NO CHANGE IN SIGHT

Senatorial Situation Shows No Visible Movement.

M'BRIDE MAY RE-ENTER RACE

Judge Williams Likely to Hold Minority Vote for Few Days-Pennoyer Advises Democrats Also to Vote for Him.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 16 .- There has been ao visible movement of any kind today to indicate any sort of change in the Senatorial fight tomorrow. The various lead-ers have been out of the city, and no new plans have been formulated, so far as can be ascertained. The Republican sority will probably continue to vote for Judge Williams for a day or two. Then they may take up other Republicans suc-cessively, just to show that any candidate is acceptable to them but Mr. Corbett There are hints that this is indeed their exact plan, and that the ultimate purpose is to return to Mr. McBride or Mr. Mitcheil. Senator McBride will in any series will in any event it is any event, it is said, return and remain till the end of the fight. It is possible that in the course of a few days Binger Her-mann will receive the votes of the oppo-sition. If all the minority votes yester-day cast for Judge Williams were to be added to Mr. Hermann's sight the tool added to Mr. Hermann's eight, the total would be 22, one more than are at present voting for Mr. Corbett, but it is known that there are members of the minority who are very much opposed to Mr. Her-mann, and who have not hesitated to say so. It may therefore be difficult to de-liver the 24 to him, even for the purpose of carrying out the complimentary game. The Democrats will probably have a cau-cus tomorrow night, and the committee appointed to confer with the minority Republicans will then be expected to report progress. A letter said to have been written by ex-Governor Pennoyer to Judge Eweek, advising the Democrats to vote for Judge Williams, may then be pre-sented. It is not at all likely that it will have much effect. The day has long since passed when any suggestion from Mr. Pennoyer to the Democracy of the state is potent. There is no sentiment what-ever smong them for Judge Williams,

RAILROAD BILLS IN HOUSE.

Two Measures Will Be Put on Final Passage This Week.

SALEM, Or, Feb. 10 -- The fifth week of the Legislative reasion gives promise of being far more interesting in the House than any of the prior proceedings. Under special order the railroad bills, five in number, come up for discussion and fina' passage. These tills are: House bill No. 15, by Colvig, amending law relating to traffic on railroads. House bill No. 40, by Carter, to restrict callroad passenger

House bill No. 41, by Butt, regulating passenger and freight rates. House bill No. 30, by Poorman, fixing the liability of corporations for injuries to employee (the fellow-servant act), House bill No. 107, by Miller, to create a board of railroad commissioners. The House committee an entrance and

The House committee on railroads and transportation presented unfavorable re-ports on the three bills designed to re-duce the rates of passenger traffic, but Butts, one of its members, demurred and filed a minority report in each instance. This brought about a general discussion, resulting in not only these particular three bills, but those introduced by Poor-man and Miller, being made a special order for Monday.

man and Miller, being made a special order for Monday. Opinion is divided among the members regarding the bills proposing to reduce passenger rates on the railroads. It is argued by some that the amendment to the bills, exempting all roads operated entirely in Gregon, from the reduction, is really unconstitutional and the solution. really unconstitutional, and the railroad companies will really exert no strenuous opposition to passage in their present County seems to be confined entirely to residents of that section, who have taken the initiative in the matter. Thus far Union 'Jounty is putting up little, if any, defense, possibly trusting to the good luck that came its way in the past when a similar attempt was made. The Baker County members are taking little in similar attempt was made. The Baker County people here are taking little in-terest in the proposed annexation. Some openly express the view that it is a bad time for Baker to attempt increase of its boundaries, when schemes are being agilated to wrest from it a part of the territory it now holds tille to The move to create another county, and the ambi-tion of neenle living in the Summler distion of people living in the Sumpler dis-tion of people living in the Sumpler dis-trict to have a county of their own, impel-many of the Baker County people to con-sider that it is a good thing to let well enough alone. So they are not showing any great spirit of interest over the Pan-handle community effort to gain a change unity effort to gain a change of rulers.

Old Joke Not Yet Perpetrated.

SALEM, Feb 16-No one of the legal lights in the House has yet, in a moment of mental abstraction, bowed down with the weight of professional thought, had the iemerity to address the Speaker of the House as "your honor." It always happens, and there are yet two weeks of time in which some one or more can perpetuate the time-honored joke.

DROVE OVER EMBANKMENT.

An Unknown Man at Salem Seriously Injured Thereby.

BALEM, Or., Feb. 10.-An unknown man, about 30 years of age, and reported to be a resident of the vicinity of Mill City, drove over an embankment in the outskirts of this city has night, and sus-tained a severe fracture of the skull. He has been unconscious since the accident, and the chances for his recovery are slight. He is above medium size, has a brown mustache, wore a brown duck brown mustache, wore a brown duck cost, black vest, blue overalls, and drove a roan horse. The buggy had no top. A bill of sale dated September 25, 1900, no place given, was found in his pocket. This indicates that the man's name is J. C. Young, and that he bought his horse from a man named John Pike. He had in his buggy a butcher knife and whet-stone, and may have been a butcher. The accident happened while he was trying accident happened while he was trying to leave town on the Turner road, and lost his way on a dark street.

At the very outset of his brilliant astronomical career Sir William Herschel showed himself a "stayer." Lacking money to get the sort of tele. scope he wanted, he set to work to make it. It seemed as though he never would produce a flawless speculum. He made two hundred-every one a failure; but the next effort was triumphant and launched him on the shining highway of success. It'll do you good to read about it, and you'll find it all-together with ten thousand other things you ought to know about-within the covers of the Home Study Circle Library.

Senate bills, the In addition to these Senate bills, the Senate has before it about a score of House bills that have not passed to second reading. That the Senate will be able to put any of these House bills on third reading this week, without taking them up out of the regular order, is improbable.

The Portland charter bill, which was introduced in the Senate Saturday, was not expected to pass the Legislature as introduced. It is imperfect in several important particulars, but was introducd in that condition in order to secure a place upon the calendar, and hasten its passage. The bill was read twice and referred to a spe-cial committee, composed of the members of the Multnomah delegation. The delegation will give the bill their first attention and will probably be able to report it hack to the Senate in perfect form by the middle of this week.

Another matter to come up for recon-ideration on Monday will be the proposed woman's suffrage amendment to the constitution. It was defeated last Friday, but some of the chivalrous members are willing to give the promoters of the measure one more try to secure favor-able consideration. The resolution has passed the Senate, but from present indications the House will not recede from its position taken when the resolution was first voted upon.

The bill giving $5000 to the Oregon Historical Society will be considered in the House tomorrow afternoon under a special order. Its consideration is not likely opposition to the measure has been awak-ened.

The lat-ter struck him over the right temple with a doubletre. The assault took place in Bacon's shop, Wednesday morn. ing, but he was not taken to the hospita till last night. The two men had had trouble over their partnership, but could not agree on dissolution. They had some words in the shop Wednesday morning, Bacon finally telling Hoxie to take the whole thing. Then he turned his back to Hoxie and began working about the forge. Hoxie picked up a whiffletree and struck Eacon a terrible blow over the temple, crushing the skull. Many splinters of bone were taken from the wound here. He is a strong man and may recover, though great anxlety is felt.
