MAY CONTEST BOND ISSUE.

South Baker City People Think They Should Have Had a Vote.

BAKER CITY, May 2-In all probability there will be a legal contest over the lesuance and sale of the $100,000 bonds authorized by the special election last Monday. What seems to be the main ground of contest is the refusal of the judges of election to allow residents of South Baker to vote. South Baker was an-nexed to Baker City by an amendment to the city charter passed by the last Legislature. The election was called and provision made for the holding of the bonding election, before the annexation amendment took effect, and the judges, it seems, held that so far as this election was concerned, people living in South Baker were not residents of Baker City. The South Bakerites insist that as their property will be taxed to pay the principal and interest of the bonds, that they had a right to vote, else their property must exempt from liability for taxes, so far as the bonds are concerned

Will Water Large Tract of Land. The Rock Creek and North Powder Irrigation Company will commence work at once on a canal which will take water from Rock Creek and convey it to a large tract of land which the company owns near Haines. As a good portion of the waters of Rock Creek are already appro-priated, especially during the dry season the company will construct one of the largest reservoirs in the state. This will insure an abundant supply of water for the land, which will be brought under cultivation by the new canal,

The Warshauer Hotel, one of the oldest and most noted hostelries in Easter; Oregon, has been closed. In a few days, Albert Gelser, the proprietor, will put a force of men to work changing the structure into a modern hotel. Pinley Perrine, Well Known as Bailiff of Supreme Court.

SALEM, Or., May 2.—Finley Per-rine, the ballist of the Supreme Court, is seriously ill at his home in this Perrine has served as bailiff for many years, and no official around the Capitol has been more regular in attention to duties than he. Attorneys from all parts of the state, and member of every session of the Legislature for last 15 years have had reason to be grateful to him for every accommodation in his power to grant. His aptitude in telling entertaining stories has made him a great favorite with strangers visiting at the Capitol. A large circle of friends will, therefore, be pained to learn of his Contest Over Control of Estate.

There is a contest in this county over the control of the estate of W. A. Stephens, who was drowned at Oregon City, March 17. W. W. Stephens, the father of the deceased was appointed administrator of the estate by the County Court of Clackamas County, and now the widow. BODY FOUND IN RIVER. Astoria Fisherman Who Had Been Missing Several Days. ASTORIA, May 2.—The body of Albert Thrall, a fisherman, was found in the river this morning in front of the city. He had been missing since Tuesday night, he had been missing since tucous many and yesterday morning his hat was found near where his body was picked up to-day. The Coroner took charge of the body, but did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest, as it was quite evi-dent that the man had tried to go to his boat which was near by, and was boat, which was near by, and was drowned while doing so. He was born in California 32 years ago, but had lived in Astoria for the past 18 years. He leaves a widow and mother.

RAILROAD SURVEY BEGUN

TO RUN FROM WASHOUGAL MINES TO TOWN OF WASHOUGAL.

Portland Company, Headed by W. M. Ladd and Jonathan Bourne, Back of the Project.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 2.-L. F. Russell, a prominent Washougal citizen, stated today that a large party of sur-veyors established a camp at that place veyors established a camp at that place yesterday, and commenced the survey of a line for a railroad from the Washougal mining district to a point on the Columbia near Washougal. The party, Mr. Russell says, is known to be employed by a company of Portland capitalists, of which William Ladd and Jonathan Bourne are the best-known members. This company owns some valuable mines in the district, which it has been developing for the past two or three years. veloping for the past two or three years. It announced last year its intention of building a railroad from its property to the Columbia as soon as the develop-ment reached a stage sufficient to warrant the outlay.

According to G. E. Beeson, of this city.

According to G. E. Beeson, of this city, who, with several associates, first brought the Washougal mining district into prominence, by the discovery, development and subsequent bonding of the Blue Bird mine, the Ladd-Bourne Company has expended upwards of $250.000 in the purchase and development of its property. Fully $150.000 he serituates its property. Fully $150,000, he estimates, has been spent in opening up and equipping the "Last Chance" and "Skamania" mining properties. These mines are fully equipped with steam drills, air pumps, hoists and other modern mining machinary. Over 1000, feet of chinery. Over 1000 feet of tunneling, with an immense amount of cross-sec-tioning and other development has been done, and many tons of rich copper ore are lying on the dumps awaiting trans-portation to a smelter. Over 100 men are engaged on the property and indications point to greater activity the coming sea son than ever before. Notwithstanding the extensive opera-tions of this company, its work has been carried on so quietly that few people out-side of the immediate vicinity have been aware of what was taking place. The company now owns a body of land six miles long by two miles in width, sur-veyed into mining claims of 20 acres each. It recently acquired six sections of land from the state and lays claim to a large body of government land, yet unsurveyed. A telephone line from Washougal to the Skamania mine was begun some time ago and is nearing comple tion. The impression is general in and around Washougal that the company is preparing to build a smelter on the river at the terminus of the rallroad now being surveyed. n says the coming season see greatly increased activity in all the mining region along the headwaters of the Washougal and East Fork of Lewis River. A company, composed of Z. S. Russell and George Nerton, of this city, Representative Moore, of Skamania Representative Moore, of Skamania County, and others, commenced development last season of a group of claims on Gold Run, three miles north of the Blue Bird camp. A tunnel was run into one claim a distance of 200 feet and arrangements are being made to double the working force on the property as soon as the snow disappears. Work has been progressing satisfactorily on the Blue Bird and other claims in that vicinity for several years past, and many tons of ore now await transportation. In all parts of the region there are rich deposits of copper ore, while in some lo-calities gold-bearing quartz is found in more or less paying quantities. The Wash-ougal district, in the opinion of Mr. Bee-son and other well-informed mining men, is destined to become in time one of the greatest copper-producing sections in the West.

This mining region is not new. It has furnished an attractive field for exploration by prospectors for the past 40 years, and rich mineral deposits have been known to exist there for that period. Owing, however, to the rough character of the country, its distance from the Co-lumbia, and the difficulty and expense to be encountered in building roads, it has been recognized generally as an ex-pensive proposition, requiring capital for its development. This fact has until quite recently prevented any great amount of development or systematic exploration of the region. During the past two or three years, however, capital has been induced to become interested in the section. It is generally predicted that the begin ning of the railroad survey by the Ladd-Bourne syndicate is the first step taken towards overcoming the difficulties in the transportation and reduction of the immense mineral deposits of the Washougal and Skamania mines. Many mining men here predict a Cripple Creek boom ere another year passes.

CITY MAIL DELIVERY.

Tennewashee, an aged medicine man f the Yakima tribe, was shot and killed at his home on the Satus, about 40 miles from here, last Saturday. A sum of money, amounting to about $62, which he had in his possession the last time he was seen alive, was missing. It is not be lieevd, however, that robbery was the motive of the crime. As a medicine man Tennewashee's treatment of the sick was peculiar and not always successful. number of relatives of his departed pa tients were supposed to be on his trail.
The authorities believe they will have the man who did the killing under arrest within a few days. Tennewasher was well known throughout the valley. He was possessed of considerable wealth. He had large numbers of horses and it is believed by his neighbors that he had a box of $30 gold pieces buried somewhere Offers of 50 and 60 per cent for depositors' claims have been made this week, with few takers.

IS A DEAD LETTER. Supreme Court So Declares Compul sory Education Law. OLYMPIA, May 2.—The Supreme Court today deciared section 171 of the state school code unconstitutional, and the re-sult is that what is known as the comschool code inconstitutional, and the result is that what is known as the compulsory education law is a dead letter in Washington. Section 171 is to the effect that any parent may be summoned before the Superior Court, and on fall-ure to give a good and sufficient reason for failure to send minor children to school, may be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined or otherwise punished.

The grounds for the Supreme Court's decision are that the provisions of the section referred to do not come within the purview of the title of the act, which is, "An act to establish a general and uniform system of public schools in the State of Washington." The case came from Thurston County. In 1899, John McDonald and wife, of Tenino, were complained against by County School Superintendent Henry, and as they refused to send their three minor children to school after being so ordered by the Superior Court were fined 250 each. An appeal after being so ordered by the Court, were fined $20 each. An appea was taken, and the result was as set out heretofore. The decision of the Supreme heretofore. The decision of the Supreme Court will be a disappointment to the edu cators of the state.

Battle-Ship Iowa Launched. SEATTLE, May 2.—The battle-ship Iowa was launched today from the Bremerton navy-yard, after undergoing repairs and a thorough overhauling. Less than four weeks were occupied in the great under-taking, although six weeks had been allowed by the Navy Department. Admiral Casey, whose flagship the Iowa is, was loud in his praise of the equipment and facilities of the big drydock. The flooding of the dock and subsequent launching of the big vessel was witnessed by over 1200 spectators. The Iowa is now an-chored in the stream, fully equipped, and is awaiting sailing orders.

Body of Unknown Suicide.

NEW WHATCOM, Wash., May 2.-The ody of an unknown suicide was found in the woods just out of the city limits of Fairhaven this afternoon. He had ac-complished his death by placing a stick of dynamite on his chest and exploding it. A great hole was torn through the upper portion of the diaphragm. He left not the least trace of his identity. The man seems to have been a Scandinavian, and about 35 years of age. His garb was that of a laboring man, and a woman's picture, enclosed in a well-worn pocket book, was the only thing upon the body.

REJECTED BY BAKER CITY. Trouble Over Pine May Cause Delay

in Completion of Water System BAKER CITY, May 2.—The Mayor and City Council have filed an objection to the vitrified water pipe which is being sent here for mains for the new water works system above the pressure line. It is said the pipe is not up to the specifi-cations and is not nearly as good as the virified pipe made in Spokane. About 1469 feet of the pipe has been distributed by the contractor preparatory to laying in the ground and about seven carloads came in yesterday. The rejection of this pipe will probably result in a lawsuit, as the contractors say it is up to the specifications. The trouble over the pipe is likely to cause a delay of at least three months in the completion of the new gravity water works system.

Such a delay would be a serious matter for Baker City, as the present pump. ing plant, which supplies water from wells, will not be sufficient to furnish even drinking water for the inhabitants during the dry season. In order to overcome the difficulty it is proposed to put in a temporary pipe line from the hot springs, neaf the eastern boundary line of the city, and pump water from there to the old reservoir and allow it to cool before turning into the mains. This is good pure water, and, as a temporary ar-rangement, an abundance of water for all practical needs can be obtained until the new system is completed.

A LESSON IN JOURNALISM.

Taught by the Failure of the In dinnapolis Press.

Baltimore American. The experience of the Indianapolis ress, which suspended publication re-ently, should distilusionize a horde of people who believe the road to ournalism is an easy one to travel. The Indianapolis News was built up by John H. Holliday and William J. Richards, who devoted a quarter of a century to the work. So successful were they that when the property was sold to dissolve a partnership it brought nearly $1,000,000 at public auction. Holliday and Richards retired and immediately established the Press to compete with the paper they had just disposed of, but with no hought of destroying it.

Few newspaper experiments have attracted so much attention as has the Press. The men behind the enterprise knew the Indianapolis newspaper field as intimately as they knew the alphabet. They knew, too, all the ins and outs of the art of making a complete, clean, vigorous and attractive paper. Before a single number of the Press had been printed Messrs. Holilday and Richards invested $250,000 in their plant, thereby procuring an equipment capable of pro-ducing a perfect newspaper. In addi-tion they surrounded themselves with taient of an unusually high order. The resuit was that from its first issue the Press was a model newspaper, carefully prepared, expertly edited and possessed it was a losing venture. Now, after 16 onths, in which time the losses, in addition to the original investment, aggregated over $200,000, the experiment has en adjudged a failure and the paper has suspended publication. The amount of the loss $60,000 in all-is staggering when all the facts are considered. But, while this sum gives some idea of the enormous ex-pense connected with the production of a complete newspaper, it is but an incident, and aside from the moral of this case. The Press was in every way equipped for success, yet it failed. Why did it not suceed?

The answer appears on its face. The days of mushroom growths in journalism are passed. The successful papers of to day are those established ones having per-them the public has confidence, their coinions are respected, their dignity recog-nized, their power for good, to the public and to the business men who patronize their advertising columns, is demon strated, a matter of common knowledge Other papers that appear in competition are soon forced to confess to failure. They may flourish for awhile, but the people atways go back to their favorites. This is so true that there is no case on record in recent years where a new journalistic ven-ture has seriously interfered with the prosperity of the established newspapers. In the case of the Press its competition increased the popularity of the News.

In this day and age it is, then, safe to occlude that success in journalism is hing of exceedingly slow growth. Th usiness has grown to such gigantic size that new ventures are virtually barred by reason of the enormous capital required. Even where money is spent with almost wanton liberality, as in the case of the Press, to insure the publication of a com-plete paper, failure is more often the reward than is success. The very slowness of the successful growth is a guaranty of its stability, and, though other venture ma- be made and rewarded by an ephem eral success, the established paper is able eral success, the established paper is and to defy competition if it keeps itself young and vigorous in tone and spirit. This is because there is no power competent to destroy the successfully established paper except itself. So long, therefore, as it does not commit suivide it is free from danger. These facts may easily be gleaned from the Press experiment by men who think they see an opening for success in this very peculiar field of labor.
