QUEEN WEDS TODAY

Marriage of Wilhelmina and Duke Henry at The Hague.

THE PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED

After the Civil Ceremony and Religious Services in the Forenoon. the Queen Will Hold Court at the Palace, Later Departing.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 6.-The wedding eve of Queen Wilhelmina and Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, shows a Winter carnival holding sway over The Hague. It is an ideal evening, clear and cold. Already 100,000 Hollanders, with many foreigners, have been added to the city's population, and trains from many parts of this ancient kingdom are bringing thousands more. People are marching about or in carriages, singing or playing the national authem: Wherever a band s heard, they take up the hymns, van Nassau" and "Wien Neer ands Blood." Everywhere are singing ocioties in uniforms and wearing medals, sober-looking Dutchmen, who chant sol-emnily, officials and prominent visitors. Groups of young men and women cos-tumed in white and orange and in other bright colors, are parading about, singing and making fun with the crowds as in the Marili Gras. The tricolored flags, of Holland and the House of Orange are everywhere displayed, with an occasions light blue banner of Mecklenburg. Orange paper lanterns hanging among the trees which line the main streets, and looking like big clusters of oranges, throw light over the decorations. Every man and woman wears an orange rosette, with a picture of the bride. Some, though these are few, display also a portrait of the en Wilhelmina dined at the palace this evening with Duke Henry and the families of the two. Occasionally, she appeared at an upper window to bow in r use to some serenading party. A strik sponse to some severading party. A sink-ing feature of festivities is their domestic atmosphere. There are no cordons of po-licemen or soldiers to held back the cruwds. There are no swarms of detec-tives. There is no thought of anarchists. The Queen and Duke Henry have spent a large part of the week thus far in drivout the city in order to give the people a chance to see them. During the afternoon today they rode out a few miles along the snow-covered roads to Fixing, a village where a fisheries exhibition is be-ing held. They went in one of the state carriages, which was drawn by four horses. Her Majesty, who were a red and gold cloak and fors, carried a big bou quet of white flowers ited with orange ribbons. The Duke was arrayed in the uniform of a Dutch Admiral. The Queen's nother and the mother of the Duke, with the ladies of the court and a few officers, followed in carriages.

The Queen's constant escort is 12 young emen riding buy horses, with white saidles and cloths, and wearing marcon uniforms trimmed with black fur. Wher-ever the royal cortege appears the people od-naturedly clear the way. When the rowds are thick, policemen and others insp hands and form a line to keep them ack. The Queen bows and smiles with youthful enjoyment. The Duke onsidered cold, however, and looks is considered cost, however, and looks bored. He raises his bands atiffy in mili-tary sainte. His friends say that the truth is that he is exceedingly shy, and being nly 24 years of age, is greatly embar-

Justice and the witnesses of the marriage will assemble in the white room of the pularse. At 11:30 A. M., the civil marriage will occur in the presence of the nearest relatives. After that, the royal party will return in person to the palace, where Queen Wilhelmian will hold court and re-ceive the congratulations of others than epresentatives or members of the royal family. At 1:30 there will be a gala lunchthe couple will deart on their honeymoon, The Queen's wedding gown, woven of the finest silver tissue, was embroidered at the school of art needlework in Am-sterdam, and was afterward made up by Nycaud, of Paris. It is ornumented with diver-threaded seed pearls. The robe and train are lined with rich white silk. The bodice, which is plain and cut low, is trimmed with magnificent antique lace. The trains are covered with embroidery, ost meeting at the waist and broader ing over the bein. The court train is Fig yards long, the embroidery rusning around in light trails.

The Queen mother always wears on The Queen mother always wears on state occasions some shade of purple be-flitting her matroniy figure. Tomorrow she will appear in a gown of violet, with a long train of deeper shade. The bodice is cut low and trimined with pricesess Brussels lace, of which she has a lease state and reconstilled deadle. large store, and mousseline de soie.

The gowne of the Queen's trousseau are mostly pale greens, grays, blues and whites, these suiting her blande complex-ion best. Her bonnets are of a severe style for a young woman, most of them her public entering into Amsterdam, Her Malesty has a royal robe of white velvet, with a train trimmed with ermine, and a mantle lined with ermine. At one of the receptions in Amsterdam after the honeymoon, she will wear a gown of white satin embroidered around the hem and bodice with a small tracery of oranges and leaves, and a court train of rich orange velvet lined with white silk. She has an outdoor gown of delicate gray, comblined with white and pale blue, scarrely showing embroidered steel and silver sequins. With this goes a large hat She has also a soft bunting costume of dark green, unornamented, and another of trimmed cloth applique. There is a walking dress of dark green, with gold threads, and another of green mignonette cloth, combined with white. The Queen has four plain riding babts.

Amsterdam's gift to the Queen, the magnificent glided charlot originally built for her coronation was formally pre-sented Monday. In it she will ride to church temorrow. One of the greatest presents is a great tapestry representing the garden of the Hesperides. This is from the French republic. From the ladles of The Hague she has received a sliver mirror, and from her ladles in waiting a silver center-piece for flowers. The other of Duke Henry has given her son a writing table iniaid with pearl, and the mother of the Queen has given her a brooch of the same. The most noteworthy gift is the carpet on which the Queen is to be married. It is an immense rug, the handswork of 60 persons par-ticipating in the festivities. The design shows bundreds of country people in queer stitre and wooden shows, the women In ancient lace caps and sleeveless dresses. The crimson plush border con-sists of arange branches and fruit, on a paie blue flag. The two upper corners display the coat-of-arms of the Queen. All the isdles who contributed to the rug are woven in it, so to speak.

TO REINFORCE KITCHENER. Thirty Thousand Mounted Men to Be Sent to South Africa. LONDON, Feb. 7.-The following an-uncement has been made by the War in view of the recent floor activity in various divisions, the government has decided, in addition to the large forces recently equipped locally in Sauth Africa, to reinforce Lord Kitchener by 30,000 mounted troops beyond those already landed in Cape Colony. Recruiting for the Imperfal Yeomanry has proceeded so rapidly that it is anticipated 10,000 will shortly be available. The South African mount. ly be available. The South African moun of constabulary, including those enlisted in the colonies, may be relied upon to extend to 8000, and the new colonial contingents to replace those withdrawn will probably reach 5000. The remainder of the force will be made up of cavalry and mounted infantry from the home estab-lishment. The enlistment of volunteers to repiace those that have already served a replace those that have already served a year in South Africa is also being pro-ceeded with. Arrangements have been made for the prompt equipment and trans-portation of the force. The first consign-ment will leave on the Aurina, Febru-ary 3."

ITALIAN CABINET CRISIS. Ministry Defeated in the Chamber of Deputies.

ROME, Feb.s.-The government was defeated in the Chamber of Deputies today by a vote of 318 to 102, on the debate on the dissolution of the labor exchange at Genon, which has lasted several days. The president of the Chamber submitted a motion made by Signor Daneo, to the effect that, as the dissolution of the labor exchange at Genoa had demonstrated the uncertainty of the sconomic and political ntentions of the government, the gov ernment be invited to explain its policy.

As the previous motion formed an amendment to this latter motion, Signor Daneo asked to be allowed to modify it. The president refused the request and the Chamber rejected Signor Daneo's motion a vote of 338 to 1. Signor Sarace the Premier, thereupon declared that in view of these singular results in the vot-ing he would consider what decision he would adopt. The Chamber then ading he would consider what decision he would adopt. The Chamber then adjourned. It is thought probable that the Cabinet will resign.

Consequently his punshment requires caution, deliberation and careful consideration. The Emperor it is pointed out, even in the punishment of Princes of the blood, has not been moved by motives for their protection Why then should he do so in the case of Tung Fu Sinng? What has already been done should be taken into consideration. His army had been reduced to 5000 men with the object if lessening his power and with the ultimate object of his future punishment, which will be promulgated in an edict, the language of which will not be too patient. After the depriva-tion of his official rank, the Emperor will hereafter decide on a heavy punishment. At their meeting this morning the foreign envoys proposed a note to be del-ivered to the Chinese plenipotentaries containing the substance of the decisions arrived at last night, including the sen-tences of execution. in Formosa, with nine deaths in seven China is being urged to sanction the following reforms: That the present di-viding lines between Chinese and Manchus be leveled; free schools of learning for all Manchus and Chinese, to be built through the empire; Manchus to be allowed to trade and learn business like Chinese.

The proposed increase of the sugar tax is arousing active opposition among the native manufacturers, who urge that one certain result will be a great influx of foreign sugar and the ultimate extinction of the native industry. The proposal to levy a tax on beer is arousing similar nstration among the brewers.

The new Burmah rice crop, according to stimate, will be the largest on record. Prices will probably be lower than those of 1990. In Slam the prospects of a good rop are said to be excellent.

At last word has been received how Captain Watts-Jones, R. E., died. Let-ters to Captain Wingate at Pekin say that Watts-Jones and the Chinese with him were massacred on the borders of Mongolla, 250 miles from Pekin. The Chinese mutilated and burned the bodies. H. M. S. Plover has routed a band of pirates in the Yalu River. Twelve were captured and six condemned to death and shot at Wel-Hal-Wel.

The ship Sea Witch has been destroyed by fire at Manila, and some of the crew were suspected of incendiarism. An inciplent mutiny occurred on H. M. S. Barfieur at Hong Kong, because of the stoppage of sailors' leave. During the trouble the sailors threw gun sights overboard. They were recovered by divers.

The story is revived that a se agreement has been concluded by Li Hung Chang between Russia and China, Jap-anese papers say that while the partic-ulars have not yet been clearly announced, it is evident that Russia is about to grasp actual power in Manchuria, both civil and military.

A political crisis in Corea has been caused by the accusations of treason against four Cabinet Ministers. The ac-cuser is Li Yuin, who gained notoriety in connection with the judicial cruelities practiced against An and Kwong last year. The accused are Pak Che Sun, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Kim Yong Chun, Minister of Finance; Kwon Chaib-yong, Minister of Agriculture, and Li Yong Ik, Minister of Commerce, and the charge against them is being in collu-tion with Corean fugitives in Japan. It is reported that January 10 60 fishing boats near Hashidato were wrecked and of 410 fishermen only 18 escaped.

January 16, 10 mounted Japanese set out from Shan Hai Kwan to forage and were surprised by 300 mounted bandits at Loch-unton, three miles from Shan Hai Kwan. Some British were with the Japanese at the time. Five alone managed to fight their way back, and one badly injured was that night brought in by the Chi-nese. The others were killed and their bodies mutilated. January 6 the Germans made an assault on the Boxer forts northwest of Pekin, killing 149 Boxers after less than an hour's fighting. The Boxers were armed with both old and modern rifles. The German loss was one man killed and onofficer and three men slightly wounded. They captured 10 old guns and a num-ber of flags and banners, besides a quan-tity of war material. Neighboring people joined in the engagement, fighting for the Boxers, and for that reason the Ger-mans burned Tachangschu, where there were strong forts. Another detachment of Germans reconnoitered the upper part of the Pel Ho as far as Tachit Cheng. The Boxers fied, burning all the Christian vil-lages they passed through. The German detachment returned through the moun tains to Thumu, where they surprised a Chinese Major and 18 horse, killing six
