Cannon Wanted Consideration of the Sundry Civit Bill, While the Minority Sought to Promote Private Claims-Nothing Done.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.-Under the leadership of Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, a long fillbus-ter consumed the time of the House today. Cannon desired the House to probill, while the Democrats desired to de vote the day to the consideration of pri-vate claims. It was the last day under the rules which could be devoted to claims at this Congress and notices had been sent out yesterday asking the Democrats to be in their seats today. As a result, Cannon was outwitted, but he kept up the fight all day, forcing roll calls for three hours and later fillbustering in committee of the whole. The net result was that the whole day was wasted.

In anticipation of a contest over the right of way, Underwood (Dem. Ala.), the Democratic while, had sent out notice yesterday to all the Democrats to be in their seals today, and there was an unusually full attendance on that side of the House. When Cannon saw the drift he called across the aisle to Richardson (Dem. Tenn.), the minority leader: You're trying to loot the Treasury

On a rising vote, Cannon's motion was defeated, 62 to 74, whereupon ayes and noes were called for and the clerk called roll. The motion was lost, 195 to Just before the vote was announced Cannon changed his vote from ave to no, in order to be in a position to move a reconsideration of the vote. Immediately upon the announcement of the vote he entered his motion to reconsider. Richardson made the point of order that the motion was dilatory. This point of order, coming from a Democrat, provoked some "It is clearly dilatory," Richardson con-

Unued, when Cannon broke in, "The gentleman sent out notices to secure the attendance of his party friends."
"The chair overrules the point of order," announced the Speaker.

"Then, I move to lay the motion on the able," cried Richardson, Upon a rising vote, on this motion, the opposition showed a majority, whereupon Cannon called for tellers. "I make the point that the demand is latory," shouted Richardson,

"I desire a little time to get our people on the statement of the gentleman from nois," said the Speaker. The fact that a veteran tactician like Cannon should have thus lowered his guard and have laid himself open to such decision provoked howls of laughter on the Democratic side. The Illinois member was attempting to address the chair, when Moody (Rep. Mars.) called for the ayes and noes and the demand was sustained. Cannon's motion to reconsider that last yote was laid on the table. 121 to 122.

The question whether the bill should pass ordinarily would come next, but the Speaker held that a motion to postpone the further consideration of the bill until the next upon which private bills were in order was in order. Cannon entered such a motion and it was carried without di-

This cleared the way for Richardson, who moved that the House go into com-mittee of the whole to consider private bills, and despite Cannon's objection, the Richardson motion prevailed, 126 to 103 and the private calendar was taken up. The remainder of the session was occupied in disposing of two small bills in committee of the whole. Cannon continued to flibuster to the end, and when the bills were referred to the House he made the point of no quorum and at 5:25 the House adjourned

WILCOX IS EXONERATED.

House Committee Confirms His Right to a Sent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.-Delegate Wilcox, of Hawaii, today scored a distinct triumph in securing a unanimous vote of the House committee on elctions No. House of Representatives and holding that the charges filed against him were not sufficient to warrant his removal. Chairman Tayler was authorized to make the report to that effect, which will be submitted in about a week. After the meeting Mr. Tayler explained the general considerations which had influenced the decision of the committee. The case was not considered so much in its technical aspects, but rather on broad grounds, all the circumstances, conditions and sur-roundings applicable to Hawaii as one of our new insular possessions being taken into consideration.

As a delegate from a new territory it was not felt that Wilcox should be met with the same strict conviction required in sustaining the right of a Representative in Congress to his seat, as the detegate has only limited powers, and is little more than an agent. As to the charges of treason, the letters placed in evidence were written prior to the organic act making Hawaii a teritory, and there was no disposition to go into these prior is-sues. Whatever may have been the technical irregularity of the election, there was the saving fact that a perfect ma-chinery of election was established, a bal-lot box was regularly provided, practic-ally every one participated in the voting, and the will of the people was expressed. "And on broad political grounds," said Mr. Tayler, "we felt that the people these insular possessions should understand that they were not to be met by mere technical objections which would deprive them of representation."

Partial Agreement on Indian Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.-The conferees of the Senate and House have reported a partial agreement on the Indian ap-propriation bill. The principal items up-on which the committee will report a disagreement are those relating to the San Carlos dam, allowing prospecting on Indian reservations, making the decisions of the Dawes Commission for the enrollment in Indian Territory when ap-proved by the Secretary of the Interior and the Sisseton and Wahpeton claims reason to believe it will fail of action Indeed, there is quite a general under-standing that after tomorrow there will be very little consideration given to any measure except appropriation bills and conference reports. There is considerable pressure on the friends of the subsidy bill to withdraw it, but so far they have declined to yield. There was discussion of the prospect of an extra session, and the opinion was quite general that the outlook in that direction is favorable.

More Time For Reclamation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.-Representative Wilson, of Idaho, from the House committee on arid lands, today filed a favorable report upon the bill to extend the provisions of the Carey act indefinitely. This act, passed in 1835, gave to each of the arid land states 1,000,000 acres of land upon the consideration that the state would reciaim them within 10 years. Since the passage of the bill, Idaho, Utah, Montana and Wyoming have made application for the segregation of 550,000 acres for reclamation. It was found, however, that the lands could not be reclaimed within the period fixed in the Carey act, and this bill extends the time

PASSING OF THE AUTHOR OF "ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES."

End of an Illness of Many Weeks-Literary Career of the Indinna Poet.

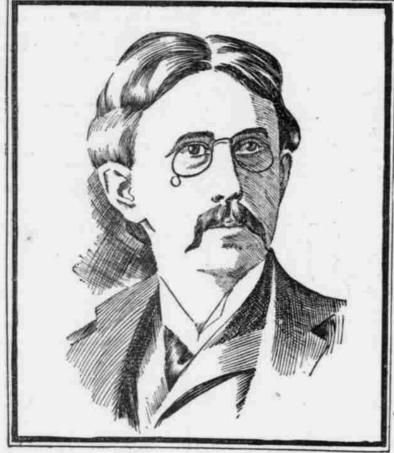

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 15.— Surrounded by his family, Maurice Thompson, the author, died at 3:25 this morning, after an illnessof many weeks. He had been kept alive for several days by the use of stimulants. About 9:30 o'clock last night he became unconscious, and there was no sign of pain when the end came. The funeral will probably be held here Monday.

Maurice Thompson's Literary Career Maurice Thompson was born in Fair-field. Ind., in 1844, and in early life re-rial capacity with the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the Chicago Daily News and the Minneapolis Tribune. In 1893 he was ap-pointed Minister to Portugal, but re-signed on account of ill health. Mr. Pierce was a veteran of the Civil War, enlisting in the Ninth Indiana Reg-iment at the first call for volunteers, and serving throughout the long strife, being mustered out with the rank of Colonel. Joseph A. Delnharpe. NEW YORK, Feb. 15 .- Joseph A. Delaharpe, who was well known as a scenic artist in the theaters of this country. and who of recent years was connected with the Brooklyn theatrical house of Hyde & Beahan, is dead at his home in Brooklyn, of liver trouble, with which he had been ailing for nearly a year. An attack of grip complicated matters, and was the immediate cause of death. He was born in Switzerland on June 1.

He was the child of a Russian officer, and his mother was an artist. While still a youth he acted as guide for expeditions into the Rocky Mountains, and paintmoved with his parents to the southern part of Kentucky, and from that state to the northern part of Georgia, where he and paintings for Brigham Young, some first attempted to describe life as he knew of which are now in the Smithsonian In-it from observation. outdoor sports he cultivated many of Brigham Young and other Mormon notathem in that section and it was there that the author first learned the art of archery, which, it is said, inspired his noted work, "The Witchery of Archery," which had so much to do with reviving that game in this country. He entered the Confederate Army when a mere boy and obtained distinction as a scout and for his well-known feats of horsemanship and his many hairbreadth escapes.

It was shortly after the war that he described his old Georgia homestead in "A farmstead in the fairest nook in that pleasant hill country known as Cherokee, Georgia, a place sure to attract attention, so peaceful, so dreamy in its aspect, was the home of my boyhood. The structure was of log and faced southward scene of wonderful beauty."

After the war the young hero of the Southern cause devoted some time to magazine articles, most of which were published in the South, all of them being strongly sectional and exceptionally well

Shortly after the cessation of hostilities Thompson took up the profession of civil engineer, and it was following this voca-tion that he first met Alice Lee, a charming girl of 16, who afterward became Mrs. Maurice Thompson, the bond of marriage being sealed shortly after they became

In speaking of the marriage afterward to an old friend Thompson once said:
"We had no money; we never thought of money. We were just like two chilof money. We were just time and dren; and in experience were little more than children."

Soon after his marriage the profession of engineering was forsaken for the lit-erary field, with the practice of law as a side issue. This was in 1807, and it was bout that time that his poem on "Home Life" appeared, After settling at Crawfordsville, Ind.

consummate effrontery" had turned upon the Senator from Rhode Island (Aldrich) and had demanded of him to withdraw the bill. The incident reminded him of the fable in which the wolf charged the lamb in the stream below with muddying the water. Chandler declared that the opposition to the subsidy bill was composed only of a conglomerate of various political parties and insisted that the Senate and the country would realize thoroughly that their tactics were those of filibusters and nothing else. Statement by Hanna.

Hanna addressed the Senate briefly on the bill and was given careful attention both by the Senators and the galleries. He said that he had listened with astonishment to many statements that had been made concerning it by the opposi-tion. Many statements had been made, many insinuations had been suggested that would bring the blush of shame to any Senator's cheek. He had listened to the scolding of the Senator from clorado." but desired to remind him that the Senators were not children, and he desired him to understand that he had a purpose and a desire to uphold and extend the interests of the advocates of the pending measure. He did not know, as the Senator had stated, that the bill would not pass at the present session. An honest and earnest purpose to secure the passage of the bill was being made because its advocates believed that the enactment of the measure would tend to the upbuilding of the merchant marine and extend the shipbuilding industry of he added: "You got your verdict and you will get it again."

He insisted that being honest and earnest in his advocacy of the shipping bill, he should be accorded fair and just treatment.

"I'll not be sidetracked," he declared, "by any Senator of the opposition, If I am to take a side track I will decide myself when I shall take it." He next resented the instructions that he said had been made against him as the chairman of the National Republican committee. He said he was not advocating the pending bill in the interests of his party, but in the interests of the whole world. 'If it is the object of measures pendout of the Treasury," said Hanna, in conclusion, "what is the river and harbor bill? I say that there are provisions in that bill that would make the shipping bill look pale."

Teller made a brief reply to Hanna and he Senate, at 6 o'clock, adjourned.

Will Be Brought Up Next Session. WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The subeldy bill is positively dead for this session. The meeting of the Republican leaders today positively decided that, and, more-over, Frye and Hanna realize that it can not be passed this session. If there is an extra session there is a possibility that the bill, amended to meet the criticism of Republican Senators, will be brought forward, and an effort made to put it through.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Doctors on the Stand at the Hamilton Murder Trial.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 15.-The nedical experts continued their testimony today in the trial of Frank H. Hamilton on the charge of murdering Leonard Day, on the charge of murdering Leonard Day, Dr. Erdmann, professor of anatomy for the University of Minnesota, by the aid of an articulated skeleton, and also using one of the state's attorneys for illustration, showed how, in his opinion, the fatal knife-thrust was delivered from behind Day, and how, with the sharp edge of the blade toward the back of the murdered man's body, a piece was clipped out of a rib. The state's attorneys, aided by other medical experts, put him through a rigid cross-examination, but failed to shake him in his deductions. Dr. George E. Ricker testified as to the bruises on Hamilton's head after the af-fray, and said they might all have been caused by one blow with some instrument. Paul Gyllstrom, a reporter who covered the affair for the Times, testified that. during all the time he was at the West Hotel, Hamilton made no confession, nor did he say anything about the matter.

Dr. J. L. Stone, who attended Hamilton at the jail, testified to the various contu-sions on the prisoner's head, and said they probably were all made by a cane or R. L. Lewis, recalled, could not remember whether he had sent a pair of trou-sers containing a bloody handkerchief to a cleaning and repairing establishment If so, they were not the ones he had on that night at the West Hotel.

The defense rested in the afternoon, and court adjourned until tomorrow. The principal evidence of the afternoon had to do with Evans' trousers, sent to a cleaninghouse the day after the murder. H. G. Robinson, an employe of the house, testifled to having received the clothing and to having noticed a clot of blood on one leg and something like a cut about an inch below the knee. A. G. Gilbert, another employe, corroborated the evidence as to the bloodstain and the cut, and added that there was also a tear that had been bunglingly sewed up. The defense secided not to call T. M. Ryan, the Des Moines plumber.

CHINESE SMUGGLING.

How It Is Conducted on the Maine Border.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 15 .- The Federal authorities here are in possession of papers found on the person of Sam Wah Kee, of Boston, when he was arrested in the act of smuggling six of his country-men into the United States across the Maine border, which led to the belief that an organized band of Chinese have been engaged in smuggling their fellows into this country, with the collusion of Gov-ernment officials. Among the papers are many letters, which gave a clew to the nethods employed in evading the immigration laws. In one of the letters Sam spoke of having successfully brought 1000 Chinamen across the border in the past dozen year.

Sam, who was at one time a Chinese Inspector, was at the head of the organization. A Chinaman who was to be smug-gled in was furnished with a certificate of earlier date, containing an original valid second sheet, with the affidavits and signatures of two white witnesses, testifying o the applicant being a merchant in this country. To this sheet there was unnexed one photograph of the man seeking admission, and a forgery of the United States Commissioner's seal, which was necessary to make the certificate good. The favored method it is said, was to cross the line in the district of some Commissioner sup-posed to "friendly," and then take special pains to be arrested. A casual examina-tion and an official O. K. sent the appliants safety to their destinations. It was customary to send to candidates for admission, before they departed from China, information regadring the names to be assumed on entry, the date of LOME NEAR TWOULD SPEAK

Prince-Kennedy, her father, Charles W. Prince, and her two brothers, William and Albert Prince, will be tried for the murder, January 10 last, of Philip H. Kennedy, contracting agent of the Mer-chants' Dispatch Company. Mrs. Ken-nedy, who shot and killed her husband, was today indicted by the Grand Jury for murder in the first degree. Later, warrants for her father and brothers. charging them with being accomplices in the crime, were issued at the instigation of the County Prosecuting Attorney. The trial was set for the April term of court and promises to bring out many sensations. When the Grand Jury returned its report of failing to indict the Princes, Prosecuting Attorney Had ley caused the issuance of capias war-rants for their arrest. The information states that the three Princes "Incited precured, moved, commanded and aided her in the killing." William Prince was arrested just as he was leaving his sis-ter's cell, where he had been visiting her. Later, the elder Prince was arrested and locked in a cell near his son, Albert Prince, who is 24 years of age, is well-known in theatrical circles, having made a concert trip around the world. At the Omaha exposition he was presented with a medal for his mandolin playing. When apprised of the fact that the male members of her family were to be ar-rested, Mrs. Kennedy became intensely xcited and paced back and forth in her "I think it is an outrage," she said, "to make others suffer for what I have dend. I alone am responsible, and all-tic others are innocent."

Kennedy's murder was the culmination of a sensational wedding, which he had brought suit to have set aside, asserting that it had been forced. Friends of the dead man aided the Prosecuting Attorney in trying to prove that Kennedy was the victim of a conspiracy,
