Amusements Tonight. MARQUAM GRAND - "The Prisoner CORDRAY'S THEATER-"The Country Girl."

UP AGAINST A HARD GAME.-At the meeting of the Council judiciary com-mittee yesterday Messrs. Gearin, Hogue and Kollock appeared as counsel for interested property-owners to argue in favor of a compromise of two cases now pend-ing in the state courts in regard to the opening, laying out and improving of Williams avenue. The plaintiffs in these cases contend that the coodemnation proceedings in connection with the opening of Williams avenue were valid and consequently the proceedings for the improvement of that avenue were invalid, and, in short, that although the avenue appears to be opened and improved, in reality there is no thoroughfare there. The contestants are of opinion that they stand a fair show of winning their case, but are willing to compromise with the city by paying the last assessment on the judiciary com-Branch moored in front of the Portland Branch moored in front of the Portland mittee consists of three lawyers, Messrs, Masters, Mulkey and Bronaugh, lawyers who hope to win a case in that court ing, in fact, they are up against a hard Mr. Pennoyer's self-denial in keeping the sel had to say, the committee turned the mill closed down for years walting for SPORT ON THE WANE.-A large number of sportsmen went out to shoot ducks emough to engage in a wrestling match Sunday, but few of them secured many, with Ed C. Johnson at the Multnomah Poor luck was the rule from the Columbia bottom down to Deer Island, with the exception of Morgan's place on Sauvie's Island, where Frank Thorne, who beside feeding the ducks has the power of mes-merizing them—so the other hunters say enjoyed a first-rate shoot as he also id the week before. In quite a number of places the hunters, seeing that there were do ducks to be shot, took up shooting at clay pigeons; sort of practicing on the sly for the shooting tournament which is in prospect. Some of the sports men have given up shooting for the season, and have brought their "traps" home and the probability is that but lit-tle more shooting will be done this Spring, at least till the Spring goese arrive. The sportsmen had fine shooting for several months ofter the ducks arrived from the north, but a good thing ever lasts long.

RECEPTION TO MRS. FISKE,-The Woman's Club will hold its next meeting Friday, February 22, in the clubroom, Selling-Hirsch building. The afternoon will be one of unusual interest, as the officers and members of the club will hold a reception from 2 to 2:30 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, who visits Portland this week. The early hour is fixed to enable Mrs. Fiske to meet other engagements. After the reception the regular programme will be given which is to be of a patriotic character in keeping with the day. Among other features there will be a paper by Mrs. Caesar Lombardi upon "Current Events." The music, consisting of patriotic songs, is under the direction of Miss Susie Gambell.

Flaintiffs mony last week and yesterday de-fendants handed in six affidavits, one of which comprises 26 type-written pages with a large number of exhibits attached and another of which covers the testimony of 29 persons. It will take some time to rend all the affidavits presented by both parties; but they will probably have to be gone through from beginning to end in order that the court may thor oughly understand the matter,

INSTALLMENTS Now DUE.-Yearly installments due on improvement bonds is-sued under the Bancroft bonding act are now due and payable at the City Treasurer's office. Property-owners must bear in mind that on all improvements made prior to January 1, 1901, the first install-ment is now due. Many who bonded im-provements made last Fall are under the impression that they cannot be called upon to pay the first installment until a year has passed, but it is definitely decided that on all work done before the beginning of this year the first install-ment is now due. Some property-owners are now paying their fifth installment. total amount due is a little over

SHE USED A HATCHER.-Quite a wordy encounter took place at the Municipal Court in a case in which Mrs. E. J. Rice was charged with defacing a build-ing not her own, on the complaint of her former landlady, Mrs. Belle Bozarth. The latter testified that Mrs. Rice had broken a lock in her house, and had used a hatchet. Assistant District Attorney Spencer turned to Mrs. Rice and asked:
"So you had a hatchet? Are you going to imitate Mrs. Nation?" Mrs. Rice snapped back: "Well, it would be a good thing for Portland If there was a Mrs. Nation here. There's work for her." The Girls won't work at housekeeping if they can get situations at shopkeeping, typewriting or even at waiting on table in restaurants and hotels.

LOOKING TOWARD CONSOLIDATION.-General Summers has issued a call for a onvention of Spanish-American War Veterans for February 26. The place of meeting is Multnomah County Armory, and the subject of consolidation of camps will be discursed. The proposition is to bring the camps of the state under one or-ganization to be known as the state camp, the present camps to remain as branches. The move will enable many members to join the National organization of Spanish-American War Veterans.

EXAMINATION FOR MUSIC TEACHER.-The Civil Service Commission announces that on March 19 and 20 an examination will be held in this city for the position of music teacher in the Indian service. From the eligibles resulting from this examina-tion certification will be made to fill the position of music teacher at the Flandreau Indian School, South Dakota, at a salary of $900 per annum. Persons desiring to compete should apply at once to the commission at Washington, D. C., for application blanks.

Many Girls and Women Eager to Learn Something of Culinary Art-First Night's Session.

"I believe I can make some just like hose," said a bright-eyed girl at the cooking school last night, as she crunched her pearly teeth on an appetizing sample of hot American biscuits that the demonstrator of the culinary art had just made "And what's more. I'm going to try it."

There were 40 girls and a sprinkling of matrons and one man at the meeting, which was the first of the series of practical lessons in cookery that are being conducted Monday, Tuesday and Wednes. day evenings by the home department of the Portland Woman's Club. The les-sons are given free at the Portland In-dustrial School and Working Women's Home, 36% Third street. Prominent society matrons will roll up their sleeves and give the instructions in the mysteries of which they are past masters.

Last night the attendance was representative, and the managers were overjoyed. There were all kinds: Your housekeepers and old, ambitious to lear how to cook or how to acquire a few new wrinkles; skilled and unskilled domestics and young girls, whose hands, perhaps had never held the broom or wielded the

There was a flurry when the lone man "What do you suppose he wants?"

"Maybe he represents a baking powder sald another "Maybe he wants to learn how to cook," suggested one wise beyond her years.

"Horrors! Maybe he's a reporter!" was the most alarming remark of all. This caught the ears of the demonstra trix, and she ceased her work of mixing the flaky substance to remark: "The sole condition of your presence here, sir, is that ur names are not printed in the paper. Excitement subsided and the demor stratrix continued: There now-take two cups of flour sifted, two tenspoonsful of baking powder, one small tenspoonful of salt. Mix. Then add your shortening, one cup butter and lard. See work it around from the outside in with a little flour, and around we go, a ways the same way until the dough gets as smooth as velvet. There, isn't that lovely? And now we cut them for the overs-just the thickness of a dime. The oven must not be too hot at first, be-cause if it is the crust gets thick too soon and hardens, and your biscults will not be tender. And I leave them in just You needn't hurry to get m in, for it won't hurt them to stand

In the biscuits went, and while the assembly waited breathlessly, the instructences of living in a boarding-house where the cook changed 25 times in three me She explained also the requisites of a good cook and housekeeper as being like those of a genius, "an infinite capacity for taking pains." She also laid stress on the fact that at the present time there was more money for young women in ho keeping, and especially so if they good cooks, than in any other work, save a few special branches. With an eye of the clock, she talked, and when 15 min utes were up, out she drew the biscuits from the oven. A delicious fragrance swept through the room, and the batch was eagerly sampled by all those pres-ent. They were found to be delicious, fine flaked, and delicate in texture. The next lesson will be this evening on

New Office Just Created in Portland Public Schools,

The new office of Supervisor of Public School Kindergartens has come into existence in Portland. The Board of Education has given the Kindergarten Association power to act in all affairs pertaining to the schools for the remainder of the school year. The association selected Miss Val entine Prichard, one of its members, for entine Prichard, one of its members, for supervisor. Miss Prichard enters upon her new duties today. When asked about the report that two new kindergartens were to be opened, she said that for the present there would be only the three schools already in existence. The rumor that another was to be started in Slabtown, and still another on Water street. South Portland, was without foundation. It is quite possible that two more schools may be opened some time this year. One of these will probably be a kindergarten out on Third street, which has been hitherto carried on as a private school by a band of philanthropic women. The other, Miss Prichard thinks, ought to be over on the East Side somewhere. She says that for the present the three schools now in operation will remain in the same loca-tion, but their equipment will be improved. Miss Prichard will spend much of ler time at first visiting the three kindergartens, acquainting herself with their needs. She will also visit the pri-mary grade of the public schools, so that of the Board of Education, City Hall.

she can better understand how to make the kindergarten preparatory to it. She will have regular office hours in the rooms Portland is peculiarly fortunate in hav-ing so experienced and capable a kindergartner ready at hand to fill the office of gatter ready at mand to an the once of supervisor. Miss Prichard studied with Miss Ledyard, of San Jose, and after-wards was assigned her place as vice-president of the San Jose Normal Training School. At the same time she was in School. At the same time she was in charge of the kindergarten work in San Jose, a position she held if years. Afterwards she became principal of the Sacramenta Normal Training School, and while holding this, office she happened to go East on a visit. While in Canton, O., she became interested in local educational matters, which ended in her organizing a kindergarten association there. This a kindergarten association there. This was finally, through her influence, during her 'wo years' sojourn in the city, absorbed into the public schools. Miss Prich-ard also established the Cantur Normal Training School. She has always continued her kindergarten studies, doing much heavy work along special lines— psychology with J. Staley Hall, at Chieago; and nature study with Mrs. Com-stock, who has the chair in science at Cornell University. Two years ago, she spent considerable time visiting such cities as had introduced the kindergarten into their public schools-Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Daylon, etc. Several months ago Miss Prichard came to Portland to pt a position in St. Helen's Hall. She still retains the St. Helen's training school, but her new duties oblige her to surrender charge of the St. Helen's Hall model kindergarten at All Saints' Mission, in North Portland. Miss Emma Habersham, who had charge of the kindergarten at St Helen's Hall Annex, will take Miss Prichards place, assisted by Miss Fox and Miss Joseph. Miss Prichard's pupils, who are studying kindergarten methods under her, will hereafter so into the public schools for observation in place of All Saints' Mission. The corps of teachers under her will have a little club of their own, for the purpose of developing new lines of work under Miss Prichard
