IDAHO SALOON WRECKED

JOINT - KEEPER ORDERED TO LEAVE TOWN AT ONCE.

Building Will Be Fired if He Fails to Comply - Ex-Saloon Man Treated With Bad Eggs.

SPOKANE, April 18 .- A Rathdrum

"Post Falls is wrought up to a high pitch over the wrecking of a saloon there last night and threats that unless the joint-keeper, Charles Rover, leaves town at once his building will be fired. A large force of armed men are patrolling the town tonight. Sheriff Dyer and deputy have just returned from the scene. Last night while Rover was in Spokane his house was broken open and the contents scattered in the streets, every glass, bottle and mirror being smashed into frag-ments. A placard was posted on the door wagning Rover that unless he leaves town at once he will be tarred and feathered. It was signed 'White Caps of Post Falls,'

'The bitter feeking was intensified this morning when A. N. Gilliam was rottenegged by other employes of a lumber mill and driven from the mill. He was formerly in the saloon business, and was supposed to be a sympathizer with the saloon element. He is a man of large family and an old resident. For more than two years trouble has been brewing between the saloon and anti-saloon ele-ment. The courts decided that the town corporation had no legal existence, but a special bill was passed by the last Leg-islature legalizing it. Since then Post

To Prevent Theft of Fishing Gear. Councilman Wright is of the opinion that one of the greatest needs of the fishing industry is a law which will put a stop to the annual theft of nets and other fishing gear, according to the Astoria News. He suggests as a remedy that every fisherman be required to register his goar at the opening of the season, and that no fishing gear be permitted to leave the city until after an examination by the authorities. "Every year hundreds of nets are stolen," says Mr. Wright, "and it is high time that these acts of vandalism are stopped. Much of the gear stolen here is shipped to the Sacramento River at the close of the season on the Columbia. Fishermen have absolutely na protection from the vandals engaged in this work, for a net thief can steal gear under the very eyes of the owner with-out detection. Of course, the thieves are itinerant fishermen, who come here only for a few months each year. If the law required each man to register his gear at the opening of the season and provided for the inspection of all property shipped away by fishermen, a stop could soon be put to the thievery."

TO BORE FOR OIL AT SALEM

LOCAL COMPANY WILL SELL STOCK TO CARRY ON WORK.

Land Selected Is in the Heart of the City-Little Doing in Polk County Fields.

SALEM, Or., April 18.-The effort to have a well bored to determine definitely the character of the oil deposits in this vicinity is now assuming an active form, and tomorrow subscription books will be opened for the purpose of forming a joint stock company to be incorporated as soon as the necessary amount of stock is subscribed. A number of well-known business men are interested in the ven-ture, among them being Dr. J. W. Reynolds, Amos Strong, Hiram Smith, General W. H. Odell, George P. Hughes, Dr. T. C. Smith and several others. It is proposed to raise a capital stock sufficient sink a well to a depth of 1000 to 1500 feet. The company will probably be cap-Italized at $10,000, and incorporated when $5000 has been subscribed. It is desired to have the stock taken in small amounts by a large number of property-owners, for the sinking of this well will be in the nature of an experiment. No effort will be made to organize until the required amount of capital has been subscribed, and then all the subscribers will hold a meeting, elect officers and incorporate. -It has been suggested that the test well be sunk on the University campus and the trustees of that institution have signified their willingness. A committee has been appointed to discues terms with those interested in the movement, but no final proposition has been made. The best piace for an oil well would be on the northeast corner of the campus, but es that is the most prominent and best portion of the University's property, it may be that the site cannot be agreed upon and the well will be sunk else-

It is desired to bore for oll on the campus, because that locality is near the place where J. G. Barr struck oil several years ago while digging a well. It is said the oil found in the Barr well was so pure that an oil expert refused to believe that it came from beneath. The good quality of the oil has since been explained by the supposition that it was forced anywards through many hundred. forced upwards through many hundred feet of sand and gravel, thus being puri-fied, and perhaps refined by heat in the Cost of Sinking Well.

What it will cost to sink a well at Salem is a matter of pure conjecture. In 1897 the state drilled a well at the Cap. itol for the purpose of securing good drinking water. The drill went down 347 feet at a cost of about $1000. So far as known, the men who had the contract for digging the well did not strike either oil or better water than could be secured nearer the surface.

The Capital Brewing Company undertook to dig a well to secure its water supply and went down 400 feet. After drilling 80 feet through a hard volcanic rock, the task was given up. It is possible that this same stratum of rock covers the whole of this section of the state to depth that can only be surmised.

Some figures regarding the cost of digging an oil well to the depth of 1500 feet were recently published by the Daily Oil Journal, of San Francisco. The figures were represented to have been taken from the books of a company engaged in sinking a well. They are as follows:

It is believed also that the slate formations. which contain the oil, are at a much less depth here than in California, and that a well would not go more than 1000 feet for

The digging of the well contemplated would be in the nature of an experiment in which all would be interested and that is one reason why it has been proposed to put it on the University campus. If thereby gain an advantage over any other person. All stockholders would share alike and if any great profit resulted to the owner of the land, the community at large would profit by it. The Polk County Fields.

The movement for the sinking of oil wells in the hills west of Salem in Polk County seems to be almost at a standstill. A number of farmers are still refusing to bond their land on the terms offered, and it seems that the promoters are waiting until they get control of the land before they begin operations. The chief objection of the farmers seems to be that the promoters will not agree to begin operations at once and continue them a easonable length of time. In other words, the farmers refuse to give the promoters an option which permits them to tie up all operations. In this position they are generally upheld. Since the recent agitation over the oil subject, reports have been brought to Salem of discoveries of oil indications in several sections. It is reliably reported that indications of oil are to be seen in the Polk County hills not more than two miles from the river.

TO RID HORSE RANGES OF MANGE Government Officials Will Visit Uma tilla Indian Reservation. PENDLETON, Or., April 18.—Solution of the question of curing the mange abuse on the Indian reservation here is in sight. Early next week, Dr. O. B. Melvin, of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, will visit Pendleton, ac-companied by Dr. E. N. Hutchinson, one of the representatives of the bureau stationed at Portland, who also has charge of the Linnton horse-meat cannery and other localities. They are expected to go to the reservation and make an inspection of the ponies of the Indians with reference to the mange. It has always been difficult to handle the mange on the reservation for the reason that the Federal Government has prevented the state offi cials from going upon the reserve to eradicate the disease, holding that the state's authority does not extend to In-dian reservations. Yet the Federal Government has not done anything to kill out the disease, which has made progress until it is scarcely safe to leave any horse at large on the range. A serious condition exists, and horse-owners are in con stant fear that valuable animals will be his education in the common schools. He taught school for five years, when he entered the Agricultural College at Cor-vallis, and graduated in 1871. He again took up school work, Linn and Marion Counties being the fields of his work. In 1888 he removed to Baker County, where he had resided up to the time of his death, In 1892 he was elected County Su-perintendent of Schools. He succeeded himself in 1896, and was re-elected last Fall for another term of four years. He was regarded as one of the most prominent and thorough men in educational matters in Eastern Oregon.

Mr. Privett leaves a wife and four children—Floyd Lamar, Lella Vivian, Bertha Mabel and Winnifred Myrtle. The eid-est daughter, Miss Lella, has conducted the business of the County Superintendent's office for several months, during her father's illness. Mrs. Privett was formerly Miss Mary Shelton, of Linn County, where the couple were married in 1876. The funeral was held this afternoon from the Baptist Church, and was conducted by the Odd Fellows Lodge, of which deceased was a member. He was also a member of the Masonic and Wood-

MORE SUGAR BEETS.

Acreage in Grand Ronde Will Be 50 Per Cent Greater Than Last Year. LA GRANDE, Or., April 18 .- The sowing of beets is under way in all parts of the Grand Ronde Valley. On the Sandridge and in the higher fields the crop is com ing up. The strong efforts of the sugar company to secure a larger acreage have been successful, and it is believed that 3000 acres will be sown as against 2000

last year. Large Fruit Crop Assured.

The conditions for a good fruit crop are highly favorable. The season has en so backward that no blooms have yet appeared, and fruitmen estimate that will appear until between the 1st 10th of May. The enthusiasm for fruitgrowing has not abated any, and hundreds of acres of orchards are being planted this Spring. The beginning of work on the new packing-house at La Grande has greatly encouraged orchardists.

Terms for Burglary. FOSSIL, April 18.-Circuit Court for Wheeler County adjourned Tuesday. It convened here the day before. On ac count of bereavement in the family of Judge Bradshaw, Judge Arthur L. Frazer, of Portland, presided. The only case of importance was that of Edwin Schalls, D. H. and Herbert Neals, who were charged with burgiary. They pleaded guilty and the first two were sentenced to the peni-tentiary for two years, the latter, one year. Last October the trio entered the dwelling of School Superintendent Royse. At the preliminary examination they gave fictitious names. When they ap-peared for trial in the Circuit Court an acquaintance of the Neals identified them, and, with their accomplice, promptly gave their right names, D. H. Neal is 25 years of age, while Herbert Neal and Edwin Schalls are but 20. They came to this section from Idaho, and had given ranch-men considerable trouble before their men considerable trouble before their while Herbert Neal and Edwin capture. GOOD STRIKE IN MOUNTAIN LION. New Two-Foot Vein Said to Contain $12,000 in Sight.

GRANT'S PASS, Or., April 18.—A fine strike has been made in the development tunnel of the Mountain Lion mine, in the Applegate district. A two-foot vein of quartz, similar to the rock of the Gold Bug mine, on Mount Reuben, has been discovered. It is estimated there is not less than $12,000 in sight, with plenty more lower down. The mine is owned by L. L. Jewell, C. E. Harmon and W. S. Bailey, of this place. The samples brought to town show free gold all through the rock.

Good Clean-Up. George Hoffman was in town yesterday with a clean-up of $607 55, the result of a run of eight tons of rock from his minon Yaller Box Creek, a tributary of the Applegate. He says he has plenty more of the same kind of ore.

Anxious To Work

Born-tired people don't belong to the Ayer's Sarsaparilla family. A ton of Sarsaparilla would not affect them in the slightest. But for honest-tired, overworked, exhausted people it is the greatest medicine ever made.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes honest-tired people anxious to be active. They find it harder to remain quiet than to labor. They become strong, steady, courageous.

Did you ever notice how distinct these two classes of people are-the born-tired and the honest-tired?

Every woman in the country

ought to know about Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder how they ever got along without it. It has robbed child-birth of its terrors for many a young wife. It has preserved he zirlish figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external lini-ment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internare apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy. A druggist of Macon, Ga., says:
