

NEW ROSE SPRUNG

Another Factor in Washington Capital Problem.

OFFER COMES FROM SEATTLE

Real Estate Company Proposes to Give Five Acres of Land and to Erect, Free of Cost to State, Capitol House $250,000.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 6.—A new capital proposition is on the table. J. A. Moore, president of the Moore Investment Company, of Seattle, will within a few days make an offer of a five-acre tract in Seattle for the purpose of erecting thereon, free of cost to the state, a capitol building worth $250,000, the same to be ready for occupancy by the time the next Legislature meets.

The five acres in question are situated in the center of an old donation claim, which is about a mile and three-quarters from the business center of Seattle. Moore's attorney, Everett Smith, is in the city tonight, accompanied by George F. Cotterill, a civil engineer. Mr. Smith admitted to The Oregonian correspondent tonight that the offer would be made within a few days.

The Moore offer is not regarded very seriously, even by the Seattle members of the Legislature. The general opinion is that Mr. Moore is seeking to gain some real estate advertising, while the Tacoma people are to believe that the offer is made to embarrass the Washington removal proposition. Even Attorney Smith did not seem to be very much in earnest about the proposition, but there is no doubt that the Seattle offer is entering into the capitol problem and that it is not benefiting the scheme of removal to Tacoma.

WILL PRESS VOTE.

Olympia Capital Advocates Are Considered of Success.

OLYMPIA, Feb. 6.—Tomorrow promises to be a field day in the State Senate. The bill to purchase the Thurston County Courthouse is a special order for that body for 11 o'clock in the morning, and the Preston railway commission bill for 2:30 in the afternoon. The members of the Senate to postpone the bill on all matters may prevail again, and one or both measures go over, but the indication is to the effect that some decisive action will be taken upon both of them.

The Thurston County steering committee say today that they will press their bill to vote, and they have enough votes pledged to pass it. The fact that the railroad bill is to come up will, they say, bring out a full attendance of Senators, and with that attendance work of claim to be certain of success.

It is evident, however, that there are some Senators who, while they will oppose capital removal, will also oppose the bill to purchase the courthouse for capitol purposes. Just how many of these there are it is difficult to say, but Senator Smith, of King County, is one of them, and it is said he does not stand alone. Senator Smith favors construction on the present foundation.

The attitude of Attorney A. R. Titlow, of Tacoma, on the capital question is provoking considerable comment. Titlow is one of the most enthusiastic workers for removal, and is a member of the lobbying committee which has Tacoma's interests in charge. Thereby hangs a tale. Titlow is attorney for the Thurston County, who was the lowest bidder for the capitol building designed by the old McGraw capital commission. Go's bid was accepted, but never signed for the reason that the capitol became unsalable. This was in 1896, and the idea of building the capitol was abandoned.

After waiting for about five years, Mr. Go, shortly before the assembling of the present Legislature, brought suit to compel Governor Rogers to fill the capitol commission, and to provide for the building of the capitol on the present site. His petition was denied, and he proceeded to file an appeal bond, although he has not yet perfected it.

Now Mr. Titlow, his attorney, appears in the capacity of a lobbyist for Tacoma. It is claimed that should the removal bill pass, he would be able to secure a relief bill for Mr. Go, on condition of the latter dismissing his appeal. It is said that Mr. Titlow places his client's damages at between $40,000 and $50,000.

On Monday The Oregonian correspondent stated that efforts were being made by the advocates of the Thurston County commission bill to force unwilling Senators into line. Proof of this statement was furnished last night.

During a conversation between a prominent Senator and a prominent Lieutenant-Governor McBride, the latter stated that certain appropriations in which the state officials were interested were being held up by the appropriations committee, which, by the way, Mr. McBride appointed, and which he practically controls.

Asked to be specific, Mr. McBride is reported to have said that the appropriations in question were desired by Fish Commissioner Little, a Rogers appointee, who has been a conspicuous opponent of the removal bill, and who has been inspired by the fact that the bill deprives the Governor of the power to appoint the commission.

Two Senators at least are opposed to the bill, solely because of this fact. They are Messrs. Bliggs and Land, and were they to vote for the bill it would undoubtedly pass. The motive in holding up the appropriation is, however, not the removal bill in view of the fact that Bliggs and Land are the personal representatives of the Rogers administration in the Senate.

Any continued effort to hold up appropriations will without doubt precipitate a row in the Senate before the end of the session. Many Republican Senators are chafing under the McBride dictation, and threaten to make trouble.

A prominent farmer from Walla Walla, who is here opposing the Preston bill, said to Lieutenant-Governor McBride the other night that the Eastern Washington people did not desire the passage of a commission bill, but did want a reasonable reduction in freight rates. Mr. McBride is said to have retorted that the Eastern Washington people could take the commission bill or that they would get nothing.

The members of the joint committee on fisheries agreed today to report a bill closing fishing on Sunday during the fishing season on the Columbia River. The hours of closing will be from 6 a. m. Saturday to 6 p. m. Sunday. This bill was urged by the Oregon members of the joint committee at the meeting held in Portland Sunday.

The House committee on public morals agreed tonight to report the state dispensary bill back without recommendation.

At midnight there is every reason to predict the defeat of the Preston bill by a vote of at least 15 to 15.

Lively Dispute in House Over Their Application to Cities.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 6.—At the afternoon session of the House a dispute arose over an amendment offered to the bill providing in substance that cities of the first class shall be allowed to pay their

MUCH WORK AT CONCORD

IT IS BUSIEST MINE IN EASTERN OREGON, SAVE RED BOY.

Good Values Have Been Revealed, and a Mill Will Probably Be Installed.

BAKER CITY, Feb. 6.—More work is in progress at the Concord mine than any other Eastern Oregon property, save the Red Boy. The Concord claim, belonging to the Red Boy Company, lies between the Golden Monarch and the Concord claims. It is generally understood that on the Concord the United Monarch and Red Boy veins are found in a great width is revealed wherever the Concord Company has developed its property.

The Concord Gold Mining Company owns the claims popularly known as the Conclaims and three mill sites, is owned by the Red Mountain Gold Mining Company, of which J. H. Robbins is president. C. B. Wade, vice-president, J. A. Howard, secretary, and W. W. Robbins, manager and superintendent. Development work consists of a crosscut running nearly due west from Clear Creek into the hill 600 feet. Three veins cross the property. The owners believe they are the eastern extension of the Monarch, Red Boy and Blaine veins. Within the next 100 feet the first vein indicated by the croppings is expected to be cut. All three have good surface showings, and are traced across the property. Work will be pushed on the claims until the vein is cut.

At the Comstock.

A big crosscut tunnel is being driven on the property of the Comstock Milling & Mining Company, located about a quarter of a mile from the Red Boy. J. B. Rogers is president of this concern. F. E. Elendorf, secretary, and P. B. McGarry, manager. The crosscut is now in 375 feet, with a depth of 25 feet from the surface. Four claims are in the group, the Poor Boy, Mineral

DEATH OF CAYUSE CHIEF.

YOUNG CHIEF.

PENDLETON, Feb. 6.—Young Chief died of consumption at his home at the head of Thorn Hollow, the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Sunday, aged 45 years. His wife and uncle, Chief Joseph, of the Nez Percés, were at his bedside. He left no children.

The traditions of the tribe indicate that over 100 years ago a desperate battle was fought between the Snakes and the Cayuses, in which the latter were badly worsted. They divided, one band fleeing to the Willamette Valley, where they became Molalls; the other band, northward until they reached the Walla Walla Valley, where they remained permanently. The latter party was led by a great sachem, from whom sprung four great chiefs, namely: Joseph, Tututia (First Young Chief), Five Crows and Wa-na-moot-kin. The last-named was the father of Chief Homil and Young Chief, or Moot-kin, father of the subject of this sketch.

Young Chief was, therefore, the hereditary chief of the Cayuses. A memorial, praying Congress to pass the Grout oleomargarine bill was passed by unanimous vote.

A bill by Herrich of King, releasing landlender from liability for damages caused by the sale of or use of intoxicating liquor was reported favorably by the committee on judiciary.

Two memorials relative to Oriental immigration were, after considerable discussion and partisan sparring, referred back to the committee on memorials.

Maniz of Stevens introduced a bill fixing passenger rates on all railroads over 25 miles in length at 3 cents per mile. This is the rate now charged by all main lines in the state, but the bill is aimed at the Spokane Falls & Northern road, which charges a higher rate.

Several minor bills were passed.

IN THE HOUSE.

Committee Appointed to Inspect State Penitentiary.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 6.—In the House the morning speaker, Albertson, appointed Copeland of Walla Walla, Jernard of Columbia and Burch of King, members of the committee to investigate the affairs of the state penitentiary. The committee will begin its work at once.

The judiciary committee recommended the indefinite postponement of the bill giving the counties the right to elect judges. The bill was introduced by Messrs. Okanogan, Adams, Douglas and Lincoln another judicial district.

The report of the committee appointed by the last Legislature to determine the feasibility of the Preston railway from Oregon and to settle, if possible, disputed fishing interests, was sent to the House by the Governor and referred to the fisheries committee.

A large petition signed by citizens living in the territory included in the proposed County of Riverside, and asking that the pending bill creating the county be passed, was read.

A petition similarly signed, protesting against the bill, has already been received. There are only 42 votes in the proposed new county, but already there are two petitions before the House, each signed by 60 citizens, and each petition setting forth the fact that the bulk of the voters are voters of the proposed county.

WILL OF COLFAX BACHELOR.

Bequeathed His Property to His Brother and Sister.

COLFAX, Wash., Feb. 6.—The will of George Pangburn, the wealthy bachelor farmer who died suddenly of heart failure last week, was found yesterday. All the property of the testator is left to his brother, Charles Pangburn, of Michigan, and his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Taylor, of Paysonville. O. Mrs. Tuttle, another sister, now in St. Ignace Hospital, a county patient, is not mentioned in the will, and attorneys say this is cause for a contest.

Pangburn left $20,000 in a local bank besides other property, and his total wealth is estimated at from $25,000 to $35,000.

George Pangburn was one of the first white settlers of Whitman County. About 17 years ago, his sister, Mrs. Tuttle, a widow with one son, came to live with him and keep house for him. Pangburn had some trouble with a woman and died all his property to Mrs. Tuttle and left the county, remaining away about two years. He returned and after remaining at home a short time demanded the return of his property, which his sister refused, and Pangburn was ejected from the home that had sheltered him for years. After a long and costly fight in the courts, Pangburn finally secured title to his property, and Mrs. Tuttle was in turn forced to vacate. The feeling between the brother and sister grew very bitter, and when Mrs. Tuttle's son was shot and crippled for life and his mother had expended all her money on him and was forced to the county poor farm, Pangburn refused to do anything for her.

The bill authorizing the publication of Supreme Court decisions passed the House, and now needs only the signature of the Governor to become a law. It will be the first law of the session. The Governor will sign it, having recommended it in his message.

The House bill authorizing extension of the Little Salmon wagon road and appropriating $10,000 passed. This will make a good wagon road from the far north to the extreme south of the state.

In the Senate, Worthman's militia bill was practically killed in committee of the whole.

The Senate committee reported favorably upon the bill requiring the County Attorney to prosecute in cases of default in divorce cases and prohibiting a divorce from marrying within one year after decree is issued.

Both houses have appointed committees for reception and entertainment of the Utah Legislature next Saturday, the Chamber of Commerce being also active. Governor Wallace of Utah, has telegraphed Governor Hunt that he will accompany the Legislature if it is possible, and it is expected he and his staff will be with the visitors.

NEW CHIEF OF CAYUSES.

Paul Stowaway Now Heads the Tribe—Well Thought of by Whites.

PENDLETON, Or., Feb. 6.—Young Chief, of the Cayuse tribe of Umatilla Indians, who died Sunday afternoon, left no children. This fact will end a controversy regarding the chieftainship which has divided the Cayuse tribe during many years past.

Paul Stowaway will now be the undisputed chief. Stowaway traces his lineage to his father, Stowaway, a chief who was recognized by the Federal Government when the treaty was signed in 1855 with the three tribes now at the Umatilla reservation. Stowaway always respected the laws of the reservation, and the Cayuse tribe has never had a more upright chief, but that he had been elected by a small and inconsiderable faction of the tribe at the instance of a former Indian agent who had ulterior aims.

Stowaway is universally recognized as one of the best Indians hereabouts.

SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition—it is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sore, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S. S. S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system A CONSTANT DRAIN all morbid, UPON THE SYSTEM, effete matter.

When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old ulcers to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how severe the condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. Talbot, Rock Box, Wisconsin, Minn., says: "Six years ago my leg from the knee to the foot was a solid sore. Several physicians tried to cure it, but without success. I began to use S. S. S., and it made a complete cure. I have a perfectly well-healed sore now."

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to injure the system, and it relieves your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.
