TO BUY INDIAN LANDS

KLAMATH TRIBE'S TERRITORY THE SUBJECT OF A BILL.

Representative Tongue Fathered Measure-Why He Thinks Government Should Make Deal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. M.-The following is the text of the bill introduced by Representative Tongue, providing for the payment to the Klamath Indians of the sum recommended by Special Agent McConneil, for the lands arroneously exluded from their reservation:

of which amount the sum of $250,000 shall be placed to the credit of the Indians of the Klamath agency, in the State of Oregon, in the Treasury of the United States, and shall bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. The Inmainder of said sum of $557,007 20, after the payment of the legal fees of attorneys having duly approved contracts, together with the interest on said sum of $250,000 shall be paid to said indians or expended for their benefit as provided. or expended for their benefit as provided in srileic three of said agreement; pro-vided, that the Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion, expend for the benefit of said Indians, including reas-onable cash payments per capita, not to onable cash payments per capita, not to exceed 10 per cent per annum of the prin-cipal fund, upon a majority of the male adult Indians of said Klamath agency petitioning for the same through the Com-missioner of Indian Affairs.

Provided, that nothing hereinafter con-tained shall be held to in any way mil-itate against the indemnity school land selections made by the State of Oregon on the basis of sections 16 and 36, within the boundary of the Klamath Indian reservation as erroneously fixed in 1871 on the boundary agreed upon in the treaty with the Indians of 1864, but by which indemnity selections made by the state in lieu of lands within such boundaries shall be passed to approval in the daries shall be passed to approval in the usual way.

In explaining his purpose in introducing this bill and the necessity for its passage. Mr. Tongue said:

"Although the suggestion has been made that the lands involved, numbering in all some $21,800 acres, should be given back to the indians, instead of paying them the sum provided by this bill, the fact of the case is that there is no question of giving back the lands. is no question of giving back the lands. The land belongs to the Indians now. It belongs to the entire Indians upon the reservation, They have no use for it. All the lands that they can use have been allotted to them. If these lands remain in their present condition, they are of no use to the Indians; they cannot be settled by white people; they would not be improved; they could not be taxed; they would be in the nature of 'no man's land,' useless alike to the Indians and

In the end these lands must be ac-'In the end these lands must be acquired by the Government, and opened up to settlement. This can be done now better than at any other time. The Department of the Interior, in pursuance of laws hereiofore enacted, have negofisted with the Indians for the purchase of these lands. The agreement has been signed. The Government had the entire tracturefully supressed and confolia and curefully surveyed and carefully appraised. If the purchase is completed, it can be opened up for settlement under the land laws of the United States. will uproved, homes will be located upon It and it will contribute taxation for the support of schools and public expenses. "If this should not be done, there are many settlers who have occupied these lands under the belief that they were Government iands. They would have to be removed, and lose their homes. The Government would probably pay them for their improvements, but that would be small recompense. If not now, in the end we must do just as we are doing with the land on the Grand Ronde reservation and other indian reservations authorize the Government to buy it. The state gave up its right to the 16th and 36th acctions upon this land, has selected lands in lieu thereof, and in many instances sold them to purchasers in good faith. I have added a section providing that nothing in this act shall jeopardize the title of the State of Oregon to any of the lieu land selected in place of those lands surrendered by the state within this reservation If this provision becomes a law, the state will of course have no further interest in the land covered by this bill."

This bill is heartily indorsed by the dapartment, but unless it is made a pro-vision in the general Indian bill, it will stand little chance of passing at this session, because of the appropriation it good name in the East, judging from the constant arrival of prominent lumbermen lany of these men have become permamany of these men have become perma-ment citizens of the city within the past two years, and they have found the sur-roundings congental and the climate an hear perfection that they have induced their friends to come on. They all admit that timber land is very low now, com-pared to what it will be in a few years, and quite a number of them have backed up their quision by making hear ever up their opinion by making heavy pur-chases where the lands lie adjacent to streams. As a result, most of the tim-ber lands along the tributaries of the Lower Columbia have passed from the ands of the original settlers, and th 1000 feet stumpage, and now as high as It is asked by the sellers. The time is about passed, therefore, when "snaps" can be found along the convenient

Among the recept arrivals of prominent imber men is Judge J. W. Cochran, of ashland, Wis., who is registered at the Portland. He has been largely interested and already has title to quite a tract of Oregon timber lands, as he was out here about a year ago and made purchases. He said yestarday that the time is com-ing when cheap timber lands will be among the things of the past in Oregon, although there is considerable yet to be and, at very low figures. In the more rebegon timber stands well as material for pullding sailing ships, notwithstanding the large number of Iron vessels which have been aunched of late years. "I was n San Francisco last week when one of hese vessels, the Tacoma, landed from overpool," the Judge sald, "and I took special pains to find out how she stood the voyage. Her cargo of general mer-chandfar was discharged in first-class con-sition, sithough the captain of the ves-sel averred that she had been under waor most of the time, on account of rough

The Judge thinks that the price of Oregon timber lands will be strengthened further by the passage of the Mearagua Canal bill, even though it should take 19 years to build the canal. "Once let it be understood," he said, "that we can take a cargo of lumber to New York City from Portland is 20 days, and the demand for the product will be increased immensely. I think however, that the transcenti-nental railroads will find it to their in-terest to take fumber East at much smaller rates than at present, and this concession will immediately extend the demand for Oregon fir, as it is needed throughout the Rast, but the high freights render it too costly."

Gilbert Hesford, who was paroled from the pentitentiary on October 28, 1883, and went to visit his parents at Castie Rock, was arrested at Scuttle for violating the parole rules of the pentitentiary. Hestard was sent up from Castle Rock for 15 years for murder in the second degree. His time would have been up on October 20 last,
