contrary, holds that it must be clearly shown that the value of such property is at least reasonably near the price to be paid, and that the action of the directore is subject to review at the instance of any stockholder who considers himself aggrieved. Justice Dixon points out that under section 40, when corporate stock has once been issued for property purchased, the Legislature has directed the application of another rule. Under such conditions, nothing but actual fraud in the transaction can impair the right of the stockholder to hold his stock as full-paid stock free from further call. Applying the rule as above laid down, Justice Dixon dis-cueses the actual value of the property. the purchase of which was contemplated by the issue of $45,000,000 of stock. He finds it admitted that the value of the He Guggenheim plant, as physical posses-sions, did not exceed $10,000,000, and with the cash to have been tured over, leaves about $23,000,000 to be made up in the good will of the business and the leases and the contracts, the nature of which was not disclosed at any time in the proceedings. While the defendants claimed the complainants had not borne the burden of proof cast upon them, Justice Dixon holds that under these circumstances the rule should not be vigorously enforced at this stage.

stage. The proofs, Justice Dixon says, point strongly to the conclusion that in the negotiations between the parties the real value of the property to be acquired had not been the basis upon which they have determined the amount of stock to be issued therefor. The fact that the expected consummation of the deal caused the market value of the stock to rise, and which was used as an argument that the proposed pur-chase would be advantageous to the stock-holders, Justice Dixon finds to be without weight. He says that if the intrinede value of the stock was only 60 per cent of its face value and an outsider offered 80 per cent in money for additional stock to be issued, such an offer would clearly be advantageous to the company and its stockholders, but it could not be legally accepted, because the Legislature has required that 100 per cent, whether in cash or property, shall be received for corpo-rate stock. The court finds that the mere fact that two-thirds of the directors and stockholders voted for the purchase can not prevent its review, pointing out that this would not justify an issue of stock for an illegitimate enterprise. In accordance with these views, the court orders that the stay be continued enjoining the purchase, and that proceed ings to increase the stock should likewise remain in statu quo pending further argu-ment, and a decision by the Court of Chancery as to the real value of the Gug genheim property. All Differences Adjusted.

Why Monarchs Were Insane. Lippincott's.

Pathologists have often pointed out the act that physical and mental enervation are apt to go hand in hand, and the intellectual degeneracy of etiquette monarche may have a good deal to do with the Sybaritism of their palace life. The plebelan functions which medieval sovereigns were obliged to perform by proxy included the adjustment of their gala gloves. Lewisohn and Rogers to the directory of the consolidated company. The Metal Selling Company exports about 55,-000,000 ounces of silver yearly, nearly all of which it handles in its capacity as agent of the American Smelting & Refining Company. The Guggenheim company yearly export is about 25,000,000 ounces. The consolidated companies will control about 90 per cent of the business. The settlement of the differences means that the silver and copper production of the United States will be controlled by one company. The Metal Selling Company, which is recognized as a Rockefeller con-

Party in Oregon Has No Real Cause for Dissension.

Corvallis Gazette

On what basis will the Democratic party in Oregon effect reorganization? This question is before the leaders of that party, especially in Multnomah County. As a matter of fact, so many diverse factions are found in that party, all clamoring for recognition, and each striving for dominancy, that its reorganization will be exceedingly difficult, if not actu-ally impossible. This is especially true since several of the issues it presented have been decided at the ballot-box by adverse majorities so great as to consil-tute a final verdict. No new issue which carries the promise of victory has been nor is likely to be found By some means, however, not easily un derstood, the leaders hope to hold the party together, hoping that the Repub-lican party in Multhomah County will be so divided at the next general elec-tion that the Democrats may slip into power, or at least share the spoils of victory with one of the Republican fac-The hope of participating in the tions. spoils is, as the Democratic party now constituted, its strongest incentive to cohesion and action. This, however, is a vague hope, when built on the hope of Republican dissension, for it is not at all probable that any dissension will exist among Republicans. For years the F spublican party in Mult nomah County has not had so little caus for dissension as it now has. Each of the late factions has been recognized and given a share of party honors and trust. No one has been read out of the party nor excluded from its councils be of being a Simon man or a Mitchell man because he opposed the city charter en-acted by the late Legislature, because of the consolidation of county offices, nor for any other reason

What is true of the party in Multno mah County is equally true of it through-out the state. It never had less cause for dissension than it now has. For years the state has not been so ably represented in the councils of the Nation. Our members of Congress are in-dustrious, active and alert in looking after the interests of their respective districts. Our Senators are both men of recognized ability, industry, experience and influence. Our whole delegation is in political accord with the party, and fairly in harmony with the Administration. The defeat of Mr. Corbett for Sen-ator left no bitterness behind it. He and his adherents are too honestly Republican in principles to permit mere personal disappointment to turn them aside from party fealty. The election of Mr. Mitchell provokes no antagonism. Our Senators will work harmoniously together for the best interests of the state in upholding Republican principles. Selfinterest, if no other reason, will keep them in harmony. There will be no party dissension from this direction.

Protestant Foreign Missions.

Rev. D. Judson Smith in the North American Review.

For the few scores of missionaries at work in 1860, at the close of the century we have 12,607, with an army of 73,615 In over 5000 central stations through all the American, the Russian, the Japanese, is 50 cents per package, lo you have liver marks "Do your kidneys trouble you?" "Do you have pains in back or un-r shoulder-blades?" der she 'Do you wake up tired and out of sorts "Is your strength failing ?"

In this single fact we have the promise of final victory. In these fields are 10,993 organized churches, with a membership of 1.259,223 souls, increasing at the fate of 83,885 each year. The annual income of the major societies has reached the noble sum of $17,161.093, and the yearly gifts from native Christians aggregate $1,822,981. The educational work presents like noble proportions. There are 32 col-leges on mission fields, with 35,414 students, of whom 2275 are women; of theological and training schools 385 are re-ported, with 11,905 students. Boarding and high schools number $57 and $3.148 pupils; industrial and medical classes count 197, and enroll 6998 pupils, while in common or day schools the pupils reach the number of 90,442. The grand total of those under instruction is 1.046,209, one-third of them girls. The Bible, entire or in portions, has been translated into 421 different languages or dialects; a work of incalculable labor and value, of itself alone sufficient to challenge for this great enterprise the profound respect of the civilized world. Add to this the products of mission presses-364,904,399 pages of Christian lit-erature annually, and 297,435 copies of periodical literature-and the significance of this fact becomes majestic in proportions and influence. Besides all this, bear in mind the 355 hospitals and 753 dispensaries with 2,579,650 patients treated every year to every one of whom the gospel is preached, many hearing it for the first time; and the foreign missionary enter-prise that includes all these varied agen enterties assumes the dimensions and characte of the greatest single force for the uplift-ing and regeneration of the world which we know or of which we can conceive.

Recent Factors in History.

Fortninghtly Review. Every century since the Renaissance has seen the rise of a new power and a transfer of political supremacy. The 16th is the age of Spain. In the 17th comes the rise of France at the expense of Spain. With the 18th there is the expan sion of England at the cost of France. The ruling political fact of the 19th century has been the rise of the German Empire-at our expense, as Germans imagine the 20th century is mainly destined to show. Even in view of an ex-perienced and authoritative thinker of absolute sobriety and deliberation like Herr von Brandt, the triumph of 1870 is significant less as a goal of attainment than as a point of departure. The idea represented by the Kaiser, and which has as complete a control over the enthusiasm of his subjects in the mass as the imp rial sentiment exercises over us, is that Sedan, Versailles and the Indemnity, though marking at the moment the over-throw of France, established in reality a continental base for the development German world-power. The natural repetition of history in the 20th century, as Count von Bulow indicated in unmistak-able terms, when introducing the new navy bill two or three days after the battle of Colenso, would be the supersession of British commercial and maritime su premacy by Germany-not necessarily by violent means, but in the regular course of change by which the scepter of pro eminence is drawn inevitably to the hand most fit to grasp it, as the needle must follow the slow shift of the magneti pole.

must make the whole problem far more complex and far less calculable than the struggle for empire between England and France throughout the 18th century; but the broad issue for the 20th none the less is whether Great Britain or the German empire, at the end of the next two or three generations will possess the relative ascendency in trade and its inseparable attribute of sem power. It is obvious that either or both may be surpassed by the United States. Between these three that contest must be decided, and the victor will have to settle with Russia Indeed, but at a date which need not interest contemporary speculation. The convic-tion of Germans is that they will be first, that their real difficulty will be with America, and that we, if we retain at all a place worth considering a hundred years hence, shall be third. The result in our case absolutely depends upon timeliness and the intensity with which we may realize that this must be the actual problem of the new century, whatever view may be taken of the ultimate solution.
