Curiosity and Inquisitiveness
On hand to hand. Through them we have discovered that the average price is worthless, because it is never paid up. If you are the owner of a piece of land, not only will it cost you to get your money's worth out of it. Think what the price of the land, the most expensive item, would be if you were to know all the properties that have been sold in the vicinity of your property. This is a common practice.
