In this city, requesting that a room be reserved for the writer. One postal card in the lot was addressed to a young woman in Ohio, who was probably sadly disappointed on account of not receiving it.

Many people have so much confidence in the postal service that they will "mail" their letters in anything that looks like a letter-box, a lockless fire alarm-box, for instance. For some time a lot of large package mail boxes were stored on the back porch of the postoffice here, and when they were put both on the streets a number of letters were found in several of them.

Kentucky, to my death. I came to Oregon to live with friends at Eugene.

"One of my enemies followed me here and offered me $50 to go back with him. My father was killed in a Kentucky feud when I was eight days old. I have a wife and three children depending on me for support. During President Harrison's Administration, I engaged in internal revenue work in the Eighth district of Kentucky, and doubtless made enemies among whisky drinkers. I have taught school in Oregon for two years, and repeat if I am taken back to Kentucky my life will pay the penalty."

Mr. Beckley travels over the state constantly and has just returned from a trip across Western Oregon. The only locality where he saw and heard of leech was Marion County. In Lane County no leech has occurred from this cause. He says that generally sheep have wintered well. There are fine prospects for a large per cent of lambs.

The cures a medicine makes are the proofs of its merit, and Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the most.

"I never forged any affidavits for pension papers," went on Bowlin. "Those two pension claims mentioned in the present charge against me have not been allowed by the United States Government. No one has been defrauded out of one cent in this matter, and if the claims had gone through the Pension Department, my feet would have amounted to only $2. I merely drew up a few pension papers for old soldiers in Southeastern Kentucky, who could neither read nor write. I did it for love of the men and for the part they took in saving the Union."

"I have never been in a Kentucky feud myself, and have never shed blood. Manchester, Ky., is my town. I founded the town of Golbuck, Ky., in 1895, resided there three years, and established a Congregational Church and church-house. As for occupation, I was engaged in the Southern chandise business. I worked in the election for General Taylor, and talked for him and the gubernatorial ticket in my store where six cross roads meet. In this way I incurred the enmity of politicians who are now seeking to have me sent to
