

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL NEWS

The weather yesterday was decidedly unfavorable for business, but as it was the first of the month and Friday, as well, there was considerable activity among the local retailers, who were replenishing their stocks. The egg market, which has been weakening for several days, took a drop yesterday, and rested at 12 cents for the most of the stock, with some dealers intimating a desire to clean up at even lower figures. The San Francisco market has fallen to about 12c, and these figures have enabled the bay city dealers to put the surplus into the Puget Sound markets at lower prices than can be met by Portland dealers. As there is no other outlet at present, the price must come down in order to meet this competition. Live turkeys were a drug on the market yesterday, and sold at any old price, that was asked. Onions are weaker, but there is no change of importance in other lines.

PORTLAND MARKETS.

Grain, Flour, Etc.

The wheat market is still suffering from that tired feeling, and there is not enough business doing to enable a curve to be made. The price at this stage of the season is governed almost entirely by the needs of the buyer, and the disposition of the seller. In the local market, the price is still with port stocks still of huge proportions, exporters will not quote over 50 and 55c. Choice milling stock, if wanted for a special purpose, would sell at fraction higher.
