

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Amusements Tonight. MARQUAM GRAND—James Neill company in "A Social Highwayman."... FRONT-STREET CONTROVERSY SETTLED.—The controversy which has been raging among the employees of certain commission houses on Front street as to whether a live fish placed in the hands of a woman would make the pan any heavier, has finally been settled.

EAGLE FEEDS IN THE CITY.—A handsome bald eagle spends two or three hours every morning catching fish at a place within the city limits, in plain view of the passengers on a trolley car line. He perches on an oak tree near the shore of a lake in which carp and catfish are plentiful. When his "eagle eye" spies a fish in the shallow water near the shore, down he swoops, and setting the fish in his talons, flies to the tree, where he eats, and then watches for another victim. The bird of freedom has chosen the position well, as the tree is on the extreme end of a long pier, which no one can approach without being visible for half a mile.

THE LATE AMOS THOMPSON.

Illustrative of the same general point, I am of the impression that the Ministers' Association of this city is organized upon such lines as to definitely exclude the ministers of Unitarian churches. "This is enough to illustrate. And what I have said here of the Unitarian churches is true in general also of several other honorable branches of the Christian church at large.

FEE WILL BE CHARGED

OREGON HUNTERS MUST PAY $1 LICENSE IN WASHINGTON. Same Law Applies to Resident Hunters and Those from Idaho—Outsiders Must Pay $10. An impression has prevailed among Oregon hunters that a law recently passed in Washington requiring them to pay a license fee of $10 before they could hunt in that state. Such impression is incorrect.

drill, but with what the men ate and drank. It would have been a Godsend if the officials in our Spanish War had strictly adhered to this principle. It would have saved us from the disgrace of embalmed beef, putrid canned meats and the Army canteen, or saloon. The Christian sentiment of this Nation has been awfully outraged by the declaration of the secular press that the canteen was a military necessity; that is, the Government had to follow our soldiers with a military necessity to give them a canteen in God's name this Army had better be called home and send officers and men with characters that are moral and habits that are safe. We had no regimental saloons during the war of the Rebellion. The orders were emphatic about the use of liquors. Young men, now, as well as in the Army, you need healthy bodies and clear heads, and that you can't have if you are prone to dissipation.

THE DISCIPLINED SOLDIER.

Dr. Gue Preaches to Battery A, Oregon National Guard. Rev. G. W. Gue, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, East Side, preached last night to Battery A, Oregon National Guard. The members appeared in uniform, and were given seats in the body of the auditorium. One of the pleasing features of the evening service was the solo, "Star-Spangled Banner," by Mrs. E. Miller. Dr. Gue spoke on "The Disciplined Soldier," taking his text from II Timothy, II: "No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life." He said: "The Apostle Paul had great admiration for the soldier character, and honorable soldiers are admired everywhere. The soldiers of our Government were brave, unfeeling, unyielding, and a grander class of men were never marshaled under any flag. They were discriminated against at the beginning of the rebellion, but they proved their valor on many well-fought fields and carried away the laurels at the close of the strife.

UNITARIANS EXCLUDED.

Rev. W. G. Elliot Preaches Against Y. M. C. A. Discrimination. Of the $10,000 that the Salem Y. M. C. A. is raising for its building fund there has been subscribed $2000. One of the largest contributions was $30 from Rev. W. G. Elliot, Jr., pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Salem. With the gift he sent a letter of protest to the solicitors in charge of the Y. M. C. A., directed at the exclusion of members of the Unitarian churches from the full membership in the Young Men's Christian Association, which is supposed to be un denominational. The letter, which vigorously expresses his position, follows: "I am happy to subscribe to the fund which you are now engaged in raising for a new building, but I ask that this letter be made as public as the fact of my subscription, because a close question of principle is involved whenever a member of a Unitarian church is asked to give in the cause you represent. Throughout the world, as you know, the Young Men's Christian Association excludes from full membership any man who is not a member of one of the so-called 'evangelical churches.' Under this rule, not all who hold Unitarian views, but all members of so-called Unitarian churches are accordingly excluded from the solicitors' list. In the 20th century of grace, the spectacle of a world-wide organization calling itself Christian and claiming to be un denominational, but yet excluding from full membership Edward Everett Hale, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Ralph Waldo Emerson, James Martineau. And so it is that when we Unitarians are asked to give to the Y. M. C. A., we give rather cheerfully because we dislike to appear ungenerous, or, on the contrary, on the ground of justice to ourselves and to so are condemned and misunderstood. To illustrate the point still further and in its local bearings, I am told that in the list of churches furnished the students at the university, among which they must choose one which they must regularly attend, the name of the Unitarian church, of which I am at present the minister, has been purposely omitted. As
