as large a number as possible of the persecuted Russian and Roumanian Jews to Palestine. Dr. Wise declared that the condition of the Jews in Russia and Roumania is no better than it was 30 years ago. They are persecuted as before, and the Jewish position in Russia is as unendurable as ever it was. Form erly they were driven out, but today the government does not drive them out but into a living grave. It was wonderful, he said, what the Jews in those countrie have suffered, but there was a limit to their endurance. Dr. Wise referred to Disraell, who thought he had guaranteed the liberty of the Jews in Roumanis, and that they would be treated as well as Christians, and said, but Roumania, that miserable little principality, has dared to treat the Jews as if they were vermin. Think of men not being allowed to work at the trade of carpenter, or tinsmith, or to follow a profession such as a lawyer. Not I per cent of the Jews of Roumania receive any education whatever, yet they pay the same tax as everybody elae."

Speaking of the scheme of the Zionists, he said they proposed to take as large a and from other European lands to Pales tine, and make it practicable by treatle and otherwise for them to make for themselves, obtain farms, and build factories. They would feel contented in Palestine, and could work with spirit. The Roumanian and Russian Jews believed in it, and wanted it, and half th battle was won. The Zionists had founded a bank with more than $1,000,000 capital. The 25 successful Palestine since 1882 was commented upon. A very appropriate opening address was made by Mrs. Alexander Bernstein, the president of the council, who presided over the meeting. Vocal selections were and Mr. Hodson, Mrs. Simon Harris acting as accompanist.

USE OF MILITIA.

May Form Part of Coast Defense System

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 .- A special to the Tribune from Washington says: Secretary Root goes to Brooklyn on Wednesday night to review the Thirteenth Regiment of New York Heavy Artillery National Guard of New York, is National Guard of New York in the armory of that organization. The chief object of the visit of the Secretary of War to the Thirteenth Regiment, however, is to secure the support of that organization for a plan be has almost perfected to here. he has almost perfected to have the reg-lment form a part of the coast defense system of New York, in such exigencies ways to the other railroad points. On heavy seacoust ordnance, and to this end account of these advantages a petition is he would have selected National Guardsservice, provided by the new army bill, the force will even then be barely large enough to take care of the great weapons on a peace footing, and without some such plan as is now proposed foreign compil-cations might well cause panics in the great American ports. It is the secretary's belief that such an artillery organization as the Thirteenth can make itself of inestimable value to the metropolis and to the Nation if it can prepare itself to become an efficient auxiliary on short notice. Other branche whipped into shape, but artillerymen cannot be hastily improvised. Strategists Spain possessed a Navy large enough to draw off the American fleet some of the great cities of the United States would have been dependent almost wholly on the doubtful efficiency of the mine fields in the absence of sufficient skilled men familiar with modern high-powered rifles.

CARRIED TOO FAR.

The Fear of Being Deceived or Humbugged Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in nost cases so obstinate to cure, that per ple are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical perma-nent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such people pride themselves on neir acuteness in never being humbugged, specially in medicines. This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak diges-tion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made for a remedy so reliable and uni-

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary patent medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine; no secret is made of the ingred-ients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure tain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin (government test), Golden Seal and diastase. They are not eathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any particular organ, but they cure indigestion on the common-sense plan of digesting the food eaten, thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischlef. This is the only secret of their muccess.

Cathartic pills never have and n wer can curs indigestion and stomach trobecause they act only on the howels, whereas the whole trouble is in the stom-
