STILL MANY MEMBERS LEAVE

Vote for Senator Today Is Not Like ly-Situation Remains Unchanged -Mitchell Talk Has Been

BALEM, Or., Feb. 1.-The Legislature today declined to adjourn till Monday, but the prospects of a session or a joint convention tomorrow are not particularly bright. Many members left town today for their usumi over-Sunday hotiday, and it is quite probable that there will be no quorum in the Senate tomorrow, and peraps none in the House. President Ful ton says that if there is no Senate quor-tum there will be no joint convention, for the simple reason that it will be unable, hs a Senute, to unite with the House under the provisions of the Federal stat-tic, for the purpose of naming a Senator. There will be no disposition on the part of members present to act contrary to the decision of the president, because nothe decision of the president, because no-body seems to want to take snap judg-ment on anybody else. It is interesting to recall, however, that four years since the Senate refused to go in joint conven-tion with the Benson House, but it was then contended that if sufficient Senators joined erough Representatives to make a majority of the entire Legislature and proceeded to name a Senator, there would be no question as to the title of the suc-cessful candidate—he would be seated by the United States Senate.

Some idle speculation was indulged in tonight as to the possibility of enough Republicans joining with the Democrats to make the necessary 46. In that event it might be possible to eject William Smith to the Senate, insumuch as there are 27 Democrats. But the Democrats do not think it worth while to try such a long chance for their candidate, as many of them are already gone from Salem.
The Senatorial situation remains un-changed. The Mitcheli talk has been re-mewed, and many think it is a question only of a short time when he bed arowed candidate. It is known that Mr. Mitchell himself has been sounding cer-tain members as to their feelings toward tain members as to their recuise.

HARD BLOW AT CIGARETTES. Bill Which Would Almost Prohibit

Their Sale-Principal Provisions. SALEM, Feb. 1.-A sweeping bill aimed at the traffic in eightestes has been in-troduced by Senator Sweek. While it is estensibly a license measure, its terms are no severe as to be practically prohibitive. The interstate commerce law and its in-terpretation by the Supreme Court are in the way of a strict exclusion measure, but the Sweek bill, it is said, will stand mny legal test. Senator Sweek has takes the anti-cigarette movement in behalf a number of good women in Portland, and has promised to use his utmost en deavers to get it through. And the chances are, he thinks, very good that he OPPOSED BY GOVERNOR GEER.

Proposed Purchase of Executive

Mansion-His Reasons. SALEM, Feb. 1.—Governor Geer does not approve of the preposal by some of the members of the Legislature to purchase an Executive mansfer. In discussion ing the matter today he said: "I am too poor a man to accept a favor at the hands of the state. new living very sconomically, very com-fertably and very happily in a house the rent for which amounts to $35 per month.

I think I am getting along quite as well

"Even now I find it quite expensive.
Every movement for a contribution toward a charitable purpose makes a diroct appeal for an Executive offering to head the list and I find I quite as diffibend the list and I find it quite as diffi-cult to refuse outright as it is to deny a pardon to a hardened criminal when importuned for one by some loyal and destitute wife or sorrowing mother. So, while I feel grateful to those who have proposed this movement, my opinion is that, since the aggregate appropriations are likely to be larger than they should, anyway, this proposition to purchase a house for the Governor should be deferred until such time as the state can afford to furnish and maintain as well as to pur chase such a house, or until some future Executive occupies the chair whose pri-vate means will be sufficient to justify the acceptance of such a burden.

DISTRICT ATTORNEYS' SALARIES.

William S. Eden vs. the Pesple of the State of Illinois. The plaintiff in error was convicted for violation of an act promititing barber shops being kept open on Sunday, and fined $25. The judgment of the lower court was reversed. The decision is found in the Illinois Report, ISL given by Judge Gibbons, which holds that the Legislature cannot single out one class of isber harmless in itself and condemn that, and that alone. By so doing demn that, and that alone. By so doing it transcends its legitimate powers and its action cannot be sustained. The judgment of the lower court was gustained.

Commerce Committee 50 Decides, After Careful Inquiry-Measure Savors Much of a Graft.

SALEM, Feb. 1.-The House committee SALEM, Feb. L.—The House committee on commerce has decided to report the Orten compulsory pilotage bill without recommendation. It looked for awhile as if a majority of the committee would make a favorable report, but more careful laquiry into the merits of the measure finally led to a decision to leave it all to the House. Representative Pourman, a member of the committee, has taken the trouble to inform himself as to the workings of compulsory pilotage on the Columbia River, and he will oppose It on the lower floor. Such strong mem-bers as McCraken of Multnomah, Story of Multnomah, Eddy of Tillamook and Har-ris of Lane are convinced that the pilote' purpose is to impose a tax on commerce for their own benefit, and nobody else's, and that ultimately the producer must foot the bill. He came to Oregon in 1851 from Madison, Ind., where he was born and raised. He made the trip across the plains with an ox team, in company with 22 wagons. Six months were given to the journey, the party arriving at Oragon City September 24. The first two years Mr. Crawford resided in Yamhili and Washington Counties. In May, 1853, he moved to Linn County, where he worked as a milliwright, and built and operated the Boston mill. A few years later he settled where the town of Crawfordsville now stands. After the death of his wife, in 1880, Mr. Crawford moved to Eugene, where he had since resided with his sun, E. J. Crawford. He left six surviving children—H. P. Crawford, of Lapwei, Idaho: J. V. ASTORIA, Or., Fab. 1:-Lobeck & Barry, ASTORIA, Or., Eth. 1.—Lobeck & Barry, who are constructing a water system for Seaside and the property adjacent to it, expect to have their plant in operation before May 1. The City of Seaside is amending its charter so as to give them a franchise, and the County Court will grant them the right to lay pipes across the county bridge ever the Necanicum. The source of water supply is in the hills about two miles east of Seaside, which has been secured, as well as the site for the reservoir and the right of way for the piping. The supply of pure mountain water is estimated at seven miners' linches, which is much more than necessary at present, and it can be doubled at very little expense. The cost of construction of the plant will not be great, so the service will be a relatively cheap one for the consumers.

PROGRESS ON CHARTER

PORTLAND'S NEW INSTRUMENT BE-ING SLOWLY MADE UP.

Street Improvements One of Newest Obstacles-Principal Features of the Proposed Measure.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 1.-Progress on the Portland charter is slow. The Multnomah delegation, which has been anxiously pressing its consideration; has been much iterfered with by the necessity of discusting other matters quite as near to the plans of the members. For example, the various schemes of making trouble for Sheriff Fragier, reforming the County Sherin Frazier, reforming the County Board of Commissioners to suit their own political ideas, reducing the phat on Coro-ner Rand's "good thing," and the like, have all taken time; and the Port of Portland bill has also created a deal of discussion. But withal the delegation is hot after a new charter, and is as rest-lve under the delay as the Portland pubile, which naturally has some concern about its provisions and would like to know what they are. It transpires that the newest interruption to progress has occurred on the clauses as to street re-pairs and maintenance. It had been sup-posed at one time that this was all settied, and that the charge of maintenance during the reasonable life of the street would be imposed against the municipal-ity as a whole. It has been found, however, that the change from the present system is so radical that all its details cannot be perfected with the case anticipated. The principle that the abutting property-owners shall improve the street and that the city shall thereafter dur-ing the life of the street care for it may, however, be regarded as established. It was expected that officers of the Tax-payers' League and other gentlemen who are working separately on the street improvement sections would have them here by Tuesday, but they seem to have been unable to get through their work.

An important feature of the new charter will be a grant of authority to the City Council to impose a tax on certain occupations, either for the purpose of raising revenue or for the purpose of regulation, or both. The objection of the courts to the recent vehicle ordinance will thus be fully met. It will be provided, too, that all franchises of street railway, electric light and telephone companies may be subject to taxation, if the Council so desires.

taxation, if the Council so desires.

As to commissions, the Board of Public Works will probably not be disturbed.

The Police and Fire Commissions will be consolidated, and the Chief of Police will not be a member. The Water Commission, it is said, will not be materially changed; but it is intimated that there should in its composition be a better equilibrium between the various import-surpose to railroad the charter through, says Chairman Mays, "it should be dis-pelled. We want the completed charter given the fullest publicity, just as the discussions over its various important provisions have already been made pub-lie. It is due to me and to the delega-tion to state that we are not inspired by any purpose to give to any political fac-tion any advantage over any other. We have a broader view than that. We want equal representation, and no more, in places where politics enter; and where they do not properly enter we want the city administration removed entirely from such influences. We have given the fullest nossible consideration to the recommendations of the Taxpayers' League, and have largely adopted them. What we want is a good charter, and a fair one: and when this Legislature adjourns, I think it will be found that we have so-

The members of the Legislature were not entirely agreed today on the question of adjournment until Monday. In the Senate this forenoon Senator Mays moved that when the Senate adjourn it adjourn to meet at 11:30 o'chock Monday. Pres-ident Fulton urged the eme reason for similar action in the Senate, except that similar action in the Senate, except that he included all committees, instead of the ways and means committee only. The principal committees in both houses have a large amount of work before them, and if the greater part of tomorrow should be occupied with committee meetings, much of the accumulation of, bills could be disposed of. Many of the leading members of both houses went home tonight, however, so that probably not much committee work will be done tomorrow.

Senate bill No. 8, by Wehrung, became a law by being filed in the office of the Secretary of State today without the Governor's signature. The purpose of the Governor's signature. The purpose of the bill is to give the state fair board control of fiquor selling on the fair grounds. Liquor has always been sold there, but one man has heretofore controlled the business, because he alone could secure the required number of signatures to a petition for a license. The present measure will desiroy this monopoly. The Governor's action in allowing the bill to become a law without his signature is understood to mean that, while he does not approve of the law, he desires to let the decision of the Legislature prevail.

The complaint has frequently been heard in Salem that at several of the state institutions homes are provided for persons who have no just cluim upon the state for support. Buch persons are more or less closely related to the officials of the multitudens. No objection is made to the maintenance by the state of the families of the superioredents of the various justitusuperintendents of the various limita-tions and of the familias of some of the subordinate officials, provided that the children in such families are minors. The chief complaint seems to be against the state supporting adults who have no connection with the state institutions, but who engage in civil occupations in the city. It is contended that an injustice is being done to those who engage in competitive occupations, by giving some per-in the Senate this morning by Smith of Baker. Kuykendall, of Lane, had intro-duced a concurrent resolution requesting "His Excellency, the Governor, to extend to the President an invitation on behalf of the state to visit Oregon during his contemplated visit to the Pacific Coast."

Senator Smith moved to strike out the words, "His Excellency," as not being properly applied to a Governor of Oregon, His contention was not that an Oregon Chief Executive is not worthy of the title, but that there is no authority for uning but that there is no authority for using it. He stated that, so far as he is informed, the Governor of Massachusetts is the only Executive who is properly addressed as "Itle Excelency." As the striking out of these words, for whatever reason, would look like a slap at the Governor, the Senate defeated the motion without laquiring into the merits of Swith's contention.

The fight on the bill to license gambling has become so flerce that the pre-moters have about decided to make it a local option measurs. Representative Kil-born today introduced a bill providing for the payment to informers of one-half of the payment to informers of one-half of the fines collected from gamblers, and in case no fine is collected but conviction secured, the informer is to receive $55 from the county. This bill is presented by a Democrat, and is said to have the support of many Fusionists, while Republicans will vote solid for R.

Weary and heavy-eyed from the worries and cares of the day, the head that seeks repose finds only nervous tossing and feverish unrest. Strange fancies, haunted by sudden fears, or vague forbodings cause the heart to throb and the breath to come hard and fast. Morning comes with its headache, nervous irritation, loss of appetite and low spirits. How gratefully welcome would be one night of gentle, restful, refreshing sleep-sleep that would soothe and strengthen the worn-out nervous tissues and replenish the wasted brain cells. There is a way to get just that kind of sleep. Will you find the way?

"I suffered from nervous prestration for a long time and finally got so bad that I could scarcely get a night's sleep in a fortnight. My limbs would twitch and jerk in a distressing manner, and I was exceedingly nervous at all times. Dr. Miles' Norvino was recommended and before the first bottle was half gone I could see that it helped me. When I had used two bottles I could sleep like a child all night." J. A.
