Renewal of Fighting Between British and Boers.

DELAREY SUFFERED DEFEAT

Babington's Force Attacked and Routed Dutch Commando Near Ventersdorp, Killing and Capturing Many.

LONDON, March 25.—The War Office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, March E.-Babington's force, including Shekleton's column, attacked Delarey, 1500 strong, southwest of Ven-tersdorp, and defeated him, following him up rapidly, with the result that the Boer rear guard was driven in and their convoy captured, including the guns captured at Vasisbank. Our troops displayed great gallantry and dash. They captured two 15-pounder guns and one pom-pom, six Maxims, 330 rounds of big ammunition, 15,000 rounds of small ammunition, 160 rifles, 53 wagons and 24 carts, besides tak-ing 140 prisoners. Our losses were slight. Many Boers were killed or wounded."

The official casualty list issued this eventions since the failure of the negotiations between Lord Kitchener and General Botha. At Hartebeestfontein, March 22 and 23, two officers were killed and three wounded, and four men killed and 29 wounded. There also seems to have been heavy fighting at Aplie, near Gredgedacht, March 18, and near Ventersburg March 16. Ventersdorp, the scene of the defeat of Delarey, is about 67 miles northeast from Hartebeestfontein. It is possible, therefore, that the advices as to fighting at these points really refer to the same engagement.

QUEENSTOWN, Cape Colony, March 25, The town guard has been called out owing to reports that a force of Boers is near the town. Business has been shut down in order to allow the employes to man the trenches and forts day and night. The Beers, who are said to be 20 miles off, are alleged to have crossed the railroad near Drummond.

BRITISH ARMY REFORMS. Scheme Almost Amounts to

Conscription. NEW YORK, March 25.-The London correspondent of the Tribune, writing of England's scheme of military reorganiza-

The new scheme of military organization may be roughly described as the half-way house to conscription. It involves the development of existing system of voluntary enlistment and auxiliary services under conditions which preclude reason-able execution of success. When the experiment has been tried and the results are found unsatisfactory the way will be opened for compulsory service. The War Office will then be in a position to assert that everything is done under the volun-tary system to provide an adequate army for the defense of the empire, but that men were not forthcoming and that an elaborate paper scheme proved a failure. and military point of view will be com-pulsory service. The military experts who have been contending for years that con-scription was inevitable and that the emcould not be defended without it. unite in pronouncing Mr. Broderick's speech a musterly performance. That is because they perceive the trend of an exceedingly artificial attempt to provide 125,000 new troops and to organize six army corps, in as many districts, for constant training and annual maneuvers. Mr. Broderick himself spoke like an official who was condemned for political reasons to make brick without straw, and had little confidence in the voluntary system. The reorganized army will consist of three army corps of regulars, with head, quarters at Aldershot, Salisbury Plain and Dublin, and three army corps of auxfliary forces at Colchester, York and Scot-land, with 60 battalions of militis and volunteers, a considerable body of Imperial Yeomanry and 21 volunteer field artillery batteries. Each corps will have its own staff, transports and stores, and be virtually self-administrative. There will be no great increase of regulars, although from 13 to 18 battalions will be gained by the withdrawal of the Mediterranean and colonial garrisons and by the trans-fer of Indian troops to tropical posts and placing coaling stations under the control of the navy; but 50,000 will be added to the militia, the yeomanry will be recruited to $5,000, and in one way another over 125,000 fresh troops will be brought under training in six districts.

All these changes are made in order to keep three army corps in readiness for foreign service in an emergency, yet to leave three army corps behind to provide for home defense; and whether the troops are dispatched abroad or held in reserve, every corps will have its own organiza-tion, cavalry, artillery and transport, and be systematically trained for modern war.

The scheme looks effective on paper; the chief practical difficulty is promptly sug-gested by France, German and Austrian critics. How can the men be obtained? What magic can recruiting have in the future which it has lacked in the past? There is no increase of pay for regulars or militiamen, and there are no additional attractions in a service which is to be rendered more arduous than ever before,

The scheme of reorganization involves the liquidation of a political debt. When the Salisbury government dissolved Parliament last Autumn it pledged itself to reorganize the army, and consequently some project which looks impressive or paper had to be brought forward after the elections. When that pledge was made, the government itself was open to criticism for having underestimated the fighting resources of the Boers, and it was convenient for Ministers to lay stress on weak points of the military sys-tem and the necessity for a complete re-vision of methods. The Ministers, in redeeming their promise, indict the patriot-ism of the nation, the loyalty of the colo-nies and the efficiency of the voluntary system. Their scheme of reorganization is virtually a confession that everything went wrong in South Africa, that the army was unequal to its work, and that the voluntary system broke down. That indictment is not well founded. The Ministers miscalculated the resources of the Boers; either Lord Lansdowne or Lord Wolseley sent one army corps to do the work of six; infantry undertook the im-possible task of fighting mobile mounted forces; the Generals were amateurish in His ball was fixed at $4000, which was fursuch battles as Nicholson's Nek and Co-lenso, and reckless at Stormburg and Magersfontein; the officers lacked flexibility and quickness of mind: the staff work wa bad and the medical and transport serv-ices were defective.

Aldershot has not come out well, nor WAR IS ON ACAIN has Pall Mall nor Downing street; but the soldiers never flinch in their duty, and the army as a whole endured the strain of a terrible campaign with splen. did staying power. The results in South Africa have been highly creditable to the rank and file and have fully vindicated the efficiency of the auxiliary forces un-der voluntary enlistment. Pall Mall made some weeful miscalculations and the offi-cers in the field were not always. cers in the field were not always up to their work; but in order to retrieve these their work; but in order to retrieve these blunders it was not necessary to call in question the discipline of the volunteer army, and the patriotism of the nation by the present plan of reorganization, which stimulates the spread of militarism in a peace-loving community and leaves as the basis of imperial defense a specious paper schame enmanted with red tage without scheme enmeshed with red tape without the soldiers in plain sight.

> The Chamberlain Libel Suits. LONDON, March 25 .- On the resumption oday of the hearing of the libel actions brought against the Star and the Morning Leader by Arthur Chamberlain and his son, Neville Chamberlain in connection with charges bearing on War Office con-tracts, counsel for the defendants, continuing his address, declared Arthur Chamberlain had only decided to sue as an afterthought on consultation with Joseph Chamberlain, when the latter found he had no ground for action. Counsel found justification for the articles in the manner in which orders were secured for the Arklow works, and the fact that the Kynochs secured government orders when their tenders were higher than others. Counsel considered it was a thou-sand times to be regretted in the interests of honor, purity and public life, that Joseph Chamberlain's Parliamentary statement to the effect that he had no interest, direct or indirect, in the contracting companies was not corrected. Sir Edward Clark, rising to reply in be-half of the plaintiffs, contended that the articles were purely and simply attacks on Joseph Chamberlain through Arthur Chamberlain, READY FOR A CONFERENCE Object of Mineworkers' Committee in Visiting New York.

YORK, March 25.-President Mitchell, of the Miners' Union, sent the following statement to Wilkesbarre to-

"I have had no conference with J. P. Morgan or any other railroad president or coal operator. Contrary to reports we, the committee, did not come to New York in response to any invitation. So far as I know the miners have not, up to this time, been offered or granted any concessions. Of course, we all hope to avert the strike and we are putting forth our most urgent efforts to that end. We came to New York for the purpose of holding a conference, if possible, and in doing so, we are simply carrying out the wishes expressed by a majority of those who attended the late conference at Hazleton

Senator Hanna visited several places in the financial district today. When asked whether his presence here had any connection with coal strike rumors, the Senator replied it had none.

"I am here on another matter," he said. "I have nothing to do with this affair and I don't know anything about it, save what I have heard aand read the last few days. I have not been consulted regarding this matter at all. The Herald tomorrow will say that the operators of the anthracite mines and the executive officers of those railroads that are largely interested in that in-dustry are unanimous in the opinion there will be no strike ordered April 1 in the Pennsylvania coal regions. There seemed to be equal positiveness in the United Mineworkers will not be recognized by the operators. It seems to be pretty well established that Mr. Mitchell onslaught on others for no apparent reasured by the control of the co any conference as the representative of the United Mineworkers with any of the anthracite operators or with any person representing them. The operators are averse to giving any recognition to the organization. Several of the railroad officials received dispatches from the coal region today and the recipients said that all were of the same tenor-that the miners were anxious to avert a strike.

Storm Which Raged in Colorado and Wyoming Has Passed Away.

DENVER. March 25.-The storm which aged in Colorado and Wyoming yesterday and last night has passed away, and under the bright sunshine the snow is fast disappearing. The weather has not been cold, and it is not believed that range stock has suffered much. Ralirond traffic is still very much delayed, all trains from the East being reported from six to eight hours late. Trains from the West are also off time. The Chicago Commercial Club, which was scheduled to arrive here at 6 o'clock tonight, will not reach the city until tomorrow morning, having een delayed several hours by the ing of a bridge on the Rio Grande West-

Floods in Chicago Suburbs. CHICAGO, March 25.-Heavy rains of the past few days have caused floods in the lowlands south and southeast of Chicago and the suburban towns of Grand Crossing, Drexel, Woodruff, Dauphin Park and Burnside are inundated. The flood in some places is so deep that many famities are imprisoned in their houses, and sidewalks, fences and outbuildings have floated away. The conditions are worse at Burnside, where the streets are under a foot of water. A dike at Eighty-seventh street and the Illinois Central tracks has given away under the pressure and fully two feet of water poured over the sur-rounding country, basements within an area of four miles being flooded and considerable other damage done.

Early Crops Destroyed. MATTOON, Ill., March 25.-A terrific hall and wind storm passed over this section last night, doing great damage to property and early crops. Between this city and Charleston a fast Big Four express passed between two huge funnel-shaped clouds, which for a time caused consternation among the passengers.

Defenseless Men and Women. ST. PETERSBURG, Saturday, March 21 A Ministerial Council was held at Sarskoe-Selo yesterday, under the presidency of the Czar, to discuss the riots, the con-tinuation of which tomorrow is anticipat-ed. The delegations of the students at a meeting yesterday withdrew their previous invitation to assemble tomorrow This step was taken in order to prevent the police from arresting those who have taken an active part in the agitation for students' liberties and university reform and drafting them into the army. In spite of this, it is feared that the workingmen will assemble, as strikes are threatening to break out tonight. Several large forces of troops accountered for active service marched through the streets today, pre-sumably towards the suburbs to check the workmen of certain factories who have been warned against entering the city Sunday under the penalty of losing their English Royal Party Received With Demonstration.

MALTA, March 25 .- The steamer Ophir, bearing the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on their tour of the world, arrived here this morning. The warships in the harbor were manned and dressed. The sun shone brightly, and the crowds were early astir, pouring into Valetta and filling the terrace and ramparts commanding a view of the harbor. The approach of the Ophir was heralded when she was still 18 miles distant by salutes from a flotilla of 18 torpedo-boats, which went out to meet her. She entered the harbor amid salvos of artillery from Anglo, the citadel forts and warships After receiving the officials, the Duke and Duchess landed and drove to Porto Reale, and thence to the palace. The ball conies of all the houses along the route were profusely decorated with flags and bunting, and filled with cheering specta-tors. The entire distance from the landing place to the palace was brightly decorated with Venetian maste and arches. The streets through which the Duke and Duchess and their party passed were lined with troops and blue jackets.

CLEVELAND, O., March 25.—It became known here today that J. P. Morgan is negotiating with Senator Hanna for the transfer to the United States Steel Cor-poration of Mr. Hanna's interest in the American Shipbuilding Company. The understanding is also that John D. Rocke-feller, who owned one-tenth of the stock of the shipbuilding company, transferred his interest, and that the effort now is to gain control of Mr. Hanna's holdings, which are said to be equal to those of Mr. Rockefeller. Mr. Hanna was the largest individual stockholder in the American Shipbuilding Company. The sale of Rockefeller's interest to the United States Steel Corporation means virtually the retirement of that gentleman from the Lakes. If the sale of Mr. Hanna's se-curities is accomplished, the Senator will also virtually have retired from business. The possession of the Rockefeller and Hanna interests gave the United States Steel Corporation a foundation of onefifth of all the securities.

AN AMERICAN "BLACK POPE." Father Meyer May Become the Gen eral of the Jesuits.

NEW YORK March 25.-The Herald Among the possibilities suggested by reports from Rome is that of an American becoming "the Black Pope." There are according to an old saying, three Popes in Rome—"the White Pope," who sits in the chair of St. Peter; "the Red Pope," who is the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda; and "the Black Pope," who is the General of the Jesuits. Cardinal Gibbons' name has often been mentioned for the first named office. That of Father Rudolph F. Meyer, also an American, is also spoken of in connection with the last of the trio. According to the reports in reference, Leo XIII has determined to remove Father Martin, General of the Society of Jesus, on the grounds that the recent popular demon-strations against the order in France, Austria, Spain and Portugal, are due to mismangement, for which Father Martin is held responsible by his holiness.

Members of the Society of Jesus in this city are inclined to doubt the accuracy of this report. They believe, however, of this report. that in view of Father Martin's bad state of health an assistant may be appointed with every likelihood of succeeding him eventually.

"If any action had already been taken by the holy father," said the Rev. Father J. J. Wynne, S. J., last night, "it would have been reported to us by cable by our representative in Rome, Father Meyer. Nothing on the subject, however, has been On the other hand, there is a possibility that a vicar has or may be appointed as assistant to Father Mar(in, who will take charge of his work. The General has been in bad health for a year or more, suffering seriously, I fear, from Bright's disease. Though he is compar tively a young man, about 54 years of age, and has several assistants and advisers who have charge of different sections of the world under his direction, Rev. Father Meyer, representing this country, his work is very onerous. Under the circumstances I think it probable that the holy father has given him an assistant.
