CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

MARQUAM GRAND - Modjeska. "Macbeth"; evening, "Mary Stuart. CORDRAY'S THEATER-"A Brass Monkey." METROPOLITAN THEATER-"Pawn Ticket

FROM SMELT TO VEAL.—Since the cotch Comm of smelt in the Cowling began to fall off to be the steamboats coming from that section are bringing partial cargoes of butchered calves, and citizens will doubtiess be glad to change a diet of smelt for one of veal. Of late the boats from the Cowlitz have been bringing in asserting the complete the complete that the complete the complete that the complete that the boats from the Cowlitz have been bringing in asserting the complete that the complete th been bringing up as many as 500 boxes of smelt per day, which would seem to be enough to furnish the whole state with brain producing food. Now the arrivals average only about 100 boxes per day, and they are the last run from the tail end of the school. The dairy farms along the fiver are beginning to turn off calves wholesale, and various butchers receive 15 to 29 by every boat. Many of these have the livers left in them, but the ma-jority are minus the "sweetbreads." Either the calves did not have any or. as the butchers and dairymen allege, they were taken out by the steamboatmen. It seems a pity to see so many calves slaughtered when milch cows and beef cottle are so scarce and in such great de-nand as at present, for many of these calves are evidently of good breeds. Dairymen, however, say that they are in the butter-making business, and not in the stockratsing business, and they must get rid of their colors. get rid of their calves as soon as prac-ticable, for the milk they would consume would be worth much more than the calves. In some places the calves are killed or got rid of when only a few days old, but such "staggering bobs" are not illowed to be sold in the markets here.

Judson's Wonderful Inculator.-Colo-nel R. C. Judson, the well-known agrostologist, who has made thousands of blades of grass of many different kinds grow where naty a blade grow before is now taking a lively interest in poultry and egg production, and is going to cause housands of chickens and tens of thousands of eggs to be produced where none have heretofore been produced. He wants to get his enterprise started on a large scale, and was seen yesterday prowling among the Front-street dealers in poultry supplies, looking for an incubator. He could find plenty of ordinary ones, but he wanted a railroad incubator. This is a sort of endless chain arrangement traveling slowly through a series of chambers or tunnels properly heated, and which is fitted with a hopper at one end for depositing eggs in the traveling conveyor. The machinery is timed, so that the eggs are hatched as they reach the end of the heated tunnel and a constant stream of young chickens blows out into his brooders, while the conveyor goes back to take away more eggs to be hatched. He could not find the kind of incubator he wanted, and will probably have to build one. In this case he will locate it at a hot spring he knows of, which will furnish power to operate it and also the heat necessary for hatching out the chickens.

LIFE IN A FISH TRAP TOWN.-George Hibbert, publisher and editor of the Chinook Observer, was in the city yesterday on business. He is highly elated over the prospects of his paper, which is now 15 weeks old and which he says is "a daisy." It is published at "Old Chinook," a town on the shore of Baker's Bay, the ancient capital of Pacific County. The town is essentially a fish trap town, and cash business town. There are 500 fish traps owned there, and every one of them is worth $1000, and one could not be bought for $10,000, so the town has half a million invested in fish traps. The fish-ing season will begin soon, and then the money will begin to fly, for there will be launches from canneries, from cold-storage establishments, from pickling men, on hand waiting for fish, and every salmon caught can be exchanged for "$20 pieces" at once. Of course, the trapmen will be anxious to exchange their $20 pieces for "Observers," and thus every-body will be happy and prosperous. Mr. Hibbert thinks there is no place like a NEED FIRE PROTECTION.—A delegation of lumber and other manufacturers at the north end of the city, represented by Donaid Mackay, called yesterday at the office of the Board of Fire Commissioners to inquire why the fire engine-house built at the north end some time ago and named the Storey Engine-house, in honor of ex-Mayor Storey, was not sup-plied with an engine. There is no fire en-gine in that part of the city north of ashington street, and in the manu facturing district at the north end fire protection is badly needed. Chief Camp-bell, of the Fire Department, remarked that the empty engine-house was rather an empty honor to Mr. Storey, and that he was free to admit that there ought to of an engine, and perhaps the Fire Com-missioners would do the rest.

NEW KINDERGARTEN.-The Kindergarten Association has taken charge of a kin-dergarten at the corner of Harrison and Third streets, and will conduct it in the future in addition to three already established. The association has also used to establish two new kindergartens. One will be located in East Portland, and the other in Albina. Miss Pritchard, the superintendent of the several institutions. lished. The association has also decided perintendent of the several institutions, expressed the opinion last night that the new branches would be ready for opening by the middle of April or the first of May. The apparent inactivity of the association during the past few months seems to have vanished, and all the members are taking an active interest in making the work of the association a success. The average attendance at the four schools already established is sout 140. There is a principal and one assistant at each institution.

No Action on Philippine Tarripp. No action has been taken by any Port-land trade organization on the items of the proposed Philippine tariff which chiefly interest the Pacific Coast. Secre-tary Root, of the War Department, will hold the schedules open until April 15, to hear objections. Some Portland firms may ask that the duty on oleomargarine be ask that the duty on oleomargarine be raised. It is put at 6 cents per kilo, whereas pure butter pays 5 cents. The differential between the genuine and the booms askele. bogus arsicle is only 1 cent per kilo of two and one-fifth pounds. W. H. Chapin offers to forward to Washington all objections or suggestions made by Port-iand merchants. He may be addressed care of W. B. Glafke Company. The tariff was published in The Oregonian March 22.

Mr. KLEEMAN'S DEFENSE.—Otto Kleeman, who is charged with assauiting Conductor Heliyer, makes the following statement in his defense: "The reason I struck the conductor was that he carried us by the crossing and would not ring back for my invalid wife, who is not able to walk, much less through the mud, and whom I had to carry to the crossing in my arms." NEW WATER MAINE.-The work of laying a six-inch water main on North Twen-ty-fourth street, from Thurman street to the St. Helens road, a distance of 1880 feet, has been completed, and a branch is now being laid up Wilson street, from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth, a distance of 520 feet, to furnish fire protection for

San Francisco Lowest rates. "A Contemporary of Jesus." - Lecture by Rev. Dr. Wise, Wednesday, March T. Unitarian Chapel, & P. M.

BEGAN Too LATE.-The late extension of the fire limits made by the Council has prevented the carrying out of one proposed ement. It had been contemplated to raise the house at the northwest corner of Sixth and Stark streets, owned by Sam Wolf, and to build another story under it. A permit was taken out for this work before the ordinance extending the fire limit. ing the fire limits was passed, but the work was not commenced. Now the Fire commissioners refuse to allow the work to be proceeded with under the old permit. They say that if this was allowed anyone could take out such permits keep them for years and so defeat object of any future extension of the fire limits.

GOOD ONLY BY COMPARISON .- Yesterday was a rather remarkable day in regard to variety of weather, sunshine and showers and hall storms all mixed up. time the sidewalks were fairly white with hall, and an Eastern man who is visiting the city undertook to chaff some of the citizens about the beauties of Oregon cil-mate. He was requested to giance his hazel eyes over the pages of The Morning Oregonian and note what delightful weather they were enjoying all over the East. He had nothing more to say.

Prisoner's Strange Excuse - John Jones was before Municipal Judge Cameron yesterday, charged with attempting to hold up a milk wagon last Sun-day and when asked what he had to say, he muttered: "Circles." "What do you mean by such an expression?" Deputy City Attorney Davis asked. Jones re-sponded with a confused statement that everything was in circles, and that the world is a circle. Jones' case was held over until today, so that his mental condition may be examined.

REVERSING THE OLD ORDER.-Steamboats running between Portland and Sa-lem are now carrying more grain products in the way of bran, chop and all sorts of cut feed up the river than they are bringing down. This is partly due to the fact that there is no flour mill at Salem now, and partly to the small crop of cereals in the Wilamette Valley last year. Not only is a large amount of ground feed going to Salem, but considershipped to Albany and points

SIXTH SOCIAL SCIENCE LECTURE.-Dr. Wise's lecture will be upon "A Contemp rary of Jesus," at the Unitarian Church this evening. This will be a thoughtful presentation of the personality most resembling that of the founder of Chris-tianity, and one whose profound views of human life and society no doubt permeated Palestine. The speaker's well-known scholarship and breadth of sympathy assure an intensely interesting lecture Dredge Cutting for 31 Feet of Water at Zero.

President Hughes and Commissioners Banfield, Swigert, Reilly and McCraken, of the Port of Portland Commission, went down the river to Knapp's yesterday, to see the dredge at work. They were ac-companied by J. G. Kelley, the newly elected superintendent of river work, and Clerk Stevens. The dredge had just been brought up the river from Eagle Cliff. The commissioners found it dredging upstream, and discharging through 600 feet of pipe. It is cutting a channel which will be a mile long, 150 feet wide, and have 31 feet of water at zero. The present channel depth is 22 feet. The material dredged is sand. Superintendent Kelley examined the dredge, and expressed entisfaction with it.

Sufficient work was not done yesterday to test the value of upstream dredging. President Hughes said yesterday that the dredge and the current are doing good work.

MATINEE TODAY.

"Macbeth" by Modjeska and Mac-

Madame Modjeska will be seen at the matinee at the Marquam, this afternoon, in Lady Macbeth, one of her greatest characters, and the greatest of Shakespeare's women. Mr. MacLean will play the part be an engine there. He suggested that Mr. Mackay endeavor to persuade the Council to supply funds for the purchase of an engine, and perhaps the Fire Company are strongly cast. The company would do the control of the company is the best that Wagenhals & Kemper have ever sent out, and a great performance is assured. Tonight "Mary Stuart" will be the bill. From the title, "The Parish Priest." one would judge that Daniel Sully's new production was a strictly religious one, on the contrary there is not enough religion in it to offend the most constant and loyal church-goer.

WOMAN TAKEN FROM A BURNING

BUILDING.

An exciting scene was witnessed at ire which broke out at Abraham B. Burger's house, 47 North Fifth street, last night, where Mrs. Burger was rescued der by the gallant work of Firemen Augustus Erickson, Perry Jackson and Willlam Aspland, of Company No. 1. The nage was $700, and the insurance is $1000. A pet canary was burned to death. Curiously enough, two fires broke out nearly at the same time. An alarm was sounded from box 142, Third and Davis streets by Policeman Edward Wilkinson for a blaze which started in a barn owned by Mr. Nicolai. The fire-horses raced for this fire at their usual speed, and the solitary horse inside the barn was res-The flames were easily subdued, and the lose was slight. Just then, a man in a buggy drove up and told Chief Camp-bell that a fire had broken out on Fifth street, near Everett, and the horses raced to the new fire, which proved more ex-

"Don't jump!" yelled the crowd, and ust then Truck No. 1 swung around the orner. Erickson, Jackson and Aspland blaced a ladder in front of the blazing collding, and in less than a minute Mrs Burger was carried down, amid the applause of the crowd.

Mrs. Burger appeared to be hysterical, and she cried; "Where's my husband? Find him." In the meantime, Burger was busy fighting the flames at the rear, but the neighbors thought he was inside the burning house, and Policeman Car-penter volunteered to search for him. Carpenter gallantly fought his way through the amoke, when a yell was alsed: "Burger is in the yard," and Carnter gladly came back.

Some of the furniture was saved from he Year Goors, but the blaze burst out with increasing fury, and at this point threatened to spread to the factory of Povey Brothers' Glass Company, at the rear of Burger's house. William Kuckenberg's house, to the south, was also scorched with flame, but after flard work the fire was confined to its original limits

AWFUL PLACE FOR SICK. Joss-House Hospital Will Be Officially Investigated. Because of increase in the death rate and bad sanitary conditions, the Chinese Joss-House Hospital, at 62% Second street, will be the object of early investigation by the Board of Health.

Since February 23 last, six Chinese have field in the Joss-House Hospital without receiving nursing or proper medical attention. Their names are: Hen Sing, 50 years, and Sai Chu, 58 years, from excessive opium smoking; Wong Duck, 44 years, peritonitis; and Ham Won, 52 years, King Ping, 62 years, and Ah Long, 53 years, each from consumption. During the present month, 11 Chinamen have died in this city—a higher percentage of titled to some consideration, but the City deaths than has occurred for years. The statistics of the Board of Health show that 63 Chinese died in this city in 1900, of whom only 11 died in the Joss-House Hospital. These figures gave an average Chinese death rate of 5.25 per month. The death rate for the present month is, therefore, more than double six other Chinamen who died this month in Chinese lodging-houses were patients in the Joss-House Hospital before they were taken to their own rooms to die. When Second-street Chinamen were asked about the matter, their faces became more stolid and they said: "No savey." An Oregonian reporter visited the Joes-House Hospital a few days ago, when the lookout man was asleep. The entrance is through a long, narrow passageway, and the hospital is in a deplorable, unsanitary ondition. Sunlight never steals into the dirty, dingy room, and the atmosphere is vile. The Chinaman in charge of the "joint" holds his position because he is not afraid of the devil—an important qualification in Chinese eyes. Bunks are on either side of the "hospital," where the sick men are, and if the patients can crawl to the table in the center of the floor, where the food is, well and good. If the majorite control of the table is If the patients cannot do so, that is their affair, says the Chinese "nurse." Three poor wretches huddled in bunks, moaned as the reporter passed. Herbs and strange vegetables lay on a table.

Chinamen in good health do not visit the Joss-House Hospital. "Why should we visit a place where a man is going to die?" they ask incredulously. So, the sick and the queer Chinese "nurse" are left to themselves. No cheering visits before the contract of the brighten the long days, and no flowers from a friend send out fragrance. It is curlous that as long as a China-man is in good health and is able to work or has money, he is all right in Chinese eyes. But, if continued ill health selzes him, his friends avoid him as an unclean thing. He either goes to the Joss-House Hospital or his own room, unattended and uncared for, and dies. Then his friends brighten up, they serve roast pig and belief rice, and give him a glorious funeral, costing from $75 to $125. See Nine, a Chinaman who recently com-mitted suicide by stabbing himself with a pair of scissors, opposite the Joss-House Hospital, vainly tried to borrow money from his friends to pay cheap board, up to the time he tried to kill himself. "There is no use lending you any more money. You will not get well," said his friends. Then See Nine died, and his clan gave him's a noisy, public funeral which good when the matter will be investigated by the Board of Health, in a day or two. He was of opinion that the proper place for sick Chinamen was a special building, which ought to be erected within the grounds of the Poor Farm.

"My opinion is that the Joss-House Hospital should be inspected by the Health Officer once a mouth," said City Physician Zan. "A fund might be raised among Chinamen in this city from which among Chinamen in this city, from which sick Chinamen might be sent to some recognized hospital, where the patients recognized hospital, where the patients would receive proper medical attention."

"At present a good many sick Chinamen are at the County Hospital, and are a source of continual expense to the taxphyers of Multnomah County," said County Physician McKay. "In regard to the Joss-House Hospital, it is the duty of the Health Department to thoroughly investigate it, as it is no place for well people, still less sick people. From what I know of the place, the sick Chinese are left entirely to themselves. If they are able to crawl to their meals, they can do able to crawl to their meals, they can do it; and if not, they die from starvation and lack of medical attendance. In my opinion, this is contrary to the law governing death certificates, as made out by a physician: It would be beneficial, should a fund be collected in Chinatown for sick Chinamen, but there would be difficulty in collecting the money. Why Sidewalks Are Neglected. PORTLAND, March 25 .- (To the Editor.) Will you kindly allow the space publicly to draw the attention of the Street Superintendent to the condition of First street, from Madison to Columbia streets? The business men on this street have entered a formal protest with Engineer Chase, and have drawn his attention to the fact that the crossings are impassa ble, but he turned our appeals neide with a promise that he does not keep.

As we are taxpayers, and also pay oc cupation license as well, we should be ento look after the interests of those who placed him there for that purpose.

G. COVACH & CO. SAM MARGULIES. I. FRIEDMAN.

City Engineer Chase, in reply to the foregoing, says that he has not ignored the matter of the sidewalks on First street, between Madison and Columbia, nor anywhere else, and that he never ignores the requests of property-owners.

It is the duty of the City & Suburban Railway Company to repair the cross walks between the rails and tracks, and it has been repeatedly requested to do so, both in writing and verbally; in fact, notices have been served within the last three days, and the company has more than once promised to attend to the repairs at once. The portion of the crosswalks outside of the railway company's right of way must be paid for by the property-owners or out of the general

Mr. Chase will be glad if some one will devise a method to cause the Street Rallway Company to respond more promptly to notices served for the repair of streets

Fairview Archaeology Society.

The Fairview Archaeology Society of Fairview held an enjoyable public meet-ing in the Smith Memorial Presbyterian Church Monday night, and in spite of the unifavorable weather there was a fair at-tendance. Rev. W. T. Scott had charge of the meeting, and the chorus choir fur-nished the music, under the charge of A. L. Stone, which was most excellent. The evening was devoted to the study of "Continent-Building." During the evening the members of the society were supposed to go on an exploring expedition and wit.
